

AFTER MARRIAGE 63

Chapter 63: 20,000 Yuan for a Year, and 6 Yuan for a Hundred Years

The stewardess leaned down and replied softly with a professional smile on her face, "Ireland."

...

Dublin, Ireland.

4 in the afternoon.

After Xu Youyou and Mo Shenbai walked into the hotel's presidential suite, he allowed Xu Youyou to choose the room first as a gentleman would.

...

At the same time, Pei Chuan and the other higher-up from the company who were staying in another suite settled down as well.

At this time, one of them asked Pei Chuan, "The company doesn't have any business here based on what I know. Did Chairman Mo bring us here because of a new project?"

Earlier, the higher-ups had received a call in the middle of the night, asking them to pack up and head straight to the airport. For that reason, many of their wives were unhappy, wondering if they were having affairs outside.

Pei Chuan, the only person who knew the inside story, cleared his throat before he replied, "Indeed, there's an important matter."

Inwardly, Pei Chuan thought to himself, 'The chairman's personal affair is indeed an important matter!'

The few executives were stunned.

"What is it? What should we do to prepare?"

.....

Under everyone's expectant gazes, Pei Chuan said ambiguously, "Chairman Mo has already made the necessary preparations. We only need to listen to him and cooperate with him over the next few days."

"Alright, we'll definitely cooperate with him."

"Assistant Pei, if you have any insider news, please don't forget to tell us."

Pei Chuan only smiled as he thought to himself, 'I do have insider news, but sadly, I can't say anything.'

...

The next morning.

Mo Shenbai brought Xu Youyou to register their marriage.

Pei Chuan had prepared all the necessary documents for them to register their marriage.

After handing the document to the person behind the counter, he looked at Mo Shenbai and Xu Youyou before he said a long string of words to the duo.

Xu Youyou: “???”

The other party had spoken in Irish so she did not understand a single word. She could only look at Mo Shenbai anxiously.

Mo Shenbai lowered his head and explained, “He asked us to choose the duration of our marriage. There’s a year, ten years, and 100 years. Depending on the years, the fees are different.”

Xu Youyou’s eyes widened. She never knew there was such a thing and found it quite novel. “We can do that?”

Mo Shenbai nodded. “It’s 20,000 yuan for a year, and 6 yuan for 100 years.”

Xu Youyou answered immediately without thinking, “Then, we should definitely choose 100 years! We’ll be a fool if we choose to pay 20,000 yuan for a year of marriage!”

In her opinion, it would not be troublesome for her and Mo Shenbai to return when they wanted to get a divorce. It could be also considered a vacation.

A hint of a smile flitted past Mo Shenbai’s eyes as he said gently, “Alright. 100 years it is...”

Xu Youyou nodded.

Mo Shenbai then turned to look at the staff and told him about their choice in English.

The staff smiled and quickly went through the formalities for them.

Meanwhile, Pei Chuan, who was standing at the side, could only watch helplessly as Mo Shenbai acted like the big bad wolf coaxing a little white rabbit home with only 6 yuan.

‘Chairman Mo, you’re quite wicked...’

After 10 minutes, Mo Shenbai and Xu Youyou finally received their marriage certificate.

When they walked out of the hall, Xu Youyou asked with a smile, “Now that we have the marriage certificate, we can clear your name, right?”

Mo Shenbai’s Adam’s apple rolled slightly as he met her bright gaze. He replied with a casual, “Hm...”

Xu Youyou said excitedly, “That’s great! I can finally help you.”

Mo Shenbai’s lips curled into a smile as he said in a low voice, “You really helped me a lot this time.”