

An Endless Night With Him

Chapter 40: Opposites Attracts

After Randy leaves, Katrina quietly enjoys the flowers and plants in the yard. The field of colorful flowers in the yard consists of all kinds of beautiful flowers.

Crouching down, Katrina nuzzles the tip of her nose to a flower and sniffs. Her face is filled with unspeakable happiness.

She looks warm and beautiful under the sun. Not far away, two young men feel delighted at the scene. Since they spend all day with Aaron and have no time to fall in love, they seldom meet girls. The presence of a lovely and beautiful girl in the villa is a pleasant change. Maybe this is what they call "opposites attract." Even the scene of her squatting to appreciate the flowers is a beautiful and pleasing sight. Katrina moves to stand up after enjoying the flowers and plants.

Probably because she's been squatting too long and hasn't eaten anything that morning, the moment Katrina stands up, and she suddenly feels dizzy and begins to wobble.

The two men who have been watching her start to panic, and they exchange looks and quickly run to her. "Miss Miller, Miss Miller, what's wrong?"

Katrina can't help but fall to the ground, holding her head in her hands as her face turns pale. "Miss Miller, how are you? Are you all right?" The men hastily hold her head. Katrina's brow wrinkles as she covers her head. "I'm dizzy."

These days, Aaron's love for Katrina is noticeable to everyone. Before he left, he told his men to take good care of her.

Seeing Katrina like this, the two can't help worrying anxiously. If Mr. Wilson finds out, he will punish them for not taking care of her. "Hold on, Miss Miller, I'll call Dr. William and have him come at once!" Katrina grabs one of them as he pulls out his cell phone to make a call.

When her soft hand catches him, the man is stunned. His face flushes, and he begins to stutter, "What... what's wrong, Miss Miller?"

Looking at him with big and wet eyes, Katrina implores, "Would you mind not calling Dr. William?" Her voice is soft, almost coquettish in charming and softening people. "Why?" Although the girl is very beautiful, she belongs to their boss, and they dare not covet her.

The man tries to pull his hand back, but Katrina refuses to let go in fear that he would call Dr. William right away.

Afraid

of hurting her, he doesn't dare use too much strength. He has no choice but to stay in her grasp, face red and heart wildly beating in panic.

"I'm just a little hypoglycemic. I've had it for a while. I squatted for a long time to admire the flowers in the courtyard, so when I got up, I got dizzy... It's nothing serious. Please don't bother Dr. William.

"If you call Dr. William, he'll report to Aaron. He just went abroad to deal with something important. I don't want to distract him because of my health."

Katrina's sincere words make sense. After contemplating it, the two men agree with her.

Mr. Wilson pays so much attention to Miss Miller that he would get very worried when he finds out that she fainted. It would be really inconvenient to disturb him at this time.

Miss Miller is so sweet to take Mr. Wilson into consideration. It seems that their speculations on their relationship may be true. "But Miss Miller... your health..." The healers are still concerned about Katrina's health.

If something happens to Katrina's health because they didn't get a doctor in time, they can't get away with it if Mr. Wilson asks.

"If you don't trust me, send me to the nearest hospital and ask the doctor to check it out, so you can do your duty," Katrina says.

40 Chapter 40– Opposites Attracts

Katrina's pure and innocent eyes, coupled with her soft voice, renders few men capable of refusing her cruelly.

Her inadvertent look puts the shy healer in a trance, on the verge of being seduced. By this time, his distracted mind is filled with her pretty face and innocent eyes.

The other man is a little more determined and nods, "Yes, it's not convenient for Mr. Wilson to know right now."

If it's really not as serious as she says it is, Mr. Wilson would've worried needlessly if Mr. Wilson were to find out.

He adds, "I have a cousin who's a doctor in the hospital. Miss Miller, you're not well. We won't bother you by taking you to the hospital. I'll call him and have him come over. Rest assured that we won't tell Mr. Wilson about today if there's nothing wrong with your health."

Not now, at least. Katrina is stunned to hear the healer's words. Her aim is to have them take her to the hospital, where she would try to escape. But now, they're going to have another doctor come over and diagnose her? What's the difference between that and inviting Dr. William over?

Taken aback, Katrina quickly says, "Well, that's not good. We'd better not bother your cousin. Let's go to the hospital ourselves."

"Miss Miller, you can rest assured that I have a good relationship with my cousin, and he won't mind."

He thinks that Katrina doesn't want to bother his family, the healer reassures her and doesn't hesitate to call his cousin to come over.

Katrina doesn't dare protest too much. If she shows how much she wants to go to the hospital, she'll get exposed, and future plans of escape won't be possible.

Unexpectedly, her carefully designed plan reaches an obstacle. At first, everything goes as expected. It never occurred to her that Aaron's healer would have a cousin that's a doctor, How inconvenient! Despite her depression, Katrina couldn't show it.

Earlier, she looked ill as she grasped the healer's hand tightly and refused to let go. Now, she immediately calms down and loosens her grip.

She can even get up on her own. After a short rest, she recovers and doesn't feel as dizzy.

41 Chapter 41: Her Obvious Lies

The hospital where the healer's cousin works isn't far from Aaron's villa. Not long after, a man in a white coat drives up to the villa to check on Katrina.

He takes the stethoscope and examines Katrina's eyes and tongue. Finally, he concludes, "She's fine. If her blood sugar is low and she feels dizzy, she'll get better with a piece of chocolate."

At the news that Katrina is fine, the two men become visibly relieved and send the doctor out the door. It's as if nothing happened, and no one except the three of them knows that Katrina almost fainted. To avoid worrying, Aaron, they made a pact not to let him know, It isn't long before Randy returns with all kinds of desserts. Putting on a happy face, Katrina takes Randy's treats gratefully But deep down, Katrina is unspeakably depressed. It seems she has to find other ways to get out of here as soon as possible.

On a private plane, Aaron is half slumped on a soft sofa with his legs crossed. He elegantly swirls the glass of La Romance-Conti in his hand.

Someone comes in and says, "Mr. Wilson, we'll arrive in Australia in an hour." "I see." After the man leaves, Aaron opens the laptop on the table. Without Katrina, he tossed and turned-last night and had another sleepless night.

If not for her poor health, he would've liked to bring her wherever he goes. As the saying goes, missing someone for one day feels as long as three autumns.

Aaron suddenly wants to see what she's doing. Is she having breakfast at the dining table? Or is sitting in her chair, dozing in the sun?

He taps the enter button to bring up the monitor screen in the villa. She's not in the bedroom. Or the dining room. Or the living room.

When Aaron adjusts the view to the courtyard, he sees her in a beautiful dress squatting among the flowers. She looks beautiful and lovely.

No wonder people like to compare girls to flowers. Her beauty surpasses all the flowers in the field.

Seeing such a beautiful scene, Aaron smiles as he takes a sip of wine. Just then, Katrina stands up.

Aaron's heart clenches when he sees her frown, holding her head in her hands as her body trembles. If not for his absence, he would've been the first to rush in and hold her. What's wrong with her? Earlier, she's as bright as sunshine. Why did she suddenly faint? Aaron's dark eyes are fixed on the screen. He finds himself unable to look away. He's worried about her. Fortunately, his healers come in time to help her and immediately intends to call Dr. William. But when he sees her soft hand clawing at the healer's hand, his mood immediately darkens. The sight of her big and beautiful eyes staring pitifully at the two men makes him want to flip the table angrily. A burst of acid bubbles in his heart, almost suffocating him. This stupid woman! Katrina went too far! While he's away, she dares to seduce his men and give them flirtatious looks! Spectators see the game better than the players. It's obvious that her dizzy spell and fall are a ruse! She's trying to charm his men and persuade them to take her to the hospital, where she could escape. With her recent good behavior, he thought she's given up the idea of escaping, Unexpectedly, less than a day after his departure, she attempts it again.

This stupid woman! She's really going to make him explode!

These days, despite the urge to have her as he held her in his arms at night, he had scruples for her feelings and told himself not to force her. He endured his straining desire and took a cold shower every time.

He wronged himself and didn't force her. But on the other hand, she... Is he not supposed to be considerate of her, after all? Initially, in a good mood, Aaron suddenly becomes furious, and his face turns unspeakably gloomy. No wonder she refused to go with him yesterday.

41 Chapter 41 Her Obvious Lies

Is she not feeling well? All obvious lie! Her goal is to escape during his absence. Aaron stares at the screen darkly as he finishes the wine. Just then, his healer comes in to report, "Mr. Wilson, it's going to land in half an hour." Aaron throws the goblet on the table and grits his teeth. "Turn around!" The healer is stunned to hear Aaron's order. He thinks he misheard. "Go back?" . After a whole night of flying, they're finally near their destination. Why does he suddenly want to go back? If they go back now, wouldn't the whole trip be in vain? When he came in half an hour ago, Mr. Wilson looked relaxed. Why is he suddenly so angry half an hour later? What happened? Aaron's dark eyes narrow at the blank look on the healer's face. "Didn't you hear me?" he asks. Frightened, the healer hurriedly goes out. "Yes! Yes! I'll do it at once!". Then he runs to the pilot's cabin and tells him to turn around.

Whatever Mr. Wilson's reasons are for giving up the trip that only takes half an hour more of flying, his words are final, and they have to obey unconditionally.

Mr. Wilson's face is suddenly so severe that the air pressure on the plane seems to decrease a lot.

Everyone's a little nervous, afraid of accidentally offending him. Now, there's a fire burning in Aaron's heart. His eyes are fixed on Katrina on the screen, his fists clenching tightly. Damned woman! How dare she seduces his men behind his back! Aaron has never been treated like this in his entire life. When he goes back to deal with her, he'll keep her in bed!

The audacity of this unscrupulous woman! She won't know her place if he doesn't teach her! Before he knew it, Aaron had made Katrina his property. He won't allow anyone else to covet her. The two men whom she held and winked at... If he hadn't seen their innocence and their passivity, he would've cut off their hands and gouged out their eyes! In the villa, Katrina is eating dessert casually when she sneezes twice. She wrinkles her nose uncomfortably. Did she catch a cold?

42 Chapter 42: If You Want to Seduce Me

In the evening, when Katrina comes out of the bathroom after a shower, she dabs her body with moisturizer Suddenly, there's a loud bang, and someone breaks into the door.

With her back to the door. Katrina is startled, and the moisturizer falls to the floor.

Randy and Aaron's heelers treat her with respect, and they would never break into her room for no reason and behave so rudely

Who would kick the door in? Could it be Aaron's enemies at the door? For a moment, Katrina fearfully imagines a scene of the murder. The people Aaron offended has nothing to do with her, and they shouldn't wrong her.

When Katrina turns around with a frightened face, she sees Aaron standing in the doorway, and his black eyes fixed on her.

"A-Aaron?" Katrina's eyes are so full of disbelief as she speaks incoherently: Wasn't Aaron on his way to Australia? Wasn't he going to stay there for at least a week? Why did you suddenly come back this evening after just leaving yesterday afternoon? What happened? Katrina doesn't expect Aaron to break in. It's so unexpected, and she feels like she's traveled back in time. This time, Aaron is dressed in a black suit. He looks a bit dusty, and his face is severe. Katrina calms her emotions and asks. "Aaron, why did you come back?" When Aaron sees Katrina's panic and disbelief, he says coldly. "What are you so disappointed to see me back? Katrina is definitely disappointed. With Aaron back her next escape plan would be impossible. But in front of Aaron, she doesn't dare show anything unusual.

"I'm surprised, not disappointed." Katrina observes Aaron's face. "Your work she says softly, "Are you done with it?" When Aaron hears Katrina's distress his face turns a little colder. Does she dare to ask him about his work? When he saw her seduce his heelers, he was so angry that he abandoned his work. He couldn't wait for the plane to land to get back and confront her. Thanks to her, his work has to be delayed. Aaron doesn't say anything and instead walks steadily towards Katrina.

There's no superfluous expression on his face, his thin lips are pressed together, and his black eyes are fixed on her.

At that moment. Katrina feels more pressure than ever. She ducks his eyes and looks at her toes. Panic and tension fill Katrina's mind. She feels that Aaron's expression is a sign of his anger. What's wrong with him? Why is he looking at her this way again, what did she do to provoke him? Does he want to rent his troubles with work on her? He's keeping her in captivity, but that doesn't mean that she can be his punching bag.

As Aaron moves forward. Katrina backs away defensively, and she looks at him with big and flustered eyes "A-Aaron, what are you going to do?"

Aaron's thin lips press tighter, and he keeps silent as he moves closer towards her. With no place left to run, Katrina sits on the bed.

Aaron lowers his head and holds Katrina's chin. His voice is low and dangerous "Katrina. I told you to stay at home. Why did you ignore me?"

Katrina feels her jaw ache as he pinches it. She can clearly feel his rage.

"Aaron, you're hurting me." Katrina says. "What are you on about? I listened to you and stayed home the entire time!

Hasn't she been at home since he left? She hasn't even gone out the door!

42 Chapter 42 11 You Want to Seduce Me

Is there a bastard framing her? Some bastard framed her, wasn't she? Aaron is so pissed off that he wants to crush Katrina to death when he sees her cry out with a frown on her face. Is she in pain? Has he been too kind to her these past few days, that she dares disobey him and not take him seriously? It's better to be hard on her and make her remember!

Aaron forces Katrina to look him in the eyes and says in a calm voice, "Katrina, what do you mean you listened to me? Why are you seducing my men behind my back?"

What?

Seduce his men? At the accusation, Katrina panics for a moment. "I didn't seduce them! You're wrongly accusing me!"

She pretended to be weak to win his men's sympathy and persuade them to take her to the hospital, But that's not seduction! She didn't take off her clothes or suggestively lift her leg, how was that seduction? He accuses her like she's some kind of casual woman. It makes her feel uneasy It's a disgraceful and false accusation to her character! "Oh, I'm wrongly accusing you?"

Remembering Katrina holding another man's hand as she stares at him with watery eyes, Aaron becomes furious.

"So, what I saw in the surveillance video was all fake?" Surveillance video?

It suddenly occurs to Katrina that Randy had warned her that the villa is filled with cameras. He told her not to do anything rash.

Aaron saw what happened this morning on the surveillance video? Was he bored enough to watch the video? That means that her every move is under his watch,

"Aaron, I really didn't seduce them! Besides, they're not as tall as you, not as handsome as you, not as slim as you, nor as rich as you. If I want to seduce someone. I should seduce you!" Katrina explains desperately.

To make him believe her, she even goes against her will to praise him, Aaron's pincer-like hand finally loosens her jaw, His dark eyes narrow as he looks intently at her, Katrina dodges his eyes and looks sideways, feeling extremely frightened, Why is he so close to her? Why is he looking at her like that? Doesn't he believe her? His expression shows that he wants to swallow her alive. Amidst Katrina's fear, Aaron says, "If you want to seduce me, I'll do as you wish."

An Enders Nigh Wan Hon 43 Chapter 43: Don't Get Me Wrong

When Aaron takes off his clothes without other words, Katrina is in complete distress.

She blushes and refuses desperately, "I don't... I'm not trying to seduce you! Aaron, don't get me wrong! I didn't mean it like that!"

She just wanted to prove her innocence. How did she end up digging herself a hole and burying herself? God, it's more difficult to explain! Aaron doesn't care. He came back to get even with her anyway. After Katrina took a shower, her skin was soft and sweet. He won't let her off this time. Aaron ignores Katrina's arguments and pushes her underneath him.

Katrina was startled when the strong masculine scent overwhelms her. She can feel his body temperature rising.

Is Aaron serious?

At that moment, Katrina is terrified. She pushes him desperately, "Aaron, let me go! You said you wouldn't touch me, and you can't break your promise!"

Aaron grunts, "That's when you didn't make me angry." She almost consumes him. She won't know who's in charge if he doesn't punish her. Aaron is a strong man, and Katrina can't push him away when he presses on her.

He buries his head in her neck and breathes in her body's light fragrance. Unscrupulously licking her skin, he wants to take a bite,

When she feels a tingle on her neck, Katrina's face fills with panic.

If Aaron wants to force himself on her, she couldn't fight him even if there were ten of her. She'll have to do something else to stop him.

“Aaron, stop. I still have my period. You’re not thinking straight.” Oh, the period again? He’s never taken care of a girl during her menstrual period before, but after looking into it, he knows that her period has already passed.

Aaron ignores her excuse and grunts, “I don’t mind a bloody fight.” What bloody fight! Katrina is so desperate that she wants to swear. Aaron is a bastard! A rascal!

With his recent kindness and his consideration in taking care of her, she didn’t expect... Her views about him have changed, but...

Once again, he forces her against her will. What a self-righteous jerk! “Aaron, let me go! You can’t do this to me! Let me go!” Katrina struggles desperately to resist Aaron. But under his control, her struggles are useless. He easily holds her legs and arms in place. He says in a deep voice, “I advise you to save your energy and get down to business.” Pinned down, Katrina shoots him a resentful look. “Aaron, you bastard...” Before she could finish, he kisses her lips and silences her voice in her throat. Like a fish on a chopping block, Katrina is running out of energy. Why is she getting hotter and softer?

A ripping sound echoes in the room, and with a wave of his hand, Aaron easily takes off Katrina’s obstructive clothes, revealing her beautiful figure.

Aaron’s eyes are as heavy as his throat tightens. He reaches behind her to take off her bra.

With the previous experience of changing her clothes for her, Aaron is more skillful in removing her bra this time.

When the bra loosens, a wad of cash suddenly spills out. Aaron begins to laugh at the sight of the bed full of cash. Katrina, you clever girl! No wonder he thought her breasts are a little bigger than they used to be. He thought she was just being fed better, but actually...

43 Chapter 43 Don’t Get Me Wrong

She was hiding money in her bra. The bra was designed to take the padding out easily, and Katrina used it as a secret pocket... He never gave her money. Where did she get so much cash? At this point, Aaron would be stupid if he didn’t understand Katrina. This damned woman! She hid away the money in secret. It becomes more evident that she wants to run away. Aaron’s anger, which was diverted by his desire, immediately flares up again. He proceeds to take off the rest of her clothes. She’s completely pissed him off this time!

Katrina’s resistance becomes stronger when things start to escalate. Frightened and broken, tears spill out of her eyes. She chokes, “Aaron, please, let me go.”

Aaron’s actions, even the touch on her skin, reminds her of the incident from four years ago. Four years ago, a stranger forcibly took away her innocence in the dark. It was permanently scarred in her memory. With Aaron doing this to her now, how could she not be afraid? How could she not remember the past? Katrina trembles and starts crying uncontrollably. Aaron didn’t expect her to be so repulsed and frightened by this. It’s normal for a girl to be afraid during her first time. Aaron finally relents, holding her in his arms to soothe her. “Sweetie, relax, I won’t hurt you.” He’s in a situation where he’ll break his vow if he doesn’t control himself. In a daze... Eventually, he enters her. When the pain comes, Katrina wants to push Aaron away. On the other hand, Aaron becomes a little crazy. The movements last for the whole night. Heavy pants fill the whole room. Katrina doesn’t even know when she fell asleep. All she knows is that before she passed out, she was gritting her teeth and cursing Aaron in her heart. He promised he wouldn’t hurt her. This treacherous man! She will never believe him again! Late at night, Aaron hugs Katrina tightly and holds her in his arms. The girl’s sweetness calms his anger for a while. He just wants to hold her. It turns out that she’s more beautiful than he thought. The overwhelming feeling engulfs him. He never had any feelings for women before. But after meeting her, it seems that she deeply attracts him. If he wasn't mistaken, it seems this wasn't her first time. Had she had other men before? When Aaron realizes this, a surge of jealousy and something unspeakable fills him. He wasn't her first! He's not the only man she's had! Who was the previous man? Was it the memory of the previous man that made her so afraid? Although these thoughts pierce Aaron's heart like a thorn, he needs to find out the truth. Aaron immediately picks up the phone to make a call. "Investigate Katrina for me!" He needs to know the identity of the man who came before him.

He's nearly mad with jealousy. But he can't blame this on Katrina. It's not her fault that he didn't meet her earlier.

If he finds out who is motherfucker took advantage of her, he won't let him go easily and will get even with him!

Chapter 44: He Has Her Back into His Arms

When Aaron wakes up the next morning, Katrina is still sleeping. Aaron's heart softens a little as he watches the beautiful sleeping woman in his arms. She has finally become his woman. Just then, the telephone rings.

"Hello." Aaron turns his head slightly sideways and picks up the phone, deliberately lowering his voice to avoid waking up Katrina.

On the other end of the phone comes the respectful voice of his subordinate, "Mr. Wilson, we have gathered all the information you want."

"Wait in the study. I'll be right there." He hangs up after the brief command. Aaron glances back at Katrina, who shows no sign of waking up. In the study, the heeler handed Aaron the documents. "Mr. Wilson, here's all the information you need." Aaron takes the two pages of thin paper and reads through them carefully. Besides her bumpy life experience, Katrina's history is clean and straightforward.

She grew up in a single-parent family. At the age of 8, her father died, and she was sent to an orphanage. Later, she was adopted by a man named Carl Anderson.

The document includes all the information from her growing environment, schooling, and work experience.

When he sees Katrina's college experience, Aaron frowns. Apparently, she transferred from medical school to police school. "Did she used to study medicine?"

The heeler nodded. "Yes. She was in the Abbe Medical University for a year. But for some unaccountable reason, she suddenly transferred to the police academy. She used to be an intern in a hospital."

"Which hospital?" "The Warm Hospital." Aaron's eyes suddenly deepen in understanding. Abbe City. The Warm Hospital.

Late at night and a young nurse and the myriad pieces of information emerges, reminding him of the woman from four years ago.

Katrina was the nurse from that incident. She was the nurse who spent three nights with him... It's her! No wonder he got a sense of déjà vu when he first saw her and smelled her fragrance. No wonder he was so enamored by her and her body. It turns out that she's the woman he often dreams about, the first significant woman in his life.

Now, it doesn't seem surprising that she can relieve his insomnia instantly. Because she was the one who acted as his antidote when he was suffering from drugs at that time, his body instinctively remembers her.

“Has she ever had a boyfriend?”

The healer shakes his head. “No. According to the investigation, she hasn’t had a love life, but she knows how to treasure herself. Several people are pursuing her, though.”

The experience from four years ago was the first time she slept with someone. Aaron remembers feeling the layer of obstruction and the purity of her body.

The man he was jealous of was actually himself.

It turns out that he’s her first and only lover. But without knowing it, he misunderstood and thought that she had an affair with someone else. He should’ve had her investigated earlier.

Aaron is shocked.

Thinking of Katrina’s fear and resistance yesterday, Aaron feels an unspeakable pain in his heart.

Four years ago, the situation was urgent. He had no option but to force her. It must’ve caused her much hurt at the time, and that’s why she was fully resistant last time.

When the truth comes out, and everything is reasonably explained, Aaron only wants to keep her with him more than ever.

It took four years, but she still found his way back to him. They’ve come full circle. Now that he has her back... No matter what, he won’t let her go this time. It’s late in the morning when Katrina wakes up.

The sun shone through the French windows into the room.

14 Chapter 44 He Has Her Bock no His Arms

On the big soft bed, Katrina opens her eyes, with slightly furrowed brows. AS she moves slightly, she feels an unusual pain. It’s as if her whole body was crushed by a large truck. Katrina can’t help groaning. It takes a lot of effort to get out of bed. Aaron, you bastard! She grits her teeth in anger as she remembers what he did to her last night.

Turning around, she sees the culprit in smart clothes, sitting on the sofa next to her. He’s smiling at her with his dark eyes, holding a glass of red wine in his slender fingers.

This sanctimonious bastard! At Aaron’s sight, Katrina is furious.

Despite hurting her so much, this bastard looks happy and relaxed! Her pain clearly gives him happiness. What a psychotic lunatic!

Katrina glares at Aaron with extreme resentment, almost bursting into flames. Aaron asks elegantly, “Awake?” Still satisfied and in a good mood, Aaron ignores her obvious contempt. Katrina snorts coldly and turns away from him. She obviously doesn’t want to talk to him. Aaron finds Katrina’s embarrassment and anger really cute. She resembles a little kid who’s easily angered.

She is enduring physical discomfort. Katrina gets out of bed, and moves to take a shower in the bathroom. But just as she lands on her toes, she wobbles and nearly falls to the ground. She’s so weak that she can’t even support herself.

Aaron moves quickly and rushes over to her, catching Katrina in a warm and solid embrace. He derides in her ears, “Your legs are weak.”

His voice is low and Nirtatious.

Last night, Katrina lost consciousness before he reached his climax. Although he wanted more, he relented for the sake of her body. It turns out that she’s still weak from the night before. Seeing her trembling, he’s surprised to find her unexpectedly cute.

Hearing the flirtation in Aaron’s voice, Katrina’s face instantly turns red.

It’s humiliating that she almost fell down when she got out of bed. Unexpectedly, this bastard is making fun of her flagrantly! If not for him, she wouldn’t be so weak!

By this time, Katrina has worked herself up into a fit of rage. The sight of Aaron makes her see red. She bites her lip and pushes Aaron away. "Go away! It's none of your business!"

The stubborn and resentful expression on Katrina's blushing face makes her look like a fierce-looking kitten. Aaron strokes her hair and whispers, "Are you sure that you can make it on your own like this?" Asshole! In the face of his teasing, Katrina can not resist cursing him. She grabs his hand and bites it severely, leaving two rows of teeth marks in retaliation. Katrina wants him to feel the pain she suffered. This is all his fault, and yet he has the audacity to behave like a hoodlum and speak so casually!

Chapter 45: What A Glib Kitten

Feeling a sharp pain. Agron lets her gn It's really her consistent reaction to bite someone when she's angry. He doesn't get angry when he sees the two neat rows of teeth marks on his hand.

What a glib kitten! She deliberately bit him again.

Before he can investigate her stashung of cash in secret, she becomes at odds with him. But right now, he doesn't feel angry with her at all.

Heines something special for her.

The unprecedented and enjoyable experience from last night has left him addicted.

Hesides, he just discovered that she was the girl from four years ago. He doesn't have the heart to be angry with her Katrina takes the opportunity to escape from Aaron's grasp. On trembling slender white legs, she supports herself on the wall and makes her way to the bathroom.

Aaron involuntarily smiles as he watches the slim beautiful figure.

He heard that women should be coaxed and doted on. For his future happiness, it seems that he has to be much kinder to her to try and make her accept him.

After all, she's the only woman he wants. The man in her life can only be him. When Katrina comes out of the bathroom, Aaron has already left the room. Lying in bed, Katrina stares at the ceiling in despair. It's depressing enough to be kept in captivity and lose her freedom. Then unexpectedly, Aaron forces himself on her.

What on earth does he take her for? Did he really lose something that he has to put the blame on her? But even so, he can't go so far as to behave so frivolously.

Unless he really does merely regard her as a plaything in captivity, existing for his own amusement.

When he loses interest one day, he'll just kick her away.

Katrina can't figure out Aaron.

With his status and position, he can have any woman. A few days ago, the mayor's daughter Miss Roberts visited him in person.

Why does he keep pestering her? What's his purpose for doing this?

Not understanding Aaron's heart depresses Katrina, the more she thinks about it. Her eyes unconsciously fill with tears.

Just then, Aaron pushes the door and enters with a bowl of porridge in his hand. "Get up and have something to eat."

Because of what happened last night, Katrina doesn't want to talk to Aaron at all. She turns around and says in a muffled voice, "I'm not hungry." Not hungry? She's angry with him and is in another fit of pique! Every time she's angry with him, she refuses to eat. He wonders if she's punishing him or herself. Aaron knows why Katrina is angry. Last night, He got a bit out of control and made love to her. He went too far.

Since he experienced pleasure with Katrina last night, he always wants to enjoy such things. He knows that he would never get tired of it. If not for the fact that she's not feeling well and is in a bad mood, he would have an urge to do it with her again in the morning.

In the future, this will be something that they would do regularly, so Katrina should adapt to as early as possible.

Aaron speaks as softly as he can. "Come on, stop that now. I didn't mean to do it last night." Katrina puts the pillow over her face. She obviously doesn't believe him. Not intentional? Only the devil would believe that! Obviously, he's been plotting it for a long time!

Aaron keeps climbing onto her bed and sleeping with her every night. He's evidently thought about this before. She had felt his body's reaction, but she never expected him actually to do this to her.

Katrina had already lost her virginity in a bad experience in the past. But as a woman, she still wants to give herself to someone she loves, not have someone despoil her the way Aaron did.

She's immensely depressed about what happened. Her heart is full of resentment against him.

At the sight of Katrina covering her face and refusing to talk to him, Aaron has no choice but to play his trump card again. "Katrina, you know I have a way to deal with you. Are you sure that you want me to feed you the porridge myself?

Aaron's tone isn't harsh, but the threat is undertone, Katrina definitely knows what he means, He always feeds her whenever she refuses to eat. This fork has no sense of repentance at all! And he has the audacity to threaten this way!

At that moment, Katrina is furious and angry. She turns to Aaron and chokes through her sobs, "Aaron, what the hell do you take me for?"

Katrina has dignity! She has her own emotions!

Why did he have to imprison her here? How could he kiss and hug her whenever he wants to, or make love to her when he's unhappy?

As a girl, she despises it. Between lovers, any form of physical contact should be consensual. They're not lovers, at all!

At the sight of the tears in Katrina's red eyes and her choking voice, Aaron feels a sudden tug in his heart and some unspeakable pain,

What does he take her for?

Of course, he regards her as an important woman in his life. If she were any other woman, he wouldn't even look at her twice.

But she's Katrina Miller. Being a stubborn man, he wants to keep her around and never let her go.

Aaron has never fallen in love in his 28 years of living, and courting a girl is something unfamiliar to him. He can't even speak sweet words like "I like you" or "I love you."

But he knows exactly how important Katrina is to him.

To him, Katrina is unique.

Aaron puts the porridge down and gently wipes the tears off her cheeks with his fingers. His dark eyes are fixed on her. In a deep and serious voice, he says, "Katrina, since you want to know why I won't let you go, I'll tell you why.

"Once, I was plotted against by my competitor. They drugged me, and it damaged my nerves so badly that I lost the ability to sleep at night. I tried all kinds of sleeping pills, but nothing worked.

"For several years, I've hardly ever gotten a full night's sleep. I used to keep my eyes open until dawn every day. Despite being extremely tired, I couldn't fall asleep at all. It was too painful."

In Aaron's words, Katrina is full of inconceivable shock. Does he have a serious insomnia problem that keeps him from sleeping at night? How come she never noticed? Doesn't he fall asleep almost instantly every time he stays with her? She never sees him suffer from insomnia. Besides, what does his insomnia have to do with her?

Chapter 46: Be My Woman

WAT 17 IS at a loss for says he'll help you. He said that you relieve my insomnia, Littymi! Hold you, my nerve usually relax, and I fall asleep quickly, Katrina, do you understand now why I don't want to Katrina is shocked to hear about Aaron's insomnia. But when she thinks about it carefully she inevitably sees the clues she just didn't notice then before he did when she first came to the villa. Randy would take medicine to Aaron every night and ask him to take it.

Even on the day that Randy needed to return to his hometown unexpectedly, he still remembered to remind Aaron to take his medicine.

When she first saw Aaron, she always noticed faint gloom under his eyes. He looked very stern and dangerous. At that time, he could've also had chronic insomnia.

No wonder he falls asleep instantly every time he holds her in his arms. It's because he can't sleep well every

Now, it seems that his complexion and mental state had improved a lot compared to when she first met him. With these details and comparisons, Katrina has no reason not to believe Aaron.

Katrina takes a deep breath. So, you kept me here to sleep in my bed every night, just so you can fall asleep?" Aaron nods "Yes." Katrina hits him with a pillow. "Asshole! Even if that's the case, you don't have to be so frivolous!" His intention can't be as simple as getting some sleep!

Aaron gets fresh with her by kissing and touching her. He always behaves like a hoodlum towards her.

Does he want to utilize her sympathy to cover up his crimes? It is not going to happen!

After all, she remembers everything he did to her!

Grabbing the pillow that Katrina has thrown, Aaron holds her soft hand and looks at her sincerely. "My body is drawn to you."

At first, he found her aroma very familiar and good.

It's true that he was initially reluctant to let her go because he discovered that she could magically alleviate his insomnia.

But his affections for her are no longer that simple. Yes, his body is the most honest.

Despite having many beautiful, slim, and sexy women seduce him, he remained unmoved and only felt extremely irritable.

But when he's with her, even an inadvertent touch will fill him with energy. His body not only desires her but is also dependent on her.

Of course, from a deeper point of view, he also sees her as the most beautiful and lovely woman in the world.

Katrina is completely unaware of the reaction of Aaron's body when she touches something hot. Feeling the change in her hand and realizing what's happening, Katrina screams in horror and shakes off Aaron's hand.

Her small face is red with shame, anger, and anxiety as she scolds him in defiance for his actions "Aaron, you rascal!"

This jerk To her shock, he made her touch his... Can he get any more shameless? She's too ashamed to face anyone She may as well starve herself to death!

Is he trying to express that he's good at it? Or to prove that his attraction to her and show that he finds her very charming? No matter what the reason is she doesn't want to hear it!

Aaron doesn't dare tell Katrina what happened four years ago. He knows that the incident must've brought great damage and hurt to Katrina. If she finds out that he was the man who took away her innocence four years ago, she would hate him even more.

Aaron fixes Katrina, a firm stare "Katrina, be my woman!" The definite and imposing tone conforms to Aaron's consistent character. Katrina is stunned to hear his confession,

Be his woman? Why should she be his woman? Because his body is drawn to her, and she can relieve his insomnia What does being his woman entail?

Is she being kept in his house without freedom, receiving a variety of expensive clothes and jewelry every day, dressing up beautifully like a canary in a cage?

46 Chapter 46 Be My Woman

If so, she doesn't even need to think about it. She will never do as he desires.

Even if he doesn't let her go and will keep her locked up, sooner or later, she'll get her chance to escape. Unless he locks her feet, he will never be able to keep her heart from desiring freedom!

Katrina immediately refuses Aaron. "I don't want to!" To Aaron's surprise, Katrina refuses him resolutely. He frowns. "Why!"

Aaron has always been very lofty and has never been rejected so mercilessly. Usually, women leer at him and throw themselves all over him. But he never pays them any attention.

Today, the first time he asks a woman to be his, he gets such a harsh refusal. How could Aaron accept it so easily?

Aaron forces himself to stare into Katrina's eyes and slowly says, "I'm more handsome and wealthier than 99% of the men in the world. If you stay with me, I will give you the best things that life has to offer and make you the happiest woman in the world. Katrina, why don't you want to be my woman?"

Katrina fearlessly looks straight into his eyes. "Aaron, no matter how handsome or how rich you are, even if 99% of the women in the world are willing to be your woman, I'm the other 1%."

She can't deny that he's nearly the most handsome man she has ever seen. He is also very rich; dozens of Anderson families may not even be able to match his wealth

But what Katrina needs is a dignified and grand love.

She won't compromise with a man for vanity or money. She won't be his woman and please him against her will. What's the difference between that and being kept as a mistress?

Aaron is furious at Katrina's refusal. This ungrateful woman!

It's Aaron's first time in his life to express his feelings to a woman on his own initiative. But she turns him down so ungratefully!

Aaron is seething with rage.

47 Chapter 47: Love Confession

Even though Aaron doesn't know how to speak sweet words and lacks the ability to express himself, he offers what he has to make Katrina his woman. To him, it's showing his love to her.

But it sounds quite different to Katrina.

His offer seems like it's all for his selfish desires so that he can make unreasonable demands towards her. He just wants to have her become his mistress in order to satisfy his own desires.

How can she promise him such a ridiculous request? The room suddenly becomes very quiet.

Aaron's dark eyes narrow as he stares at Katrina with knotted eyebrows. His handsome face looks expressionless, gloomy, and dangerous

He wishes he could tame her directly so she couldn't refuse him again. Katrina's eyes are slightly red. She bravely stares Aaron down, stubborn and unyielding. But gradually, Katrina's bravado weakens a little. Aaron is an aloof and arrogant man. If she refuses him...

Would he get even with her? Would he bully her more excessively? Would she have to fight back with all her strength?

If she annoys him enough, she would be the only one who would suffer.

While Katrina gradually feels oppressed by Aaron's demeanor and begins to feel uneasy and diffident, Aaron suddenly speaks and breaks the silence.

"I won't touch you for the next two days. I hope you can think it over and become mine." His voice is low and alluring, and his face isn't as terrible as it was just now.

Katrina glares at him angrily. She doesn't need time to reconsider his request! Whether it be two days or two years, she will never agree! If he coerces her, she won't compromise in her mind even if she has no choice but to give in physically.

Without giving Katrina time to rebut, Aaron adds, "It doesn't matter if you can't figure it out. At present, you have no choice but to stay with me."

Just as Katrina thinks that he will respect her opinion and let her go, Aaron dashes all her hopes in an instant. Katrina is instantly distraught, frantic, and depressed. He won't let her go, whether she wants to be his woman or not, whether she wants to stay with him or not? This arrogant bastard! In that case, what's the point for giving her time to reconsider? He's already sentenced her to life imprisonment. She originally had an idea in mind, hoping that he would be kind enough to let her go. But now, her only hope is shattered.

According to Aaron's character, no one can change his decision easily once he's decided it. That means that he will never let her go.

At the realization, Katrina feels sad and dreary. Her already red eyes filled with even more tears, like a pear blossom bathing in the rain, showing everyone the pain in her heart.

Seeing Katrina's reaction makes Aaron feel as if something is piercing his heart. The feeling nearly suffocates him.

Bending over, he lifts Katrina's chin and looks directly into her eyes. "Katrina, do you hate me that much?" Does his love for her disgust her so much? Does she intensely despise the thought of staying with him? Forced to look at Aaron, Katrina says through gritted teeth, "Yes, Aaron, I really hate you!" She hates how he caught her indiscriminately! She hates how he keeps her in captivity! Most of all, she hates how he doesn't respect her at all and keeps making advances on her without her consent!

Given all this, how could she not hate him with a passion? She despises him so much!

Hearing that, a glimmer of pain appears in Aaron's eyes. He regards her as the woman he values above the rest, someone to love and spoil. But she's filled with hatred for him?

This little white-eyed wolf! He's given her everything, only to be repaid with ingratitude.

In the end, Aaron manages to hold back his overwhelming anger and decides not to make love with her until she becomes receptive.

Taking a deep breath, Aaron says firmly, "It doesn't matter if you hate me. I love you, that's enough." Whether she likes him or not doesn't matter, he will never let her go. She would still have to live with him cinco

she hates him so much, he has to make her learn to like him back.

Tove you, that's enough... I love you... Love. Katrina is dumbfounded. The words repeat in her mind over and over again. Does he love her?

Is his definition of love, similar to what she understands it to be? Or is it all her imagination? Maybe she's just thinking too much.

If a man wants you to be his woman, does that mean he likes you, or he simply wants you? If it's the former, it may be regarded as a pursuit. But if it's the latter, it's simply a benefit-based relationship. Keeping someone as the property is quite different. It just means you're being kept as a plaything for one's own amusement.

While Katrina is in a trance, Aaron bends over and kisses her plump lips, savoring the taste of her mouth, and His kiss is simultaneously gentle and unrestrained.

Katrina startles and hurriedly pushes Aaron away. He easily grabs her hands and keeps her in his arms. forcefully

Her soft body is pressed against his firm chest tightly. His strong scent overwhelms her. It's overbearing and distinct, belonging only to him.

As the air thins little by little, Katrina's cheeks turn red, and she nearly suffocates. He beats his shoulders with her fists,

After having enough of kissing her, Aaron loosens his hold on her. Katrina nearly has no strength left in her body. She gasps with her mouth wide open.

Aaron puts his hand on Katrina's chest. "Your heart is beating fast. When I kiss you, you're not completely indifferent."

What does a fast heartbeat suggest? It doesn't necessarily mean that she also loves him! Even if he were someone else, she would react the same way...

Wait a minute!

Katrina is stunned to feel the hand on her chest. When she looks down and sees that he's groping her, she instantly breaks down.

This abominable rascal! He's touching her chest! Katrina's face turns red in an instant. She angrily shakes off his hand. "Aaron, you shameless bastard!"

Initially, Aaron just wanted her to feel her heartbeat and talk to her, but touching her feels unexpectedly good. He couldn't help exploring it for a while.

At Katrina's cute angry reaction, Aaron smiles. "You should learn to get used to it." After all, more shameless things are waiting for her in the future.

48 Chapter 48: Sleeping With Him

Katrina ignores Aaron all day, Instead of lingering around her, Aaron gives her enough time and space to think things over. Besides, whether she agrees to be his woman or not, the final result will be the same. For several days, Aaron seems to disappear into thin air. He never returns to his villa or contacts Katrina in any way.

Every day, Randy takes care of her meals. The guards in the villa seem to be much more stringent than before, Katrina has no choice but to stay in the villa at all times. She nearly goes crazy from the boredom.

It's the first time that Aaron has been away from the villa for so long. Although Katrina is curious about where he's gone, she refuses to ask anything about him.

Katrina thinks it's great that he hasn't come back. She hopes never to see him again. A few days later, Aaron returns to the villa at night.

God knows how fast he finished everything in Australia. He's been so busy these days that he's hardly had any rest. As soon as he finishes his work, he hurries to take a nonstop flight back home.

The day he returns is the fourth day he's been gone. When he arrives home, Aaron takes a bath before going straight to Katrina's room, Under the thin moonlight, she looks lovely as she sleeps soundly.

Aaron lifts the blanket and gets in bed next to her, holding her soft body in his arms. A familiar scent stream into his nose, making him feel pleasant and wonderful.

After a few days without rest, his eyes are extremely dry.

He finally gets to see her and hold her in his arms again. Although he misses her body a lot, he doesn't want to disturb her deep sleep...

It's enough just to hold her. Aaron bows his head to kiss Katrina, before closing his eyes in content.

When the first ray of sunshine comes into the room the next morning, Katrina's fingers move as she wakes up lazily. She stretches as she usually does, only to find her fingers poking something strong and warm.

Katrina was stunned. Opening her eyes and slowly looking sideways, she finds an extremely handsome sleeping face next to her. Her hands are on his chest, and his arms wrapped around her waist.

"Ah!" Katrina startles and springs out of his arms. Aaron? Why is he in her bed again? When did he come back? Why wasn't she aware of his return?

At Katrina's scream, Aaron frowns with his eyes closed. He pulls her back unhappily and gathers her in his arms.

"Shut up! Don't make so much noise!"

He's finally gotten some sleep, but Katrina is so noisy. Doesn't she know that disturbing his sleep annoys him the most? If she were someone else, he would've thought of shooting her with a gun.

In Aaron's arms, Katrina stiffens as her mind is in a mess, She's naked under her thin nightdress!

While Aaron was away these past few days, she dared to take off her bra before going to sleep. No woman wants to wear it every day, it's uncomfortable and restricting. But on the first day she takes it off, he unexpectedly comes back.

With him embracing her tightly in his arms, her body is pressed tightly against him. She can even feel the heat from his chest distinctly.

Katrina's pretty face turns red instantly. She quickly struggles out his grasp. "Aaron, let me go!"

Aaron rests his chin on her shoulder and doesn't budge. He says in a low voice, "I haven't slept for four days, Katrina. Be quiet and don't make any noise."

His voice is slightly hoarse, and she can hear the drowsiness from it.

But physical intimacy is the most important thing for Katrina. She can't stand being so close to a man.

She continues to struggle, "Aaron, let go! Let me go!"

Katrina persistently fights and makes noise, pushing and beating him with her fist.

Unable to stand it anymore, Aaron finally opens his eyes. His dangerous black eyes bore into Katrina."Katrina, do you want me to do something to make you shut up? Even though I'm very sleepy now, I promise I'll satisfy you."

Katrina stares into Aaron's eyes and hears his deep and serious voice. She can already feel the changes in his bodyhuddering, she becomes nervous and cautious

His body.. She only struggled for a while, but unexpectedly, his body is already reacting. Although Katrina was ashamed and angry, she doesn't dare irritate him in fear of what he would do to her. She controls her emotions and finally compromises, "Aaron, can you not hold me so tightly?"* Aaron hasn't slept for several days and can only fall asleep with her in his arms. She considers his needs for the time being, But there's no need for him to hold her so tightly. "Fine." With that, Aaron embraces her once again. Katrina wants to escape, but Aaron doesn't want to let her go. Without her presence, he worries a lot and always feels a sense of loss. It seems he only feels reassured of her existence when he's holding her. In a flash, the man beside Katrina falls asleep again. Hearing his steady breathing, Katrina feels helpless but is unable to do anything. Katrina doesn't dare resist him because she doesn't want him to wake up again if she does. She's afraid that he would do the same thing to her as he did last time... Choking back the distress and discomfort in her heart, she consoles herself to be strong. When Katrina chose to study medicine in the beginning, it's due to her desire to heal the wounded and save the young. Although she has long decided not to go down this path anymore, Katrina has never abandoned the idea of helping others. She's always ready to lend a helping hand to anyone in trouble. For the moment, she thinks of Aaron as an insomniac, and herself as a doctor who can cure him of his somnia. Katrina slowly relaxes after she's certain that Aaron is temporarily harmless while he's asleep. Maybe the drowsiness is contagious. Or perhaps it's boring to be forced to stay still in bed. Soon, Katrina closes her eyes and falls asleep. Aaron's tall figure holds her petite body tightly in his arms, creating a warm and beautiful scene.

49 Chapter 49: The Dog Return

In her sleep, Katrina feels a tickle on her nose. Opening her eyes in a daze, she sees a handsome man looking at her in the bed. Deep and charming facial features, high rising nose, thin lips clear and stereoscopic alignment.. He looks so handsome, and it's as if he came out of a comic book. Who is he? Was he sent by God to save her? Katrina stares blankly at the man in front of her, unconsciously displaying a beautiful smile, Aaron is in a trance at the sight of Katrina's smile. Katrina seldom smiles in front of him and never so beautifully. With him, she always seems ashamed, angry, and indignant. To be honest, Aaron is a little fascinated by her smile. Her beauty is unassuming, but comfortable. Her smile is infectious and makes people feel happy. However... Thinking how antagonistic she's been towards him, how could she smile so happily at him? This stupid woman! Her eyes are misty. Who on earth is she seeing that it makes her so happy? At that moment, Aaron is a little upset. He taps Katrina on the forehead. "Katrina, who are you thinking of?" Katrina stirs awake when she feels the pain on her forehead. Covering her forehead, she focuses her eyes slowly and realizes that the man in front of her is Aaron. It's Aaron, the jerk! Just now, she actually thought that he was very handsome and angelic. This damn devil! He's the big bad wolf! Katrina can't help but curse the blindness of her heart. The expression on her face changes from happiness to bitterness.

Aaron begins to harass her by tugging on her hair. Has he already recovered his energy? That means she can finally leave. Massaging her forehead, Katrina gets out of bed. She goes to the bathroom to wash her face.

Looking at her retreating back, Aaron despairs for her in his mind. Is this woman a pig? She sleeps too much.

When he woke up, Katrina was still asleep. She went to bed so early yesterday, but she still fell asleep again this morning. It seems that keeping her at home all day makes her become a lovelier creature. But complaints are only complaints. Even Aaron himself doesn't realize how dotting his eyes are when he looks at her.

Just as Katrina walks out of the room that morning, Randy comes in with excitement. "Mr. Wilson, Beta is back!"

The bark Katrina hears is the only warning she gets when a large black dog rushes into the living room enthusiastically. Seeing the dog suddenly popping out in front of her, she instantly freezes. Her legs are rooted to the floor, and she can't move a step.

Since Katrina was young, she's always been scared of dogs. Even a tiny pet dog can make her nervous, not to mention the big black dog looming over her.

Katrina heard a long time ago that Aaron has a pet dog that's undergoing rehabilitative treatment abroad for medical reasons. But she doesn't expect the dog to come back so soon. And as soon as he enters the house, he's face to face with her.

Obviously, the dog notices Katrina, a strange woman in the villa. Meeting for the first time, Katrina and the dog staring at each other. Suddenly, the dog runs towards her.

Katrina becomes even more scared when she sees the beast pouncing towards her. Fortunately, Aaron's living room is large enough to give her enough time to respond.

Realizing that danger is approaching, Katrina screams and runs as fast as she can. "Don't come over! Ah! Help!"

As soon as Katrina turns around, she sees Aaron coming out of the room. She has no choice but to rush directly into Aaron's arms without a second thought.

Her hands clasp tightly around his neck, and her head burrows in his chest. She's practically hanging on him. "Aaron! Help! Save me! Don't let it come over!" Katrina's voice is urgent, on the verge of sobbing. She's obviously really scared, She's so frightened by his dog that she throws herself into his arms regardless of her image. She wants to hang her whole body on him. He can even feel the softness of her chest.

49 Chapter 14, The Dog Return

At that moment, Aaron can't help smiling,

Since she comes to him voluntarily, he has no reason to push her away. Holding her in his arms, he gently strokes her back. "Don't be afraid. I'm here."

Hiding in Aaron's arms, Katrina doesn't even dare to look at the dog. After a long time of not feeling the dog bite her or hearing his bark, Katrina shudders and asks, "Has he left?" "No, he's at your feet, looking at you." "Woof!" As if on cue, the dog barks to make his presence known.

Upon hearing the sound, Katrina jerks and buries herself further in Aaron's arms, "Aaron, I'm afraid. Make him go away. Please. Make him leave."

Her voice is trembling, and her hands are shaking on his neck. Her small face is white with fear, and her slender, white legs are desperately entangled around his waist in an effort to stay away from the dog.

Katrina's embrace makes Aaron feel good. For the first time since they met, she actively initiates contact with him.

Unexpectedly, it's because of his pet dog.

Aaron puts one hand around Katrina's waist and his other hand around her buttocks. With a relaxed smile on his face, he says reassuringly, "Beta is intelligent; he won't bite you. Do you want to touch him?"

Hearing Aaron's words, Katrina shakes her head wildly. "No!"

She doesn't even have the courage to look at him, let alone touch him. Aaron doesn't understand her fear. Even if he kills her, she can't do it!

Katrina's voice chokes, "Aaron, please, take me back."

This is Aaron's villa. The big black creature is Aaron's beloved dog. Before she arrived, the dog must be accustomed to playing around the villa. She has no reason to make Aaron cast away his dog.

In that case, she can only hope that Aaron will take her back to her room, where she can be safe and out of the dog's reach.

By this time, her legs are weakening, but she doesn't dare leave Aaron. The dog might come to her and cause her trouble. She can only ask him to take her back to her room.

At Katrina's violent shaking and distressed sobs, Aaron finally relents. There's no need to frighten her so much.

Since she's so afraid of dogs and she can't accept Beta right now, he has to wait until they're more familiar with each other and can meet again.