

An Endless Night With Him

Chapter 86: Winning His Favor

First, cut the scallion into sections, cut the ginger into shreds, and reduce the prickly ash. Then, heat oil in a wok. Add the scallion, ginger, and prickly ash and stir-fry them until it's fragrant. Then add the beef...

Currently, Katrina is in the kitchen. Wearing an apron, she's cooking systematically with a spatula in her hand.

Katrina isn't a rich girl who only enjoys wealth and honor. Although her cooking skills aren't that good, she can cook a few simple dishes.

After staying at Aaron's villa for so long, she knows his character well.

Aaron is definitely a person who can be persuaded by reason, not force. The more repulsive she acts and the more eager she is to leave, the more closely he monitors her. But the more submissive she is, the better he treats her.

Therefore, if she wants to leave, she can't rely on force.

She has to pander to him, please him, and make him feel good about her, to get him to trust her enough.

This way, she's more likely to leave.

Bored out of her mind, Katrina suddenly gets the idea to cook a meal for Aaron.

Katrina eats and sleeps in the villa every day. Sometimes, she goes out for a leisurely walk in the sun.

She doesn't have to work or worry about housework. She's not used to a life of advanced retirement. It's time to do some exercise.

When Katrina proposes her idea to Randy, his wrinkled face is suddenly covered with a surprised smile.

He agrees immediately. "That's a good idea! If Mr. Wilson knows that Miss Miller personally cooked for him, he will certainly be very happy!"

Katrina smiles at Randy.

She also hopes to win Aaron's favor.

Katrina carefully selects several dishes she wants to cook, then writes down the ingredients on a piece of paper before handing it to Randy. "Randy, please help me prepare these."

"Yes, Miss Miller. I'll go prepare them right now!" He takes the note and immediately arranges for servants to make preparations.

Randy is loyal to Aaron.

His duty is to do his best to take care of Aaron's life and help him take care of his home. Since this is something that will make Aaron happy, he tries his best to cooperate.

Randy is very efficient.

It isn't long before the kitchen counter is neatly stacked with the materials that Katrina needs.

All the ingredients are the freshest and the best, and even the beef is imported.

Randy leads Katrina into the kitchen. She's satisfied with the preparations. Not only are the ingredients the best, but all the kitchen utensils inside are also readily available and specially customized. Even the serving plates are made of top-grade porcelain and look particularly luxurious.

Katrina gets familiar with the kitchenware and begins to prepare cooking,

Randy stands aside and asks respectfully, "Miss Miller, don't you need two chefs to help you?"

Ask the chefs to help her? Help her wash and cut vegetables and deliver things?

The chefs in Aaron's villa are skilled enough to work at five-star hotels. It will be a disservice to make these prestigious chefs assist an entry-level cook like her.

Katrina quickly shakes her head. "No, Randy. I can do it myself."

A person in an ordinary family can do all the dishes alone without someone's help. Katrina is used to doing everything on her own. When she cooks, she's always on her own.

"Well, Miss Miller, I'll go out first. If there's anything you want, you can call me at any time."

Randy gives Katrina some room to make her feel at ease while she cooks.

Katrina smiles. "Okay, Randy."

Her menu consists of stewed beef with potatoes, pork ribs with garlic, Mapo tofu, stir-fried eggs with fungus, and a yam stew chicken soup.

She washes and cuts the vegetables, then turns on the stove and pours oil into a pan. She multitasks the entire time, never spending an idle moment.

An hour later, she's filled with a sense of accomplishment when she sees her dishes.

Randy comes in and smells the aroma of the dishes she prepared. He can't help but praise, "They smell so good! You're so virtuous, Miss Miller!"

Although five-star restaurant chefs are highly skilled in cooking and can cook dishes full of flavors and colors, the food they make always feels like it came in a hotel or restaurant. Overeating might make one nauseous.

But home-cooked food is different. Although it looks ordinary, no matter how much people eat, they will never feel bad.

The aroma also makes people feel the comfort of a home.

Hearing Randy's praise, Katrina's pretty face bursts into a smile as she hands Randy a pair of chopsticks.

"Randy, have a

try and tell me how it tastes."

Good dishes should definitely be shared with others.

The greatest gratification for a cook is someone else's praise for their dishes.

Although Randy gets hungry from the delicious aroma, he still refuses, "No, no, Miss Miller. I'll give you a lunch box to pack it in. Please give it to Mr. Wilson."

Mr. Wilson hasn't even tasted it, how dare he take the first bite?

At Randy's rejection, Katrina doesn't insist. Although in her eyes, Randy is a gentle and kind elder, he's not Aaron's

relative. He's just Aaron's servani. It's Randy's duty not to offend him.

With Randy's help, Katrina takes the dishes and puts them in an insulated cooler.

86 Chapter 86 Winning His Favor

Katrina goes to Aaron's company by car under the escort of Aaron's heelers.

Meanwhile, Aaron picks up the ringing phone in his office. A voice from the front desk comes, "Mr.

Wilson, a lady named

Victoria Roberts, is here to see you."

Victoria?

What's she doing here?

Aaron frowns and finally says, "Let her in."

Then he hangs up the phone.

Before long, there's a sound of high-heeled shoes tapping on the floor. Victoria comes in with a box of desserts. She has a gentle smile on her beautifully made-up face. "Aaron," she greets.

Aaron raises his head from his work, and he smiles politely. "Miss Roberts, what brings you here today?"

Victoria walks into the office and shows the box of desserts in her hand. "Aaron, I've brought you dessert."

Aaron asks his secretary to prepare a cup of tea for Victoria.

Victoria sits on the sofa with a shy smile on her face. "Aaron, I'm really happy you liked the dessert I made." Chapter 87: Visiting Aaron

If Victoria hadn't mentioned it, Aaron would've forgotten about the dessert.

He casually told her just to send over desserts to his office, but Victoria actually came. Although he wasn't the one who liked her dessert, Aaron never accepts something without giving anything in return.

Aaron says, "Lucy, bring Miss Roberts the Luwak coffee from the last auction."

"Yes, Mr. Wilson."

A short time later, the secretary comes up to Victoria with a small fancy box and hands it to her respectfully. "Miss Roberts, here you go."

Victoria looks surprised at the box. "Aaron, it's too expensive!"

Luwak coffee, also known as Kopi Luwak, comes from Indonesia. It's extremely expensive because of low production. Authentic Luwak coffee is even more valuable for its scarcity. Ordinary people can't buy it easily even if they offer high prices.

The box of coffee Aaron is giving her was sold at the auction for several hundred thousand dollars. It's much more expensive than her dessert.

Aaron smiles. "Miss Roberts, this is a little something for you. Please take it."

He doesn't like owing people, especially women. As the saying goes, courtesy begets reciprocity. It's his custom to give something back when given a gift.

Hearing Aaron's words, Victoria finally accepts the coffee. "Then I'll take it."

Victoria's face is radiant, and happiness fills her heart. She's surprised that Aaron would give her his precious coffee.

Is he giving her this gift because he knows that she likes coffee? It seems that he actually considers her in his heart.

Victoria feels elated at the thought.

Although there's always a nettlesome woman following Aaron around, the cunning woman will certainly seduce Aaron first.

If not for the tramp, Aaron would be hers now!

Victoria's determination is renewed as she holds the box of valuable coffee tightly in her hands. She's not going to give up

Aaron to another woman no matter what. She has to find a way to help him get rid of the woman. Aaron can only be hers!

Just then, Victoria's phone begins to ring.

She takes her phone out of her bag and sees her father's name on the screen.

"Aaron. I'll go out and take this call." Victoria says and walks out on her high heels.

Her hand holding the phone is decorated with bright red nail polish, making her look like a budding lady.

Outside the company, an upscale car stops at the entrance. Katrina gets off and looks at the towering office building in front of her in awe

This is the first time that Katrina comes to Aaron's workplace. As expected, his company is located in an expansive

AT Chapter 87 Visiting Aaron district

"Give them to me, I'll go in myself."

Katrina takes the two heavy insulated kegs from Aaron's heeler and heads inside.

As Katrina walks in, the young receptionist smiles politely and asks, "Miss, who are you looking for?"

Katrina also smiles at her. "Aaron Wilson."

Mr. Wilson?

At the response, surprise flashes on the receptionist's face.

Does another woman want to see Mr. Wilson?

She heard that the last woman, Miss Roberts, is the daughter's mayor.

Who is this woman?

Compared to the glamorous and extravagant Victoria, Katrina looks a bit plain.

She's wearing a simple dress and a pair of canvas shoes. She doesn't have any makeup on her face, and her sleek black hair is neither formed nor dyed.

Although Katrina's closet is full of gorgeous and expensive clothes, she always wears the most basic attire when she goes out. It's simple and comfortable.

Many women are coming to the office every day, vying to get into a relationship with Mr. Wilson. Who is she?

The receptionist lady smiles hesitantly. "Do you have an appointment?"

Katrina freezes.

An appointment?

To surprise Aaron, she didn't call him before her arrival.

"I'm sorry. Mr. Wilson is very busy. I can't let you in if you don't have an appointment." The young receptionist smiles apologetically Katrina understands that the receptionist is just doing her job.

After all, as the President of the company. Aaron is busy with his work that no one would expect him to see someone without an appointment.

And the most important job of the receptionist is to filter out unimportant miscellaneous people, so Katrina is also questioning as a matter of course.

Pulling out her cell phone, Katrina presses the speed dial and immediately calls Aaron.

Getting a call from Katrina for the first time. Aaron is surprised. "Hello"

Katrina turns around and whispers. "Aaron, I'm downstairs at your office. Could you please ask your receptionist to let me

"You're downstairs at the company lobby?"

87 Chapter 87 Visiting Aaron

Hearing Katrina's words, Aaron straightens up in his seat. He checks the GPS and sees that the red dot is indeed near him, only ten meters away.

"I see."

Aaron immediately picks up the landline and makes an internal call. "Let her in! And have someone bring her to my office!"

The receptionist who gets Aaron's call nervously nods. "Yes, Mr. Wilson, I'll take her up."

After hanging up the phone, the front desk lady's attitude towards Katrina immediately becomes enthusiastic. She looks at

Katrina with a warm smile and says, "Miss, please follow me."

Noticing the insulation barrels Katrina is carrying, she graciously takes them. "I'll carry them for you."

The receptionist can't be blamed for her sudden change of attitude towards Katrina.

When Mr. Wilson heard that Victoria was coming earlier, he hesitated a bit before letting her in, and his tone was a little cold.

But when Katrina called him, he immediately called the front desk and told her to take Katrina up. Even his tone was quite different.

Of course, the receptionist would feel that Katrina must be someone important, so she doesn't dare offend her easily.

A few minutes later, Katrina follows the receptionist to the President's office.

Katrina takes the coolers from the receptionist and thanks to her.

The young girl feels extremely flattered, and hurriedly says, "It's my duty."

When the receptionist leaves, only Katrina and Aaron are left in the office.

At the sight of Katrina, Aaron's handsome facial lines unconsciously soften, and his eyes become tender.

"What brings you

here?"

It must be quite a surprise for Aaron to see Katrina in his office right now.

Chapter 88: Her Sudden Affection

As Katrina lifts the coolers in her hands, she smiles and walks towards him. "Aaron. I brought you lunch." As she speaks, she walks to the sofa and puts the coolers on the coffee table. She opens them and brings out the dishes one by one

The four dishes, soup, and rice seem unusually hearty,

Lunch?

Surprise flashes on Aaron's face. He gets up from his armchair and walks straight to the sofa.

It doesn't seem like the usual dishes made by the cook. Compared to a professional chef's cooking, Katrina's dishes aren't as exquisite. After all, a five-star chef can make a plate of shredded potatoes with each slice consistently thin.

Aaron's eyes flicker strangely. He asks softly, "You made all this?"

"That's right." Katrina hands Aaron a pair of chopsticks. "Aaron, try them." She told him while showing her sweet smile.

Katrina comes from his distant villa to deliver him lunch that she made herself. Even though it's just an ordinary home-cooked meal, Aaron's heart was filled with joy beyond words,

With a faint smile on his handsome face, he wraps his arms around her.

He always tries his best to be nice to her. She seems to hide away whenever he pressures her.

Although he's never loved nor coaxed anyone before, buying Katrina things seems the easiest way for him to show his affection for her.

Unexpectedly, he receives this response today without any reason from her.

She cooks for him herself. This simple act of kindness she showed towards him somewhat moved his heart.

Her sudden care makes Aaron want to keep her in his arms and love her deeply.

Aaron bends over and kisses Katrina's lips with a faint smile in his eyes. "What gave you the idea to cook for me today?"

Aaron's eyes filled with love and ambiguous intimate affection that make Katrina's face involuntarily red as if a fire is burning

Katrina doesn't dare to look Aaron in the eye. "There's nothing to do at home every day, so I practiced cooking and made some dishes for you.

Her boredom gave her the idea to cook for him and bring the dishes to him from a long distance?

He likes this explanation

It spurs Katrina's thoughts about him when he's away from home. He wondered.

Aaron originally thought that Katrina only felt instinctive rejection for him. Because she couldn't escape, she gradually became accustomed to being submissive to him.

Suddenly discovering that he's in her heart, a burst of joy naturally overwhelms him
Is she starting to like him? He silently thought
It's a good start
His efforts of being nice to her these days are finally rewarded.
It seems that women really have to be pampered.
Katrina can't stand Aaron's intense gaze and pushes him slightly. "Aaron, the food is going to get cold.
Try them."
Aaron holds Katrina in his arms, eyes focused on her pretty face, and lingering on her pink lips. He speaks in the low and alluring voice, "Before I eat, I want an appetizer."
An appetizer?
When Katrina brought the meal, she found a box of desserts on the coffee table.
She gullibly assumes that he wants to eat the dessert. "Oh, which one do you want? I'll give it to you."
Before she can get out of his arms, Aaron wraps his arms tighter around her, bends over her, and kisses her lips.
He conveys all the joy and the love he feels in the deep kiss, It's intense and earnest, yet careful. It's as if he's tasting the most delicious dessert in the world, and he's loath to swallow and let it go.
Katrina's face turns red as he continues kissing her. It goes on long enough that her neck starts to hurt.
She puts her hands
on Aaron's chest and pushes him hard.
At last, Aaron reluctantly releases her. His breathtaking handsome face shows a hint of satisfaction and a rare smile.
Now that he's tasted the appetizer, it's time to try the dishes she made for him.
Aaron sits on the couch and takes the chopsticks.
Sitting beside Aaron, Katrina's face is full of shame as she indignantly fixes her large watery eyes at him.
She inwardly feels cheated.
He says he wants an appetizer, but he suddenly kisses her!
It's too much
Seeing the dessert, Katrina can't move her eyes away or stop herself from salivating. She asks, "Aaron, can I have the dessert?"
"Of course," he says.
He'll give her everything without hesitation, even if she asks him for a villa and a luxury car, not to mention a box of desserts.
In all these years, he's seldom felt as cheerful as he does today.
With Aaron's approval, Katrina happily picks up a dessert and takes a bite. The sweet filling instantly transfers to her mouth and fills her with indescribable happiness.
Aaron eating Katrina's lunch and Katrina eating the dessert on the table paints a harmonious picture.
"Aaron!" a sweet female voice calls as Victoria pushes the door from the outside.

At the sound, Katrina unconsciously looks to the door. When her eyes meet Victoria's, they're both stunned, Katrina is surprised. Why is Victoria here?
Suddenly noticing a woman's handbag on the sofa, she realizes that Victoria must have come earlier.
That means Victoria
must have brought the dessert on the table.
That must be the case.
Katrina thought that the box of desserts is for entertaining Aaron's guests. She doesn't expect it to be...
She feels a little awkward to be caught by Victoria, eating the dessert that she brought for Aaron.
Victoria must hate her.
Regarding the half-eaten dessert in her hand, Katrina can neither eat nor put it down. She feels disgraceful.
The moment Victoria sees Katrina, her face fills with shock, to be replaced by anger.
The woman is eating the dessert that she made for Aaron!
Aaron hasn't even touched her dessert. Instead, he's eating the food that the woman brought for him!
Damned tramp! She's really nettlesome enough to show up at the office!

Chapter 89: Extremely Deceitful

Katrina breaks the awkward silence first, "Miss Roberts, I made some dishes. Would you like to try some?"
Victoria's pretty face is full of rage, and she grits through her teeth, "No need!"
Eat the dishes that the tramp made? She feels like she's going to get sick, Victoria's heart burns with anger, What concoction did this bitch feed Aaron to make her stay with him?
The innocent and harmless appearance is extremely deceitful.
Victoria walks over in her high heels and picks up her bag,
She feels a twinge in her heart at the scene, Since her father suddenly called for her, she can't stay any longer,
Glaring at Katrina, Victoria bids Aaron goodbye. "Aaron, I'll come back another day," Aaron doesn't ask her to stay. He just nods his head casually
After Victoria leaves, Katrina feels slightly uncomfortable, She feels the hatred in Victoria's eyes,
It seems she came at the wrong time today.
Unintentionally, she bumps into Victoria and most likely disrupted her private time with Aaron.
No wonder Victoria hates her so much.
As a girl, Katrina knows well enough that Victoria likes Aaron, Victoria always comes to visit Aaron from time to time to try to get closer to him, but she always unintentionally appears and stirs up trouble.
In the midst of Katrina's thoughts, Aaron looks up at her. "What are you thinking about?"
"I... "Katrina speaks carefully, "Miss Roberts doesn't seem to like me."
Aaron's eyes grow darker to hear her soft and waxy voice, which seems a little sullen,
Although Victoria didn't dare behave too presumptuously in front of him, she wasn't very friendly to Katrina either.
Especially during the banquet, when Victoria pushed Katrina into the pool. Her actions that night further illustrated her hatred for Katrina.

Although Aaron has long been dissatisfied with Victoria because of this, she's still the mayor's daughter.

He doesn't want to ruin his relationship with the mayor and behave disrespectfully,

Otherwise, he wouldn't even spare the time to indulge her.

Since he found out the truth, he began to fight back for his woman,

With one arm around Katrina's shoulder, Aaron rams her into his arms. "I love you. That's enough, and it doesn't matter

how she feels"

His voice is deep and powerful, and she can feel the warmth of his chest as he breathes against her,

89 Chapter 89 Extremely Deceitful

Even Katrina, who meant to leave a good impression, unconsciously turns red, and her heartbeat suddenly quickens.

She gets the feeling of being loved.

From childhood to adulthood, few people aside from her dead father would care about her like Aaron.

It's as if he wants to shield her from all the danger and gossip.

At that moment, how could Katrina be indifferent?

Katrina almost becomes obsessed with his gentleness. But she soon calms herself down.

She came over to please Aaron and give him the impression that she's willing to stay. To put it bluntly, she came to light

the fire and fanned the smoke to delude him.

How could she succumb to him and lose herself to his sugar coated bullets?

No, she has to remain strong and immune. She has to pretend that nothing happened.

After all, Aaron is the great villain who imprisoned her against her will. For her freedom, her future life, and her spirit,

she must fight him to the end.

As Katrina struggles in her heart, Aaron suddenly releases her from his embrace. With a slight frown on his face, he demands, "Katrina! Why aren't you jealous to see another woman in my office?"

When Victoria walked in after her phone call, he didn't see anything wrong in Katrina's face. On the contrary, she asked

Victoria to stay for a meal!

Aaron couldn't help grinding his teeth at the memory of seeing Victoria at a pet store, Katrina told him back then that they made a good match.

This stupid, unreasonable woman!

She isn't jealous or angry at all. She doesn't care for him in her heart in any way.

Whenever she even glances at another guy, he wants to make that man disappear. But she has no feelings about him being in the presence of another woman.

Is she still trying to push him towards someone else?

Aaron's question puzzles, Katrina's mind,

“Er...”

She feels really tired.

As expected, Aaron’s character is unpredictable and outrageous. She was almost touched by his aggressive hug earlier. But now, he immediately changes his expression.

Just a moment ago, Katrina was only embarrassed and felt no jealousy. The bitter emotion was something she didn’t feel.

“As a matter of fact, a little bit.” Katrina has to answer defiantly.

Aaron’s face goes darker. “Just a little?”

She still doesn’t care much about him?

Looking at Aaron’s somber and slightly terrifying face, Katrina feels oppressed by him. She’s powerless to resist him and unable to escape.

Aaron grits his teeth and says coldly, “Think about how you can compensate me!”

Compensate him?

Katrina feels a bit wronged and retorts, “If you made me jealous, you should be the one to make it up to me! How could you expect me to make it up to you?”

His logic is completely twisted!

Hearing Katrina’s words, Aaron immediately smiles. His handsome face is like a sudden clearing after a storm, dazzling and captivating enough to prevent people from looking away

Even Katrina is almost seduced by his beauty. Her eyes blur for a moment before she suddenly comes to herself.

Aaron’s thin lips open gently. “Fine.” he says slowly.

Watching the smile on his lips and feeling his searing gaze, Katrina suddenly feels something is wrong

Sure enough, Aaron pins her down on the couch in the next instant. Anticipating his next move, Katrina quickly pushes him away. “Aaron, what are you doing?”

Is this his compensation? Why does she feel like he’s punishing her?

“Of course, this is my compensation.” Aaron says.

Gentle and domineering, he bends over her and kisses her lips. Long fingers slip into her clothes and caress her body

“Aaron... Let me go...”

They’re in the office, he’s too brazen and unscrupulous!

If someone comes in now, she would feel mortified for herself.

His employees might assume that she’s the one seducing their boss in the office

90 Chapter 90: Victoria’s Offer

“Aaron, stop!”

It takes a lot of effort for Katrina to push Aaron away from her.

When she gets up from the sofa, she already looks a bit scruffy, and her long silky hair is a little messy.

If she hadn’t been so determined to resist, Aaron would’ve dared take things further with her in the office.

While Katrina tidies up her clothes, she suddenly catches Aaron's half-smile and burning eyes. She's surprised, wary that the dangerous man will consume her and wipe her clean.

"Aaron, take your time. I'll go back first."

Katrina doesn't dare look him in the eye. She hurriedly bids him goodbye and runs away quickly.

As Aaron watches the slender fleeing figure, a slight smile appears on his handsome and charming face.

His eyes fill with unspoken love.

The food on the table is getting cold, but he doesn't waste a bite.

It's the first time that Katrina cooked for him herself.

The ordinary home-cooked meal she made seems more delicious.

One of the dishes is sprinkled with some coriander to add flavor. But Aaron hates coriander the most. He picks the coriander out of the dish and finishes the rest.

Katrina runs out of Aaron's office and goes downstairs.

She came over to deliver dishes to Aaron, but she almost got eaten by him as a dish. Although he didn't succeed, she was still taken advantage of several times.

Why does she feel molested?

Fortunately, she succeeded in winning him over.

Aaron was in a good mood when she left, so her efforts weren't in vain.

As soon as Katrina walks out the entrance, Aaron's heelers who have been waiting outside immediately come over to greet her. "Miss Miller."

Katrina nods at them as she prepares to get into the car when a red Porsche next to her blows its horn.

Looking up, she sees the car window rolling down.

Victoria's arm drapes over the window, and her red lips part, "Miss Miller, I need to talk to you."

Katrina is surprised. She thought that Victoria had already left.

"Miss Miller." Before Katrina responds, the heelers call her name worriedly.

After all, Victoria is the mayor's daughter, who grew up spoiled and had a strong personality,

The heelers are afraid that Victoria will cause trouble for Katrina. It would put them in a dilemma if they should help

Katrina or not

Katrina smiles at them reassuringly "I'm going to ask Miss Roberts how to make dessert. Could you wait for me here I'll come back soon."

When hearing this, the two heelers exchange looks before finally nodding in agreement

Maybe they're worrying too much.

Perhaps the two ladies really do have something to talk about.

After all, Miss Miller is alone in a foreign country, with no relatives, close friends, or even a female friend she can talk to.

Some topics are only suitable to discuss with another woman. It may be a good way for Miss Miller to communicate with a peer.

They just need to make sure not to let Miss Miller out of their sight.

Katrina gets into the passenger seat of the red Porsche, and the two men wait outside patiently.

Katrina turns to look at Victoria. "Miss Roberts, can you close the window?"

She knows that Victoria doesn't like her. She most likely stayed behind because she's angry to see her close relationship with Aaron.

Luckily, Katrina also has something to tell Victoria that isn't convenient to be overheard by someone else.

Victoria's pretty face flickers with a little shock when she hears Katrina's request. But she soon composes herself and closes all the windows.

Victoria didn't find her for a friendly chat. She is more unwilling than Katrina to let Aaron's heelers hear her. She thought that Katrina would be reluctant, but she doesn't expect her to get into the car and ask to close the windows,

As soon as the windows are closed, Victoria says aggressively, "Katrina, although I don't know where you came from. I can tell you clearly that a man like Aaron would never love a woman like you.

"No matter what method you use to seduce and confuse his heart, he's only temporarily interested in you. When he gets tired of you, he's sure to throw you away. Be sensible, and leave him already! Don't wait for the time when you'll end up in tears!"

Victoria's voice grows louder and louder as she rants. By the end, she's grilling the words through her teeth.

Katrina is unimpressed with Victoria's threat. "Thanks for the reminder, Miss Roberts."

Seeing Katrina's calm attitude, Victoria's eyes flash with anger.

Victoria just started a quarrel with the woman sitting beside her. She doesn't expect the woman to be so calm and patient. She gets the feeling that all her attacks would only hit soft cotton.

Holding back her anger, Victoria says. "A woman like you who keeps throwing herself at Aaron has only one goat his money. How much do you want?"

"Miss Roberts, I don't want your money."

"You!" In the face of Katrina's refusal, Victoria suddenly loses her temper, and her tone becomes sharp.

90 Chapter 90 Victoria's Offer

"Although Aaron may protect you now when he isn't by your side, I can kill you as easily as killing an ant!

While I'm in the mood to talk to you now, you'd better be sensible so that you won't endeavor for nothing!"

The whole time Victoria is angry, Katrina is calm and reserved.

"Miss Roberts, I don't want your money, but I do have something to ask you."

What can be more important than money for Katrina?

She'll most likely seize the chance and ask for an exorbitant price.

Although she's distraught, Victoria holds her anger and says disdainfully, "Tell me!"

She wants to know what Katrina wants.

"Miss Roberts, I know you like Aaron and regard me as your imaginary rival, but I'm telling you now that I don't want to stay with Aaron at all."

She doesn't want to stay with Aaron?

Upon hearing this, Victoria's eyebrows furrowed in confusion.

"What do you mean?"

91 Chapter 91: Her Ally

Katrina gathers her thoughts and begins her story.

"I'm not from here, Miss Roberts. My home is in Abbe. Over a month ago, my best friend and I came to visit Hadley.

"At that time, Aaron lost something very important by accident. His heelers mistook me as the thief and took me to him forcibly. I didn't even know what he had lost. Despite my explanations, he wouldn't believe me or let me go.

"I was imprisoned for days, and there was no update regarding the theft. I couldn't wait, so I attempted to run away in secret. But you know how powerful Aaron is. The entire city is full of his men. I don't even qualify as an opponent as a weak woman.

"In the end, instead of escaping, I was punished severely. I was thrown in the rain for two hours, which almost cost me my life."

"Miss Roberts," Katrina suddenly looks up to Victoria, her beautiful eyes full of sincerity. "Though you may think I'm sentimental, to tell you the truth, I dream of leaving this place and going back to my country. I want to go home.

"But I can't stand up to Aaron. The more I act like I want to leave, the more trouble I get into. Whenever I go out, his heelers follow me wherever I go. I honestly don't know how to get out.

"Miss Roberts, since you like Aaron, will you help me get out of here? I don't really know anyone else here, everybody around me reports to Aaron. I don't even have anyone to turn to, and I'm at a complete loss with what to do. I haven't told anyone any of this besides you."

After hearing Katrina's story, Victoria's well-groomed face is full of incredulity. "Are you telling the truth?"

Katrina raises her right hand solemnly. "I swear it. If I've lied in any way, you can punish me. However, you wish."

Victoria seriously contemplates on the authenticity of everything Katrina told her. Her story really fits with everything she's learned so far.

First, she can't find any information about Katrina in Hadley, which means she does not belong here. As Katrina said, she's a foreigner from Abbe.

Second, she overheard Aaron's heeled shoes that Aaron's birthday gift to her father had been stolen but was quickly found.

Katrina said she was mistaken as a thief, and Aaron refused to let her go. It seems he's hiding from her that the real thief has been found.

Third, while it was raining heavily during her father's birthday, Aaron answered a phone call and hurried away, saying that his cat got ill. Katrina said she was thrown in the rain for two hours, nearly costing her her life.

Apparently, Aaron's sick cat turns out to be her.

And finally, although she's been nothing but malicious to Katrina and regards her as a rival out to steal her man, Katrina has never been impolite or acted harshly towards her. If she really wants to hook up with Aaron, she should be prouder about relying on Aaron's favor. Why does she keep staying out of it?

After much thought, Victoria finally decides to believe Katrina.

Katrina is desperate about wanting to leave voluntarily.

91 Chapter 01 Het Ally

Victoria's previously sharp tone finally fades. "How can I help you?"

"My passport, ID, mobile phone, wallet, and everything I own has been confiscated by Aaron. Now I have nothing. Even if I manage to escape from him by luck, I cannot return to my country, and I'll still end up caught again.

"Your father is the mayor, Miss Miller. I was hoping you could change my identity and get me a fake ID and passport. It won't be difficult, would it?"

Victoria nods. "A piece of cake." she agrees.

Katrina's face lights up. "That's great! I'll get rid of Aaron's men and get away from him. When I do, please send me to the airport."

Victoria can't wait to get Katrina out of Aaron's side so she can have a chance to swoop in.

They soon come to an agreement on the matter.

Victoria digs out a piece of paper from her bag and quickly writes an address before handing it to Katrina. "If you manage to escape, go here and find the manager, Mr. Scott. Say you want to see me, and he'll get someone to help you leave."

Although this bar isn't under Victoria's name, it's a joint venture between her and Benjamin. It's open 24 hours a day, and there's a large flow of people, so it's a safe place for their plan.

Katrina takes the card and memorizes the address before returning it to Victoria with a smile on her face. "Thank you,

Miss Roberts I've memorized the address."

If Aaron finds it by accident, it's going to cause a lot of trouble.

Victoria nods. "Okay."

"Thanks for teaching me how to make dessert, Miss Roberts." Katrina deliberately says when she gets out of the car.

On the way back, Katrina feels a lot more relaxed.

Because she was alone in her struggles against Aaron, it's more complicated. But she now has an ally in Victoria. She'll be able to solve her problems this time.

Asking Victoria for help has always been the best option. She's wanted to do it for a long time, but Victoria's always been so hostile to her that she could never find a chance to talk to her. This time, she was able to tell Victoria everything about herself, including her secret desire to escape.

Victoria is sure to do her best to help her.

After all, Victoria will benefit the most from her departure. Once she leaves, the position of Aaron's woman becomes vacant, and Victoria will have a chance to develop her relationship with Aaron further.

Unexpectedly, the person she could rely on the most was the person who despised her.

Aaron would never imagine that she and Victoria would agree on this.

He would never think that Katrina, who seems so clever and sensible, is quietly plotting her escape.

92 Chapter 92: What's This Strange Thing?

That evening, Katrina goes to the bathroom and starts to run the bathwater.

When she bends over to test the temperature of the water, the phone in her jacket pocket suddenly falls into the bathtub.

"Oh, no!" Katrina quickly scoops the phone out of the tub, grabbing a towel to wipe the water from the outside.

If the phone isn't waterproof and breaks because of this, she will get into trouble.

Katrina has a feeling that the motherboard is fried, so she doesn't dare turn it off at will. She carefully opens the back cover to check if there's any water in it.

Fortunately, there are no traces of water inside, and it looks completely dry. It doesn't seem to have any problem.

Katrina breathes a long sigh of relief.

Just as she's about to replace the back cover, she notices a small chip attached to the battery.

What's this strange thing?

Katrina looks at it carefully and sees nothing different or wrong with it.

Maybe it's an important part of the cell phone.

Without thinking more about it, she puts the chip back, replaces the back cover of the phone, and takes her change of clothes into the bathroom.

After her shower, Katrina sits at the dresser and blows her hair with a hairdryer.

She carelessly drops the comb to the ground. Bending over to pick it up, she feels her hand holding the hairdryer being grasped by a big warm hand.

When Katrina subconsciously turns her head after a short moment of surprise, she sees Aaron standing behind her. She doesn't know when he came in.

Standing tall and straight, he looks dignified and languid in a family suite.

Aaron stares into her face, spontaneously taking the hairdryer in her hand. "Sit down. I'll dry your hair."

Hearing Aaron's words, Katrina's eyes almost fell off from surprise.

Is he going to dry her hair?

While Katrina looks surprised and unimpressed, Aaron helplessly turns the back of her head towards him.

He takes her hair lightly with his long fingers and dries it with the warm air.

In the mirror, Katrina can clearly see that the man standing behind her is dedicated to drying her hair despite his lack of skill. She suddenly feels hof as uncertainty builds up.

Katrina always thought that besides a hairdresser, a man who dries and combs a woman's hair is either a father or a boyfriend

But now..

02 Chapter 92 What's This Strange Thing?

Katrina realizes that many of the romantic and pleasant things that she fantasize about doing with a boyfriend, she had unconsciously done with Aaron.

Aaron moves lightly, afraid of hurting her.

Her long silky hair flows between his fingertips, smooth and soft.

For the first time, Aaron enjoys the sensation of drying her hair, which is a little cool after her shower.

His fingers linger in her hair.

"Aaron, that's enough." Katrina already feels sleepy, and even her scalp feels numb, so she immediately asks Aaron to stop.

He's so childish for playing with a girl's hair for so long.

Hearing this. Aaron turns off the hairdryer and reluctantly removes his fingers from her hair.

When Katrina stands up, Aaron suddenly bends over and cradles her in his arms. "All right, let's play a more interesting game."

He prefers something else to play with her hair anyway.

Noticing Aaron's tone, Katrina understands what he means by playing a game.

Her little face turns red in an instant, and she looks up at Aaron for mercy. "Aaron, how about taking a day off?"

She's had a tough time since he began taking her body forcibly.

Like an addict, he's made bullying her in bed a regular evening ritual. Not a day goes by where Katrina gets a reprieve.

There's no way Katrina can tolerate this endless bullying every day. Therefore, every night before bedtime is bargain time.

Aaron stares at her with a slight frown before he mercilessly rejects, "No."

Today in the company, he couldn't help wanting to have her. He was just afraid she would be shy, so he did not force her.

Now that they're home in the evening smelling her freshly showered fragrance leaves him wanting more.

Katrina continues to coax him, "Aaron, tomorrow is the weekend."

Even if he has time to rest from work, he's not afraid of excessive indulgence. It could lead to physical collapse.

Aaron ponders on Katrina's words before making a decision, "Thanks for reminding me. That means we have more time and can do more rounds on the weekend tomorrow."

Katrina is dumbfounded, not expecting his logic.

Her pretty little face suddenly droops. Instead of begging more, she purses her lips and gives him a hateful look.

instead of being deterred by the look in her eyes, Aaron bends down and kisses her mouth while carrying her to the soft bed.

Just as Aaron is about to take things further, Katrina notices something red on his neck.

Surprised, Katrina subconsciously thinks it's a hickey.

It's the first time for Katrina to see something like that on Aaron, 92 Chapter 92. What's This Strange Thing?

Although she thinks she sees wrong, she reaches down to tug at his neckline. She sees several traces all over his chest, and there seems to be more under his shirt.

Katrina almost suffocates, her clear and beautiful face is suddenly devoid of all expression.

Seeing another woman's marks on him, Katrina somehow feels like she's being doused by a glass of icy water, instantly cooling her from the top of her head to the tips of her feet.

Katrina doesn't think she's jealous.

But...

No sooner has he fallen in love with another woman than he comes to her. What does he regard her for?

How could she bear his touch? The feeling immediately makes her sick with disgust.

Katrina's soft hands, which are pulling Aaron's collar open and touching his skin with her fingertips, causing his body to burn, and Aaron doesn't feel the change in Katrina's mood. There is only an evil fire in his eyes and a wicked smile on his lips.

"Taking the initiative?"

As he moves, Katrina pushes him away with a cold face. "Don't touch me!"

Her cold voice firmly draws a clear line with him.

Before Aaron can react, Katrina gets out of bed and strides away.

Chapter 93: Wrong Jealous

Seeing Katrina's sudden movement, Aaron's face turns serious With furrowed eyebrows. In quickly gratis Katrina WTA

“Where are you going?”

It's the first time that Katrina appears so aloof in front of him, and it pissed him off.

In the past, she would beg for his mercy before he took her.

Every time she begged for mercy, she would pretend to be miserable, roll her eyes at him, glare at him, and call him an

asshole

But this is the first time that she's cold and indifferent.

Why did she suddenly become so cold? He felt agitated and taken aback.

Aaron holds Katrina's pale arm tight enough to prevent her from leaving

Katrina turns away from Aaron and doesn't look back at him. She takes a deep breath, and her voice is as cold as ever

“Aaron, let me go.”

Katrina already feels weak for her imprisonment and for being unable to resist Aaron's advances.

Before, she was the only woman he had. Even if she was helpless, she didn't feel so sad because he was kind to her

But now...

Aaron already has another woman, but he still comes to her.

Is she really just someone to vent his desire within his eyes?

Katrina can't bear his ignorance in this respect.

Knowing he has another woman, she begins to resist him in her heart heavily. Even if he kills her, she won't leap and let him and have sex with her.

Hearing the indifference in Katrina's voice, Aaron knows she's really angry.

What's wrong with this stupid woman! He suddenly felt mad, but he tried to resist his emotion and avoid showing it towards her.

When women have their period, they're said to get a very bad temper. Maybe she has her period?

Despite the burning fire in his heart, Aaron has to put out the fire in the face of Katrina's cold behavior

The ambiguous atmosphere from a few moments ago suddenly turns tense

Aaron doesn't like Katrina's cold, heartless treatment. She's treating him like a stranger without looking back at him

He pulls her into his arms, holding her chin in both hands to make her look at him. With a deep look in his eyes, “Katrina, why are you so angry? Explain clearly.”

Aaron has never been good at coaxing women or reading their minds, Katrina blames so indiscriminately any that he

03 Chapter 03 Wrong Jealous

He can't be bothered trying to guess, so she might as well voice her thoughts directly.

If it's his fault, he will recognize it.

If she's making trouble out of nothing, she'll learn her lesson after he's done with her.

Aaron is so strong that he traps Katrina in his arms and renders her immobile. She has to explain herself while looking straight at him. If she doesn't speak it clearly now, she may be trapped for the whole night.

Subdued by Aaron, Katrina suddenly feels a sense of injustice in her heart. Her eyes immediately turn red.

Even though it's his fault, he still forces and questions her like this.

What should she say?

Isn't she degraded enough?

He's imprisoned her for so long.

As Katrina's eyes turn redder, Aaron becomes shocked. Staring at her black eyes affects him in a way he cannot explain.

He feels aggrieved and heartbroken.

Aaron is utterly devastated by her reaction.

"You're such a crybaby. I didn't hit you or scold you. Why are your eyes getting red?" He feels depressed and helpless.

He just asked her to explain why she's upset, why is she getting angry? Is there something wrong?

Aaron thinks he's given all his patience to Katrina, but she still...

Why did he choose to have a crush on her? Why did he have to love her?

Since Katrina was imprisoned, Aaron has tormented her every time he forces himself on her.

Katrina suppresses the grievance in her heart and restrains her tears. She doesn't want to cry without dignity in front of him. Sniffing, she says almost beseechingly, "Aaron, now that you have another woman, please let me go."

She must be a mere toy to him. But she doesn't want to be a doll that he plays with. She wants to go home and live her own life.

Hearing Katrina's words, Aaron's brow furrows deeper. His face becomes more serious and confused.

What does she mean that he already has another woman?

Aaron twists his eyebrows and looks at Katrina. "Who told you I had another woman?"

Katrina is the only woman he ever had. He never even looks at any other woman.

How did she come to that conclusion? Did someone mention a rumor in front of her? Who's bold enough to spread rumors about him before her?

While Aaron prepares to investigate and deal with the culprit who spread the rumor behind his back, Katrina closes her eyes and points at his chest. "Aaron, do you want me to be clearer?"

No one told her anything. But she's not a fool. She has eyes, and she can see clearly.

Aaron looks down to follow Katrina's finger. When he sees the red traces on his bare chest, he's rendered speechless.

3 Chapter 93 Wrong Jealous

This is the reason she thinks he has another woman? This is the reason she coldly turns against him?

In an instant, Aaron becomes angry. He lowers his head to take a sharp bite out of her lips.

Katrina becomes angrier at the pain. "Aaron, you bit me!"

"Yes, I bit you! You're such a fool! It's not a fucking hickey! I'm allergic to coriander, and you put coriander in my lunch today."

Aaron feels so angry and ridiculous that he can't help saying something rude.

Katrina is shocked to hear Aaron's words.

Is he allergic to coriander?

So the red marks are an allergic reaction?

Upon closer inspection, the marks don't seem like a hickey at all. It turns out to be a misunderstanding. At that moment, Katrina's small face suddenly becomes red. She's eager to find a hole to bury herself into.

To save face, she replies angrily, "Are you an idiot? Why did you eat it if you're allergic?"

94 Chapter 94: Ruthless Woman

Katrina has no idea that Aaron is allergic to coriander. She only put a bit of coriander in one of the dishes she made him for lunch.

He could have just avoided that dish altogether. The rest is enough for him, but he foolishly ate up all the dishes.

Now that Katrina knows the truth, she isn't as upset as she was just now.

On the other hand, Aaron is furious. This ruthless woman who misunderstands him and loses her temper with him dares to laugh at him and call him an idiot.'

He's dependable, silly. Because she made him a meal herself, he felt good the whole day. He's indeed silly for not wanting to waste anything.

Aaron gets very angry, but he also has an inexplicable feeling in his heart.

Katrina mistook him for having another woman and became so angry and jealous like this. It means she actually cares about him in her heart.

If she can keep calm and refrain from asking about him, it would mean that she doesn't care about him. Although he is angry, he is also pleased.

Aaron easily picks up her delicate body, forcibly throws her on the soft and big bed, and presses her onto the mattress.

No amount of discontent only can be justified by action.

As Aaron presses down on her, Katrina looks flustered.

Even if she is very resistant, in the end, she is doomed to sleep with him...

It's been days since Katrina cooked for Aaron.

She doesn't know how things are going with Victoria.

Several days have gone by. Nothing is unusual about Aaron's attitude towards her, which means that he's completely unaware.

It seems that Victoria is keeping its secret well. She must be doing everything she can to help Katrina getaway. After all,

her departure is beneficial to both of them,

Katrina doesn't have Victoria's contact information. She has no contact with anyone besides Aaron.

After thinking about it, she decides to go out and try her luck.

Katrina asks Aaron's heelers to drive her to the most bustling and expensive mall in Hadley City. It's the same place where

Aaron took her to go shopping for the first time.

Famous ladies and celebrities in Hadley City buy clothes in this mall. Maybe she'll run into Victoria here. Katrina wanders slowly through the mall, with two men following her and keeping an eye on her. Since she says she's shopping, she doesn't just wander around casually. Every now and then, she looks at the clothes in the store, picks one or two she likes, and goes into the dressing room to try it on.

When Katrina enters a shop, she touches a dress hanging on a clothing rack. Suddenly a delicate hand with bright red nail polish takes the dress away from her

Katrina looks up in surprise to see Victoria dressed fashionably on high heels, looking at her arrogantly.

"This dress suits

me much better than you"

Katrina is pleasantly surprised at the sight of Victoria.

She glances at the two men following her, who are still standing a short distance away. They're eyeing her like a hawk as if they were afraid that she might get into a conflict with Victoria,

With her back to the two men, Victoria snatches the dress and quickly whispers. "It's all done."

Katrina knows this is Victoria's way of keeping their secret.

Afraid to expose her emotions, she says casually, "But I saw this dress first."

Victoria looks her up and down with her arms folded in disdain. "Are you contending with me?"

She lowers her voice to say, "Go in through the back door of the bar. There's a blind spot in the surveillance cameras there."

At that moment, the clerk of the shop walks over hurriedly to help mediate. "Young lady, our store still has other new styles. Do you want to see the other styles we have?"

The shop only has one dress in this style. If two customers both want it, they can't afford to offend either, so the only option is to try to and resolve the matter most peacefully.

After receiving the useful information from Victoria, Katrina doesn't have to argue with her for the dress. She simply replies, "If Miss Roberts likes it, she can have it."

Then, suppressing her joy, she turns away.

After coming out of the shop, the two heelers follow to ask, "Miss Miller, did Miss Roberts bully you just now?"

"It's just a dress." Katrina smiles. "She can have it if she likes it."

Katrina's character has always been like this. She doesn't like getting into conflict with others, and Aaron's heelers know that she won't fight with Victoria in public because of a dress.

After a few steps, Katrina turns around and says, "By the way, don't tell Aaron about this. I don't want him to get worried

if he finds out"

At Katrina's words, the two men nod. "Yes, Miss Miller."

Even if Katrina doesn't want to fight, Aaron is very protective of her. If Aaron finds out that the dress Katrina likes went to someone else, he wouldn't be easily consoled. He'll find a way to get her the dress she wants. Knowing Aaron's character, the heelers readily accept Katrina's request.

Katrina is really interested in shopping and two hours pass quickly.

Men, by nature, hate shopping more than anything else, and the two men behind Katrina seem listless and less focused.

They just want to sit down and have a good rest.

When they think about it sometimes, they find it to be a pretty strange thing.

44 Chapter 94 Ruthless Woman

Women are so effeminate that sometimes they don't even have the strength to unscrew the lid of the drink. But they can wear high heels and walk around the mall all day.

Men obviously are a lot better than women in physical conditions, but when they accompany women to go shopping for an afternoon, they are physically exhausted.

Luckily, Katrina goes into the washroom they pass by.

The two men are able to sit on a bench outside and catch a moment's rest while they wait for her to come out.

When Katrina enters the bathroom, she's surprised to see a set of light blue cleaner's uniform near the sink.

She remembers Victoria telling her that everything is all done.

As long as she can escape Aaron's control, Victoria will send her back at any time.

And Katrina is definitely eager to go back.

A bold idea suddenly comes to her.

Katrina contemplates taking the chance to sneak away.

She will never get the chance to succeed without a bold attempt. She knows that the two men tailing her are so exhausted.

They probably won't find out

Chapter 95: She Disappeared

At the thought, Katrina quickly picks up the clothes and goes into a cubicle.

Two minutes later, Katrina steps out of the compartment in different clothes. She is dressed in pale blue cleaner's overalls, with a long coat and a pair of long trousers wrapped tightly around her body. A large white mask covers most of her face. She looks like a cleaner with a plain cap on her head.

Katrina stands in front of the mirror and takes a deep breath.

Even if her best friend Farrah stands in front of her, she may not recognize her.

She takes a moment to relax her mind. As long as she doesn't act unusual, she won't be discovered. She just needs to hold on so she can get out.

Her success or failure will depend on it.

Katrina presses the brim of her cap down and goes out of the bathroom, pushing the cleaning trolley next to her,
Seeing someone coming out of the washroom, the men sitting on the chair take a subliminal look.
Seeing a cleaner exit,
they quickly relax again and find nothing unusual.
Katrina pushes the trolley past them and occasionally stops to clean up the dirt on the floor until she's completely out of their sight. She pushes the cleaning trolley in a corner and sprints into the elevator, heading straight to the first floor.
It's strange for her to run on the street in a cleaning suit. When Katrina leaves the mall, she walks into a fast-food restaurant to change back into her clothes in the washroom. Then she follows Victoria's directions to go to the address of the bar she was given beforehand.
Penniless, Katrina, can't take a taxi.
Fortunately, the bar is not far away from here. If she walks there, it will take her half an hour. She can only hope that Aaron won't realize she's missing and find her so quickly.
With no one behind her, Katrina is in a good mood.
She can't help feeling elated at the thought of finally leaving this place and returning home. She can finally see her good friends, her colleagues, and her family. She will finally be able to get rid of Aaron, and will never be bothered by him again.
Just thinking about it makes her happy and pleased.
Of course, she is inevitably a bit nervous.
It's been ten minutes, and Aaron hasn't called her yet. Does that mean he hasn't found out about her sneaking away?
Great. She just needs to keep going. She will arrive soon.
Meanwhile, two men have been waiting for a long time outside the bathroom in the mall. But Katrina still does not appear.
Fifteen minutes have passed.
Even if Katrina has diarrhea she should be out by now
The two men look at each other, getting a strange feeling.
There is only one exit for the bathroom. They have been sitting outside, keeping a careful look at anyone who goes out.
but they still don't see Katrina,
Is she sick? What happened to her in the washroom?
The two men quickly begin to worry about her.
just then, a middle-aged woman walks out of the washroom.
The two men hurry over to her and ask, "Madam, is there a girl in her early twenties inside?"
A girl?
The middle-aged woman shakes her head. "I didn't see any girls. There's no one inside."
Hearing the middle-aged woman's response, both of the two heelers are in a fluster and quickly ask, "Madam, is it possible that you are mistaken? Could you please have a look again?"
How can it be empty? Katrina never came out after she went in.

The woman tells them firmly, "I saw that there is no one inside."

After the middle-aged woman leaves, one of the men clenches his teeth and says to the other, "Wait outside, I'll go in and have a look."

With that, he enters the ladies' room.

It is very quiet in the washroom. He searches each compartment, and sure enough, they are all empty, and there is no one inside.

When he comes out of the washroom, the man looks horrified. "This is bad! Miss Miller is missing!"

Aaron told them to follow Katrina in case she sneaks away.

Now that she's gone, how could they show themselves to him?

"You go that way, and I'll go this way. Let's see if Miss Miller went somewhere else."

The two walk around the mall but find no sign of Katrina. They even ask many staff members they pass by, but they all say that they haven't seen her.

Unspeakable panic fills the two heelers.

To avoid further loss, they have to nervously dial Aaron's phone. "Mr. Wilson, we... Miss Miller is missing."

Currently, Aaron is having an important meeting at his company.

He picks up the phone, and his expression freezes at the sudden news. He grits his teeth and growls

lowly, "Explain to me

what you mean by missing."

On the verge of tears, the heeler says, "Just now, Miss Miller said she was going to the washroom. We waited outside for a long time, and she didn't come out. After taking a look inside, we found that she was not inside."

Aaron hangs up with a serious face and gets up from his chair. "The meeting is over!"

With that he walks out without looking back,

95 Chapter 05 She Disappeared

Meanwhile, Katrina is only halfway to the bar.

The closer Katrina gets to the bar, the more uneasy she feels in her heart. Her heart beats quickly. For some reason, she has a constant feeling of panic, like a hunch that something bad is going to happen.

Perhaps she is too nervous.

Suddenly, the phone in her pocket accidentally falls to the ground.

Katrina quickly picks it up. Even though it's useless to keep it when she returns home, it's too early to throw it away.

After all, it's not certain that she will be able to escape.

Wait.

It's been twenty minutes, and Aaron hasn't called her. It seems a bit odd.

Aaron's men must have found out that she is gone by now. The first thing they have to do, besides look for her everywhere, is to report to Aaron immediately.

With Aaron's character, he will call her at the first instant, and anxiously ask for her whereabouts.

There are only two reasons why he hasn't called her.

One, he doesn't care about her leaving. It doesn't matter if she runs away or not.

Two, her whereabouts are completely under his control, and he knows he can find her wherever she goes.

Only the second option could be possible.

Does he know exactly where she is now?
