

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1811

Chapter 1811

“Secondly, the power of desire.

“What is desire?

“Sky desires to become the greatest in the world. It’s a powerful obsession. When his desire reached the pinnacle, he made a breakthrough into the ninth rank after consuming the power of the Dragon Essence. The same goes for your grandfather, Thomas. His ambition is equally great. Besides, he’s shrewd and cunning. However, even with the aid of the Dragon Essence, he only managed to become a Half-Saint Human desire is terrifying.”

After he spoke, he looked at James and said smilingly, “A man free of ambition like you is incapable of using this method. Hence, only the power of nature remains.”

“Huh?” James asked in confusion, “What is the power of nature?”

“This requires some explanation.” Langston explained, “The power of nature is magical. It is the power of heaven and earth. Your mind must be cleared of impurities, and your heart must be cleansed of all desires. Absorb the power of nature and change your body structure and physical capabilities. The human body is like a huge water tank, whereas True Energy is like water. Once you reach the peak of the Ninth Stair, you can no longer increase True Energy due to a limited capacity. The power of nature, on the other hand, is capable of changing one’s body structure. Think of it as expanding the capacity of the water tank. When your True Energy attains a certain strength, you can use True Energy to make a breakthrough.”

After he said that, he sighed.

“Back then, I tried gaining insight into the power of nature as well. However, despite decades of futile effort, I couldn’t comprehend anything. In the end, I only managed to cross into the ninth rank by entering King Quavon’s Mausoleum and obtaining the remaining phoenix blood.”

Langston tried explaining the power of nature to James.

James had experienced this. The power of nature, also known as Spiritual Energy, can change one’s body structure and physical capabilities, thereby increasing one’s True Energy.

After hearing Langston’s explanation, James understood that the path he walked was the right one. However, he now had more questions on his mind.

“Langston, you said you obtained the phoenix blood in King Quavon’s Mausoleum. If that’s the case, why didn’t King Quavon consume it but instead bury it in his mausoleum more than two thousand years ago?”

Langston’s expression turned grim.

“I don’t know. However, after looking through the ancient text, I learned that something great happened two millenniums ago. It seemed that some powerful force prevented King Quavon from doing so.”

“A powerful force?” James froze before asking, “Who?”

Langston shook his head and said, “I don’t know either. If you’re interested to know, you can ask the Omniscient Deity more about the subject. Since he’s lived longer than me, he should be more knowledgeable

Hearing this, James clasped his hands and said, “Thank you, Langston.”

Langston looked at him and asked, “What is your current strength? Have you gained insight into the power of nature?”

A slight smile crept up on James’ face. Seeing this, Langston understood immediately.

Then, James left alongside Thea.

“Father.” Tyrus looked at Langston.

Langston said with a smile, “He’s young, but he managed to gain great insight into the power of nature. I believe it’s only a matter of time before he crosses into the ninth rank. His path is the proper one. Everyone else, including me, took a back-door route. Even though we crossed into the ninth rank, we spent a lot of time searching for the right path. However, James managed to find it even before he crossed into the ninth rank.”

“Indeed... Tyrus sighed. “He’s a brilliant man. All these years, I watched him grow from an innocent young man into an experienced commander-in-chief. His heart is magnanimous, and his mind is open and broad. Perhaps only a man like him can gain insight into the true path of cultivation.”

“Mhm.” Langston nodded and said, “However, I wonder how the Omniscient Deity crossed into the ninth rank. Although I’ve heard about him even a millennium ago, I know nothing about his strength since I’ve never fought against him in battle. This is the perfect opportunity to witness his true strength.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1812

The night passed silently.

The next day.

It was the day of the battle between Sky and Omniscient Deity, two ninth-rank martial artists. Since many had never seen nor heard about the true strength of a ninth-rank martial artist, about a thousand people came to watch the show.

As the sun rose above the horizon, Sky appeared. Standing at the peak of Mount Kirkton, he was dressed in a leisure suit, and his expression was calm and composed.

Scanning his surroundings, a smile crept up on his face. No one knew who his master was. The reason he chose to challenge the Omniscient Deity and not the Prince of Orchid Mountain was that he planned to proclaim to the world his discipleship to Omniscient Deity. That way, his fame and prestige would be drastically boosted and spread far and wide across the world. By then, many powerful martial artists would seek to join him and the nation of Taciryus.

“Do you guys think that Sky can defeat the Omniscient Deity?”

“No way! Rumors say that the Omniscient Deity is an immortal who has lived for two millenniums. Sky is at most two hundred years old. Their age difference is simply too great. The Omniscient Deity’s strength must have reached an unbelievable level. How would Sky stand a chance against him?”

“Exactly my thoughts! Where did Sky get his confidence from?”

“He immediately challenged a martial artist who reached the ninth rank two thousand years ago upon crossing into the ninth rank himself.”

“Sky will definitely lose.”

“The battle is not set in stone yet. Maybe he has an ace up his sleeves.”

Many conversed in whispers.

No one was optimistic about Sky’s odds. Few believed he would win the battle.

Sky had overheard some of the crowd’s comments. However, he was unbothered. This was precisely what he wanted. He wanted the crowd to underestimate him, only for him to emerge victorious. It would cause a greater shock.

Once he defeated Omniscient Deity, he would become the greatest in the world.

Time passed. Soon, it was noon.

However, the Omniscient Deity was still nowhere to be seen.

The crowd began growing restless.

“What’s going on? Why isn’t the Omniscient Deity here yet? Could it be that he’s afraid of Sky?”

“No way! Let’s just wait for a little while longer…”

Just as the crowd was getting annoyed at waiting, the Omniscient Deity appeared at the peak of Mount Kirkton

He stood a hundred meters away from Sky and looked at him calmly, uttering word by word, “You’re too ambitious, Sky. I never expected that you’d notify the world of our battle.”

The Omniscient Deity did not expect a crowd here. If he was defeated, the consequences would be dire. “Come ” Sky beckoned.

Wearing a composed look on his face, the Omniscient Deity said, “Since I’m older than you, I’d give you the privilege to make the first move.”

“Alright, then,” Sky said.

Then, in the blink of an eye, he appeared before the Omniscient Deity.

There was a commotion in the crowd.

“What speed!”

“As expected of a ninth-rank martial artist! I couldn’t even see his movement!”

Sky raised his palm and struck the Omniscient Deity. Although the palm looked ordinary from the outside, it actually held enormous power

The Omniscient Deity raised his hand to meet Sky’s attack.

Boom!

Their palms collided.

At that moment, waves of terrifying True Energy shredded through the air, and Mount Kirkton seemed to be on the verge of disintegrating.

The crowd hurriedly retreated outside the range of Mount Kirkton and continued watching the battle intently James hurriedly grabbed Thea's hand and escorted her to safety.
