Chapter 1060

James glanced at him and said, "Let's cut the flattery short. I need you to go on a mission."

Blake immediately straightened up and asked, "What kind of mission is it?"

"You were there when I killed the Emperor. He has been secretly researching Gu venom and turned it into a virus to create unkillable superhumans. Now that Madelyn has taken over his job, they must be continuing to research this online. I need you to use the Dark Castle's influence to locate their new research facilities."

Blake's expression immediately turned serious as his lips pulled into a thin line. "James, you think too highly of me. The world is such a big place. Where am I going to find them?"

James said, "According to our analysis, the research base should not be that far from Sol. It's probably in a neighboring country, so you should focus your investigation on neighboring countries. The Dark Castle's network practically encompasses the world.

I'm sure it won't be a big deal for you."

“Alright. I’ll try my best.” Blake nodded. He was still counting on James to give him a set of martial art manuals. So for now, he could only obey James’ orders.

“I need it as soon as possible. Give me a result in three days.”

“That’s impossible.” Blake shook his head and balked.

“Unless you give me a vague location to start looking, three days is nowhere near sufficient. $\text{H}\sigma\text{V}\epsilon\ell\epsilon\text{B}\sigma\sigma\text{K}.\phi\sigma\text{M}$ I’ll have to search the entire globe since you don’t have a location. It’s impossible to find them within three days. I’ll need at least a month.”

“No. One month is way too long. I can’t wait any longer. Do it quickly. I’ll also arrange for other people to aid in your investigation.”

“Fine. I’ll do my best,” Blake complied.

After delivering his mission to Blake, James called the Dragon Palace abroad.

The Elite Eight established the Dragon Palace under his orders.

Their purpose was to establish a new power so that he can get out of future messes in the Capital.

He feared the King would get rid of him after he served his purpose.

After finding a solution to the issues that plagued the Capital, the King could easily get rid of him just like how the previous King got rid of the Owens and Davises. James called May and received the report on the Dragon Palace's recent progress.

The Elite Eight had been cultivating all this while, and some had already managed to cultivate their True Energy. Thus, successfully becoming grandmasters. The Dragon Palace has been operating actively throughout the globe and obtained countless fortunes during this time. It developed a remarkable influence globally in such a short period of time.

James stated his request and asked the Dragon Palace to investigate the research facilities established by Madelyn.

After relaying the order, he hung up the phone.

“James, I’ll take my leave first. Contact me if there is anything else. I’ll report to you as soon as I have news.”

Blake did not linger in the Emperor’s Mansion for long. After bidding farewell to James, he quickly left.

Soon, Thea arrived.

Thea rushed over and hugged James, burying her face into his arms. She pouted and said, "You've been gone for more than a month! I miss you so much!"

"Ahem..."

Maxine coughed gently to interrupt them and said, "We're here to discuss important matters. Your lovey-dovey act can wait until tonight."

Thea let go of James and sat beside them. She tucked a lock of hair behind her ear as she asked, "Did you call me here because something came up?"

"Yeah."

James nodded and said, "It's a very important matter. The cooperation of the God-King Palace is vital to this operation."

James explained their plan in detail.

While he dealt with Mr. Gabriel, he needed Thea to lead the God -King Palace to destroy the research bases that Madelyn had established and wipe out everyone relevant to the research, including Madelyn.

"Sure thing." Thea could barely contain her excitement. After waiting for such a long time, she could finally help James. Her eyes lit up with determination and she confidently stated,

“Honey, I won’t let you down!”
