Chapter 1671

The Omniscient Deity thought for a while and said, "I don't have an answer to that question. Master Delphinia was the one who converted her energy. She's on Mount Wunderton right now. I can take you there so you can ask her personally."

The Omniscient Deity turned around and set off.

He led James away from the mountain to an independent manor.

Inside the manor, they met an old nun, Master Delphinia.

Master Delphinia clasped her hands together and greeted, "Lord Omniscient."

She turned to James and asked, "And you're James, right?"

"Yeah."

James went straight to the point. "Are you the one who converted Thea's cultivation and caused her to lose memory?"

Master Delphinia replied, "It was her own decision."

James asked, "Is there a way to restore her memories?"

After briefly thinking about it, Master Delphinia said, "There is a way, but..."

"Quickly tell me if there's a way."

Master Delphinia said, "She lost her memory because her cultivation was dispersed. Outsiders like us aren't capable of helping her. She'll have to do it herself. If she recovers her strength, her body's True Energy can stimulate her brain and perhaps allow her to recover her memories. Unfortunately, doing so will cause her blood to lose its regeneration ability again. If that were to happen, I wouldn't be able to save her again with the same technique."

James asked solemnly, "Apart from this, is there no other way?"

The Omniscient Deity said, "There's still another way."

James looked at him. "What is it?"

The Omniscient Deity said, "Slay the dragon and replace Thea's blood. However, there are risks that come with it. After the exchange transfusion, she'll die if the dragon's blood isn't compatible with her body. However, her blood has already mutated, and the dragon's blood is much stronger than the Spirit Turtle's blood, so it should work."

"Slay the dragon..."

James had considered it a year ago.

Back then, he planned to live in seclusion with Thea while improving his strength as soon as possible. Ultimately, he wanted to slaughter the dragon when Thea was near her limit.

"Do I really have to slay the dragon?"

James' expression became solemn.

"Is there no other way besides slaying the dragon?"

Master Delphinia and the Omniscient Deity both shook their heads.

The Omniscient Deity reminded, "James, I know you're powerful right now and will soon enter the ninth rank. Even so, you're not a match for the dragon. I advise you to think twice before taking action. From my understanding, the dragon has remained asleep for all these years. If you wake the dragon up but fail to slaughter it, it'll be a catastrophe for the world."

James nodded and said, "I'll think about it carefully before making a decision."

There was only one option left-slaying the dragon.

James was determined to kill the dragon no matter how strong the dragon was.

However, his current strength made it impossible for him to slay the dragon. His first step in slaying the dragon would be to become a ninth-ranked grandmaster.

Fortunately, he still had the Novenary Golden Pills.

He intended to take another pill to improve his strength once more.

"Lord Omniscient, I'd like to borrow a place to stay in the Jade Sect for a while."

Since Thea was safe, James could be at ease for the time being.

He planned to meditate in seclusion, absorb a Novenary Golden Pill, and break through to the ninth rank. Then, he would set out to slay the dragon.

“Do as you please.” The Omniscient Deity gestured for James to go ahead.

James instructed, “Help me release news that anyone who dares to touch Thea while I’m meditating in seclusion will have their whole family annihilated.”

Although Thea seemed fine, James was worried other ancient martial artists would capture her to threaten him and use her in exchange for a Novenary Golden Pill.

The Omniscient Deity said, “As you wish.”

Despite that, James was still worried and said again, “You have a lot of connections, so you must know of Callan’s whereabouts. Pass on a message for me. Tell him to secretly protect Thea for now. Tell him I’m the one that asked for the favor. In the future, I’ll repay him for it.”

Chapter 1672

The Omniscient Deity was dissatisfied with being ordered around by James.

He was in the intel business, not running errands for others.

“I’m not your subordinate, James. Who are you to order me around?”

He looked at James with furrowed brows.

James glanced at him and said, “This should be a trivial matter for you, right?”

“It is indeed very trivial. Fine, I’ll only help you this once.”

The Omniscient Deity pointed to a courtyard and continued speaking, “You can stay over there for the time being.”

“Alright.” James gently nodded.

Then, he turned around and walked off.

After James left, the Omniscient Deity wore a smirk as he murmured, “This kid sure is arrogant.”

James approached the courtyard the Omniscient Deity had pointed out to him and entered the house situated in there.

The house had a very simple layout with only a bed and chair.

James sat in a lotus position on the bed and took out a Novenary Golden Pill.

He had obtained seven Novenary Golden Pills from King Quavon's Mausoleum a year ago.

He had consumed one and given another to Sky.

There were five pills left.

He planned to take another one.

His strength had already reached the Ninth Stair of the Skyward Stairway, and he was only one step away from becoming a ninth-ranked grandmaster.

He activated the Nine Scriptures of Ordeals's cultivation method, and nine waves of energy seeped from his flesh and bones, quickly gathering in his elixir field. The energies quickly transformed into True Heavenly Yang Energy, and the energy surrounding him rapidly increased.

The Omniscient Deity and Master Delphinia were still discussing some stuff not far away.

Suddenly, they felt a powerful energy sweeping toward them.

The Omniscient Deity looked at the courtyard and said with a frown, "James is really strong. He has already ascended the Skyward Stairway's Ninth Stair."

Master Delphinia said, "He acquired the Novenary Golden Pills from King Quavon's Mausoleum one year ago. He must've consumed one in the last year. He's probably planning to take another one to break through to the ninth rank to slay the dragon."

"It's not going to be that easy."

The Omniscient Deity replied, "How could it be so easy to step into the ninth rank? Even the Novenary Golden Pills can only increase one's True Energy and cultivation. We're talking about ranks, not one's cultivation. A person who has reached his cultivation limit won't be able to increase it anymore."

"You're saying he won't be able to enter the ninth rank?" asked Master Delphinia.

The Omniscient Deity said, "It's not absolute. It depends on his comprehension."

At that moment, James mobilized all his strength and tried to break into the highest rank.

James felt like he was outside in the courtyard, and a stairway appeared in front of him. He ascended the stair step by step.

He climbed the first, second, third... seventh, eighth, and ninth stairs.

Soon, he reached the Ninth Stair.

Upon stepping on the Ninth Stair, he felt like the world around him had changed.

He could sense his surroundings.

Looking up at the sky, he could see a gray atmosphere layer.

He wanted to step into the sky and break through it.

James took a step forward and appeared under the atmosphere layer. Suddenly, a pressuring force appeared in the sky and came down on him.

He was blasted back down to the Ninth Stair.

At that moment, James' physical body was still inside the house of the courtyard. However, his body slightly tilted forward, and he spurted out a mouthful of blood.

After a brief moment, he sat up straight.

Meanwhile, his illusory body on the Ninth Stair also stood back up.

He gathered his whole body's True Energy into his fist.

"Break!!!" James roared.

He raised his fist and flew against the opposing force toward the gray atmosphere layer above the Ninth Stair

Unfortunately, the atmosphere layer was solid, and although James' strength was formidable, he could not break through it.

"What's going on?"

James calmed down and stared at the gray atmosphere layer.

"Is it because I'm not strong enough?"

James settled on the thought.

At that moment, he opened the eyes of his physical body, which was still sitting in a lotus position. Then, he took out a Novenary Golden Pill and swallowed it.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1673

Chapter 1673

After he swallowed the pill, the energy within the Novenary Golden Pill permeated his entire body. James quickly mobilized his True Energy to absorb and refine the energy.

His True Energy gradually increased.

The energy surrounding him also constantly grew more potent.

While absorbing the Novenary Golden Pill's energy, James was also thinking about how to enter the ninth rank.

The ninth rank had yet to be recorded in history.

Throughout the ages, no one knew how to enter the ninth rank. Thus, one would have to constantly ponder to try and comprehend it.

James was already powerful. It only took three days for him to absorb the Novenary Golden Pill's energy, and his True Energy improved again.

However, it was not enough.

Despite his best efforts, he was unable to break through the barrier behind the Ninth Stair.

James failed to enter the ninth rank.

"Is my True Energy not strong enough?" James frowned.

He contemplated for a while.

Afterward, he took out another Novenary Golden Pill and consumed it.

He refined the energy of the Novenary Golden Pill.

James tried to break through the atmosphere layer once more but failed again.

He took another pill.

James continued to meditate in seclusion.

He had refined all Novenary Golden Pills, and his cultivation base had already reached an unprecedented level. His True Energy had also reached its limit and could no longer be improved.

To be precise, his body was incapable of holding any more True Energy.

His body was like a water tank that was full of water. Continuing to pour any more water into it would cause the water to overflow.

James attempted to break through to the ninth rank again.

His cultivation base had already reached its peak.

He repeatedly attacked the barrier blocking him on the Ninth Stair.

However, it was useless.

The barrier was too strong, and no matter how hard he tried, he simply could not break through. He could not take the last step into the ninth rank.

“Ahh!!!

“Why?!

“Why can’t I break through?!” James roared furiously.

He desperately wanted to step into the ninth rank to slay the dragon and save Thea.

However, no matter how hard he tried, he could not take the last step.

James was starting to panic.

“This won’t do. I can’t rush it. I shouldn’t panic. I need to calm down. I can do it. I’m sure I’ll make it.”

James took a deep breath.

He activated the Ataraxia and forcefully calmed himself down. He quickly cast aside the jumbled thoughts in his mind.

“Why isn’t it working?

“How can I enter the ninth rank?”

James kept thinking of a solution.

Behind Mount Jade, the Omniscient Deity sat on a rock.

He looked ahead of him.

In the distance, a golden light flashed and rushed into the sky like a giant dragon.

James' True Energy had leaked, causing this to happen.

Over the past month, James' aura had become more substantial.

The Omniscient Deity had been watching him for a month.

He knew James' True Energy had reached its peak, and he could no longer advance further than this. The only thing left was for him to reach the ninth rank.

"Will he find the threshold and break into the ninth rank?"

The Omniscient Deity was looking forward to it.

His rank had been stagnant for a long time.

It had been lonely for him all these years, and he needed a companion.

James was the likeliest person to become that companion.

In order to achieve the ninth rank, one had to comprehend it alone since it could not be communicated through words.

Thus, he could not give James any pointers.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1674

Chapter 1674

The Jade Sect had existed for over a thousand years and had always remained a neutral force.

The Sect Leader of every generation was called the Omniscient Deity.

To outsiders, this was the Jade Sect's tradition. In actuality, the Omniscient Deity had always been the same person from the beginning to the present.

Nineteenth-ranked grandmasters were peerless and lived long lives. It was unbelievable for one to live so long, which was why the Jade Sect announced to the public that each generation's Sect Leader would inherit the title of Omniscient Deity.

For more than a thousand years, the Omniscient Deity had never encountered another ninth-ranked grandmaster, nor had anyone come close to reaching the ninth rank.

James was the first person he met in the past thousand years to be close to reaching the ninth rank.

Thus, he was excited and looking forward to James finally stepping into the ninth rank.

Meanwhile, James was struggling to break into the ninth rank even after absorbing all the remaining Novenary Golden Pills

He felt like he had fallen into a bottomless abyss and could not find the exit. Getting out of the abyss would be equivalent to stepping into the ninth rank.

"What should I do?"

James was confused.

"I'll give it one last try."

James exerted all his strength, and nine waves of True Energy concentrated together to form the True Heavenly Yang Energy. The energy permeated his whole body and gathered into his fists. He struck the barrier with full force, attempting to smash the barrier in front of the Ninth Stair.

Boom!

A dull explosion sounded in James' body.

When he attacked the barrier, a massive force pressed against him, and his True Energy backlashed, causing an explosion within his body.

Fortunately, he was of an extraordinary rank.

Other martial artists with lower ranks would have died after suffering a True Energy explosion.

As for James, his True Energy churned around, causing his Blood Energy to gush out. Unable to suppress it, James spat out a mouthful of blood.

"That kid."

The Omniscient Deity noticed James' energy weakening and immediately understood that James had failed his attempt.

"It's expected that he fails. He's still so young. For thousands of years, he's the first person who's reached his current rank."

The Omniscient Deity found James' failure very normal. It would be a miracle for him to step into the ninth rank with such ease.

His body flickered, and he appeared in the courtyard where James was meditating. He pushed open the door and walked inside.

James had collapsed on the bed and was vomiting blood.

"You shouldn't go on like this," said the Omniscient Deity.

Hearing the voice, James looked toward the door and saw the Omniscient Deity who had just walked into the room.

"Why?"

The Omniscient Deity replied, "It's not going to be easy to step into the ninth rank. It'll require you to have an understanding of life and be able to feel the world. Although you've met the prerequisites to enter the rank, you haven't understood it with your heart."

James looked at the Omniscient Deity in doubt.

The Omniscient Deity explained, "In short, you're too young and don't have enough life experience yet. You should head out into the world and experience more of life. Perhaps in a few more decades or a hundred years, you'll understand and be able to enter the ninth rank."

"Ha!" James sneered.

"Lord Omniscient, you don't even know what the ninth rank is like, yet you're trying to give me advice? Your advice is useless, or could it be that you're already a ninth-ranked grandmaster?"

The Omniscient Deity smiled but said nothing in response.

James stood up, wiped the blood from the corner of his lips, and said, "No matter what, I'm still thankful to you. By the way..."

"How long have I been meditating in seclusion?" asked James.

The Omniscient Deity said, "It hasn't been that long. Only a month."

James parted his lips and said, "Thank you. We'll meet again." After speaking, he turned and left.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1675

Chapter 1675

The Omniscient Deity watched as James left.

With James' current strength, the Omniscient Deity knew it was only a matter of time before he stepped into the ninth rank.

It might be impossible now, but James would surely step into the ninth rank in a few decades or even a hundred years later.

"This world is finally getting more interesting "

The Omniscient Deity's lips formed a faint smile.

While James was leaving Mount Jade, Tapio was kneeling on the ground in a palace within an underground cavern near Mt. Thunder Pass in the Southern Plains.

Sitting on the platform, Tyrus asked, "How's it going?"

Tapio replied, "Master, James has been in a closed-door meditation in Mount Jade for the past month. Judging from the energy emanating from him, he must've already reached the Skyward Stairway's Ninth Stair's peak. As for whether he's broken into the ninth rank, I can't be certain."

Tyrus gently nodded and said, "Alright. He's already the most outstanding martial artist we've had in a thousand years. It's not that easy to step into the ninth rank. He's still young and doesn't have enough life experience. His current life isn't perfect, and he has many dreams that he hasn't achieved. When he has enough experience, he'll naturally step into the ninth rank."

Tapio asked, "Master, I don't understand why you're treating James so well. He's already peerless, and you're still keeping your eyes on him. Plus, you already knew about the miraculous Novenary Golden Pills. Why didn't you eat them yourself? Why did you point James to it..."

Before he could finish speaking, he was interrupted.

"You'll know what you're allowed to know, but don't ask questions about things you shouldn't know."

“Understood.”

Tapio swallowed his remaining words.

“That’s enough: You’re dismissed. Continue keeping your eye on James. If there aren’t any mishaps, Sky must’ve also reached a similar rank as James. The two of them have an agreement, and Sky should be planning to provoke the Blood Race. Secretly follow James and report his every move to me.”

Tyrus gently waved his hand.

“Understood.”

Tapio stood up, turned, and left.

After he left, Tyrus got up and walked toward the palace inside the underground cavern. Soon, he reached the deepest part of the cavern.

There was a luxurious palace situated there. The palace walls were decorated with luminous stones, making it seem like daytime in the dark palace.

Tyrus walked into a room and called out softly, “Father.”

“Come in.”

A weak and fragile voice sounded from inside the room.

Tyrus pushed open the door and walked inside.

The room was quite empty and did not even have a bed.

A man that looked about thirty years old with long, white hair sat on a mat on the floor.

His face was ruddy, but his eyes were sunken, and he looked like he had been through a lot.

“Father, I haven’t visited you for a long time,” said Tyrus.

The person sitting on the mat looked at Tyrus and asked softly, “Any significant happenings in the outside world recently?”

“I’m here to update you, Father.”

The last time Tyrus had come to visit was a hundred years ago.

His father had been meditating in seclusion, and he dared not disturb him unless it was important.

A hundred years ago, Sol was caught up in war, and there was a battle against the Gu Sect. Tyrus had come to report all the events that had happened.

“Since the battle against the Gu Sect a hundred years ago...”

Tyrus began to narrate the events of the past hundred years. He started from the events a hundred years ago, then about the Mount Thunder Conference and the slaughtering of the Spirit Turtle. On top of that, he also spoke about Thea and James’ growth.

“Thea has extracted and converted her cultivation base. As a result, she’s lost her memory, while her cultivation base has been integrated into her blood. Thus, it hasn’t been lost. As long as she restores her memory and reabsorbs the energy in her blood, her strength can recover in a few months.”

“As for James, it’s been a year since he’s gotten the Novenary Golden Pills, and his strength has reached the peak of the Skyward Stairway’s Ninth Stair. He’s only one step away from the ninth rank.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1676

Chapter 1676

James meditated in Mount Jade for a month.

He initially thought he could enter the ninth rank once he reached the limit of his cultivation base.

However, entering the ninth rank was much more complicated than he had imagined. Despite reaching the limit of his strength, he still could not enter the ninth rank.

He could only give up for the time being.

James left Mount Jade.

As soon as he left Mount Jade’s range, he was blocked by a young man.

The man looked about thirty years old. He had long hair and was dressed in cyan clothes.

James immediately recognized him. He was Sky.

James’ brows furrowed.

He could tell Sky had already refined the Novenary Golden Pill after receiving it. His cultivation base had already reached its limit. Thus, the side effect of absorbing energy from others should have also been resolved.

James looked at Sky with a frown and asked, "What do you want?"

Sky asked, "James, do you remember promising to go overseas with me to face the Blood Race?"

James nodded and said, "Mhm. I remember what I said. Just ask, and I'll immediately go with you to face the Blood Race."

This was the agreement James had with Sky.

He would follow Sky to face the Blood Race.

However, Sky would have to give up on Orient Commerce and no longer cause trouble.

This was how peace was restored in Sol.

Otherwise, the King of last year's election might not be certain.

"Now's the time."

Sky looked at James and said, "I need you to come with me to face the Blood Race right now."

James never understood what Sky wanted from the Blood Race.

He said, "I can come with you, but you need to tell me what you plan to do there. I don't want to follow you there blindly."

"You don't have to worry about that. All you need to do is follow me and make a move when I tell you to."

Sky did not explain his motive.

Since he was unwilling to say anything, James did not insist anymore.

After thinking for a while, he said, "I can't go now. I have to head to Cansington. How about you come to me again after I ensure Thea's safety in Cansington? I'll go with you after that."

"Alright. I'll give you half a month. Then, I'll come to Cansington to meet you again."

After speaking, Sky turned around and left.

“You’re leaving just like that?”

James’ face suddenly darkened.

“What’s wrong?”

Sky turned around.

As he turned, James suddenly made a move.

He activated the True Nine Ordeals Energy, and nine waves of True Energy gathered together to form the True Heavenly Yang Energy. He quickly moved and appeared in front of Sky, thrusting his palm at Sky.

Sky immediately blocked the attack.

Bang!

Their palms collided.

Two terrifying energies clashed, causing two bursts of shock waves to spread out like ripples in water.

Their True Energy permeated the air, and a distant mountain collapsed from the force.

Meanwhile, James was forced several meters backward.

Sky coughed up blood, and his body was blasted away, slamming into the ground.

Seeing this scene, James smiled faintly.

He had wanted to test Sky’s current strength.

From their exchange, James knew Sky’s True Energy was much inferior.

In the distance, the disheveled Sky got up from the ground and glared at James. He said solemnly, “Are you testing me, James?”

“What do you think?” James smirked.

Sky took a deep breath and said, “I didn’t expect you to be so strong now. Have you already entered the ninth rank?”

“How could that be so easy?” James shook his head helplessly.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1677

Chapter 1677

The world would be full of ninth-ranked grandmasters in the past thousand years if it were so easy.

Hearing this, Sky heaved a sigh in relief.

He had ascended the Skyward Stairway's Ninth Stair and thought he could step into the ninth rank if he obtained a Novenary Golden Pill. However, he underestimated what was required. After refining the Novenary Golden Pill, he only reached the Ninth Stair's peak.

He was still one step short of the ninth rank.

Despite it being the last step, he could not take it, no matter how hard he tried.

Although he sighed in relief, he still asked doubtfully, "You and I should be of the same rank. Why do I feel like your strength is much greater than mine?"

James said with a smile, "Because I cultivated my own True Energy. At most, I only relied on the Novenary Golden Pills. You, on the other hand, absorbed most of your True Energy from others, causing your True Energy to be impure. As a result, your True Energy is much weaker than mine, even though we're of the same rank."

Sky glared at James.

He wanted to speak but could not bring himself to say anything.

However, a murderous intent rose in his heart.

James was powerful.

He could not stand against James now.

Sky planned to find a chance to get rid of James secretly.

He plotted to kill James as soon as he received what he wanted from the Blood Race.

By getting rid of James, he could become the greatest martial artist and do as he pleased.

He could not be at ease with James alive.

With James around, he would have to be constantly on guard in the future.

“In half a month, I’ll come and see you again. We’ll meet very soon, James.”

Sky turned around and left.

After he turned, a wound appeared on his arm, and blood dripped down, instantly staining his palms red.

His face was filled with pain.

“Damn it. How is he so strong?” Sky cursed out softly.

James watched as Sky left.

He was relieved that Sky’s strength was still beneath him.

That assured him that he did not have to worry if Sky wanted to attack him when they headed to the Blood Race.

James did not linger anymore and also left.

It was still morning when he departed.

At three in the afternoon, he returned to Cansington.

He had been gone for a month and was unsure what had happened with Thea. As soon as he reached Cansington, he rushed to the Callahans’ villa.

Thea had been bored for the past month in the Callahans’ villa.

She only had memories of before the age of eighteen and had no recollection of what had happened for the past eleven years. With the sudden gap between her memories and the current time, she could not get accustomed to her life.

The Callahans had also explained everything that had happened in the past eleven years to her, mainly focusing on James.

They had convinced her, and she was starting to believe that James was her husband.

However, James had only shown up twice and then stopped coming to see her. A month had passed since James last appeared. For some reason, she subconsciously started to miss James in her heart and wanted to see him.

“Let’s go shopping, Thea.”

Thea sat in the yard outside the Callahans' villa in a daze.

Suddenly, a sexy, beautiful woman in a red dress walked toward her.

It was Quincy.

Quincy had established New Era Commerce by herself. Now that it was going on the right track, she could cut herself some slack. After hearing about Thea, she quickly rushed to see her.

She arrived in Cansington a month ago and had been visiting Thea frequently.

Thea and Quincy used to be best friends and had known each other since long ago.

Thea gave Quincy a listless look and said, "Quincy, it's you. I don't feel like going today."

"What's the matter? There seems to be something on your mind." Quincy walked over and sat down beside her.

Thea propped her chin up and looked into the distance, saying softly, "I'm thinking about whether James is my husband or not. If he's my husband, why hasn't he come to see me for the past month? But if he isn't, why would my family insist he is?"

Thea's face was full of confusion.

She gently knocked her head and said, "How did I end up like this? Why did I lose my memories? I want to know what I forgot and what exactly happened during the past eleven years."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1678

Chapter 1678

Thea was in dismay.

How did she lose her memory?

What happened in the past?

Quincy was also clueless about what happened to Thea and how she lost her memory.

"You shouldn't stress about this for now. Let's go out for a stroll," said Quincy.

"Mhm, that'll do too."

Since Thea had been staying home most of the time, she was slightly bored.

“Wait for me for a while. I need to change.”

Thea got up and walked into the villa.

After changing, Thea got ready to leave, but James arrived just before she reached the villa’s gate.

James was holding a bouquet of flowers. He handed them to Thea with a bright smile.
“Thea, this is for you.”

Thea pouted and said, “I don’t want them.”

Although she wanted to accept them, she did not reach out to take them because she was upset that James had not come to see her in the past month.

“Let’s go, Quincy.”

James looked at Quincy embarrassedly and greeted, “Y-You’re here too?”

Quincy winked at James and said, “Yeap. I’m here to accompany Thea.”

“You don’t have to pay him any attention. He’s a pervert and a crook!”

Thea pulled at Quincy and left.

Quincy looked at James innocently.

Helpless, James touched his nose and did not chase after them.

He headed straight to Common Clinic.

For the past month, Henry had been hanging around the clinic.

Although he was the Emperor, there was nothing much to do since Sol was peaceful for the time being. Thus, he simply waited for James at Common Clinic.

When James arrived, there was another person in Common Clinic.

It was Whitney-the daughter of the Centurion of the North and Henry’s girlfriend.

“James, you’re back.”

The two were in a very intimate position.

Seeing that James had arrived, Henry immediately retrieved his arm that was wrapped around Whitney.

On the other hand, Whitney was frantically tidying up her messy clothes. Her pretty face was slightly flushed. She remained silent with her head lowered.

James looked at them and smiled, saying, "I knew you'd still be here. I simply came to tell you that I plan to stay at the Callahans' villa."

Henry was taken aback and asked, "Huh? Why are you suddenly moving into their villa? Has Thea recovered her memories?"

James shook his head and said, "Not yet. However, I think she'd fall in love with me again if I moved in and stayed by her side. Soon, I'll have to leave Sol and go abroad."

He was relieved after seeing that Thea was fine.

Since he had made an agreement with Sky, he had to live up to his word.

Otherwise, if he failed to do so, Sky would cause trouble again. That would lead to another huge problem.

"Alright."

Henry smiled and said, "By the way, me and Whitney's wedding date has already been decided. It'll be held on the twenty-eighth of next month."

James pulled out his phone and checked the date.

It was only the eighth.

There was still more than a month before the twenty-eighth of the following month.

"James, I'd like you to be my wedding officiant."

"Sure. I'll definitely rush to your wedding no matter where I am," James said with a smile.

"Great! The wedding venue has been decided. It'll be held in the House of Royals. I plan to move in there. Would you have a problem with that?" Henry looked pleadingly at James.

James said with a smile, "How could I have any problem? Alright, that's it for now. I need to head to the Callahans' villa."

After informing Henry, James rushed to the Callahans' villa.

When he reached the villa, Thea had already returned home.

Although women could spend the whole day shopping, Thea was not in the mood. Her expression was listless the entire time, and she did not have anything that she wanted to buy. Thus, she returned home. after wandering around for a while.
