

An Endless Night With Him

An Endless Night With Him 236 Chapter 236: Where Are You?

Anticipating that a big group would attract too much attention, the captain divided them into several pairs to scope the area separately.

Ignoring each other, the team enters the venue, pretending they don't know each other.

Katrina gets paired up with her partner Colin. They pretend to be a young couple as their cover. Since Katrina and Colin have been on a lot of missions together, it's a good match.

But this is the first time for them to play a couple. "Sorry, Katrina," Colin says sheepishly.

Katrina nods in understanding. If they want this to work, their performance needs to be perfect. She doesn't react when Colin puts an arm around her shoulder.

They have no knowledge of Tilaya. Afraid of exposing themselves, none of them has their earphones on, choosing regular phones as their means of communication.

None of the guests have been using the earphones of their mobile phones. They would stick out like sore thumbs if they did.

Katrina takes her phone out of her pocket and switches it on to make herself accessible to her colleagues.

This morning, Katrina turned off her phone before boarding the plane. Since she went directly to the hotel and went to sleep in her room soon after, she didn't bother turning her phone back on. It had been switched off the entire day.

After shoving their phones back into their pockets, Katrina and Colin continue to watch the drag shows inside the bar.

On the surface, they are no different from ordinary young couples who came to Thailand to travel. Although they look interested in the surroundings like foreign tourists full of curiosity, their priority is familiarizing themselves with the place and the building layout.

While Katrina is watching the show, her phone suddenly rings.

Katrina's heart is taut with tension. Her first thought is that her captain has an update or a new instruction for them. She quickly takes out her phone.

But the caller ID on the screen reads Aaron's name.

Katrina suddenly remembers that Aaron had asked her to accompany him to dinner tonight, and she stood him up. He must be calling to look for her.

Thinking about Aaron gives Katrina a headache.

Katrina hesitates whether to take the call or not. She can imagine how furious Aaron will be to someone standing him up.

But it seems to be too cruel to ignore his call after failing to keep her promise. It's better to explain herself to him. In the end, Katrina picks up the phone. "Hello." On the other end of the line, Aaron's voice is cold and angry. "Where are you?"

Looking around carefully, Katrina makes sure that everyone is watching the show before whispering back, "I'm on an emergency assignment. It's very urgent, and I'm not in Abbe right now. I'm really busy. I'll call you later!" Then she hangs up immediately.

Katrina might have been a little deceitful, but she already explained herself. She has more important things to do than accompany Aaron to some party.

Hearing the busy tone on the phone makes Aaron angry. After standing him up, Katrina has the nerve to hang up on him.

As soon as Aaron finished work this afternoon, he went straight to the gate of the police station to pick Katrina up. Unexpectedly, after other policemen left the station one after another, she didn't show up.

He tried to call Katrina to find out what happened, but he couldn't get through to her because her phone was switched off. Since Katrina switched off her phone, he had no way of contacting her. Aaron was so upset that his handsome face darkened.

Aaron couldn't bear it any longer. He went inside the police station to look for Katrina. But all he found out was that she had gone on a business trip that morning. Due to the confidentiality of the assignment, he couldn't get any more information.

Aaron fumed at the discovery that Katrina didn't even go to work today. Last night, Katrina promised to accompany him to a party, but she tricked him and went on an assignment to escape him.

No wonder she was so ready to agree to him last night. Katrina never planned to go to the party with him at all. She knew that she would be away for work, so she decided to trick him and stand him up.

At the realization of being stood up for the first time, Aaron became even more upset. He couldn't wait to catch Katrina and punish her.

By this point, Aaron had lost interest in going to the party.

Although it was a very important banquet, Aaron couldn't bring himself to socialize. He merely showed up at the beginning and quickly found an excuse to leave. His expression was terrible the whole time.

At the sight of Aaron's murderous face, no one dared to ask him any more questions and let him go easily.

Afterward, Aaron's temper gradually gave way to worry. He didn't know what she was doing or why turned off her phone. She could be in danger. After all, a police officer standing against a criminal is the most vulnerable to dangerous tasks.

With no way of contacting Katrina and no information about her whereabouts, Aaron became extremely worried for her safety.

It's 8 p.m. when Aaron finally gets to reach Katrina. The moment he hears her voice on the phone, he demands, "Where are you?"

Although his tone is angry, Aaron is instantly relieved to hear her voice. Fortunately, Katrina sounds normal. Nothing horrible seems to have happened to her.

During the few seconds of their short conversation, Aaron listens to the noise in the background. Hearing some music, he realizes that she seems to be watching a performance. He recognizes people speaking in Thai and the word "Tilaya" being said on more than one occasion.

Aaron quickly draws a conclusion. Katrina is currently on an assignment in Thailand.

To go thousands of miles abroad to carry out an assignment means that Katrina's team is up against a powerful criminal who has committed a very heinous crime.

Although Katrina's explanation was very concise, Aaron can tell that her assignment is not just a simple conflict. Katrina is on a very dangerous mission.

An Endless Night With Him 237 Chapter 237: You Have To Make It Up To Me

The realization that Katrina is at risk in a foreign country makes Aaron fume, "Damned woman" he can't help cursing, his anger increasing by the moment,

Knowing that Katrina is in danger because of her assignment and hiding things from him makes him even more furious than the fact that she broke her promise to attend a party with him.

Katrina must know that Aaron cares and worries about her, but she doesn't take him into consideration at all. Her heartlessness upsets him a great deal.

Right now, Aaron can't bear to stay silently at the sidelines while Katrina is facing unknown dangers in a strange country. Whether he can help her or not doesn't matter, he needs to be by her side.

Aaron immediately calls his assistant and tells him to book him on the first flight to Thailand.

The assistant is puzzled. Aaron's schedule doesn't include any business in Thailand. But as a lowly assistant, he has no choice but to do as instructed without asking any questions.

Aaron takes a flight to Thailand and arrives in the same city as Katrina overnight. Katrina doesn't go back to the hotel until past one o'clock in the late evening,

When she returns to her room, she takes a quick shower and dries her hair with a towel. She is about to change out of the bathrobe into her sleepwear when she hears a knock on the door. Assuming it's one of the hotel staff, Katrina doesn't think too much of it and opens the door without hesitation.

Unexpectedly, someone rushes in as soon as she opens the door. Before Katrina can react, the intruder closes the door behind him, snakes an arm around her waist, and presses her against the door,

The sudden movement startles Katrina. She looks up in confusion only to see Aaron looming over her with a grim look on his face. His flawlessly handsome face is marred by intense frustration and anger.

The moment she sees Aaron, Katrina's face is Alled with shock. The odds of him appearing at her door is so absurd that she wonders if she's hallucinating,

“Aaron, what are you doing here?”

It has only been a few hours since she talked to Aaron over the phone and told him that she was busy with work. Their conversation was short, and she never gave him any information about her whereabouts. How did he find her hotel and room so accurately in just a few hours?

The turn of events makes Katrina blanch.

She had been thinking that since she was in another country, she could get away with breaking her promise with Aaron. He wouldn't be able to make trouble for her if he doesn't know where she is.

Unexpectedly, reality slaps her in the face. Aaron really flew overnight to Thailand just to find fault with her.

The panicked look on Katrina's face reveals that she knew the consequences of breaking her promise to him. She knew exactly how angry he would be at being stood up, but she did it anyway.

Immeasurable anger and discontent fill Aaron's heart. He is so furious that he wants to spank her hard to vent out his anger.

In the end, Aaron doesn't have the heart to hurt Katrina. He can only vent out his displeasure through other means. He lowers his head and goes straight for Katrina's lips, growling in a dissatisfied voice, “You know why I'm here!”

Surrounded by Aaron's overbearing presence, Katrina is forced to endure his unforgiving kiss as he presses her against the door, Katrina's soft lips are addictive. Aaron wantonly takes pleasure at the moment, gradually deepening the kiss. Taking advantage of her passiveness, he licks inside her mouth, hungrily. He wants to devour her.

The fierce and domineering kiss leaves Katrina flushed and unable to breathe. Breathing suddenly becomes a luxury. She shoves at Aaron's chest hard, but he keeps a tight hold on her and gives her no chance to escape.

“Hmm...” Aaron moans in satisfaction.

Feeling nauseous, Katrina bites Aaron's tongue while he is distracted. She can taste the metallic bitterness of his blood in her mouth.

Aaron frowns slightly at the slight pain, but it's nothing compared to the pleasure of finally kissing Katrina after such a long time.

One minute, two minutes, three minutes... The long kiss leaves Katrina's body lax and her mind blank. She loses all her strength and stops struggling, slowly slipping out of consciousness. Completely helpless, she can only hang onto Aaron to keep herself from falling to the ground.

Finally, Aaron releases her.

Katrina's slender fingers are grasping his shirt like a lifeline. Her face is flushed as she gasps for breath. At sight, Aaron feels his mouth go dry. The desire in his body becomes even stronger when he sees her red, swollen, and glistening lips.

Katrina makes for a very tempting picture.

Aaron hasn't touched Katrina since she left Hadley. Now in a wolf-like state, he stares at her hungrily. Finally, getting a taste of her after so long, he feels an overwhelming urge to take her to bed and indulge in her body. After being celibate for a long time, Aaron is ravenous.

Swooping Katrina in his arms, Aaron carries her to the bed.

Katrina is wearing a simple bathrobe, completely naked underneath. From her struggles earlier, the belt securing the robe around her waist is slightly loose, revealing delicate collarbones and smooth skin.

Despite the minimal exposure, Katrina looks indescribably, tempting to Aaron. The slightest pull on her belt would put Katrina on display, revealing her in all her naked glory.

Aaron's throat is dry. He bends over to kiss her collarbones, his hand fondling her neck.

All of a sudden, Katrina jolts out of her daze. She shoves Aaron aside and quickly wraps the bathrobe tightly around her chest.

The knowledge that Aaron molested her and almost raped her again is devastating. She feels so frustrated, and she wants to cry. Holding back the tears, she glares at her assailant and points a trembling finger at him. "How dare you! This is my room! I don't want you here! Get out!"

Katrina's rejection completely douses Aaron's libido, leaving him suddenly bereft. Cockblocked at such a critical moment, his desires are left unsatisfied. Despite his discontent, Katrina obviously doesn't want to sleep with him. He cannot force her as he did before.

Damn it! Aaron curses inwardly. Earlier, Katrina was in a daze and passive to his advances. Unexpectedly, she suddenly regains her senses before he can go any further.

Displeased at the interruption, Aaron takes a deep breath and takes her hand. "You broke your promise to me and kept me waiting for a long time. You have to make it up to me."

An Endless Night With Him 238 Chapter 238: Followed Her

Katrina suddenly feels something hard beneath her palm. Through Aaron's pants, she can feel his crotch throbbing hotly.

Screaming in horror, she quickly pulls her hand away as if she was electrified. She unconsciously looks down, and the sight of Aaron's tented pants makes Katrina want to stab her eyes out in disgust.

At that moment, Katrina suddenly realizes how aroused Aaron already is.

Her face instantly turns an angry shade of red as mortification fills her. She grabs a pillow and hits him in a fury. "Aaron, you rapist! Get out!"

Make it up to him? Katrina scoffs at the thought. Over my dead body! This bastard is going too far! She only lied to him because he wouldn't leave her home last night. Now, he has the audacity to break into her room and make her touch his disgusting penis.

The memory makes Katrina want to throw up. Every time she thinks about it, she gets an overwhelming urge to push Aaron off the balcony and kill herself afterward.

Overcome with her emotions, Katrina completely forgets her state of undress. Her actions cause the loose belt of her bathrobe to come undone, and she feels a chill against her skin.

Noticing that Aaron is completely focused on her chest, she looks down and finds that her robe is open and her chest is completely exposed.

Katrina really wants to cry.

In addition to getting molested, Katrina has also been seen naked by the person who took advantage of her. She wants to bang her head against the wall.

Quickly tying the belt securely around her robe, Katrina points to the door with an angry look of despair. "Get out!"

Aaron looks away and walks to the bathroom, saying calmly, "I wasn't able to book a room when I arrived. I'll have to sleep with you tonight."

Katrina is fuming at Aaron's nonchalant response.

Even if Aaron can't book a room because it's currently the peak season in Thailand, she will never agree to let him stay in her room.

Aaron is ultimately a wolf at heart. If she lets him stay, there is no doubt that he would have his way with her until she has nothing left to give.

Katrina doesn't hesitate to reject him outright. "No! I need to rest. Please leave my room right away, or I'll scream for help!"

At Katrina's threat, Aaron doesn't feel a tinge of fear. Instead, he turns his head around and flashes her a wicked smile. "Go ahead and shout. Then I can introduce myself to your colleagues and ask them to take care of you in the future."

Aaron's words succeed in silencing Katrina's protests. Although she wants to get rid of him, she knows how things will play out if she screams.

Katrina's colleagues are staying in rooms beside hers. If she shouts for help, her colleagues will find out that she has a strange man in her room. When they see Aaron, they will think that she has some kind of ambiguous relationship with him.

Knowing Aaron's shameless personality, he would definitely wrap an arm around her and introduce himself as her new boyfriend. She has no choice but to let him stay.

Katrina is sick and tired of Aaron. He always backs her into a corner and manipulates her into doing things against her will.

Aaron goes to the bathroom and takes a cold shower. Seeing Katrina naked had aroused him in an instant.

But Katrina is obviously unwilling to be intimate with him. Seeing the disgust and fear in her eyes was enough to make him step back. He doesn't want to force her to sleep with him only to hurt her and make her hate him even more.

He has no choice but to take a cold shower to tamp down his arousal. It takes a long time to extinguish the fire in his body. After a long shower, Aaron comes out in a bathrobe.

At the sound of the door opening, Katrina curls into a ball and glares at Aaron warily. Now wearing her nightgown, she keeps the bathrobe on as another protective layer.

It's late in the evening, and they are the only ones in the room. Aaron is a sex-crazed man, and Katrina is not as strong as him. If he makes a move on her, it would be difficult for her to resist him. Anything can happen if she lets her guard down.

"Aaron, I'm warning you, don't do anything reckless!"

Katrina resembles a frightened rabbit, clutching her pillow tightly and shrinking against the edge of the bed. Aaron raises his eyebrows helplessly at sight.

Katrina constantly has her guard up against him, always thinking the worst of him. Knowing that he is nothing, a terrible beast in her eyes is upsetting.

Aaron approaches the bed and settles under the covers. Then he pulls Katrina over and takes her in his arms. "Sleep. I'm not in the mood to do anything right now. But if you provoke me, I might not be able to help myself."

Engulfed in Aaron's embrace, Katrina has no choice but to lay still when he threatens her. If she struggles in his arms, it might cause his body to react and make him lose control. As long as she doesn't do anything to provoke him, he might actually keep his word and not touch her.

When Aaron grabbed her just now, she accidentally touched his chest and felt his cool skin. It seems that he took a cold shower to calm his urges. He doesn't want to force her into sleeping with him.

Although Aaron is only holding her in his arms and sleeping in the same bed as her, Katrina still feels extremely uncomfortable. But since Aaron has already made concessions, she doesn't have to kick him out anymore.

Katrina knows how difficult it is for Aaron to compromise. If she insists on kicking him out, she might not get any sleep tonight because she wouldn't be able to get rid of him at all.

Right now, Katrina can only choose to accept her fate gloomily. She has to get up early the next morning. She has no time to attempt to get rid of a person who obviously isn't going anywhere. She doesn't know what assignment the captain has in store for the next day.

And Katrina is starting to feel a little sleepy.

Holding Katrina in his arms, Aaron is surrounded by her familiar fragrance. The unique scent immediately soothes his nerves, making him unconsciously relax. His face is the epitome of serenity and contentment.

Since Katrina left, Aaron had to rely on sleeping pills to fall asleep every night. Although William had just developed the new medicine, the effect has already reduced a great deal since Aaron started taking it. His body is already developing immunity against medicine.

Aaron hasn't slept with Katrina like this for a long time. He hasn't felt this relaxed in so long. Enjoying the quiet les against Katrina in content. Even if they don't do anything, holding her like this is already a luxury for him.

Previously stiff with tension, Katrina's nervous heart gradually calms down when she realizes that Aaron is keeping his word.

In the quiet night, she can't help but ask in a low voice, "Aaron, how did you find me?"

An Endless Night With Him 239 Chapter 239: I Will Find You

Aaron snorts at the question. When he replies, his deep and husky voice is heavy with imperiousness, "You are my woman. Even if you run to the ends of the earth, I will find you."

When Katrina fled him in secret to go back to Abbe, he found her easily. Going to Thailand without telling him doesn't stop him from finding her, either.

Aaron's arrogant response renders Katrina momentarily speechless. His relentless pursuit of her from Hadley to Thailand is making her wonder why he likes her so much.

Aaron is the CEO of an international company. What does he see in her that makes him chase her so tirelessly?

When Katrina met him for the first time in Hadley, her memories of him were horrible. After imprisoning her in his private villa under false accusations, he repeatedly and forcibly took pleasure in her body against her will.

Katrina doesn't understand why Aaron likes her so much. Despite being surrounded by many rich and beautiful women, he chooses to pester her, a girl he previously accused as a thief.

Summoning up her courage, Katrina asks, "Aaron, did you fall in love with me at first sight?" Although it seems absurd, nothing else could explain why he had imprisoned her without evidence and climbed into her bed afterward.

At Katrina's question, Aaron ponders a little and replies bluntly, "Perhaps your body made me fall in love at first sight."

Four years ago, Katrina was sent to his room as an antidote to relieve the poison in his system. At that time, he didn't see her face or knew what she looked like, but he became addicted to her soft body and captivating taste.

Afterward, it became difficult for Aaron to be interested in other women.

When they meet again four years later, her familiar fragrance immediately awakens a deep desire within him. He doesn't even glance at other women because Katrina is the only woman he instinctively wants.

Hearing Aaron says such shameless words in a serious tone makes Katrina flush red in anger. It turns out that his crazy pursuit of her is entirely due to his obsession with her body.

This bastard! Sure enough, a rascal like Aaron would have a crude reason. When he gets tired of her body, he would probably throw her away without hesitation.

Aaron is not her boyfriend, and she has not accepted his affections. But he has constantly harassed her in the past, and currently, he is in her bed, holding her firmly around her waist.

Any woman would be furious to find out that a man is only interested in her because of her body.

Katrina turns around and kicks Aaron sullenly. "Get out!" She feels foolish of letting him stay in her bed and hold her in his arms. Now, she doesn't want to be anywhere near him at all. She wants to get rid of him immediately.

When Katrina suddenly becomes hostile and kicks him, Aaron is lost in confusion. He has no idea what just happened.

Aaron has never been good with flattery, and he doesn't want to lie to Katrina. When she asks if he fell in love with her at first sight, he tells her the truth.

But upon hearing his answer, Katrina suddenly becomes angry again.

Although it is true that he first became obsessed with her body, Katrina is the only one who can ignite such a strong desire in Aaron. As a man with few desires, this is a big deal for him.

Indeed, Aaron is addicted to Katrina's body. But he also loves her very much. There is no other woman he will be interested in except for her. Aaron doesn't see anything wrong with his answer.

Women are truly fickle creatures.

A moment ago, Katrina was like a rabbit in his arms, not even daring to move. In the next instant, she becomes a tigress, baring her teeth and claws. Beating him on the chest, she kicks him and demands him to leave.

No wonder there's an old saying that says women and enemies are difficult to get along with.

One woman is more than enough for Aaron. If a naughty child enters the picture later, he would have his hands full and become covered in bruises.

The thought makes Aaron unconsciously worry about his future. But having children with Katrina would be a sweet burden. He would endure anything for her.

Despite Katrina's attacks, Aaron remains calm and unmoved like a mountain. At any opportunity, he pulls Katrina's hands and bites her fingertips lightly.

Katrina quickly retracts her hand at the slight pain. "Aaron, are you a dog?" she asks in disbelief. What's wrong with him? Did he learn to bite from spending all day with Beta?

Aaron's voice is low and menacing when he replies, "I'm a wolf. Do you want me to prove it?" At the slightest provocation, Aaron will let her know what a ferocious wolf is like. He would make it impossible for her to get out of bed the next day.

Aaron's threat makes Katrina move back unconsciously. What a despicable man! Besides threatening her like this, the look on Aaron's face betrays his vile thoughts.

The thought that Aaron has been holding her because he wants her body makes Katrina feel upset. She doesn't understand where the sense of grievance and sadness comes from, but she feels bad all of a sudden,

A man having sex with a woman as a result of his interest in her body is particularly degrading to a woman. Aaron doesn't respect her at all. He only wants her to satiate his lust.

Turning her back to Aaron, Katrina stays as far away from him as possible, practically lying on the edge of the bed. She takes a deep breath and says in a sullen voice, "If you're just here for my body, then I advise you not to waste your time. I will never agree to be a toy for you to vent your desires."

Katrina chuckles sardonically and continues quietly to herself, "All toys end up abandoned." There is no way she will give Aaron an opportunity to throw her away in the end

Katrina becomes determined to keep Aaron at arm's length again. Because of recent events, her attitude towards Aaron has mellowed slightly. But it seems that Aaron is as horrible as she first thought; she will have to avoid him again.

An Endless Night With Him 240 Chapter 240: I Will Never Leave You

Katrina turns her back to Aaron and decidedly stays as far away from him as possible.

Although they are laying in the same bed, Aaron suddenly feels miles apart from Katrina. It feels as if any effort to touch her would be in vain.

When Aaron hears her muffled voice say in a mocking tone, "All toys end up abandoned," he feels a sharp pain in his heart.

Katrina is being ridiculous and talking nonsense. No wonder her attitude suddenly changed. No wonder she suddenly kicked him out of bed, huddling pitifully at the edge of the bed. It turns out that she completely misunderstood him.

Having his sincerity twisted horribly makes Aaron feel frustrated and helpless. He reaches out and pulls Katrina back by the waist, holding her in his arms and hugging her tightly.

"Who the fuck is going to abandon you? I will never leave you!"

When he said that he had fallen in love with her body, at first sight, she assumed that all he wants is to sleep with her. Katrina is upset because she thought he would abandon her once he gets tired of her.

If all he wants is to sleep with her, he wouldn't have taken a cold shower to calm down earlier. Turning away from her tempting body to take a cold shower is not something any man with a functioning libido would do.

If all he wants is to sleep with her, Katrina wouldn't be lying in bed and doing nothing but chat with him.

Aaron is only human, and no man can resist such temptation. Is willingly going against his desires and suffering a cold shower not enough to show his sincerity?

What a stupid and silly woman! Always blindly jumping to conclusions! Aaron huffs in disbelief. He is so frustrated, and he wants to bite her.

If not for her self-mockery, he wouldn't have understood her at all. When they meet again tomorrow, she would probably avoid him again, refusing to approach him or talk to him at all. He wouldn't even know the reason behind her sudden change of heart.

Since he moved to Abbe for her, Aaron had been missing her immensely. During the time they were apart, he even endured watching her with her new boyfriend.

Knowing he was on thin ice with Katrina, he had tolerated such humiliation for her. The thought of her hating him because of his actions made him so upset that he stopped harassing her and kept his distance from her.

Aaron curses to himself in frustration. Not only did Katrina blindly jump to conclusions and misunderstand him, but she also doesn't even have the nerve to talk to him directly about it.

One sentence could have easily ruined their relationship completely.

Aaron bows his head and takes a sharp bite on Katrina's shoulder. To punish her, he sucks a deep bruise on her skin. Although he wants to bite her to death, he refrains from biting her too hard.

Despite his restraint, Katrina still feels a sharp pain. Frowning, she tries to push him away. "Aaron, you beast! Let me go!"

Aaron whispers savagely in Katrina's ear, "Katrina, you will be the one and only woman in my life until the day I die! No matter what, you can't escape me! Don't even fantasize that I'll ever give you up, because that's never going to happen! If you dare misunderstand me again, I will bite you to death!"

The implication in Aaron's words is clear.

If a man says he wants to sleep with a woman, he can easily be considered a frivolous and disrespectful man. But if a man says that he will have no other woman in his life, it's a declaration of love. If you really love someone, you will only have eyes for one person alone.

Katrina realizes that she upset Aaron with her words. Did she really misunderstand him?

But even if Aaron is not a romantic rogue, chasing after her not for her body, but out of love, discussing this issue with a man who isn't even her boyfriend is extremely uncomfortable for Katrina.

In the end, Aaron overestimates his endurance.

Sucking at Katrina's smooth and tender skin makes him wantonly yearn for her body more and more. He gradually begins to kiss her skin, his restless hands roaming upward from the curve of her waist...

Katrina is stunned to feel something hot and hard poking behind her suddenly. Stiffening in fear, Katrina says frantically, "Aaron, stop! I have to get up early for work tomorrow! Let me go!" Intense fear and anger fill Katrina. I knew letting him sleep in my bed was asking for trouble! Didn't he just take a cold shower? Why is he suddenly hard again? This pervert thinks of nothing but sex!

It was already late when Katrina got back to her room. Aaron had pestered her for so long. If it goes on like this, she would be too exhausted to work tomorrow.

Aaron feels aggrieved and sullen to hear Katrina's words. If she hadn't suddenly lost her temper with him, he wouldn't have taken her into his arms like this.

His body is very sensitive to her. Having her body pressed up against his, he couldn't help his body's reaction. It's completely natural.

At least it proves that Aaron is in good health. He can satisfy her sexually in the future. Eyes clenched shut, Katrina grabs the blanket and wraps it tightly around her, refusing to let him touch her. Aaron has no choice but to step back into the bathroom and take another cold shower.

Upon hearing the sound of running water in the bathroom, Katrina calls the front desk and asks for another blanket to be sent up to her room, saying she feels cold. If she has to sleep in the same bed as Aaron, she refuses to sleep under the same blanket with him.

Katrina doesn't understand Aaron at all. Every time he gets close to her, he instantly becomes aroused. To her relief, he decides to go to the bathroom to take another cold shower.

Although the weather in Thailand is good, taking two cold showers in one night must be particularly difficult.

Katrina shakes the thought from her head. She doesn't need to worry about Aaron. He always touches her and kisses her against her will.

This is what he deserves.

An Endless Night With Him 241 Chapter 241: I Will Never Leave You

As soon as Aaron comes out of the bathroom, Katrina tosses a blanket at him. "Stay on your side! Don't come near me during the night!"

Taken aback, Aaron is speechless to see Katrina huddled safely in her own blanket and glaring daggers at him.

Katrina must've requested an extra blanket from the front desk, he thought, remembering the faint sounds of the door opening while he was in the bathroom. He narrows his eyes in displeasure.

Earlier, he could embrace Katrina while they slept together. The thought that he won't be able to feel her body against his anymore frustrates him.

Aaron shoots Katrina a dissatisfied look. "Maybe you'd like to put a glass of water between us as well," he says. "Great idea!" she agrees.

His face turns dimmer as he picks up his blanket and walks over to the bed. "Don't be ridiculous, I won't come near you," he scoffs.

"If we keep on like this, we won't be able to sleep at all tonight," he mutters, climbing into bed. "A third cold shower in one night is definitely out of the question."

Katrina watches Aaron's actions like a hawk, eventually deciding not to put a glass of water between them when she sees that he is behaving.

They tuck themselves in their separate blankets and go to sleep. Unable to fight the drowsiness any longer, Katrina finally falls asleep.

Although they stay on their respective sides at the beginning, Aaron gradually finds Katrina's figure in his sleep, drawn in by her familiar, soothing scent.

The next morning, warm sunlight floods the room. The pair are huddled together in bed.

There's a knock at the door, breaking the silence in the early morning. "Katrina, the sun is shining brightly. Are you up?"

Katrina wakes to find something hard and woolly pressed against her face. She prods it – it's hard and warm. Still half-asleep, she looks up and is surprised to see a young and handsome man's face.

He smiles at her, and Katrina gawks at the sight. What a handsome man! Am I dreaming? "Good morning," he says, voice hoarse with sleep.

She stares blankly at the man for a few seconds, gradually coming to her senses. Realizing that the man is Aaron, she screams and leaps from the bed.

Unable to catch her in time, Aaron watches Katrina fall to the floor with a loud thud. The knocking becomes more urgent. "Katrina!" Colin yells. "Are you alright? What happened?"

Katrina suddenly realizes that the sound she heard in her dream is real. Her eyes widen in panic. If he breaks into the room and sees Aaron... she gulps at the thought.

They can't see me like this! Even if Aaron pretends to be my boyfriend, bringing your boyfriend while you're on a mission is completely irresponsible! It was difficult enough convincing them to take me on this assignment, and I can't let them think I don't take my job seriously!

Katrina shouts loudly, "I'm okay! I just fell out of bed! I'm changing now, don't come in!"

Outside, Colin breathes a sigh of relief. "You scared me to death! Hurry up and get dressed, there's a breakfast buffet on the first floor."

"Okay, thank you! I'll be right there!"

She hears Colin leave and turns her attention to Aaron, who is sitting on the bed with a smile on his face. "You said you wouldn't come near me! You liar!"

Aaron says, "I didn't come near you." Katrina grits her teeth in anger, "You bastard!" she yells, throwing a pillow at him. "Don't treat me like an idiot!" Her face resembles a pufferfish. Aaron's smile widens at sight. Damn, she's cute. "I didn't. See," he gestures to the bed. "I'm still on my side. Maybe you came to me in your sleep last night." the middle of the bed. Although it works well on TV, it's not realistic in real life.

Hotel beds are relatively soft, and the slightest movement could easily tip the glass over. While Katrina is sleeping, she wouldn't be conscious of her actions. If she accidentally spills water during the night, she would wake up with a start and wouldn't be able to sleep anymore afterward.

If the hotel staff who cleans her room sees the water stains on the bed, they might think that she wet the bed in the middle of the night. Even if it wouldn't be true, it would still be embarrassing.

After they tuck themselves in their own blankets, Aaron keeps his word and doesn't harass Katrina again. Unable to fight the drowsiness any longer, Katrina finally falls asleep.

Things are fine at the beginning. But in the middle of the night, Aaron instinctively finds Katrina's figure in his sleep, drawn by Katrina's faint scent.

The next day, warm sunlight filters through the glass windows into the room. On the big hotel bed, Aaron is sleeping soundly with Katrina in his arms. In a deep sleep, Katrina's face is pressed against Aaron's chest. The scene is pleasantly quiet and peaceful.

There's a knock at the door, breaking the silence in the early morning. "Katrina, the sun is shining brightly. Are you up?"

Katrina slowly opens her eyes at the sound. Something is blocking her view. Curiously poking it, she finds that it is hard and warm. Still half-asleep, she looks up and is surprised to see a young and handsome man's face.

There is a smile on the man's face, making him even more breathtaking. Katrina gawks at the sight. What a handsome man. Am I dreaming?

"Good morning," the man greets, voice still a bit hoarse from sleeping. – After staring blankly at the man for a few seconds, Katrina gradually comes to her senses. When she suddenly realizes that the man holding her is Aaron, she screams in fright and moves away quickly.

Aaron is unable to catch her in time, and Katrina falls to the floor with a loud thud. Fortunately, the carpet saves her from hurting herself, although her butt is a little sore.

Hearing Katrina's scream, the person outside knocks more urgently. "Katrina!" Colin yells. "Are you alright? What happened?"

Since they are currently in a foreign country to apprehend a criminal, they have to be very vigilant. Hearing Katrina scream from inside her room instantly puts Colin on red alert. He is anxious that Black Wolf had found them and had decided to sneak into the room of the only female in their team to retaliate.

Hearing Colin, Katrina suddenly realizes that the sound she heard in her dream is real. The urgency in her partner's voice worries Katrina. He might break into her room to check if she's all right.

Katrina doesn't want any of her colleagues to see Aaron in her bed. She doesn't know how to explain his presence. Even though Aaron had already pretended to be her boyfriend in the past, bringing your boyfriend while you're on a mission is very irresponsible. She doesn't want her colleagues to think that she isn't taking her job seriously.

Katrina is very serious about her job. Given the importance of the assignment, she wants to catch Black Wolf as soon as possible.

Still sprawled on the ground, Katrina doesn't have time to get up and instead shouts loudly, "I'm okay! I just fell out of bed! I'm changing now, don't come in!"

Outside, Colin breathes a sigh of relief. His previously worried tone relaxes. "You scared me to death! Hurry up and get dressed. There's a breakfast buffet on the first floor."

"Okay, thank you! I'll be right downstairs." After she hears Colin leave, Katrina finally relaxes.

She looks up and glares at the man who is sitting on the bed with a smile on his face. "You said you wouldn't come to me. You liar!"

Aaron had promised last night that he would keep his distance. But this morning, she found herself waking up in his arms, his arms wrapped around her waist under the covers.

With a smile, Aaron says firmly, "I didn't come near you." Katrina grits her teeth in anger and the bastard has the nerve to deny it despite the obvious evidence. Katrina's angry face resembles a pufferfish. Aaron's smile widens at the adorable sight.

"I didn't. See," he gestures to the bed. "I'm still on my side. Maybe you were the one who came to me in your sleep last night."

An Endless Night With Him 242 Chapter 242: I'm Waiting For You

Looking at the bed, Katrina finds that Aaron is indeed on his side. Her face turns red in mortification. Did I really go to him in the middle of the night?

"Y-you..." He's lying! She tells herself, but the possibility horrifies her so much that she is rendered speechless.

Aaron brightens, even more, when Katrina sputters helplessly. He folds his arms and shakes his head, smirking. "You said you don't want me to come near you, but your body seeks me in the middle of the night."

Katrina flushes an angrier shade of red. She gets up from the ground and marches to the bathroom in a huff, taking a set of clothes with her. My colleagues are downstairs waiting for me. I don't have time to listen to this bastard's nonsense!

After a few minutes, Katrina comes out of the bathroom, fully dressed. While Aaron freshens up inside, she dials the front desk using the landline on the table. "Hello, do you have a room available?"

Aaron had insisted on staying with her last night, claiming he couldn't book a room for himself. I can't give him another chance to harass me, she thinks. If my colleagues see him in my room, it would be a disaster!

Katrina breathes a sigh of relief when the receptionist tells her that there are several rooms available. She feels better after she makes a reservation for Aaron. Now he doesn't have an excuse to stay here!

She walks to the bathroom and knocks on the door twice.

After a moment, Aaron opens the door, holding a razor to his face. Does she need to pee? "I'm almost done, but I don't mind if you come in," he says, flashing her a smile.

Aaron had been shaving when Katrina knocked, and there's some shaving cream on one side of his chin. "I have to admit, and he's really handsome. He makes shaving look attractive."

Katrina realizes the implication in Aaron's words and glares at him. Would it kill him to stop flirting for one second? Well, I already reserved a room for him. I'll be safe from this nonsense tonight! The thought comforts her a little.

"Aaron, I just called the front desk. Someone checked out today, and I reserved a room for you. Don't forget to check-in when you go downstairs. I'm going down for breakfast." With that, she turns around and leaves the room.

Aaron almost scratches himself with the razor in surprise. She booked a room behind my back! When did this woman learn to be so clever? She can be really resourceful when it comes to avoiding me!

In the hotel restaurant, Katrina's mind is adrift while she eats breakfast with her colleagues. Did he check-in already? What if he goes down to have breakfast? Should I greet him or pretend I don't know him?

Katrina lets out a heavy sigh. Aaron's sudden appearance is really troublesome, not to mention his presence always makes her feel uneasy.

Colin senses Katrina's anxiety and pats her on the shoulder in comfort. He lowers his voice and says, "Are you worried about the mission? Don't worry, Black Wolf is under surveillance. Everything should go smoothly."

Katrina looks up at Colin and nods with a smile..

After breakfast, the captain calls everyone to his room and assigns the day's assignments. Once Katrina receives hers, she returns to her room to get her cell phone.

But when she opens the door, she is greeted by the sight of Aaron sitting leisurely on the sofa and enjoying his breakfast. The bastard ordered room service! How long does he plan to stay here? She thinks in disbelief.

“Why are you still here?” she demands. Aaron looks up with a smile. “I’m waiting for you.”

Katrina starts to get anxious. “Did you go to the front desk to check-in at all? They said they could only reserve your room for an hour! They have to give the room to other guests after that!”..

She checks her watch and sees red. It’s been over an hour since I called! It’s the peak season, and there might not be any room left anymore! I managed to book a room for him, but he didn’t check in at all!

Katrina growls, “Don’t expect me to take you in tonight! I don’t care if you have to sleep in the streets! If you think you can stay in my room tonight, you’ve got another thing coming!”

Aaron shakes his head and sighs loudly. “Cruel woman!” He picks up his phone from the table with a flourish. “Have you forgotten about online payment?”

Katrina is taken aback by Aaron’s words. In her anger, she completely forgot that online payment is possible.

Now that she knows Aaron already paid for his room, she has nothing more to say. She takes her cell phone from the bed and says, “I’m leaving. My colleagues are waiting for me.”

Katrina is about to leave the room when she feels a warm and firm hand pulling her arm. She turns around to ask

Aaron what he wants.

Suddenly, Aaron gathers her into a tight embrace. He rests his chin on her shoulder and says in a serious tone, “Be careful. Come back safely.”

She was stunned when she heard his words. She doesn’t expect that Aaron would utter those words that are full of concern and affection. Is she still dreaming or just that this daredevil plays tricks on her? But what about last night? His love confession made Katrina feel secured, although he had an overbearing presence, she can’t deny that this man is every woman’s dream.

“I will. Let me go now. I get suffocated by your tight embrace,” Katrina immediately said while placing her tiny hands on his chest, pushing him.

“I might scare you, but I am seriously doting on you. As I’ve said last night, I will not leave you,” His eyes are looking at her beautiful face seriously. A declaration of love and affection was added to it. She blinks her eyes quickly, trying to ignore his handsome face.

An Endless Night With Him 243 Chapter 243: Black Wolf

Aaron saw her action, and a pleasant smile broke in his handsome face.

“What now? Are you getting mesmerized with my appearance?” Aaron tried to crack a joke to get her attention back to reality

“In your dreams. Let me go!” Aaron loosened his arms and suddenly kissed her mouth without asking her permission. “Y-You-You!” She screams in anger. He just smiled and said, “It’s a good luck kiss,” She glared at him but didn’t repeat anything.

Aaron doesn’t know anything about Katrina’s current assignment. Since it’s confidential, he knows she wouldn’t tell him even if he asks. But it doesn’t stop him from worrying about her safety. I don’t want her to be in any danger.

Suddenly finding herself in Aaron’s arms, Katrina starts to struggle when she hears the concern in his voice. With Aaron hugging her tightly like a lifeline, she doesn’t have the heart to push him away.

He’s really worried about me, she thinks in wonder. He didn’t fly to Thailand because I stood him up. He came here because he’s worried about me.

“Release me now, please?”. “Okay, you take care,” He said. Katrina nods. “I will. Everyone in the team takes good care of me. Don’t worry, I’ll be fine!”

Aaron doesn’t move to let her go, and she doesn’t want to keep her colleagues waiting. After a few more seconds, she nudges Aaron’s chest. “I have to go now.”

A thought occurs to Katrina while Aaron releases her. “You’re not staying in the hotel all day, are you?” He frowns. Does she think I plan to laze around in bed all day? “I made an appointment with a local client.”

Aaron is a workaholic. Since he came all the way to Thailand, he has to maximize his time while he is here. A local business partner has been trying to set up a meeting with him for a long time, and he’s going to take this opportunity to meet with him finally.

Katrina leaves the room with complicated feelings.

She was definitely furious with Aaron for breaking into her room and taking advantage of her the night before. But after witnessing his heartfelt concern earlier, she realizes that he isn’t as horrible as she thought.

Katrina’s team spends the day doing surveillance at Tilaya, knowing that Black Wolf is most likely to be found there.

At eight o’clock that evening, an officer reports that the target has made an appearance. The captain immediately relays the information to the rest of the team, and everyone rushes to action. Although everyone looks like ordinary civilians, they all have hidden guns strapped to their waists.

The March 29 armed robbery case is not Black Wolf’s first crime. In addition to robbery, homicide, and other felonies, he has also been involved in *, drug trafficking, and other major crimes.

But Black Wolf is an extremely cunning person. Despite all the crimes he’s committed, he has evaded the police for so long. He is a very dangerous criminal who is skilled with a gun. Dealing with such a clever and vicious criminal is not a small challenge for the police.

Black Wolf is obviously very familiar with the place, and he has a good security detail with him. He arrives at Tilaya in a bulletproof car and is escorted by two tall and bulky bodyguards as soon as he arrives.

The captain sends two police officers to lurk in the crowd. They watch Black Wolf's movements, all the while keeping a low profile to avoid alarming the target. Any confrontation could result in innocent people getting hurt, and they can't have that.

As soon as Black Wolf enters Tilaya, he goes upstairs to a private room where his two bodyguards stand guard outside. No one can get near him aside from the waiter.

The private room is a good place to capture the Black Wolf without the risk of hurting innocent civilians. The captain sends two experienced officers disguised as waiters to enter the room and serve wine. They have an open communication line with the other officers outside who are ready to take down Black Wolf at any time.

Unfortunately, they are stopped by the bodyguards as soon as they approach the door. Only female servers are allowed to enter. Black Wolf is extremely vigilant. As a long-time criminal, he is particularly careful with the slightest of details.

To prevent unnecessary suspicion, the officers have no choice but to retreat, letting the actual waitress serve the wine. The initial plan to approach Black Wolf is unsuccessful. It's time to change tactics.

Black Wolf is known for his lascivious nature. He doesn't just go to bars to drink. Every time he comes, he pays women to give him a good time. Aside from his bodyguards, men can't approach him so easily. Only women have access to him.

Since the waitress had already delivered the wine, they can't send Katrina as a server anymore. The team collectively realizes what needs to be done, but no one wants to bring it up.

Seeing the mission coming to a pause, Katrina speaks up. "Captain, let me try." As the only woman in the team, she has access to the room. She wants to do her part and be useful.

Everyone stops talking. Even the captain is silent. Although they had decided to take Katrina on the assignment as a last resort, no one wants her to take such a big risk.

Taking a gun into the room could easily blow her cover, but entering the room, unarmed, is like walking into the lion's den. Black Wolf can easily overpower Katrina. Even if he doesn't discover her identity, it would still be very dangerous for her.

No one in the team feels comfortable placing such a dangerous task on a girl, not to mention the female colleague everyone dotes on.

Faced with everyone's silence, Katrina knows that the team is worried about her safety. "Captain, I've been a cop for a long time. Please don't underestimate me. I'll be fine!" she says in a deliberately relaxed tone.

"We flew all the way to Thailand to catch Black Wolf. Now that opportunity is at hand, what are we waiting for? If we miss this chance, we might not get another one."

An Endless Night With Him 244 Chapter 244: Black Wolf

Katrina is right.

The whole team knows the longer they delay things, the more likely they are to reveal themselves and be discovered. Then catching Black Wolf will become even more difficult. Now that they're here, no one wants to leave empty-handed.

After a moment of silence, the captain finally nods. "Okay. I'll send Katrina to carry out the mission. Be careful. If you have to choose between catching Black Wolf and keeping yourself safe, you must choose your safety first. That's the top priority, understand?"

Katrina nods. "Yes."

She takes the pistol from her waist and hands it to the captain. Then she plugs a small wireless headset into her right ear to remain in contact with the rest of the team, her long hair easily concealing it. Unless someone stares at her ear, it will go unnoticed.

Katrina applies a lot of makeup on her face and changes into revealing clothes, disguising herself as a prostitute to blend in with the others. Despite the heavy makeup, she still looks innocent, and she stands out easily. Amidst the group of scantily clad beauties, Katrina and another girl are picked to enter Black Wolf's room.

The girl must have encountered different kinds of guests before. While Katrina stands awkwardly on one side, she immediately sits on Black Wolf's lap and kisses him enthusiastically, not caring that he is fat and ugly.

The prostitute is pressed up against Black Wolf's chest, her arms looped around his neck. Her body wriggles on his lap like a snake, arousing him even more. Clearly enjoying himself, he reaches out to grope her butt, eager to have sex with her.

Although Katrina had prepared herself for the situation, the scene immediately makes her uncomfortable. The sounds of the couple's moans don't make it easier for her to adjust either. Fortunately, the other girl is enthusiastic enough for both of them.

After the long kiss, Black Wolf turns to Katrina. "Come here." Katrina obediently approaches and sits down next to him, a forced smile on her face.

Compared to the other girl's eagerness, Katrina is a lot more reserved. She can't bring herself to sit on the lap of such a vile and ugly man, let alone kiss him.

Noticing that Katrina's temperament is different from the usual prostitutes, Black Wolf gives her a curious look and doesn't immediately flirt with her. "Are you a foreigner?"

Katrina nods. "Yes." ... "How long have you been working here?"

Katrina replies honestly, "Today is my first day."

Black Wolf is definitely interested in bedding a beautiful and pure girl. He had always preferred foreign girls to local ones.

"Why did you come to Thailand?"

“Because... Because... My father is ill, and our family doesn’t have the money to see a doctor. It’s very strict in my country, and I’m afraid of being discovered by someone I know. I hear this type of work is legal in Thailand, so I came here...”

Black Wolf nods his head in understanding. “We both have it difficult. I’m also a foreigner, and I have to live here because life forces me to.”

He continues, “But one must learn to adapt to change. You’ll eventually get used to it. Don’t worry, since we are both foreigners, and I’ll take care of you.”

Katrina gives a reluctant smile. “Thank you.”

His words don’t reassure her at all. Despite his promise to take care of her, he still wants to have sex with her. He places his sweaty hands on her lap, his body crowding into her space.

Taken aback, Katrina tries to push him away on reflexes. But to preserve her cover, she has to endure it. She reluctantly keeps still, tolerating his hands groping her legs and his body coming closer to her. She tries not to gag when the heavy stench of alcohol and tobacco reaches her nose.

Katrina feels like a dirty and smelly pig is stuck to her body, and a wave of nausea turns in her stomach. She doesn’t push him away, but she can’t bring herself to touch him either.

“Relax. Don’t be nervous,” he says, trailing kisses from her neck to her collarbones. Seeing Black Wolf’s focus on Katrina, the neglected girl is not happy. He is a big client who has always been generous with his tips. All the prostitutes want him as a long-term client. She can’t sit back and watch him get stolen away by someone else.

The girl picks up two glasses of wine from the table and hands one to him. “Mr. Wolf, are you thirsty? Let’s have some drinks,” she says, shooting him a seductive look.

Black Wolf releases Katrina and pays the other girl some attention.

Katrina is grateful for the interference. She feels disgusted, covered in sweat and saliva. If I get out of this alive, I’m going to take a good shower and scrub my skin clean.

The girl drinks a few glasses of wine with Black Wolf. She keeps him entertained by linking her arm with his as they drink, feeding each other wine from their mouths, and doing all sorts of other tricks.

Meanwhile, Katrina is mulling over what to do. How do I get the gun off him? And how do I contact the team without being noticed?

Suddenly, Black Wolf stands up and announces, “We’re not playing here tonight. We have a virgin with us tonight. Her first time shouldn’t be in a place like this.”

As soon the girl hears that Black Wolf is taking them somewhere, she immediately agrees. I can earn double if we leave! “That’s a great idea! I’m tired of always staying in this place!”

Although Katrina is worried by the turn of events, she has no choice but to agree.

Her team is outside, waiting for the right time to rush in and apprehend Black Wolf. They had to bribe some people in the bar to let Katrina dress up and blend in.

If Black Wolf leaves Tilaya, all their efforts would be in vain, eliminating him even more difficult.

An Endless Night With Him 245 Chapter 245: Difficult Situation

Moments later, Katrina and the prostitute are led out of the room by Black Wolf. His two bulky bodyguards follow close behind, escorting them all the way to the car.

Where are we going? What's going to happen next? Katrina forces her face into a picture of calm to prevent Black Wolf from discovering anything amiss.

Under such circumstances, Katrina can only go along with the flow and carry on. Whatever happens next, my team will have my back, and she reminds herself.

Focus. How do I get the gun off him? Contacting the team will be even more difficult now! Suddenly, her previous worries seem impossible.

Outside, Katrina's teammates are visibly shocked to see Katrina being taken into a car. "Where the hell is that bastard taking her!" the captain yells, "Follow them at once! Don't let them get away!"

Three understated cars immediately tail the bulletproof business car. They keep a certain distance, not daring to get too close for fear of being found out, or staying too far for fear of losing them.

In Black Wolf's car, the two bodyguards are seated in front while Katrina and the prostitute are seated in the back with Black Wolf in between them.

Katrina silently watches the landscape outside, memorizing as many details as possible in case her team gets lost while following them.

Suddenly, she feels something hard against her forehead. She gulps, not daring to move a muscle. Katrina is glancing in the direction, and her fears are confirmed when she sees that Black Wolf is pointing a gun at her.

That's definitely a real gun. Katrina thinks weakly.

Four years ago, she was forced to undress at gunpoint. A flash of memory that night suddenly appeared in her mind. But her fear from before is nothing compared to what she is feeling now. Black Wolf is a cold blooded killer. This isn't a bluff, and he's definitely going to kill me!

Why is he pointing a gun at me? Did he figure me out? Katrina thinks, sweat beading on her forehead. Impossible! I didn't say or do anything out of the ordinary! How on earth did he find out?

Realization dawns on Katrina. No wonder he suddenly suggested we move places, he was already suspicious of me! He's far more intelligent than we anticipated... .. Katrina doesn't dare to struggle or make a noise. Instead, she lets some of her nervousness bleed into her voice as she stutters, "M-Mr. Wolf, what are you doing?"

Keeping the gun pointed at Katrina's forehead, he says casually, "You're quite calm, aren't you, little girl? How did you get into my room? Why did you approach me?" A sound of doubt added to Black Wolf's voice.

“I-I don’t know what you’re talking about, M-Mr. Wolf! I’m only here to earn money, n-nothing else!” She stuttered and tried to appease his anger.

At that moment, the prostitute sitting on Black Wolf’s other side notices the gun aimed at Katrina’s head and promptly turns pale, letting out a shrill scream. “AHH!”

When he said we were leaving, I thought I’d be earning more money! Why is he holding a gun to her head? Oh my god, is he going to kill us?

“Stop the car! I need to get off! Stop the car!” she shrieks, scrambling at the door handle in desperation.

The deafening scream reverberates in the car, making Black Wolf cringe. He swiftly moves the gun and points it at the prostitute’s forehead. “Shut up! I’ll kill you if you shout again! One more scream and I will shoot you!”

The fierce look on Black Wolf’s face frightens the woman into silence. Her body goes slack and she slumps against her seat, the blood draining from her face. Overwhelmed by fear, she won’t be able to scream even if she tries.

This is how an ordinary prostitute would react. Black Wolf narrows his eyes at Katrina. If she were really a prostitute, she would be scared to death by now. She’s not who she says she is.

After successfully silencing the prostitute, he points the gun back at Katrina. “Who are you? What is your purpose?” Whatever happens, I can’t tell him the truth! She clenches her teeth and replies, “I’m just here to work!”

Black Wolf snorts at her response. “Work? I see you’re quite stubborn! What does an ordinary prostitute have listening devices in their ears for?”

Katrina’s eyes widened in shock. I thought I had a good disguise, but he saw right through it! She forces herself to calm down and stammers, “I-I got into an accident when I was a kid! I have a hearing problem! It’s the latest hearing aid, it’s not a listening device!”

Black Wolf snorts in disbelief. “You’re gonna have to do better than that to trick me!”

In the three cars trailing behind, the expressions on the faces of Katrina’s teammates turn grave when they realize that Katrina has been exposed.

I can’t believe I made her do this! The captain thinks. She’s alone with a dangerous murderer and two armed bodyguards because of me! She won’t be able to protect herself!

Eyes trained at the bulletproof car in front of them and the captain gives the order, “Force their car to stop and get in contact with them! We can’t let Katrina get hurt under any circumstances, even if we have to give up the mission!”

Even if she’s been discovered, Black Wolf won’t dare kill Katrina, he tells himself. Black Wolf and his men are outnumbered by the police and Katrina is their only leverage. The only way he’s getting out of this is if he keeps her as a hostage. He can’t risk Katrina’s life with this mission because this might cause more chaos in their team.

He wanted to calm down himself, but thinking Katrina in the hand of a murderer, the captain, can't relieve his worry. He thought that letting Katrina as bait is the wrong decision he ever made. He can't forgive himself if something happened to his teammates.