

HE IS A WOLF Chapter 4

Mara

I wonder why my touch seems to calm him down but either way is glad I could calm him down it made me feel useful and for some sort of reason I want him to like me.

I blush and step back, going back to my food when Jordan stood up and limp towards us, gosh didn't he get it...he gotta run and this time I won't stop Damien from killing him if he want to.

"You will pay for this Mara and you too pretty face" He sneered and before walking out of the cafeteria.

"Are you okay?" Damien asks staring at me.

I blush and look down at my food "Yes...I guess" I shuttered.

"Damien" Before I could sense what was happening the girl already jump on him hugging him and he hugs her back.

I couldn't watch this, my whole body seems to be on fire and my eyes they were trying to bring out water geez what is this guy doing to me? I have no right to feel jealous or anything he's not even my boyfriend, I stood up ready to walk out.

"Won't you meet my sister before you leave?" He asked.

Uh? Oh? So...they are siblings! My bad!

"Luna! My God Damien is this your mate? She's so pretty...hi my name is Alison nice meeting you" She gushes I seriously have no idea what she's talking about.

Okay, what Luna?

What's Mate?

And why did she think am Damien...whatever she calls this...I hate being around people I can't understand.

"Am Mara...nice meeting you too" I blush a little as I looked at Damien "See you later" With that, I hurried out of the cafeteria.

ADVERTISEMENT

As soon as I was out of the cafeteria I Inhale thank God Damien hadn't seen my reaction when his sister hug him, what will he think of me? Am possessive and I shouldn't be he is nobody and I wonder why I feel this way...when I get home am going to ask granny what all that stuff means.

Mate....

Luna....

"Oh you're here...have been looking everywhere for you," Damien said walk towards me.

I Couldn't help but stare at his tall figure, men he was tall and cute too those green eyes I frown I think I have seen it somewhere...

Well anyone could have green eyes silly me.

"Uhm. I was just leaving" I blush looking down on my toes.

"As much as I love seeing blush but you gotta look at me Mara...stop putting your head down" He sounds hurt.

"Sorry, I...." I look down again, good he's going to hate me now.

"Alright, will you skip me with? Please" He pleaded to give me a puppy face.

I giggled "Sure but we must get back before school close okay?"

"Sure princess" He held my hand and we both walk out of the school, I could tell my cheeks are as red as a tomato right now cause I couldn't help but keep blushing the whole time.

Whatever he is doing to me...it feels good and right.

ADVERTISEMENT

Damien

Since the north border is always full of rogues I decided to take Mara to the west border which is close to the house I have no plans to take her back to school after we are done with the picnic.

“How do you have all this plan out,” She asked looking at me with a puzzled expression.

“It’s a secret now shh...let enjoy it” I chuckle.

“This...place...is pretty never been here....do you live around”

“Yes” I reply not wanting to go further on the subject I might split something out, I think she notice cause her face fell and she went quiet.

“Great...you’ve ruined it” Damon came again.

“Then maybe you should do it” I was kidding but Damon already took charge leaning towards Mara who stare at me with wild eyes.

“Don’t you dare...you might scare her” I warned.

“Coward” He taunted back, I also wanted to kiss Mara...of course, have been dreaming about it ever since I saw her but now isn’t the right time not when a filthy smell suddenly fills the air.

Damon was too distracted and I saw Mara leaning towards me too.

“Rogues” I sneered at him.

He shot back immediately, then I look around blocking him out, Mara gasp and stood up seeing three huge wolves around us.

“They...are not going to kill us,” She said calmly only if she knew this isn’t me...those are rogues but I cannot tell her that.

“They will,” I told her as the three growls at the same time.

ADVERTISEMENT

The Alpha in me came out as soon as one of the wolves dash towards Mara...I already vow to protect her same goes for Damon.

I can’t shift in front of her which made this fight more deadly, I push Mara aside as the wolf landed on me sinking his canines deep into my skin.

I flinch...then fling it over, while the other dash towards me at once.

They started digging their canines into me, they wanted to weak my wolf part so they could easily kill me.

I saw Mara clutching the side of her stomach where the wolf at bitten me at that same place.

s, she’s feeling the pain, this made Damon mad, he block me out then brought out his sharp paws dig them into their flesh, and tear them apart one by one.

“You killed them” Mara’s voice made me turn around to look at her, I realize I just killed three huge wolves in front of my mate with a snap how am I going to explain that to her?

“Mara...”I call reaching for her but she steps away.

“Don’t...come closer” She was scared, scared I will hurt her.

This made Damon whine then he block me out, gosh I was feeling the pain is she rejecting me?

“Mara please no! Don’t” I pleaded feeling the pain spread through my body.

“You killed them...just like that” She cried looking at me as if I was a monster.

“They were going to kill you” I sneered using my Alpha tone, she shivered in fear and started to cry.

My vision was getting blur by the second.

“Damien...what are you” That was the last thing I heard before collapsing on the floor.

