

An Endless Night With Him

An Endless Night With Him 246 Chapter 246: Retrea

The three undercover cars speed past Black Wolf's car, getting ahead to prevent it from escaping them.

Inside, the policemen focus on the task of rescuing Katrina with a determined look on their faces. Faced with a murderer who is holding their teammate as a hostage, they can't afford to be careless in any way.

When they reach a fork in the road, the three cars come to a halt to block the target. More than a dozen police officers immediately rush out of the vehicles, each aiming a gun at the bulletproof car.

At the sight of the Chinese policemen dressed in civilian clothes, Black Wolf narrows his eyes in displeasure. She's definitely an undercover agent!

Backed into a corner, he has no choice but to get out of the car and use the only leverage he has. He opens the door and pushes Katrina out before stepping outside, and a gun pointed at the back of her head. He wraps his other arm around her neck in a tight grip, effectively keeping her in place.

Black Wolf looks calm and collected, his face devoid of fear. He lets out a sneer, "Wow, you actually found me! It seems I underestimated you!"

I thought I'd be safe here. Who knew the police would chase me all the way to Thailand? He shoots the police a disdainful look. Well, I'm not letting them take me back so easily!

It's obvious that Katrina has a difficult time breathing from Black Wolf's tight grip. He is making matters worse as there is a gun pointed at her head.

Seeing the only girl on their team under such dangerous circumstances is unbearable to the policemen. The captain points his gun at Black Wolf and yells, "We won't arrest you! Just let her go!"

We underestimated him! The captain scolds himself for being so careless. It doesn't matter if the mission ends in a bust. As long as we get Katrina back safe and sound, we can go home empty-handed.

He looks at Katrina in determination. We have to keep her safe. ;

Black Wolf scoffs at the policemen circling them. "Ha! Let her go? You think I'm stupid enough to believe you?" Without his hostage, the police will surely arrest him. His gun and bodyguards are no match for a group of armed policemen..

All of a sudden, Black Wolf turns his gun to the sky and shoots once. "Everyone, back off! If anyone follows us, I'll shoot her! If you keep your word, I'll release her in four hours!"

Four hours is enough time to get a head start. Once I'm certain they won't catch me, I'll let her go. He glances at Katrina. Or not, he thinks with a wicked smile.

The captain falls silent at his words. No, there's no guarantee he'll let her go. I can't trust the word of a criminal...

Unbidden images of Katrina being tortured fill his head. Letting him go could put Katrina in even more danger. As a captain with many years of experience on the force, he knows there is no shortage of torture methods for nefarious criminals like Black Wolf.

He can't be trusted in any way. If we let him go, we might never see Katrina again! I'm not risking her life because of my bad decision.

The situation is now in a standstill.

In Black Wolf's grasp, Katrina's face turns red from the pressure, and her strength begins to wear thin. The captain scrambles for what to do. If this goes on, he might go into a rage and do something extreme.

He raises his hands slowly. "Okay, you can take a hostage with you. But that girl is new, and she hasn't been in the force long. She's innocent. If you want to take someone hostage, take me instead."

If anyone has to take a risk, it should be me. As the captain, he has more experience dealing with criminals than anyone on the force. He would be better equipped to deal with things if something goes wrong. I have a better chance of surviving than Katrina.

Black Wolf dismisses the captain's offer. He takes a lustful whiff of Katrina's hair and says, "I'd rather have a pretty young girl for company." Then he fires another shot into the sky.

"I'll give you one more minute to think about it. If you don't back off, I'll kill her. Then I'll kill as many of you as I can. If I have to go down, I'll take you down with me!"

He looks at his watch and counts out loud, "Ten seconds... Thirty Seconds...."

The threat is enough to scare the officers present. Desperate criminals do not fear death like ordinary people. When backed into a corner, they are capable of doing anything.

Despite their efforts, they can't bring Katrina out of danger. They stare at Katrina with a pained look. Katrina is their beloved colleague. They can't bear to let her go like this.

Soon Black Wolf reaches the last ten seconds of his countdown. "Ten... Nine..." Seeing the defeat in the eyes of the policemen surrounding him, he smirks as he continues, "Five... Four..."

Before the countdown ends, the captain makes a decision. He orders in a hoarse voice, "Everyone steps back! Make way for them; let them go!"

Despite how difficult it is to give the order, he has no other choice. He can't put any more lives at risk. If my men can live another day, I'll take it. There could still be hope...

They underestimated Black Wolf and thought their plan was foolproof. They didn't expect him to see through their ruse and turn the tables on them. It doesn't matter if their mission fails. As long as they can safely get Katrina back, they can go home empty-handed.

The priority is to keep Katrina safe. More than anything else, Katrina's life is more precious than risking it. He saw the determination of Black Wolf's face that he will not let her go. He signaled his team to retreat gradually.

An Endless Night With Him 247 Chapter 247: Replace Her

The policemen are slowly back away into their cars. Soon the undercover cars leave a gap in the main road and make way for Black Wolf.

The police are all reluctant to surrender, knowing that Katrina will have a difficult time in Black Wolf's hands. They don't even know when they will see her again, or if she will even be safe. She might not get out of this alive at all.

The whole team cares for Katrina. But despite their objections, they are helpless to concede to the enemy.

As soon as the cops get out of the way, Black Wolf moves to pull Katrina into the car, when a sports car rushes out of nowhere and stops to a halt in front of them, rolling up dust in its wake.

A man in a black suit pushes the door open and gets out of the car. Carrying a briefcase in his hand, he strides towards Black Wolf, walking through the clearing dust like the character in an action movie amidst a spectacular explosion. He looks untouchable. His images illuminated a powerful presence that will scare everyone.

Aaron? The recognition puts Katrina in a daze. What is he doing here?

The moment she sees Aaron, she feels like crying. She remembers the way he took her in his arms and practically begged her to come back safely. I know he cares about me, but I can't believe he's here...

Aaron stops five meters away from Black Wolf. Staring the criminal dangerously while his sight flew towards the woman's face that he loves the most. He clenched his jaw while looking at Katrina's difficult situation.

– At the sight of the newcomer, Black Wolf demands, “Who are you!”

He isn't the only one confused by Aaron's appearance. Along with the rest of the team, the captain looks at him in confusion. Who is he? He looks familiar... Why is he risking his life like this? Why did he suddenly appear in this difficult situation?

Aaron stands still, looking directly into Black Wolf's eyes without a hint of fear. “I'm their superior, the commander in charge of their mission! A lowly officer with no status is of no use to you! Take me, and you'll be the biggest threat to the Chinese police!”

To bring down the enemy, you must take down the leader. Holding a soldier hostage is nothing compared to holding a general hostage.

Although the police are surprised and confused to hear Aaron's claim to be their superior, they keep silent. Whoever he is, he must be on our side. Why else would he volunteer to be a hostage?

The police watched in anticipation of Aaron's next move, but before he appeared, they had lost all hope for Katrina. But now there's a chance to turn things around. They prepare to cooperate with Aaron to rescue Katrina. – But Black Wolf is suspicious of Aaron's offer. Handling a man will be more difficult than dealing with a girl. He sneers, “I told you, I don't want a man for a hostage!”

“Oh, is that so?” Unperturbed, Aaron opens his suitcase, revealing bundles of dollars inside. He takes a stack and throws it into the sky. The paper bills fall to the ground like snowflakes, painting a magnificent picture. He used this trick to buy more time, and he could rescue Katrina.

“You probably don’t know me, but besides being their boss, I’m the grandson of Eric Simon, the richest and most powerful man in Abbe City.” He said without hesitation.

The grandson of Eric Simon? A thrill runs up Black Wolf’s spine. He turns greedy eyes to the falling bills and grins.

Money is the reason he started on the path of crime. If I have Eric Simon’s grandson as a hostage, I can get all the money I want with just a simple phone call. Aaron’s offer suddenly becomes more appealing. I Excited by the suitcase of money, Black Wolf immediately makes up his mind. “You can take her place! Throw the briefcase over and take off your suit! I want to make sure you don’t have a weapon on you!”

Aaron throws the suitcase as instructed. But he hadn’t closed the case properly beforehand, and the dollar bills spilled out like a fountain and spread throughout the road.

Black Wolf turns his head and shouts to his bodyguards, “You fools! Get over here and gather everything!”

The bodyguards hurriedly get out of the car and squat down on the ground to pick up the bills. Meanwhile, Aaron takes off his suit and pats himself from top to bottom to show that he is unarmed.

Black Wolf nods in approval and barks, “Good! Get over here! Faster!” Aaron walks towards him one step at a time.

Seeing Aaron so determined to take her place, Katrina shakes her head furiously to make him stop. I don’t have any regrets about dying on the job, and I knew what I was getting into when I joined the force... He’s just a civilian, and I can’t let him do this! A tiny voice screams in her head. She can’t let Aaron’s life be in danger because of her Katrina feels her anxiety well up as she watches Aaron’s approach. I’m just an ordinary police officer. Sacrificing my life is my duty!

Aaron is the CEO of an international corporation. If anything happens to him, it would be a huge loss. I can’t believe he’s doing this. This stupid man wanted to sacrifice his life.

Katrina doesn’t like equating a person’s value to one’s wealth, but she knows without a doubt that Aaron’s life is much more valuable than hers. She felt so much scared while Aaron gradually came closer to them.

Aaron noticed the sudden anxiety in Katrina’s face, but he still continues moving forward as he is determined to save her. His life will have no meaning if Katrina dies. He can’t live without her, and he is still looking forward to a better future ahead of them. Katrina knew how stubborn Aaron was.

An Endless Night With Him 248 Chapter 248: She Cried for Him

Katrina becomes desperate and starts to protest, “No! He’s not our boss at all! He has nothing to do with the Simons! Mr. Wolf. Don’t believe him! He’s just a passer-by! Take me with you! I’m the one you have! Take me with you!”

She struggles desperately, urgently trying to persuade Black Wolf of the idea.

But Black Wolf has already been attracted by the money. In addition, Aaron looks very distinguished in terms of his appearance, temperament, and clothing. He's definitely a rich kid. I'd be a fool to let such a big fish go.

As Aaron approaches, Black Wolf quickly shifts the gun from Katrina's temple to Aaron's head, shoving Katrina away and grabbing Aaron's shoulder in the process.

Because Aaron is half a head taller than Black Wolf, he can't grasp Aaron's neck the same way he did Katrina's a moment ago. He can only grip his shoulder with his other hand.

As soon as Katrina is pushed away, the nearest police officer rushes over to support her. After being choked for so long, Katrina is lightheaded, and her body is a little weak. She can only lean against her colleague to stay on her feet. She looks at Aaron in despair.

Seeing Aaron with a gun to his head feels wrong to Katrina. He's always bullied me around, but now he's sacrificing himself to save me...

Katrina feels tears well up in her eyes. I don't want to see him like this...

Oh god, anything could happen to him... Her heart throbs painfully at the thought. I should be in his place! I should be the one to be in danger, not him!

At that moment, Katrina realizes that she doesn't hate Aaron as much as she thought.

As long as he's safe, as long as he can return to my side... I'll stop avoiding him, she vows to herself. I'll stop yelling at him, and I'll never lose my temper with him again!

Aaron took an overnight flight to Thailand just to find me. She remembers her morning outburst with regret. And I yelled at him over a simple room! Even though I always fight him... Also though I always think the worst of him, he's willing to give up his life for me.

The bodyguards are still busy gathering and stuffing money into the briefcase. Some of the bills have scattered a little bit further, and Black Wolf is keen to get every single bill.

"There's more over there! Hurry up! Don't miss a single one!" While barking orders at his men, he greedily looks at the case full of money in glee.

I thought I was going to get arrested, but now I've landed a billionaire hostage and a suitcase full of money. I'll be set for life soon!

At that moment, Aaron's face turns cold. In a swift movement, he raises his arm and grabs Black Wolf's wrist. Threatened by the sudden movement, Black Wolf pulls the trigger, but Aaron quickly breaks free of his hold and moves out of the way.

Bang! The bullet misses Aaron's head and hits him on the shoulder. Everything happens in a flash.

The moment Aaron moves, the policemen at the sidelines rush over. A couple of officers quickly subdue Black Wolf and take away his gun. The others point their guns at the two men still picking up money off the ground.

Soon Black Wolf and his men are overpowered by the police. The officers quickly confiscate their weapons and handcuff them.

When Black Wolf pulls the trigger, Katrina's eyes widen, and she stops breathing. When the bullet hits Aaron's shoulder instead, she feels like she survived a great disaster, Already on the verge of tears, she starts crying uncontrollably.

"Aaron!" Katrina gathers all her strength and runs, throwing herself at him. She wraps her arms tightly around his waist and presses her face against his chest, unwilling to let go.

Aaron is alive! Aaron is alive! Katrina grips him tighter. I thought he was going to die! I thought I'd never see him again!

In the past, whenever Aaron took Katrina in his arms, she would always struggle. This time, Katrina actually takes the initiative to hold him, without a single care for what her colleagues might think.

Aaron has a gunshot wound on his shoulder, but feeling Katrina hugging him tightly with all her strength, he doesn't feel any pain.

In Katrina's embrace, Aaron's heart filled with warmth. Despite all the things he had done for her, Katrina has never held him like this before. He is taken aback by the unexpected gesture.

Aaron feels like a hero who saves the girl in a soap opera. This method is quite useful. He thinks in wonder. Katrina is so moved, she's in a complete mess...

Who would've thought this would happen? I just wanted her safe, but this is a pleasant surprise. He struggles with the pain in his shoulder and lifts his arm to hug Katrina back.

Surrounded by Aaron's embrace and his familiar scent, Katrina cries even harder. Aaron startles at the warm wetness on his chest. She's crying...

Before, Aaron was terrified of Katrina's tears. Every time she cried in front of him, it would always be out of extreme hatred or fear of him. He used to think that he was only capable of making Katrina unhappy.

But this time, Katrina is crying for a different reason. She's afraid I was going to die. She's crying because she's worried about me...

The thought that Aaron's life is in danger because of her makes Katrina's heartthrob painfully.

Instead of Aaron taking the risk for her, she wants to be in his place. She doesn't want him to do this for her. His life is precious to her. She realized that despite his overbearing attitude and forcing himself to her, he would risk his life to do this deed. She can't imagine seeing Aaron in a lifeless moment. Nothing more important than having around him, feeling his warm embrace. She thought all of these things around her head.

An Endless Night With Him 249 Chapter 249: Teasing Her

Even though Katrina is worried about him, Aaron cannot bear to see her crying so much. "Don't cry, don't cry until after I'm dead. Why are you crying like this?"

Katrina pounds her fists against his chest. "Don't say things like that! I'm not letting you die! You can't die easily," Plenty of tears stream down her cheeks.

Aaron's words only make her panic even more. After he's dead? How could he say such a thing! If anything happens to him... If the bullet hadn't missed... I'll never forgive myself if he dies because of me!

This cruel bastard! Does he want me to live in regret for the rest of my life? I never asked for any of this! She thinks.

All Katrina wants to do is to hold Aaron tightly, the warmth of his body, reminding her that he's alive. That nothing had happened to him. She forgets those eyes of her teammates, who stared at them with curiosity written all over their faces.

The sight of Katrina and Aaron tightly hugging each other is too intimate for the others to witness. They all look away to give them a semblance of privacy. They chose not to disturb them. They respect privacy towards their teammates, mostly Katrina, who is brave enough to accept a difficult task like this.

If this man hadn't appeared, who knows what would've happened to Katrina? The captain thinks. What a fearless man, facing Black Wolf-like that. He can't imagine such a strong personality that bears a mighty family name that will be going to help them. The man even looks more handsome with his tall figure.

- After a few moments, the captain has no choice but to interrupt them. Aaron is still injured. Even though the bullet missed his head, he still needs medical attention.

He approaches the pair and clears his throat. "Thank you for your assistance, sir. We need to take you to the hospital now."

Katrina quickly releases Aaron. Oh my god, I completely forgot about his wound! This stupid man! Why didn't he say anything?

Seeing his bloodstained shirt almost makes her burst into tears again. She can't bear to check his wound and helps him up to his feet instead, praying he makes a full recovery.

Looking up at him, she hisses, "Are you out of your mind? You must be in a lot of pain!"

Aaron smiles slightly and whispers, "It doesn't hurt at all. This is nothing compared to the time you got yourself a boyfriend." A naughty smile drew in Aaron's handsome face. Katrina's face turns red like a tomato when his words sink in, into her mind.

What are they talking about? The captain wonders, seeing Katrina shoot Aaron an incredulous look. He turns to Colin and says, "Colin, take them to the hospital. We'll follow' as soon as we finish wrapping things up here."

"Yes, sir!" Colin quickly ushers them towards one of the cars and hovers as Katrina pushes Aaron inside. Then he gets behind the steering wheel and drives to the hospital.

Katrina grasps Aaron's unharmed arm, unable to tear her eyes away from his bloody shirt. He's lost so much blood... "Aaron, hold on! We'll get to the hospital soon!"

From her tight grip and shaky voice, it's evident that Katrina is a lot more worried than Aaron. His heart softens at her obvious worry. All my efforts paid off in the end. She recognized me as one of the important people in her life. I will be doing my best to let her accept me before I undergo surgery. Time is running out as I feel my body gradually suffering the severe effect of that drug for years ago. I still need to tell her the truth that the man who forced her that night was me.

He entwines his hand with hers with a smile written all over his face.

Instead of struggling, she squeezes his hand tightly. Aaron's face is pale from the blood loss, and his grip isn't as strong as usual. But the gesture immediately puts Katrina at ease.

Aaron lets out a sigh, and Katrina looks up in alarm. "What's wrong?"

He bows his head and leans closer, teasing in a low voice, "I shouldn't have booked that other room this morning. If I had known this would happen, I would have gotten myself injured a long time ago."

What a kindhearted woman. Despite everything I did, she still worries about me, he thinks with a smile.

"You've too much for me. I need to return the favor by serving you until you get recovered. I can't bear the pain, thinking that you suffered because of me. Next time don't do this again," She warns him.

"Are you afraid of losing me? Common just say it, don't be shy," He teased her. "Stop teasing me, and my teammate is here. She will misinterpret our action," She whispered in his ear. "How could I stop myself teasing my woman who freely showed her care and affection after I saved her?" He answered quickly.

"You... I said, stop teasing me. This is not the place and time to flirt with me. You are clearly injured, and you still have more courage to do this kind of trick," she hissed.

"I am doting you, not doing any tricks. I confessed last night, but you were so anxious and got mad at me," He reminded her with what she did to him last night.

"It's your fault, making fun of me and trying to force me again," She tightened her grip in his hands. "After I got treated in the hospital, shall we stay together in one room so we could talk about us?" "Who told you that we could stay together in one room?" She pretends to be angry.

"How pitiful I am, still the woman I love didn't want to be with me. Should I exert much effort to win your trust and love?" His face lowered down to kiss her, but she immediately avoided it.

An Endless Night With Him 250 Chapter 250: Best Supporter

Katrina flushes red at Aaron's words. This bastard! I can't believe he's flirting with me in front of my partner! Oh my god, if Colin heard him...

Ugh, I shouldn't worry about him at all! She huffs, pulling away from Aaron with a glare. If he has the energy to tease me, he must be fine!

Aaron lets Katrina shift away, but keeps a tight hold on her hand. He is afraid to let go of her while they are together.

“Oh!” Colin says suddenly, “Are you Mr. Wilson of the Wilson Enterprise? The one who moved to Abbe recently?” Colin waited for Aaron’s response.

Aaron smiles. “Yes, I’m Aaron Wilson. I didn’t think he would recognize me, so I pretended to be Eric Simon’s grandson.”

The confirmation takes Colin by surprise. “I knew you looked familiar! I saw you on TV! I’m so honored to meet you, Mr. Wilson! I never thought I’d meet a celebrity like you in real life! I’m Katrina’s partner, and you can call me Colin.”

Colin can’t help raving at the discovery. He had always admired Aaron for becoming a successful businessman at such a young age. Seeing him in action earlier only made him admire Aaron more. His overbearing appearance makes everyone scared of him, yet seeing him with Katrina is something different from what Colin thought.

The way he handled Black Wolf was amazing! We probably wouldn’t have saved Katrina and arrested Black Wolf if not for him...

- Glancing at the couple through the rearview mirror, Colin has to ask, “How do you two know each other? We haven’t seen you with Katrina?”

They must be close. Why else would he risk his life for Katrina like that? He seems important to her too... I don’t understand... Didn’t Katrina just break up with Marcellus? Colin’s thought running in her head.

Katrina remains silent, not knowing how to answer Colin’s question. She never told anyone about her horrible experience in Hadley, and she wants to keep it a secret. How do I explain my relationship with Aaron? This looks bad. I can’t tell anybody that I have slept with this man several times.

Aaron breaks the silence and says, “I met Katrina when she went to Hadley. I saw her in the crowd and fell in love instantly. To pursue her, I decided to move to Abbe. It’s a new environment here, but with my reason for moving to this city it gives me a little strength,”

He lets out a sigh and continues, “But by the time I arrived, she had already gotten together with someone else. I had to wait for an opportunity in silence. Fortunately, they eventually broke up, and I began to pursue her again.” An honest answer from Aaron shocked both Katrina and Colin.

With a rueful smile, he finishes, “I’m still waiting for her to accept me as her boyfriend. She didn’t like me, that why I put courage to prove her my real intention until such time, she will going to accept me,”.

Aaron’s explanation gives Katrina mixed feelings. Although she doesn’t like the way he romanticized their meeting and her experience in Hadley, she feels relieved. No one would have anything bad to say about her with regard to her relationship with Aaron. She pang of pain suddenly cross her heart while realizing Aaron’s words. She feels that she doesn’t deserve her love and affection. He confessed this morning, but she doesn’t give the value of his words.

Colin lets out a dramatic sigh. “Wow, so romantic! Falling in love at first sight. A handsome man like you was every woman’s dream of; I feel envy for Katrina!”

Colin added and wink at her, “Katrina, Mr. Wilson is absolutely in love with you! He followed you all the way from Hadley! He even risked his life for you! Mr. Wilson has done so much for you, don’t be so hard on him!”

He doesn’t understand why Katrina hasn’t accepted Aaron. He’s the ideal man! After what I saw today, even I’d want him to! How could Katrina not accept him? A man from a noble family and with a high status in society, what else should she ask for?

Colin is suddenly Aaron’s biggest supporter. “Katrina, are you still hung up on Marcellus? Marcellus is a good man, but you’ve already broken up, you have to move on! Mr. Wilson is right in front of you! Don’t let him go!”

Aaron feels good. I left quite an impression on her colleagues tonight. Maybe they’ll help Katrina come to her senses. I should continue pursuing her. I can’t let her go. I wanted to settle down with her. I plan a better future ahead of us. I can’t live without Katrina.

At Colin’s endless nattering, Katrina snaps, “Colin, can you concentrate on driving? Why aren’t we at the hospital yet? Do you want him to bleed to death?”

“Hahaha, we are near the hospital, just relax, it’s just a small wound and Mr. Wilson will not gonna die,” Colin tried to crack a joke.

“Yeah, I’m fine, Katrina, don’t worry about me. This is just a small wound, besides I am still breathing properly,” Aaron’s eyes gaze at her full of love and affection.

This bastard was trying to bully me again, and now he had found someone to support him. She thought silently then threw him a murderous look.

She feels a sudden tight grip of her palm from Aaron’s hand. She can’t say another word because Colin was with them. When she glances at him, the devil just gives her a sweet smile.

“Aaron, you shouldn’t risk your life again. I am just a nobody while you are a high-rank CEO of a big company,” she said just to break the sudden awkward atmosphere between the two of them.

“How could I let you get hurt by that murderer? I can’t bear to see you being held as a hostage,” He said. She glared at him again. Aaron always has his reason to tell when she tries to warn him.

An Endless Night With Him

251 Chapter 251: How I Am Going to Deal My Life Without You?

Colin pouts at the complaint. It’s not my fault Black Wolf went to some remote place! She must be embarrassed, he thinks with a sigh. Well, it’s none of my business. It’s clearly stated that Mr. Aaron wanted to save Katrina because he wanted to pursue her.

For the rest of the ride, Colin keeps quiet and focuses on driving. Aaron and Katrina to remain silent.

As soon as the car stops at the hospital entrance, Colin opens the door and helps Aaron out. Katrina grabs Aaron’s arm and rushes him inside.

The pain starts to take a toll on Aaron, and he lets Katrina hold him to the emergency room in silence. His skin is pale, sweat beading on his forehead. He is immediately taken into the operating room to have the bullet removed,

While Aaron undergoes surgery, Katrina waits outside the operating room with Colin, Katrina is scared of needles, and the thought that Aaron has to go under the knife makes her sick. This is all my fault, she thinks, hands clasped together. I hope he will be okay after this tragedy.

Noticing Katrina's worry, Colin pats her shoulder in comfort. "Hey, don't worry. Mr. Wilson will be just fine! They'll take the bullet out, and he'll be good as new! He is a fighter, I think, and brave enough to face this kind of difficulty.

Colin can't help feeling relieved by the turn of events. Even if Mr. Wilson was shot, this is a lot better than Katrina getting kidnapped!

Before long, a group of policemen arrives at the hospital, with the captain in the lead. "What's going on? Is Mr. Wilson, okay?" A sound of concern was added to the captain's voice.

Colin replies, "He's still undergoing surgery, but he should be fine."

The captain nodded. "That's good. I can't forgive myself if something is going to happen to him. We can't afford to offend his family,"

All of a sudden, a woman runs to the captain in a panic, clutching his arm tightly. It's the prostitute from before. Stricken with fear, she sticks to the captain's side like a leech.

Taken aback by the sudden reaction of the prostitute, the captain is desperate to get rid of her. This is embarrassing! Doesn't she care about my dignity? This woman is really annoying. He thought in silence.

As soon as he shakes her off, she immediately latches onto him again. He starts to lose his patience and shouts, "Let me go! Why is she still here? Drag her away from me,"

Two policemen rush up from behind him and pull the woman away. "We told her she could go, but she wouldn't leave!"

After the team took Black Wolf away, the prostitute came to her senses and rushed to the captain in fear. Feeling sorry for the woman, he let her ride with them back to the city. Instead of getting a taxi at the hospital, she immediately rushed back to the captain.

After the policemen throw the woman out, the captain rearranges his clothes and barks, "Not a word to my wife, do you hear me?"

Everyone nodded furiously. "Yes, Captain!"

Half an hour later, Aaron is wheeled out of the operating room. Everyone follows as he was taken into his own ward. After the doctor assures that Aaron will make a full recovery, everyone breathes a sigh of relief.

The captain stands in the front of Aaron's bed and says, "Mr. Wilson, on behalf of the police, thank you for your help tonight!"

With that, he raises his arm and salutes Aaron. Everyone else follows suit. Even Katrina stands up from her perch on the bed and salutes.

The police look very serious and dignified as they honor Aaron. But the sight of Katrina being so formal makes Aaron snort in laughter, Katrina glares in response.

Seeing Katrina and Aaron staring at each other, everyone else starts to feel uncomfortable. They knew that the two had something to talk with. They make their excuses and leave the room immediately. They are giving them time to talk to each other.

Once they are alone in the room, Katrina hits Aaron's arm angrily. "How could you be so disrespectful? We're expressing our gratitude to you! Do you think we salute people so casually?"

Aaron quickly pulls Katrina by the hand and kisses her. He says in a low voice, "You want to express your gratitude? Are you really willing to show me how thankful you are? You should know what to do. I am more than willing to accept the kind of honor you will show me back in the hotel when I recover,"

"Stop bullying me. You are well yet, and here you go again, thinking something naughty," Katrina sneered at him.

"I am always naughty when it comes to you. Baby, you heard me telling your colleague earlier that I move here because I wanted to pursue you," Aaron pouted his lip.

"Aaron Wilson, you are a child, remember you are a high-rank CEO in a big company, stop acting like this because it annoys me," Katrina wanted to push him.

"I know you are annoyed the way I chase you, but believe me or not; I am honest with my real feelings. I wanted to tell you how deeply I love you. Katrina, I wanted to ask you a chance, but you keep running away from me. You keep rejecting me again and again," He sounded like a little boy who was being ignored.

She glared at him and said, "Stop doing something that hates me so much, you often take advantage of me when you get a chance,"

"I just wanted to show how I longed for you," He looked at her seriously. "I don't like you, and I told you several times. Aren't you getting tired of chasing me?" She asked.

"No. How can I forget you, especially those nights we spent together back to my Villa? I miss you so much, Katrina. I don't know how I am going to deal with my daily life without you,"

An Endless Night With Him 252 Chapter 252: You Were The One Who Pulled Me

"It's not my problem anymore. You should go back to Handley City and find a woman that is suitable to be your wife," She quickly blurted out.

Aaron felt pain, but he had decided to pursue her. He can't accept another woman aside from Katrina. He said in a joking tone. "My body belongs to you. Alone. I feel disgusted when I think of having sex with another woman. I don't want another woman laying down in my bed" He winks at her.

Katrina's face turns red in an instant. This pervert! Does he think of nothing but sex? He got shot in the shoulder! How could he still be so shameless? His mind only had this kind of thought. I can't imagine a nobleman like him to act like this,

Feeling disgusted, she shakes Aaron's hand off and decides to go outside to calm down. If he keeps teasing me, I might beat him to death! I don't care if he's hurt! This bastard annoyed me again.

All her previous worries about Aaron disappear in an instant. She stands with his bullying again.

Just as Katrina pulls away, Aaron lets out a pained whimper. She immediately turns around in worry. "Hey, Aaron, are you okay? What happened?" She bends to look at his shoulder.

She starts to feel guilty. Oh no, Did I hit him too hard? Did I really hurt him that much? Seeing Katrina's instant worry, Aaron grins. I should take advantage of this...He thought. Katrina forgets Aaron's teasing and starts to panic. "Does it hurt a lot? I'll find a doctor for you!"

Before Katrina can turn around, Aaron grabs her wrist and pulls her back. This silly woman! I was just pretending, but she believed it immediately! How could someone be so dense? I can't let her go quickly.

Katrina's worry fills Aaron with warmth, but her foolishness makes him angry. This woman is so stupid, other men could easily trick her! I don't want other men in her life! I don't want other men to take advantage of her! She only belongs to me.

With a yank, Aaron pulled Katrina on top of him. He wraps a heavy arm around her waist and says in a serious tone, "I'm all right. Just hold still and let me hug you. I wanted to feel your warmth,"

"But your wound... What if you will get hurt again?" Her voice was full of worries.

"It doesn't matter. I can still hold you with one arm. Just stay still and let me hug you more," Aaron whispered in her ears, and it brought different sensations to Katrina's body. She can't explain herself right now, why sudden emotions surge Head against his chest, Katrina can feel Aaron's powerful heartbeat. She suddenly doesn't have the heart to push him away. He risked his life for me. Just this once. Just this once to repay what he did to save me. I can't bear to see him suffer in pain. This bastard had done so much for me.

Katrina lies quietly against Aaron, surrounded by his strong heartbeat and comforting warmth. Any kind of physical contact with another man usually makes her uncomfortable, but she finds herself relaxing in Aaron's arms. His embrace soothes her senses.

In the quiet ward, Katrina starts to feel the temperature rise, and her heartbeat quickens. The atmosphere became sultry. Why did she feel this way? She wanted to escape, but Aaron is hugging her tightly.

She blinks in surprise when she feels Aaron's heartbeat gets faster and faster. Is he nervous? How could holding me make him nervous? He's always so aggressive and shameless!

Katrina raises her head and asks, "Aaron, your heart is racing!"

Is this a side-effect of getting shot? Eyes widening in panic, she raises her hand in front of his face and asks, "Are you dizzy? Can you see my hand? Aaron are— are you okay?" ..

Aaron looks at Katrina in askance. I hurt my shoulder, not my head! He grits his teeth and snaps, "Don't be ridiculous! You're making me hard!"

Turning her head, she sees that her knee is wedged between his legs. She turns red and quickly pulls out of Aaron's arms. What the hell? I didn't even move much! This bastard is too horny! How could he quickly turn on?

Too mortified to look Aaron in the eye, she rushes to the sofa and turns her back to him. "I'll stay here! Let me know if you need anything!"

Katrina takes a pillow into her arms and buries her head. Ugh, this pervert! He's been thinking about sex this whole time! Why this man always been like this when he hugged me. What is wrong with him?

Aaron needs to rest. For her safety and his health, she decides to keep her distance from him. He can't possibly get an erection when I'm all the way over here!

This tease! Aaron becomes angry. "Are you really going to leave me like this? You are so heartless,"

She turned her back against him, and said, "You can't even control yourself! What else am I supposed to do?" Aaron says through clenched teeth, "Take care of it!"

Katrina's back stiffens like a frightened rabbit. What? Help him? Does he want to have sex in the hospital? I'm going to be sick. This bastard can't control himself. I felt mad right now. She wanted to scream.

Face red as a tomato, and she yells, "That's not my problem! Take care of it yourself! You aren't getting better, but you think something nasty. How could you? Grrrr... Aaron Wilson!!!!

Aaron takes a deep breath to calm himself down. "This is your fault! Every time you come near me and move harshly you make me turn on,"

Katrina snaps back, "You were the one who pulled me! You shameless man, how could you think this way. You are so stupid. This a hospital!"

"If only I can take a shower, then I can control myself," He growled.

An Endless Night With Him 253 Chapter 253: I Will Calm Down Myself

Aaron has no plans on giving up. "You're the reason I'm here! I sacrificed myself earlier," He wanted to condemn her.

"Exactly! You're hurt!" Katrina retorts. What does this have to do with me taking him to the hospital? Did he want me to watch him bleed to death instead? Did he want me to take a pang of lifetime guilt if something happened to him earlier?

"I got injured by saving you!" Aaron quickly added, "My shoulder is hurt. I can't do it myself, and I can't even lift my arms!" He looks at her in puppy eyes.

Taken aback by the obvious excuse, Katrina can't think of a single argument to snap back. This cunning bastard! This was his plan all along! He's actually guilt-tripping me!

Aaron's logic renders Katrina speechless. How am I supposed to say no to him now? He hurt his shoulder because of me, but I won't even help him. I must look really ungrateful. He is crazy and wants to do something inside the hospital ward.

Do I really have to do this to show my gratitude? The thought brings tears to her eyes.

"Come on, just this once. Are you really going to let me suffer like this while I'm hurt? We've done it before anyway, and there's nothing to be afraid of." Aaron observes Katrina as he tries to convince her while watching her tiny body curl in on the couch with every word he says.

Her obvious distress makes him sigh. "Fine! I won't force you if you don't want to. Just get the nurse for me," He said in a voice full of determination.

Is he really not going to force me? This is great! Katrina momentarily relaxes when she realizes what Aaron just said, Wait, call the nurse for him? What the hell? Is he... Her eyes widen as she feels a rush of overwhelming anger. That's not what nurses are for! This disgusting pig! Really so pervert!

So what if he's asking for another woman? Why am I so angry? Why am I so angry? Katrina Miller wakes up. No, that's not it... This is how I lost my virginity! I'm not letting another nurse fall for the same trick! I can't let someone suffer the same situation I had four years ago.

Face twisting in rage, she stands up and throws the pillow aside. "How many nurses do you want? Do you want the innocent type or the sexy type? Let me get right to it!" Maybe they won't mind. After all, he's handsome and young, not to mention a billionaire... They might willingly serve and satisfy him.

Katrina's sudden anger catches Aaron off guard. Hell hath no fury as a woman scorned, he thinks, watching her transform from a meek rabbit to a fierce wolf.

His eyebrows furrow in concern. Is she jealous? Is she jealous? Does she actually think I'm calling a nurse for that? Way to blow things out of proportion! I'm not letting her misunderstand my goodwill again!

"Stop putting words in my mouth and thinking the worst of me! You have no reason to be jealous, Katrina. I'm not interested in any woman but you," he says with a sigh.

"I need the nurse to bring me some ice cubes. Since you don't want to help me, I need to find a way to curb my urges. I will calm down myself,"

Katrina deflates and falls into silence. What? Does he just want to get some ice? Did I hear it right?

Right, even if he's a shameless bastard, he won't actually find a nurse for that... I'm thinking too much. She flushes in embarrassment, feeling ridiculous for losing her temper. She wanted to dig a hole to hide immediately.

He decided to compromise for me, but here I am, thinking the worst of him... Too mortified to reply, she runs out to get a nurse.

Aaron successfully douses the fire from his body with an ice pack.

If I can't get Katrina, I'm going to live the rest of my life in celibacy. I get aroused every time I get close to her, but she always turns me down. Who could stand this torture? I am not that too shameless to make something bad with another woman. She misunderstood me again.

He glances at Katrina, who is sitting quietly on the chair nearby, looking at anywhere but him.

She is going to ruin me. Willian taught me how to dote on her, but I keep being misjudged. I only had a few months left to make her fall for me while my body can still stand with the severe effect of that drug. If only we started in the right way, things would be better between us. He felt tired, but he couldn't let her go. She is the only woman he loves. He wanted to cry, but he controlled his tears. He can't show his weakness in front of her. He is Aaron Wilson, and his people look up to him with admiration. Only Katrina can dare to hurt him this way, but he can't complain.

Early the next day, the police visit Katrina and Aaron at the hospital. After a brief greeting, the captain announces, "Since Black Wolf has been arrested, we can no longer stay in Thailand.

We have to go back and work on our other cases. Katrina and Colin will stay behind until you recover and get discharged."

Katrina has no objections to the proposal. Aaron got injured, protecting me. It's only right that I stay behind and take care of him.

As Katrina's partner and Aaron's newfound supporter, Colin is happy to stay.

But Aaron refuses with a smile. "No, I'm going back with you. I have a lot of business to attend to, and I can't waste time recovering here."

The captain is momentarily stunned before he gathers himself and says, "I'm very sorry, Mr. Wilson. This is our business, but it took up so much of your time."

An Endless Night With Him 254 Chapter 254: Visit Aaron

Aaron turns his gaze to Katrina and says softly, "I don't mind doing it for her. She is important for me," The sudden display of affection makes everyone awkward.

Katrina flushes red. Why does he always have to be so happy in front of others? If he keeps saying things like that, people will easily misunderstand him! This is not good.

The captain clears his throat in embarrassment. "Alright, I'll arrange our flight back now. Please have a good rest, Mr. Wilson."

He makes his leave and leads the team out, with Katrina the following suit to walk them out.

Colin stays behind to have a quick word with her. "Katrina, what are you waiting for?" he hisses, catching Katrina's arm. "Mr. Wilson is such a nice man! Hurry up and get him!"

I don't understand why she is so ridiculous! Mr. Wilson is in love with her. He even followed her all the way here to make sure she's safe! How could she continue to refuse him?

Even if she still likes Mr. Brook, it's all in the past. She has to look forward now. Mr. Brook may be an excellent man, but Mr. Wilson even better!

Listening to Colin scold her for not accepting Aaron makes the corner of Katrina's mouth twitch in annoyance. "Colin, I see you've changed."

Colin blinked in surprise and asked, "Changed? Am I getting more handsome? More masculine?" "No. It seems you've started to bat for the other team." Her words effectively shut him up. Well played, Katrina. He pretends to be insulted and shoots her an injured look. Katrina smirks in response, and he turns around to walk away. Later in the afternoon, Aaron gets discharged and goes straight to the airport with Katrina and her team. It's past 10 o'clock in the evening by the time they arrive in Abbe.

Aaron's driver is waiting for him when he exits the airport. While Aaron goes back home, Katrina and her team go to the station to process Black Wolf's arrest and interrogate him. They work until the early hours of the following morning.

The March 29 armed robbery case finally comes to a satisfying end. Another team will take over processing Black Wolf's trial until he receives his sentence.

After a whole night of working, everyone is exhausted. The captain enters the room to make an announcement.

"The bosses are particularly pleased with Black Wolf's capture! Even the chief called to send his congratulations. Everyone's getting a double bonus this month, and every member of the task force will be getting five days of paid leave. Congratulations, everyone!"

The room bursts into cheers. The captain looks at everyone with a pleasing smile. Everyone has been on edge because of the case. But bringing Black Wolf to justice and getting a commendation from the Chief of Police makes all our hard work worth it.

The team leaves the station in high spirits.

"Five days off!" exclaims one of Katrina's colleagues. "How are you gonna spend your leave, Katrina? Will you be taking care of your boyfriend?"

Katrina immediately retorts, "He's not my boyfriend!"

Encouraged by the other man's comment, Colin adds, "Katrina, you're so cold-hearted! Mr. Wilson saved you at the cost of his own life, but won't even take care of him? Poor guy! I feel pity for him!"

In the face of her colleagues' complaints, Katrina replies helplessly, "I know, I know! I'll take good care of him!" Just because he's not my boyfriend doesn't mean I wouldn't visit him! He risked his life for me, of course, I'll visit him!

The captain approaches Katrina and hands her a bank card. Katrina blinks in surprise. "What's this for, Captain?"

The captain scratches his head. "Katrina, this contains $10,000. Before you visit Mr. Wilson, buy him whatever you want as a gift from everyone. Mr. Wilson is the CEO of a big company, but he took time out of his busy schedule to help us. We have to thank him somehow."

Katrina doesn't know how to respond. Ten thousand dollars is nothing to Aaron. His clothes and meals must cost a lot more, and he definitely won't care about whatever gift I can buy with this...

But in the face of the captain's earnest look, she doesn't have the heart to refuse him. What right do I have to turn him down on Aaron's behalf?

"Yes, sir!" Katrina nods vigorously. "I'll do my best!"

The captain pats her shoulder in approval.

As soon as she gets home, Katrina takes a shower to wash the tiredness from her body. After she goes through the routine of brushing her teeth and drying her hair, she gives in to the exhaustion and flops to the bed, falling into a deep sleep in an instant.

Katrina wakes up the next morning without the lingering effects of jetlag and the overtime shift. She goes out and buys some supplements and other health care products before going to Aaron's villa.

During her short conversation with Aaron on the phone yesterday, he told her that he would be working at home while he recuperates. Having Randy around to assist him would be convenient while he catches up on work.

Katrina arrives at the villa with a handful of bags. As soon as she rings the doorbell, she hears Beta bark from the inside.

Randy opens the door for her with a smile. "As soon as Beta started barking, I knew

His eyes widen at the bags, and he hurries to take them from her. "Miss Miller, your visit is more than enough! You didn't have to bring all of these!"

Beta hurls past Randy and tackles Katrina, who crouches down to give Beta a hug. She smiles at Randy and replies, "Our captain asked me to buy something for Aaron. I'm just obeying orders."

Katrina follows Randy into the living room, only to find it empty. "Randy, where's Aaron?" "Mr. Wilson is upstairs. He should be in his room." "Oh, I'll go up and see him then!" Katrina says, heading to Aaron's room.

00

An Endless Night With Him 255 Chapter 255: Tell Katrina

In his room, Aaron is lying on his stomach, half-naked on his bed. The wound on his shoulder had been redressed, and he is currently receiving acupuncture treatment from William for his migraine. To suppress the damages that might affect his mind from the drug effect four years ago.

As he works, William quips, "You actually risked your life for a woman! I didn't know you could be so romantic, Aaron! The cold-hearted CEO chasing a woman?"

When he heard that Aaron traded his life for Katrina and got shot in the process, he was dumbfounded. I knew he loved Katrina, chasing her all the way to Abbe. But to risk his life so recklessly... This is crazy! This is really an act of craziness!

Having never been in a relationship, William doesn't understand how anyone could take such a risk for someone else without any hesitation.

. I thought this kind of love story only existed in fiction. Who knew this would happen in real life? I can see another man doing this, but Aaron? He's never cared about a woman before!

No, that's not actually true, is it? Since he met Katrina, he has never been the same. And why he dotes her so much. Did I miss something about Aaron's story?

What's so good about her? Even though she is very beautiful, not to mention clever and sensible, there are a lot of beautiful women in the world. Other women would fall over themselves to get him.

He never looked at a woman before, but one looked at Katrina, and it's like he's under a spell. His love for her is unimaginable. He was bewitched with her beauty and body, I think.

At William's teasing tone, Aaron snaps coldly, "Shut up! Do your job silently!" What I do is my own business. Even if I hurt my shoulder, I was willing to do it for her. No one else has a say! This stupid Doctor annoyed me.

William coughs awkwardly and shifts the topic back to the matter at hand. "Aaron, your body can't take this any longer. Acupuncture may provide temporary relief, but it is not a cure. You need to make time for the operation as soon as possible."

The more he delays this, the more serious his condition gets. The acupuncture is also starting to lose its effect. William looks at Aaron in despair. How am I supposed to treat you if you don't listen to me?

Despite William's obvious concern, Aaron says, "Not yet. I have a lot of things to do,"

Katrina hasn't fully embraced me yet. Our relationship is not yet stable. The operation could give me amnesia. I don't want to forget her.

She keeps running away from me, always refusing to be with me. If I forget her, she won't look for me at all. She might even take advantage of the memory loss to remove me from her life...

I don't want to lose Katrina. Until I'm certain that she is in love with me until I'm sure she will stay with me no matter what, I'm not risking the chance of forgetting her," He thought in silence.

In the face of Aaron's decisive refusal, William sighs helplessly. "If you let it go on like this, the consequences will become even more serious. When that time comes, even I can't do anything."

Aaron looks up and shoots him a fierce look. "You're the Doctor, that's your problem! I'm paying you to be my personal Doctor. If you can't find a way to cure me, that only proves that you're a mediocre doctor!" He rolled his eyes.

William is rendered speechless. He can't believe Aaron would go against his advice and stubbornly refuses to undergo an immediate operation.

Suddenly, there is a knock on the door, and a familiar voice says, "Aaron, how are you doing? Is your wound better? Are you okay?"

Katrina reaches Aaron's room and finds his door open. As she knocks on the door and steps in, she hears William's voice. Dr. William's here! He must be checking his wound. It's wrong timing to visit Aaron.

She looks up to the sight of Aaron lying shirtless on the bed, and William prickling his back with needles. She gapes at the sight. What's going on? Didn't Aaron hurt his shoulder? Why does he have needles on his head and back? Is it the best way to cure his wound? I wonder what kind of treatment it was, that Doctor William given to him,"

After a moment of hesitation, Katrina asks, "You two are... What are you doing?" Katrina's visit takes Aaron and William by surprise.

Despite the pleasant surprise, Aaron is horrified. If I knew she would be visiting, I wouldn't have agreed to a session with William today! I look like a hedgehog! William destroys the opportunity that I can develop Katrina a good relationship. Tch, this man annoyed me today,"

William gathers himself and greets Katrina with a smile. "Miss Miller, long time no see. I thought I couldn't meet you again!"

Katrina smiles back. "Long time no see, Dr. William." Katrina's presence sparks an idea in William. Katrina is visiting Aaron to check upon him. She must care about him!

If I tell her about the operation, she will persuade him to undergo surgery immediately! Aaron cares so much about her that he risked his life for her. He'd definitely undergo the operation if she asks him to!

To save Aaron, I have to tell Katrina the truth. She is my best hope now. I need to find ways to talk to her privately. Aaron's life is in danger if we delay his operation. I can't let him die without doing the best cure as soon as possible. With Katrina's help, I know Aaron will definitely listen to her. It seems Aaron had a deep affection for this woman, and otherwise, if not, he'll not be going to change abruptly. I need to find a perfect timing to inform Katrina about Aaron's current situation.