

An Endless Night With Him

Chapter 70: He is Wondering

"N-10," says Katrina in a low voice as she leans against the closed door.

Katrina is afraid that Aaron will violate her if he gets angry, and she dares to disobey him.

Besides, who he likes or who he wants to be with is his own business. It won't be influenced by a few words from her. What right does she have to push him towards other women?

Aaron continues to ask aggressively." No? Then what did you mean?"

"I think that Miss Roberts is prettier than me, taller than me, has a better figure than me, has a more noble identity, and likes you very much. She would suit you more, Katrina replies in a whisper.

Even if there's no Miss Roberts, there will always be another better woman...

In a word, she really doesn't compare to these great ladies who were born into nobility.

Katrina just wants to live her own normal life. She doesn't want to mess with a man like Aaron.

Because she knows they don't live in the same world at all.

Hearing Katrina's words, Aaron looks at her in silence. Seconds later, he grits his teeth in anger. "Stupid woman!"

She doesn't think she deserves him, so she always deliberately pushes him away?

Yes, she may not be the most beautiful and perfect woman in the world,

Perhaps in the eyes of others, she also has many deficiencies. She isn't tall enough, her breasts aren't big enough, her body isn't hot enough, and she was born to a low-income family...

There are many women around him who are taller than her, whose breasts are bigger than hers, who are sexier than her . But he won't even glance at them.

Because it's her, all the imperfections disappear. He can accept all her flaws.

Though Katrina may not be the best, she's the one who attracts him.

Doesn't she feel his affection for her? Doesn't she know how attractive she is to him? In his eyes, this self-deprecating woman is lovelier than all the other women in the world. Why is she so insecure?

He sees Katrina shivering in the corner and keeping a maximum distance from him. Her beautiful and big eyes are full of vigilance

Aaron suddenly remembers the teddy dog. It seems like he's the angry Heta in this scene.

Is she afraid of him? Why is she avoiding him so much?

Suddenly Aaron wonders if he's too hard on her.

70 Chapter 10 He is Wondering

As his woman, she looks at him with such fear lest he should do something fearful to her...

She doesn't even have the courage to speak to him calmly, so she doesn't dare like him or want to be with him.

Aaron adjusts his mood and holds back his anger.

Maybe he should change his ways, or he will never win her heart.

As Aaron stretches out his hand toward her, Katrina is shocked and thinks he's in a huff and is about to do something to her. She closes her eyes unconsciously, her eyelashes trembling slightly.

Seeing her reaction, Aaron feels a bit heartbroken.

Is he usually too hard on her? It seems he should restrain his temper and try not to lose his cool with her. He doesn't want to frighten her. Otherwise, she will become more and more distant from him.

Aaron reaches out and gently tucks a strand of hair behind her ear, rubbing her head.

Instead of the anticipated pain, Katrina feels a gentle action.

Katrina opens her eyes, incredulously to see Aaron's black eyes staring at her. He says a little helplessly.

"Don't be so defensive towards me. I won't strike you."

No matter how angry he is, Aaron will never take hit a woman, not to mention the woman he likes.

Even if she always makes him mad, he won't hit her. She can rest reassured.

Aaron's words confuse Katrina. Although she doesn't understand why he's suddenly changing his attitude, she says to him in an injured tone, "But you always knock me on the head."

Although he doesn't knock her head hard, it still hurts.

Besides, she's not a child. Whenever he knocks her like this, it makes her feel like she doesn't have any dignity.

Aaron frowns in the face of Katrina's complaint. She's taking it a step further and accusing him?

He says through gritted teeth, "I'll stop."

Later, he'll refrain from knocking her on the head.

With Aaron's suddenly good attitude, Katrina quickly adds. "You still force me to do things that I don't like to do."

Yes, this woman really dares to say more. It seems that she's been dissatisfied with him for a long time.

Aaron looks back at Katrina, calmly, "Hmm? What do I force you to do?"

His knowing look is so annoying that Katrina blushes and stammers, "You force me to..."

She can't bring herself to finish the sentence.

Aaron isn't afraid that she's overcome her embarrassment and asks leisurely, "You should tell me. If you don't,

70 Chapter 70 He is wondering

How could she say that? He's obviously waiting for her to make a fool of herself.

Under his compulsion and flirting, Katrina's small face momentarily turns red. She can only be forced to change the topic, "I'm hungry! Please hurry up and drive!"

Katrina's pretty face is red, showing unspeakable shyness and loveliness.

"Since you don't want to tell me... That means you have no opinion."

Aaron finally lets her go with a smile, and he resumes driving.

Although he promised not to do anything to her in the future, he didn't say that he would give up having sex with her.

No matter how pitiful she is at this point, he won't compromise.

She doesn't want him to force her unless she wants it actively.

Hearing Aaron's words, Katrina can't help but secretly roll her eyes at him.

What an overbearing and arrogant person!

At noon, besides eating western food with Katrina, Aaron also orders extra food for Beta. The steak is specially made and suitable for dogs.

His Beta worked hard today, having been harassed by that little teddy too much. It's Beta's treat for today.

At the charity dinner, Victoria pushed Katrina into the water. Aaron hasn't gotten even with her.

When Beta bit that small arrogant teddy earlier, it also indirectly counts as his revenge on her.

Aaron and Beta think about getting revenge against Victoria for Katrina.

This stupid woman is ungrateful and still praises Victoria's assets.

Toma

Does she know that Victoria nearly drowned her?

How could a woman with a vicious mind have any advantage over her?

Chapter 71: Carefully Deals With Him

On the way back, they pass by an amusement park.

It's the biggest amusement park in Hadley City and one of Katrina's original travel plans. But the incident happened, and Aaron caught her before she could go and have fun.

Leaning against the window, Katrina gazes longingly at the crowd at the gates of the amusement park.

There are young parents with their children, affectionate student couples, and best friends.

Although everyone looks ordinary, Katrina envies them in particular. She envies their freedom and their ability to be with their family, loved ones, and friends.

A month ago, she was just like them, enjoying a trip to the city with her best friend.

But now...

Like a canary in a cage, she lost her freedom and didn't even have the luxury of calling her friends and family to say hello.

Aaron naturally sees Katrina's longing look as she gazes outside.

Although he isn't very interested in these lively and childish amusement parks, he pulls over to the side of the road when he notices that she likes it.

As Katrina looks at him with some confusion, Aaron pushes the door open and gets out of the car.

Walking around to the passenger seat, he opens the door and pulls Katrina out of the car.

At Aaron's actions, Katrina looks at him with great perplexity.

Aaron takes her hand, interlacing his fingers with hers like the other young couples, and leads her to the amusement park.

With his other hand, he holds Beta's leash.

Aaron is naturally handsome, with deep and attractive features, perfect without any flaws. He's tall and straight, with a touch of aristocracy that makes him seem to stand out.

In the crowd, he shines naturally, always attracting everyone's attention at once. When such a man with such a good appearance and temperament walks in the crowd, people can't help looking at him.

"That man is so handsome!"

“He’s even more stylish than the current hottest celebrity. Is he a budding star?”

“The suit he’s wearing is a limited-edition Armani, and he looks very rich!”

There’s a lot of speculation about him. Aaron is used to people’s attention, but as an ordinary person, Katrina can’t stand being the center of everyone’s attention. She just wants to find a hole to hide in.

71 Chapter 71 Celully Deals Woh Him

Fortunately, many vendors in the amusement park sell all kinds of snacks, toys, and accessories.

Katrina sees a stall in front of them selling hats and sunglasses, and she quickly pulls Aaron over. She wears a pair of big sunglasses on the bridge of her nose and a fashionable hat on her head, which not only covers her face but also blocks the sunshine. The summer sun can be a bit harsh.

Seeing the fully-armed Katrina, Aaron thinks that the round sun hat looks silly but a bit lovely.

Aaron simply chooses a pair of sunglasses to wear. When he wears cheap sunglasses, he looks like he’s wearing a pair of sunglasses from a big international brand,

The peddler side can’t help praising, “Gentleman, you really have a good taste. The pairs of sunglasses you both picked are for lovers!”

The man is handsome, and the woman is beautiful. Wearing the same kind of sunglasses makes the couple look really well-matched.

Katrina is adjusting the hat in front of the mirror when she suddenly hears the vendor’s words. She almost spits a mouthful of blood.

She and Aaron are once again mistaken for lovers.

But she’s out with Aaron, both of them are single, and he takes her by the hand without her permission. It would be strange if they aren’t misunderstood as a couple.

Although Katrina doesn’t want to be mistaken for Aaron’s girlfriend, she doesn’t bother to explain.

Aaron is in a good mood. After choosing the items, he asks, “How much?”

“The pair of sunglasses is $60 each, and the hat is $50, a total of $170.”

So cheap? That’s not expensive for Aaron, who’s used to luxury. He takes out his wallet and prepares to pay.

Katrina grew up in an ordinary and impoverished environment. She knows the actual prices of these items.

The quality of sunglasses and sun hats sold in the scenic spot isn’t good at all, and the price the hawker gave is absolutely high. If they give in to the vendor, it would be wasteful.

“Please give us a discount!” Katrina uses her advantage and begins to bargain.

“Well... The pair of sunglasses is $45 each, and the sunhat is $30, so $120 in total.”

Katrina smiles in satisfaction. “Thank you. I wish you an active business,”

Although she knows she can still bargain further, she knows that it isn’t easy for vendors to make money so that

Katrina won’t be excessive.

The hawker can make some money, and she can get some concessions. Isn't it perfect? With only a few words, she can cut down the price by $50. Thinking about it gives her a sense of achievement.

7 Chapter 71 Carefully Deals With Him

As Katrina rejoices, Aaron takes out two hundred-dollar bills from his wallet and hands them to the hawker.

"Keep the change."

The peddler freezes for a second and hurriedly takes the money. "Thank you, sir!"

Seeing Aaron's generosity, Katrina is stunned and clenches her teeth in anger.

This spendthrift!

She cut it down to $120, but he gave him $200!

Not only does he not pay the original price, but he also pays $30 more!

This guy is stupid, rich, and headstrong.

While Katrina glares at him, Aaron lifts his lips and puts his arm around her shoulder, whispering to her ear, "How quickly did you learn to save money for me?"

Aaron thought Katrina was very cute when he saw her bargaining with the peddler.

Since she was imprisoned, she's seldom been so spontaneous. She always deliberately hides her thoughts and deals carefully with him.

Upon seeing her bargaining, it made him feel that this is the real Katrina. This is the way Katrina lives her life.

He likes that she put down all pretenses in front of him, not acting like not a canary in captivity.

Hearing Aaron's words, Katrina's face flushes slightly, and she stutters out, "You're thinking too much, who's saving money for you?"

It's just her life experience of more than twenty years.

She's not trying to save money for him on purpose!

That makes it seem like he's special to her.

Chapter 72: Aaron's Gentleness

When Katrina's face turns red, and she refuses to admit it Aaron doesn't embarrass her.

Whether she deliberately saves money for him or not, he's in a good mood

"I won't lock you up every day anymore. If you want to go out, you can go out if someone accompanies you. You can go shopping, get a beauty treatment, and watch a movie.. As long as you don't leave Hadley City, you're free to do anything."

Only now does Aaron realize that if Katrina is kept in captivity all day. it's easier for her to be unhappy and it's more likely to make her feel distant with him.

TOT

He works outside every day but ignores her feelings and how bored she must feel at home every day

After taking her out, he realizes how bright and real her smile is.

Perhaps he should give her as much freedom as possible.

Hearing Aaron's words, Katrina is shocked.

She grabs Aaron's hand in disbelief and asks, "Aaron, are you really going to let me go out? Why are you unwilling?"

"Of course, I'm willing

This is great

She doesn't have to sit around the house all day, and she can finally go out!

God knows how excited she is when she hears the news. At that moment, Aaron is very handsome in her mind

This is what happens after being oppressed. When Aaron gives her a few privileges Katrina is immediately grateful and excited. She forgets that freedom is her own right

Aaron lets her leave the house, but she can only do so if she has his men with her. Although it's uncomfortable to be followed around by several people, she's a stranger in Hadley City and has no friends in this place.

It's enough for Katrina to be ecstatic.

Aaron can see the happiness glowing on Katrina's face. Her eyebrows are curred and all her emotions are written on her face. Moved by her joy, Aaron is in a good mood. He takes the opportunity to ask, "Why don't you show your patirude?"

He gave in so readily to her, will she give him anything in return?

With a blush, Katrina tiptoes hooks her arms around Aaron s neck and aves him a quick kiss on the cheek. Its the only way she can think of to express her gratitude to him. She's penniless and relis on his monewhen these outside.

72 Chapter 72 Aurang Gentines

The quick kiss seems very superficial.

But Aaron's lips are slightly crooked, and the simple kiss makes him happy.

It's the first time since they met that Katrina initiated to kiss him.

Just then, a soft voice reaches them.

"Mommy, I want to eat ice cream."

Aaron looks up and sees a little girl holding her mother's leg, pointing to a nearby ice cream store,

Aaron frowns. It reminds him of the first time he took Katrina to the mall when she pointed at the ice cream store and said she wanted ice cream. Although what happened next was bad, he could never forget her soft and coquettish tone.

Since he's hanging out with her, of course, he wants to meet all her demands, including the ice cream she didn't get the first time.

Without saying a word, Aaron takes Katrina's hand and walks towards the ice cream stall.

"One ice cream."

"No, two!"

"One!"

"Two ice creams!"

Probably because of Aaron's gentleness today, and the unrestrained joy and relaxation she feels in such a happy

place, Katrina gains the courage to rebut Aaron.

Hearing Katrina's words, Aaron looks back at her. Instead of being scared, she sticks out her tongue mischievously.

Seeing them arguing, the ice cream vendor looks at them hesitantly, "How many?"

"One!"

"Two!"

"Okay, two ice creams!"

This time, Aaron gives in.

Because it's the first time that Katrina had won when their opinions diverged, she's in a good mood.

But Aaron suddenly turns around and leans close to her ear. He lowers his voice fiercely and says,

"Katrina, if you dare get diarrhea tonight, I will sleep with you and make you too weak to get out of bed."

Aaron doesn't care about the number of ice creams at all. What matters to him is her health.

72 Chapter 72 Aaron's Gentleness

Aaron's voice is low and dangerous. Although his tone is very low, Katrina's body still shivers, and her face involuntarily turns red.

She looks around quickly in fear that someone heard. Aaron is such a hoodlum to talk about such things in public if she hears them, how would she live?

"Miss, your ice cream is ready!"

Smiling, the vendor hands the two ice creams to Katrina.

As Katrina takes one ice cream in one hand, Aaron pulls out his wallet and pays.

While Katrina takes a bite out of her ice cream, she points to an advertisement on the wall and says, "I just saw that it says the second one is half price, and I want one for Beta."

In such hot weather, long-haired animals like dogs are more susceptible to heat strokes than human beings. Beta feels too hot and begins to stick out his tongue.

Katrina surreptitiously searched online and found out that the dogs can eat ice cream, as long as the quantity is controlled. This is the reason why she wants an extra ice cream to cool Beta.

In Katrina's words, Aaron frowns after he pays the bill.

She's sweet, and she knows to ask for ice cream for Beta.

But what about him?

With the second one at half price, her first thought is Beta and not him? Is he less important to her than Beta in her heart?

With this knowledge, Aaron's face turns dark. "What about me?"

Katrina doesn't expect Aaron to get angry about something so trivial.

After all, he brings her over for ice cream, and she knows he's buying it for her. When he asks for one, she doesn't think that he wants any ice cream.

Besides, he's human. He can ask for ice cream if he wants some. Beta is a dog that can't speak, so she has to ask on his behalf.

For half-price ice cream, Aaron is so jealous of a dog. He's too easy to rile up.

As Aaron pushes further, Katrina gives in gradually, "I thought you didn't like ice cream."

Aaron insists, "Whether I like ice cream is up to me, but you assuming for me is another thing."

73 Chapter 73: How About Beta?

Katrina shakily hands him the other uneaten ice cream. "How about Beta's?"

Aaron's eyebrows raise, and his face darkens, "Are you giving me Beta's ice cream?"

Is he in a lower position than Beta?

Katrina doesn't mean it like that, but somehow it doesn't sound right from Aaron's words. Although she wants to cry in frustration, she sheds no tears. It's difficult to explain what she meant.

"How about... You eat mine, and I eat Beta's?"

Beta is still staring at Katrina's ice cream. Hearing this, he barks at her unhappily. The ice cream that was bought for him now belongs to someone else.

Caught between Aaron and this dog, Katrina is going crazy. Aaron is insufferably overbearing, while his dog is insufferably intelligent. Now, she doesn't know how to distribute the two ice creams.

Katrina simply says, "Well, this for Beta and this for you."

She just won't keep any for herself. Is that good enough?

Aaron glances at the ice cream she's started to eat. "It has your saliva on it."

Hearing Aaron's response, Katrina feels even more devastated.

He should be disgusted with her saliva, and he should be disgusted by her!

But it's not like he's never tasted her saliva before. He always kisses her forcibly.

Although Aaron isn't interested in ice cream, he loves teasing Katrina. He finds it cute to see her in a state of frantic panic.

But if he teases her further, he's afraid that she's really going to cry.

Aaron stops. He takes Katrina in his arms, leans over her, and kisses her lips.

In the hustling amusement park, he gently removes her hat and covers their faces with it. Behind the hat, he sucks on her lips dominantly, tasting the goodness of her mouth bit by bit, until she nearly can't breathe or stand.

After taking enough advantage of her, Aaron releases her and puts the hat on her head. He says softly, "I prefer tasting your saliva this way."

Katrina's pretty face turns even redder.

She gasps and glares at Aaron with a pair of watery eyes.

In broad daylight, with people coming and going, how dare he kiss her so shamelessly!

73 Chapter / How About Beta?

At last, Aaron is satisfied that he doesn't comment further about the ice cream.

After all that, the ice cream is already starting to melt.

Crouching down to feed ice cream to Beta, Katrina licks her ice cream as complaints about Aaron in her heart.

Beta eats his share quickly. He finishes the ice cream in a few bites.

Katrina suddenly feels a dangerous gaze upon her. When she looks up, Aaron has a wistful and meaningful look in his eyes.

The expression is familiar to Katrina,

How could watching her eat an ice cream make him behave like that? Is that the only thing he thinks about every day?

Startled, Katrina quickly gives the other half of her ice cream to Beta, who keeps looking at her hopefully.

“Aaron, the rollercoaster over there looks fun. Let’s go for a ride.”

Katrina switches the topic in time to stop Aaron’s inappropriate thoughts.

Aaron looks at the nearby roller coaster and its many twists and turns.

Since he accompanied her to have fun, he can’t refuse and forces himself to buy tickets.

But he still can’t stop thinking about her little pink tongue licking the ice cream. Maybe she doesn’t see anything wrong with it, but the shock of the scene is too much for an ordinary man.

If she dares lick ice cream like that in front of another man, he will break her leg!

After buying the tickets in the booth, they line up to ride the rollercoaster.

For Aaron, there’s no need to wait in line. If he gives the order, the queue can be cleared out in a few minutes.

But seeing Katrina look so happy, he suddenly wants to please her and experience things with her like a normal couple. Maybe she’ll become more receptive afterward.

Finally, it’s time for their turn.

They sit in the front row of the rollercoaster, and the staff assists them in fastening their seat belts and safety shoulder locks.

Aaron turns his head to look at Katrina and sees that she seems excited and nervous. He grabs Katrina’s hand in reassurance. “Don’t be afraid. I’m here.”

Hearing Aaron’s words, Katrina feels quite warm.

“Aaron, I’m going to be a little bit loud in a minute.”

In such a highly stressful situation, she may not be able to control herself. She warns Aaron in advance to avoid scaring him.

73 Chapter 73 How About Beta?

The roller coaster starts slowly, gradually gaining speed until it reaches the first drop. Screams fill the air as they begin to rise and fall.

With the 720-degree swirl, the sense of weightlessness and heaviness come and go, and the screams of the riders grow madder and wilder.

Feeling the excitement of going through each loop, Katrina screams along with the rest, feeling liberated.

After a few minutes, the roller coaster comes to a slow stop.

As Katrina and Aaron unfasten the shoulder locks and seatbelts and get off the rollercoaster, Beta comes running towards them, carrying his leash in his mouth.

Katrina looks excited. "Aaron, I didn't scream too loudly for you, did I?"

Aaron was calm the whole time. She didn't hear a word from him.

"Did you scream?"

"Yes, didn't you hear?"

"No."

Aaron tries to resist the overwhelming wave of dizziness.

The fancy spinning nearly made him pass out just now. All he could think about was for the ride to end quickly, how would he notice her screams?

"Aaron, the rollercoaster is so exciting! Should we have another go?"

Aaron's face changes. One time is already too painful for him. Another one?

Of course, Aaron won't admit to being too frightened to ride with her. He says calmly, "Let Beta ride with you."

Beta?

Is he seriously making a dog ride a rollercoaster with her?

At the sound of his name, Beta barks at them in protest.

Just then, a staff member comes by.

"Sir, young lady, here's the picture of your ride on the rollercoaster. You might want to come over and have a look. If you like, we can print them out for you to keep as a wonderful memory."

Chapter 74: She Doesn't Like Him

As soon as Katrina hears this, she becomes very interested and readily agrees, "Okay!"

Aaron holds her hand. "It's so windy up there. How can the photo look good?"

"Let's have a look! We don't have to get it if we don't like it."

It doesn't cost to look at it anyway.

Aaron isn't holding her hand tightly, so Katrina breaks free and runs over.

The staff finds their photos.

In the photos, Katrina's hair is blown to the back with her mouth wide open. But she generally looks beautiful.

On the other hand, Aaron has his eyes closed in each photo, one hand holding her and the other clutching the shoulder lock tightly.

Was he nervous?

Unexpectedly, Aaron is afraid of rollercoasters. It's the first time for Katrina to discover Aaron's weakness.

Before the ride started, he held her hand and told her not to be afraid.

She wasn't afraid. But apparently, he was more nervous than she was.

No wonder he refused to ride with her again. No wonder he doesn't want to see the photos.

Learning that he's afraid of rollercoasters, Katrina can't help but laugh.

Before, the image of Aaron in Katrina's mind was fearless and omnipotent.

Men who are too perfect are doomed to be inaccessible.

After revealing a little flaw, Aaron seems down-to-earth and more approachable.

Katrina turns around and smiles. "Aaron, the photos are great!"

Seeing the smile on Katrina's face is like looking at a little fox making fun of him. Aaron scowls and lashes out,

"You look ugly in the photos!"

"I'm ugly? It's good enough, considering we're on a rollercoaster."

"I say you look ugly, so you're ugly!"

As Katrina and Aaron quarrel with each other, the staff member looks at them hesitantly. "Sir, young lady, would you like me to print out this picture for you to keep as a souvenir? Only $3 per copy. It's very cheap."

"Yes..."

Before Katrina finishes her response, Aaron covers her mouth

"Not Aaron coldly refuses, taking Katrina in his arms and walking away.

How could he allow himself to let her have such a silly picture?

Even if he isn't really interested in the rollercoaster ride, he won't admit to being afraid.

As a result of Aaron's behavior, Katrina doesn't want to miss the opportunity of getting revenge after finding out about his weakness.

"It's understandable that you don't like it. People who like it are normally young people." Katrina says, looking at the crowds lining up for the rollercoaster,

At Katrina's words, Aaron's face becomes gloomy, and he grins menacingly. "Katrina, are you saying I'm old?"

"I didn't say that," Katrina shakes her head.

Aaron isn't a fool. Although she denies it, he knows what she means.

This stupid woman!

She dares to taunt him and call him old... He's only 28 years old, how could she say he's old!

In his eyes, Katrina is a real brat.

Aaron fests annoyed. "I'll show you the energy of an old man tonight, Katrina." Aaron lowers his voice to whisper her ear. Since she enjoys provoking him so much, he might as well prove her wrong with his body. Then she can decide if he's old or not.

Katrina is shocked to hear the words.

How could she dig her own grave like this? She only wants to make fun of him, but she ended up becoming the ultimate victim.

Katrina is afraid of Aaron's indulgence in this aspect. When she cries and begs him after half a day, he lets her off temporarily. But if he's really unscrupulous, she's afraid she'll be unable to get out of bed.

Panicking, Katrina quickly takes Aaron's hand. "Aaron, don't be angry. You're so handsome, debonair, and gracious. Please forgive me!"

Katrina showers Aaron with every praise she can think of to appease him.

Although her intent is too obvious, her coquettish behavior is very useful to him.

Aaron looks at her from the corner of his eyes. "I'm that good, am I?"

Katrina nods eagerly. "You're the only one with good looks, a good figure, a lot of money, and great skills!"

It's the first time for Aaron to hear so much praise from Katrina, so he accepts the compliments as her apology.

Aaron's black eyes are fixed tightly on Katrina, and he says carelessly, "Since I'm so good in your eyes, do you

TA Chap

74 She Do

m

like me?"

"Er, L. At the question, Katrina is shocked and hesitant She doesn't know how to respond

Does she like him? She can't wait to escape his control and captivity, how could she like him? If she really likes him, she should be willing to stay with him.

But if she tells him directly that she doesn't like him, will he get angry again and force himself on her again?

Aaron has been tolerant of her today. It seems that he no longer treats her as a canary in captivity and slowly gives her some freedom and dignity. She keeps testing his limits to find out how far he can tolerate her, But if she crosses the line, she's afraid that the tolerance he's been exercising will become a fragile soap bubble that will burst with a simple prick

When Katrina refuses to answer, Aaron continues, "Why is it so hard to answer?"

"Aaron, I suddenly need to go to the toilet. Wait for me here. I'll go to the bathroom." Katrina dodges his gaze and turns to the toilet after speaking.

Aaron watches her retreating back as she flees with an inscrutable expression on his face. From her hesitation and her escape, he already knows her answer.

She doesn't like him.

This ungrateful woman, why is it so difficult for her to like him?

From today's interaction, he sensed a change in her attitude towards him.

She initiated kissing him and racked her brains to praise him. It means that she has some positive feelings for him in her heart

At least their relationship has begun to shift a bit, moving to a sweeter direction.

He hopes that one day, she'll be willing to stay with him.

But until she falls in love with him, he has bound her to him securely.

This is the only way to keep her.

If not, when she flaps her wings and flies away, how could he be kind to her? How could she like him and rely on him?

If some other bastard seduces her, he'll become overwhelmed with rage.

Chapter 75: She's In Danger

While Katrina is in the toilet, Aaron goes back to the roller coaster photo booth and asks the staff to print out their pictures

Although he looks a bit weak in the photos and he's too embarrassed to admit that it's him, this is his first photo with Katrina.

And she's smiling happily in all of the photos.

It's a memorable moment for him.

He doesn't want the picture to fall into Katrina's hands, lest he gets caught sneering at it. But he can keep it private

When Katrina comes out of the toilet, she only finds Beta waiting for her and hunkering outside. She has no idea where Aaron went.

Katrina looks around and can't find Aaron.

It's her first visit to the amusement park. She's unfamiliar with the place, penniless, and doesn't have a cellphone.

Wait a minute!

This is a good time for her to run away while she only has Beta beside her. What is she waiting for?

When the thought pops into her mind, Katrina's heart pounds wildly. Gulping, she quickly calculates the probability of her managing to escape.

But halfway through, she becomes frightened again.

What if Aaron is testing her on purpose? How could he give her a chance to escape so easily? Is he secretly observing her, waiting to see if she intends to run away?

Earlier, he promised to let her out. If the escape annoys him, he will take his words back.

Katrina is worried.

No, she can't take risks impulsively.

And Beta is still here.

Beta is a clever dog. He took a bullet for Aaron. It's easy for him to spy on her.

Beta is outwardly friendly and protective of her. But between her and Aaron, Beta will surely listen to Aaron.

75 Chapter 75 She's in Danger

After contemplating for a long time, Katrina finally gives up the idea of running away.

There's no way to find Aaron and no phone to call, so she has to sit on a bench on the side of the road and wait for him.

Because a lot of photos are frequently taken, one batch comes after another.

After Aaron and Katrina's ride, there are a lot of new sets of photos. It takes some time for the crew to find their photos.

When Aaron gets the picture, he slips it into his pants pocket and walks back.

Through the crowd, he sees Katrina sitting on a bench with her chin up, waiting for him. Beta is squatting next to her, looking strangely harmonious next to her.

She's petite and looks much smaller sitting there. Aaron feels like he can gather her in his arms at once.
Seeing her cute and cuddly face, Aaron can't help but smile slightly.

Passing a stall selling all kinds of plush hairpins and accessories, Aaron sees many girls wearing pointed cat ears and long rabbit ears on their heads. Thinking that Katrina would look cute in them, he also buys one for his lonely companion.

As Aaron turns around, a strange man approaches Katrina.

He sees Katrina sitting alone on a bench and seemingly separated from her friends. She's too beautiful for him

not to notice.

The man walks up to Katrina. "Hi, what are you doing here? Are you waiting for someone?"

Katrina looks up at the man and nods.

"There are too many people over here. Do you have his number? Why don't you call him on my cell phone?"

Katrina doesn't know Aaron's phone number at all, so she can't reach him even if he lends it to her.

"No, thanks," Katrina says, shaking her head.

In any case, she's grateful to the man for his kindness.

"Well, there's a radio room nearby. I'll take you there so you can have your friends come to you."

In public places such as shopping malls and amusement parks, there are broadcast rooms to assist people in finding someone.

When hearing this, Katrina's eyes suddenly light up.

She didn't think about that!

Aaron must still be around here. She can find him on the radio.

Katrina gets up from her chair. "That's right. Let's go!"

75 Chapter 75 She's in Danger

The man smiles and walks back with Katrina. "Come with me."

Katrina follows him for a while, only to realize that something is wrong. Why does she feel like he's leading her to a sparsely populated place?

Is she too trusting of strangers?

When Katrina stops, the man turns back and looks at her. "What's wrong?"

Katrina says hurriedly, "Sir, thank you for your offer. But my friend should be back soon. I think I should go back and wait for him."

As Katrina prepares to turn back, the man reaches for her arm. "My lady, it's just over there."

Although the expression on the man's face is very normal, Katrina only feels that something is wrong.

His

gesture of reaching for her arm makes her unconsciously more alert and more suspicious of the man's intentions.

Katrina discreetly avoids his touch. "No, thank you!"

Seeing that Katrina is about to leave, the man definitely isn't willing to give up and easily let her leave.

"Don't go. Your friend is waiting for you here. He asked me to come to pick you up!"

The man grabs Katrina's arm and drags her along.

The obvious inconsistent and illogical response proves the man's lie.

Katrina becomes impatient and struggles. "Let me go! Let me go!"

Besides, she's actually a cop. If she can knock Aaron down, she also can deal with this man. He can't blame her for being rude if he doesn't let her go.

Beta has been following her behind and sees that she's being bullied. Before Katrina can act, he jumps up and bites the man's arm.

"Ah!" The man lets out a sorrowful howl, hurriedly releasing Katrina.

Beta sinks his teeth into the man's arm tightly and doesn't let go. His mouth lets out a dangerous whine.

The man gasps with intense pain.

Since he was trying to trick the woman, he didn't notice that a dog was following them.

The man howls in anguish, "Where did this mad dog come from?"

"Release me! Or I'll call the police!"

If he had known that such a fierce dog was following her, the man wouldn't have dared provoke her like in the first place

Chapter 76: Aaron's Rage

Katrina is stupefied as she stares at the angry Beta.

It's the first time she's seen Beta bite someone.

It looks extremely painful when the sharp fangs sink into the man's arm.

No matter how much the man struggles, kicks Beta or shakes his arm, Beta keeps his teeth in his arm and refuses to let him go.

By now, Katrina appreciates what Randy had told her.

Although Beta seems gentle in character, a police dog doesn't compare to his strength and ferocity.

Hearing the man's anguished wail, Katrina is afraid that Beta will bite him fiercely and cause unnecessary

While Katrina is overwhelmed with anxiety and fear, a familiar voice calls from behind her, "Beta!"

Katrina looks back and sees Aaron standing nearby, tall and thin, and carrying a black cat hairband.

At the sight of Aaron, Katrina seems to have found a savior and runs to him.

Katrina never thought that she'd be so happy to see Aaron. In such an unfamiliar environment, she feels as if she finally found a savior in a desperate situation.

Katrina's petite body jumps straight towards Aaron. Her gentle and little boneless hands tightly grip his clothes.

Placing his hand on Katrina's shoulder, Aaron holds her in his arms. "Beta! Let go!"

When he hears Aaron's voice, Beta finally calms down a little bit. He reluctantly releases the man's arm, giving a warning growl before running to Aaron.

The man's face is contorted with pain. His face is covered with sweat as he covers his arms tightly.

Just now, he thought he was going to be bitten to death by a dog.

police and report you! You're indulging the dog! A mad dog like this should be clubbed to death!"

Not only did he fail to lure the girl away, but he also ended up being bitten by a dog like this. How could he accept this grievance?

At the man's words, Aaron's face turns somber. With black eyes boring into the man, he says coldly, "Do what you like! Before the police arrive, I'll have him bite you to death."

Aaron knows Beta's character. Beta will never actively attack a person unless the person is a threat to his owner.

76 Chapter 76 Aston's Rago

While Aaron was buying the hairband, he turned around and found that Katrina and Beta were missing.

Hearing Beia's bark, he found them in this secluded place. It's conceivable that this man must have done something to Katrina.

Beta wouldn't have bitten him for no reason.

He dared to covet his woman. It's already humane to let him live. How dare he have the audacity to shout at them?

Already in a bad mood, Aaron becomes even more upset.

Sensing a sudden drop in the air pressure surrounding Aaron, Katrina knows it's a sign of his anger. She quickly squeezes his hand in an attempt to stop him.

Just now, the scene of Beta biting the man was terrifying to her. What would happen if Aaron got very angry about it? She'll feel even guiltier, and she'd die from the remorse.

After all, it's all because of her.

Beta also barks at the man, and the timing is amazing.

The frightened man jumps back, afraid that Beta will actually lunge at him.

At this point, Aaron looks extremely dangerous, a look that ordinary people can't bear to see.

The man doesn't dare say anything and eventually runs away, clutching his wound. He's afraid that if he keeps going, he'll be even worse off than he is now.

As the man runs away, Katrina looks up at Aaron and gently tugs at his sleeve. "Aaron, don't blame Beta. He was protecting me," she says.

Even though Beta was wrong to bite the man, the guy provoked Beta by roughly taking her arm and not letting her go. Beta came to her aid because the man was bullying her. Katrina doesn't want Aaron to blame Beta for this.

ilu

At Katrina's soft request, Aaron becomes more annoyed and blames her, "Katrina, why are you worrying about

Beta? What about yourself?"

Katrina raises her hands at Aaron's angry voice, subconsciously covering her head. "Aaron, you said you wouldn't knock my head anymore."

"You stupid woman! You call yourself a cop? You can't even do something as simple as distinguish good from bad! How could you easily go with a strange man when they ask you to?"

Aaron finally relents and pulls his hands away.

But the expression on his face is still grim, and he still looks angry.

76 Chapte: 76 Arons Rage

If not for Beta, if he'd come back a few minutes later, she would've been abducted by another man. If she ended up being raped by another man, he couldn't even imagine the consequences.

This stupid woman doesn't even have the basic instinct to protect herself. How did she grow up?

Aaron's rage is fueled by his fear.

In the face of Aaron's anger, Katrina lowers her head and opens her mouth with some grievance, "I couldn't find you outside the toilet, and I don't have your phone number. He said he would take me to the broadcast room, so

It was her fault for not recognizing that the man was scheming something, but Aaron was the one who suddenly disappeared and left her alone without telling her where he was going. Why is he putting all the blame on her?

Katrina feels wronged and scared. As a result, her nose becomes sour, and her eyes turn red. Tears start to stream down her cheeks, unconsciously.

Hearing her thrilling voice and seeing her head drooping and her shoulders quivering, Aaron feels a sudden twitch in his heart, as if it was cruelly scratched by a small invisible hand.

Damn it!

Aaron can't help internally cursing, but his heart softens a little.

He takes Katrina in his arms. His angry voice turns a little depressed as he says helplessly, "I left Beta with you, didn't I?"

He left Beta with her in case she couldn't find him and got worried.

How could he leave her for no reason? How could he make her cry?

Chapter 77: New Plan

Katrina is pressed tightly against Aaron's arms.

She doesn't mean to cry, but she can't stop crying somehow.

Maybe she's homesick, or maybe she feels aggrieved to be held captive by Aaron for so long.

Katrina lets out her emotions and bursts into tears.

Warm tears soak Aaron's shirt, and his chest clenches painfully.

In the face of her tears, Aaron is at a loss with what to do.

Katrina cries a lot.

He just said a few ruthless words, and she began to cry.

Feeling troubled and helpless, he holds her even lighter.
Having never been close to women before, Aaron is always aloof and domineering. He's never gone through this kind of situation and has never felt lost because of a girl.
He wants to comfort her but doesn't know-how. He feels out of his depth.
Girls are really tough creatures to deal with.
He struggled in the business for so many years, experienced so many great occasions, and has always been able to take it easy. But he's at a complete loss with what to do with her crying.
Did his words really hurt her that much?
After much hesitation, Aaron finally says, "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to blame you. I was just afraid that you're in danger."
He didn't mean to criticize her and be angry with her. He was just so worried about her that he lost his temper.
He would try to avoid getting angry with her from now on.
Taking her to the amusement park was supposed to be fun. Unexpectedly, he unintentionally made her cry again.
At this point, Aaron feels a little annoyed.
He's really bad at coaxing girls.
At the sight of him coming back in the midst of such a dangerous situation, Katrina ran up and immediately seized his clothes. It seems that she's very dependent on him.
But he responded by putting the blame on her.

77 Chapter 77 New Plan

Aaron wipes her tears and fumbles with an apology. "It's my fault. Please stop crying."
Her eyes are already red, like a poor little rabbit. If she keeps crying, her eyes will swell up.
Although he was seriously injured several times before, it never hurt as much as it does now. The sight of her tears makes his heart twist painfully.
Finally, Katrina stops crying.
She didn't cry because of Aaron's rebuke. She knows that Aaron was angry because he's worried about her safety.
His criticism is a fuse to her.
All her negative emotions in the past few days accumulated to a certain extent, although she couldn't feel them sometimes after repressing them in her heart, once the fuse is lit, nobody can control the flame.
Now that Aaron wronged himself enough to apologize to her, there's no need for her to make a big fuss anymore.
She knows how hard it is for Aaron to apologize.
Katrina dries her tears. Anyone would feel aggrieved to see her foggy eyes.
Aaron puts the cat ears headband on her head. Having no experience with putting on any jewelry for a girl, he's not very skilled, and it ends up slightly crooked.

But he looks at it with satisfaction.

Katrina's long, silky black hair under the cat ears give her indescribable loveliness and allure. She's like a cat with sharp teeth, which leaves permanent marks on his skin.

He suddenly gets a fascinating image of her dressed up like a cat in bed.

Aaron thinks he must've been poisoned. He got poisoned by Katrina.

He keeps picturing her in bed, licking ice cream and wearing stuffed ears.

It seems that he needs a great deal of consolation in the evening.

Katrina touches the furry cat's ears on her hair.

Just now, she saw what was holding in his hand, but she didn't expect that he would buy it for her.

Katrina looks up at him with her red eyes. "Did you buy this for me?"

Hiding the printed photos, Aaron coughs and nods. "Yeah, do you like it?"

Katrina's wronged heart is suddenly filled with a hint of warmth. She murmurs, "Childish."

The conflict between them is quietly resolved.

After the incident, Katrina and Aaron return together, as if nothing happened.

17 Chapter 77 Non Plan

He was squatting on the ground, Beta whimpers twice, looking at Katrina worriedly.

Katrina looks down and touches Beta's head. "I'm okay. Thank you, Beta."

When Beta saw that she was being bullied, he rushed to her rescue.

Maybe she's really important to Beta. She's glad that Beta can protect her like this.

After the encounter, Katrina is a little tired, and no longer wants to go around. Aaron takes her and Beta directly back to the house.

On the way back, Aaron had a lot to think about.

After completing his current business, he happens to have a project in Abbe City.

Since Katrina is so homesick, he can take her back to relieve her pain of nostalgia.

Abbe is a big market for business.

Maybe he can develop his career in Abbe in the future. It will be more favorable to Katrina. After all, she grew up in Abbe, and she's more familiar with the city.

It's not feasible to force her to stay long-term in Hadley.

Aaron himself doesn't even realize that Katrina now exists in his life plan.

Unexpectedly, Aaron starts planning to develop a life and career in Abbe for her.

After dinner that evening, Randy gives Katrina a nice smartphone. "Miss Miller, Mr. Wilson had this prepared this for you."

Katrina looks at the phone in amazement, saying incredulously, "Is this really for me, Randy?"

Her phone was confiscated when she was taken away, cutting off all communication with the outside world.

Aaron suddenly giving her a cell phone is shocking.

Randy nods. "Yes, Mr. Wilson specially asked me to prepare it for you. But this phone can only reach Mr. Wilson. If Miss Miller misses Mr. Wilson, you can call him at any time."

Hearing Randy's words, Katrina's excited mood disappears in an instant.

She really feels disappointed to find out her new phone can only call Aaron.

He probably got her a cell phone because of what happened in the amusement park earlier today.

Chapter 78: Seductive Woman

When Katrina comes out of the bathroom later that evening, Aaron is lying in her bed and playing with the cat cars headband.

These days, Aaron often occupies himself in her room and sleeps with his arms wrapped around her at night.

Of course, he doesn't simply sleep all the time. Sometimes, he does something difficult to describe.

Like right now.

Katrina becomes a little wary when she sees Aaron on her bed. She carefully tugs at her collar in fear of provoking Aaron's evil nature by accident. Though she knows that she looks completely vulnerable to Aaron, she still watches out for him, hoping to make Aaron let her go tonight.

While she tries to minimize her presence, Aaron notices her the moment she exits the bathroom.

Patting the bed, Aaron says in a cold and harsh voice, "Come here."

Katrina walks towards him, reluctantly.

Seeing her slow pace and the defensive and reluctant look on her face, Aaron chuckles and looks at her blankly.

"Katrina, do you think you can hide from me?"

Does she think he would leave her alone if she walks slowly?

This is Aaron's limit.

He can pet her and tolerate her, but he would never give up on this.

If all he could do every night is cuddle her to sleep, he's going to suffocate.

He's already made a big concession on this. Most of the time, he chooses to respect her wishes despite his desire to have her. If he hadn't, she might be unable to stand on her own.

Katrina freezes all of a sudden when she hears Aaron's words.

If Aaron isn't willing to let her go, no matter how slowly she acts, she's going to be in trouble tonight.

She might as well get it over with.

Katrina walks over to Aaron as if she's about to face death unflinchingly.

This habit is really a terrible thing.

Now, she had begun to face this with the mentality of finishing a task, unlike at the beginning, when she kept

.

resisting

She knows that resistance against Aaron is futile, and he can easily subdue her. And in the end, she would only suffer more.

78 Chapter 70 Seductive Woman

It's the same result either way, why should she bother?

Katrina feels deprived of sinking so low.

When Katrina gets to the bed, Aaron hands her the cat ears headband. "Put this on."

Somewhat puzzled, Katrina takes the clip, her pretty face full of curiosity. "I've just blow-dried my hair. It will leave an imprint if I put it on now."

Why the hell does he want her to wear the headband?

Aaron insists, "Put it on."

.

Katrina has no choice but pick it up and put it on her head.

With sleek black hair and pointed ears, Katrina looks soft and cuddly, like a seductive kitten coming out of a two-dimensional screen.

That's what Aaron wants.

The adorable kitten look hits Aaron's heart, filling him with unspoken affection.

Aaron grabs hold of Katrina and pulls her into his arms.

As he rolls over, Aaron easily pins her down and stares at her with lust-filled eyes.

After a whirlwind of turns, Katrina opens her eyes to see his deep and dangerous gaze. The fire inside his eyes is clearly visible.

His firm chest presses hard against her soft body, and she can feel the heat of his body.

The atmosphere is quiet and ambiguous. The temperature in the room seems to rise, and Katrina's face is slightly red. She clutches her skirt uneasily with some nervousness, Aaron bends forward with his long white hands, holding Katrina's face and kissing her lips vigorously. He only tastes the sweetness of her mouth.

His body gets hotter and hotter, and an evil fire pours out, his hot breath puffing on her face. He slips his hand into her skirt and slowly slides up...

By now, Katrina's face is flushed. As her body gradually melts into his kiss, she nearly forgets to resist.

Her

nightdress is pushed up to her waist.

Suddenly, Aaron's mobile phone rings loudly, breaking the heavy atmosphere.

A flash of displeasure appears on Aaron's face. There's a frown on his brow and a dangerous and irritated look in his eyes.

Damn it!

Some bastard dares to disturb him at such a critical time!

7 Chapter 7

Seduction o

n

Aaron answers the phone with a sullen face and a hint of anger in his voice. "Hello?"

On the other end, the caller is oblivious to his rage and speaks excitedly, "I made it! I made it! The latest sleeping pill is complete! After the clinical trials, no side effects have been found, and your insomnia can be temporarily relieved!"

Aaron's personal physician, Dr. William, is also a world-renowned professor of medicine. As soon as the new sleeping pill is developed, Aaron should be informed of the good news.

After all, he knows how much insomnia Aaron has suffered all these years. William thought Aaron would be happy to hear the news, but Aaron replies coldly, "Shut up!" before snapping the phone shut.

A fucking sleeping pill?

He already has a humanoid pillow. Not only can she alleviate his insomnia, but he can also hug and kiss and do whatever he likes to her. What would he need the sleeping pill for?

It's an exercise in kindness that he doesn't have someone kill William for his disturbance.

On the other end of the line, William is baffled by Aaron's reaction.

Why does he feel that Aaron is unhappy and annoyed?

It's 11 o'clock now. Aaron rarely goes to bed early. It's unlikely that he disturbed his sleep.

William suddenly remembers Katrina, whom Aaron has trapped in the villa.

Were they...

At the realization, William's eyes widened in shock.

Well, he has to be mindful of the time and place the next time he wants to call Aaron.

If he isn't careful enough, he's afraid that he, a little private doctor, will be unable to endure the pain.

She must be an extraordinary woman to unexpectedly cure Mr. Wilson's years of sexual continence.

Chapter 79: New Developed Sleeping Pills

Not only does William's sudden phone call disrupt Aaron's mood, but it also snaps Katrina out of her daze.

When Katrina finds her dress pushed up, she pulls it down with shame, defenseless against Aaron's handsome face, she lost herself again.

From the phone call Aaron received, Katrina hears someone talking about sleeping pills.

Because William was so excited, his loud voice went straight into Katrina's ear, who was silently listening to them.

A new sleeping pill has been developed. Aaron's insomnia can be relieved.

Now that he has medicine to cure his insomnia, he wouldn't need to pester her every night and hug her to get some sleep.

Katrina thought about it before; if she succeeds in escaping, Aaron will have insomnia, and that fact makes her think a little sad for him.

But now, she's completely relieved of the guilt. Even if she sneaks away, Aaron can take the pills.

After hanging up, Aaron lunges at Katrina again.

She's like his prey, who can never escape his grasp.

Troubled by the events earlier that day, Aaron demonstrates his strength and power to Katrina.

Against Aaron's continuous attacks, Katrina is losing. She cries and begs for mercy, but he doesn't relent.

While he's unguarded, Katrina is jittery and tries to run away.

But before she reaches the edge of the bed, he grabs her by her delicate white ankle and drags her back easily.

By the time it's over, Katrina is weak and on the verge of unconsciousness.

Aaron kisses her mouth and takes her to the bathroom himself.
The young girl's beautiful and exquisite body borders on perfection, and her white and tender skin is full of ambiguous traces.

Aaron's eyes become deep. He finds the marks he left insufficient.
The next morning, warm sunlight filters through the floor-to-ceiling windows into the room.
On the big soft bed, Katrina is fast asleep.

Black hair spills like a waterfall on the white sheets, framing her face beautifully.
The thin silk covers her breasts and reaches above her thighs to reveal delicate collarbones and slender legs,

Chapter 76 Pies Developed Sleeping PES painting an alluring picture. Ambiguous floret blossoms one after another on her neck and collarbones, and she looks extremely sweet.

As her brow moves, Katrina slowly opens her eyes.

She feels as if she's been run over by a truck. Her body is sore and painful all over, a reminder of someone overindulging last night.

Katrina grits her teeth and pushes herself out of bed.

Last night, Aaron took his pleasure like a hungry wolf waiting in the dark

As Katrina stands up, the silk sheet falls from her milky skin.

She's naked under the covers.

Shocked, she quickly pulls up the quilt to cover her body.

Her body seems to have been washed, it's clean and refreshed. The uncomfortable feeling of wet perspiration doesn't cover her.

She feels distinct, like she took some medicine because she feels something cool beneath her.

She doesn't even need to wonder who did it.

When Katrina searches for her memories, she remembers someone taking her to the bathroom and applying for medicine on her before she completely passed out. She feels so embarrassed that she wants to cover her whole head under the covers.

Aaron, that terrible bastard! Inside her thought, she rapidly curses Aaron.

As Katrina exits the room that morning, she hears a noise outside and sees Randy directing people to move things.

Katrina walks over with some curiosity. "What's this, Randy?"

At the sight of Katrina, Randy says smilingly, "Good morning, Miss Miller. Mr. Wilson thinks your room is 100 small and wants to move you to a bigger room. It's right next to Mr. Wilson's room. There's also a special cloakroom inside the room."

A woman's boudoir has a certain warmth and sweetness. Things like dressers and cloakrooms must be prepared carefully. This is why Randy is making preparations with such fanfare.

Katrina looks surprised to hear his words.

A new room? Right next to Aaron's room?

Then his bullying will be more unbridled!

Once the furniture is set in place, a truckload of clothes, shoes, and bags is brought in for Katrina to choose from. Rows and rows of clothes are pushed forward, exquisitely ornate, and lustrous. Everything is the latest collection from big brands. These clothes are not something that Katrina can easily afford.

Randy takes Katrina to the selection of clothes and says in a gentle and polite voice, "Miss Miller, Mr. Wilson asked me to prepare these before he left. You can choose whatever you like."

Aaron practically gave her a whole mall to choose from. It's impossible to keep all the clothes, and there's simply not enough room in the cloakroom for everything,

Amidst Katrina's surprise, the surreal moment almost feels like a dream.

Is this Aaron's financial compensation for her?

He bullies her against her wishes, and makes up for it through bribes?

Somehow, Katrina feels like he is keeping her, and this devil doesn't have the plan to give her freedom.

Although the young girls assisting with the clothes are all looking at Katrina with envy and admiring her good fortune to be spoiled by Aaron, Katrina isn't happy to enjoy the treatment that ordinary girls couldn't even imagine.

All the clothes, bags, and jewelry mean nothing to her.

If Aaron really wants to make it up to her, letting her go home is the best way.

But she knows that it's impossible for Aaron to give her this.

Not wanting to make it difficult for Randy and the staff, Katrina doesn't even make an effort and casually points out two items of clothing in a row that look good to her.

The rest of the clothes are pushed out, and the second set comes in.

Soon, her closet is filled with new clothes, shoes, bags, and jewelry.

It might be every girl's dream to have a cloakroom like this, but Katrina always found it unnecessary and impractical, like a gorgeous mirage.

She never wanted to sell her body in exchange for something.

But now, it feels like she is.