Gaia lays face first in the dunes as Ajak and Phastos walk by. Ajak looks to Gaia's unconscious body and says "What on earth??" A look of disappointment sets within Ajak. Gaia is such a strong and smart herself wrapped up in. They quickly rush to my body and push me over making me have my face to the sun. Ajak slaps my cheek gently and says "Gaia. Gaia wake up." Phastos says "Maybe she's just taking a nap." Ajak puts her hands on my head and says "Wake up Gaia." Druig says "She had a bit too much to drink last night." Ajak looks to Druig who stands there with Makkari. Makkari punches Druig and signs "Don't throw her under the bus. Ajak says "I had my suspicions to begin with." She shakes my shoulders and my eyes slowly open.

I groan and say "You're such a jerk Druig." He smirks to me and god I've never wanted to slap him across the face as much as I do right now. Ajak says "Gaia what did I explicitly say to you yesterday?" I act like I'm thinking and rub my chin "Hmmmmmm.... you said a lot humans and I did. I also remember you asking me if you thought your butt looked big in the pants you were wearing." She glares at me and arches an eyebrow. I sit up and she says "I told you no partying." I

I look up and shake my head "I don't remember it like that." Phastos crosses his arms and I smile. "I don't remember seeing

He glares at me and Ajak says "You didn't go?" She looks to Phastos and he clears his throat "I thought you were dealing with Gaia first." I stand up slowly and she says "You know the rule, Gaia." I shrug and Ajak says "You two need to go find something to busy yourselves with. Phastos and I are going to have a discussion." Phastos says "Or they could stay with us and join the conversation." Druig turns on his heels and walks away, makkari quickly follows now speeding past him. Ajak rubs at the tension in her face and says "She is better then

"Yes. Gaia. This has been the back up plan all along. Mother Earth leading the Eternals just makes sense."

I approach the wooden framed school. I make a snarl face and step into the school. Sersi looks up from the students and says "Look who

She's your future. She's the future. I just truly wish she could embrace

I'm beginning to despise the title. Why did Ajak make me take this role? Sersi is so much more of a mother earth type of person. She can change matter into anything. She literally turns stone into liquid and I shoot cosmic rays from my palms and fly. Tell me, how the hell am I mother earth compared to Sersi?

three seed out of the flower and toss it back down in the vase. I look to the class and say "Alright. Plants absorb sunlight and turn that energy into food, the process is known as photosynthesis. A plant uses light to put together chemical compounds and turn them into carbohydrates, carbs are their food. Sunlight and water will always needed for a plant to grow. Sooo, I'm gonna have Zenna grab a scoop of dirt from Sersi's flower pot and come back here." Zenna grabs a scoop of dirt and says "Where do I put it?" Sersi looks to me confused and I say "Just hold onto it and don't drop it." She nods and Sersi cuts in "Gaia-"

I grab some kids water and say "I'm just gonna borrow this for one

"The sun!" "Photosynthesis!" yeah that answer is... kinda wrong. I nod and say "Sunlight! You guys are right." Zenna says "I have to stand in the sun for 2 weeks?!"

The class laughs and I touch Zenna's shoulder and say "Not when I'm around." I put my hand above the pile of dirt and release a very small amount of my power. The plant blossoms and grows taller. I stop and

She smiles and says "Because she explicitly told you not to."

I smile and say "I have a mind controller to go yell at."

I walk away covering my ears and saying "Huh?? What'd you say Sersi!?" "Gaia! I mean it! Gaia!" I wave to her and make my way to find that jerk of a mind controller.

Phastos says "She wasn't the only one to go to that party Ajak. You and I both know that." She nods and says "Yes but this is Gaia we are speaking of. God help

She's a walking daycare commercial. Sunshine, rainbows, and all smiles. I stand at the front of the class and say "Alright, let's see... come up here Zenna." A young girl stands up and walks over to me. I look at the vase of sunflowers Sersi has and I grab a flower out of it. I peel second." I push a sunflower seed into the dirt Zenna has in her hands. I pour a small amount of water into her hands with the mixture within it and say "Alright, so in 2 to 3 weeks you'll start to see a seedling pop up in Zenna's hands." She screeches and says "What!?" I laugh and say "Guys what does the plant need to grow? What type of food does it consume? Is it rice? Chicken? Any answers?" "Sun!"

the class gasps. Sersi shakes her head in the back of the class and I grab scissors and cut the flower by the stem. I hand it to Zenna and say "And that is how photosynthesis works... just in a sped up form." Kids start shouting that they want one now and that they want to hold the dirt the next time. I smile and say "Miss Sersi has another lesson to go over. What I just gave you was your science lesson. Do
