

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1906

Chapter 1906

Just as she was confounded, Thea charged toward her. She collected herself and met her attack.

Boom!

The two clashed. Powerful True Energies collided and distorted even space.

Thea was immediately sent flying. Even Juniper staggered backward, muttering silently under her breath, "What terrifying power..."

Then, Thea's blood churned, and powerful energy erupted from within her blood. Even though she only managed to cross into the ninth rank recently, she managed to make Juniper stagger backward through brute force alone.

"Die." Thea glared at Juniper with her bloodshot eyes. She summoned True Demonic Energy, imbued it with the Malevolent

Sword, and performed the Demonic Sword Art. The strength of the Demonic Sword Art was greatly augmented by her True Demonic Energy.

The demonized Thea was too strong. Even Juniper, who was a Supernatural, had lost her composure.

In the distance, James sat in a lotus position on the ground and healed his injuries while spectating the battle. He was utterly stunned when he saw Thea's strength.

"Thea's power is unbelievable... Since she did not demonize over the past few years, I thought the problems within her body were resolved. I didn't expect that she would be demonized after experiencing a shock."

Thea's strength shocked James. At the same time, he was concerned about her safety because he did not want her to remain in this state.

Now that Thea had joined the battle, Tyrus could breathe a sigh of relief.

He quickly retreated into the distance, consumed an elixir, and began healing his injuries.

The battle continued in the sky. Swords clashed, and fists collided. As the terrifying True Energy shredded through the air, the surrounding mountains around Mount Bane slowly disintegrated.

However, since Mount Bane was where the seal was located, it possessed certain magical attributes. Even though mountains collapsed into a heap of rubble, they would automatically regenerate back to their original form. It appeared that there was some kind of powerful force safeguarding the region.

While James treated his injuries, he kept watching Thea.

Thea's Demonic Sword Art was overbearing. When combined with her Murderous Energy, even Juniper who was at the Supernatural level began losing ground.

"Damn you!" she cursed.

Swoosh!

At that moment, eighty-one black needles suddenly appeared around Thea.

It was Exalter. The eighteen-one needles shredded through the air and charged at Juniper.

Juniper's face paled as she hurriedly dodged the needles.

At that instant, Thea appeared above her and slashed with her Malevolent Sword. Seeing this, Juniper hurriedly raised her sword.

Then, a Sword Light a hundred meters in length came crashing down toward Juniper, snapping her sword in half immediately. As she staggered backward, Exalter flew toward her. Suffering severe injuries, she plummeted from the sky and crashed to the ground.

Before she could crawl out of the rubble, Tyrus immediately appeared before her and struck her acupuncture points to seal her cultivation base away. Then, he dragged her out of the rubble and pressed his sword against her neck. He looked at Conrad, who was in the midst of a fierce battle against Langston, and yelled, "Stop right now!"

Conrad was in the midst of a fierce battle against Langston. Although he was the superior one, he could not defeat Langston easily.

Then, a voice came from below.

He glanced down and realized that Juniper had been defeated, and a sword was pressed against her neck.

Tyrus yelled, "Make another move and she's dead!"

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1907

Chapter 1907

Tyrus threatened Conrad with Juniper's life.

Conrad clenched his sword tightly as his face darkened. He had been fighting against Langston, but he had been paying close attention to Juniper's battle. Since he knew that Juniper was defeated by a woman, he could not help but glance at Thea.

By then, Thea was returning to normal, and the blood inside her body was pacified. Gradually, the powerful aura she exuded dissipated.

"Beast Blood, huh?" he murmured.

Conrad made the decision to end the fighting. The earthling's strength far surpassed his expectation.

As Conrad sheathed his sword, Langston breathed a sigh of relief. Then, Langston descended from the sky and appeared before Tyrus.

Thea had left her demonized state. Her face was pale, and she could not exert even a single ounce of strength. It appeared that the battle earlier had completely drained her energy.

She dragged her feeble body toward James.

James looked at her and asked in concern, "Are you alright?"

"I-I'm fine... I just feel a little dizzy," Thea spoke weakly.

Her memories of the previous battle were vague. She only knew that she engaged in a fierce battle with Conrad after being demonized. As for the specifics, she could not remember anything.

James' condition had ameliorated after he treated his injuries. Although he had yet to fully recover, he was not in mortal danger anymore.

Following the cessation of hostilities, a tense calm descended upon the area. Many disciples of Conrad and the Void Sect perished in the battle.

A crowd gathered.

Conrad descended from the sky and stood before Tyrus, looking at the earthlings.

Langston glanced at the defeated and severely injured Juniper and furrowed his eyebrows. He never expected Thea to be the one to defeat her.

Then, Thea and James walked over to him.

“What do you plan to do?” Conrad asked.

He did not choose to cease hostilities because of Juniper. After all, he could not care less about her safety. Rather, he believed that he would be besieged on all sides by the earthlings after her defeat. As he might not stand against their combined strength, he chose to make a compromise.

Langston said, “Our terms are simple. Leave Mount Bane immediately.”

“No way.” Conrad’s face darkened, and he said, “Over my dead body. I chose to put an end to the battle not because I was afraid of you.”

Langston thought about it and replied, “In that case, let’s find a way to coexist.

“You may remain on Mount Bane on the condition that we are allowed to stay as well. From today onward, you’re forbidden from harming the earthlings in the vicinity of Mount Bane, and we promise not to make a move against you unprovoked. Also, we will share the treasures that appear on Mount Bane amongst ourselves in a fair manner.”

He looked at Conrad and asked, “How does that sound?”

Conrad was lost in thought.

Since he was all alone on Earth, there was no way he could annihilate all earthlings by himself. If he antagonized them needlessly, he might not survive for long.

After thinking for a brief moment, he compromised.

“Alright, then.”

Hearing this, the earthlings all breathed a sigh of relief.

Tyrus released his grip on Juniper, and Conrad walked over to her and unsealed her acupuncture points.

Juniper immediately catalyzed True Energy to heal her injuries.

The battle on Mount Bane resulted in an outcome that was beneficial to everyone.

After they chose to cease hostilities, they all headed to the tree. Upon seeing the purple flowers and the glimmering purple light the tree radiated, the earthlings were shocked.

'What a nice scent...

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1908

Chapter 1908

"It smells so alluring... This is going to be a priceless treasure once the berry ripens."

'This must be a magical fruit!"

Many conversed.

James stared at the tree too. He was stunned by the fragrance and the majestic Empyrean Spiritual Energy here. Cultivating at such a place would greatly accelerate one's progress.

He remained silent and sat in a lotus position on the ground while healing his injuries.

Everyone waited patiently.

In the meantime, Conrad kept glancing over at Thea. Pensive, he furrowed his eyebrows as if he was deep in thought.

It made Thea extremely uncomfortable. Sitting beside James, she whispered, "Darling, that Conrad guy keeps glancing at me."

James waved slightly and said, "Pay no heed to him."

"Darling, what exactly is this tree?"

James shook his head and said, "How would I know?"

However, Thea was one of many who were intrigued.

Langston approached Conrad. Since they chose peace over war, Conrad had no right to monopolize the tree.

So, Conrad chose to answer honestly, 'This tree used to be an ordinary tree. One night a few days ago, a lightning bolt struck this tree. Then, a seed germinated and bloomed on that same night. It has already blossomed for a couple of days."

Upon hearing this, everyone was stunned. This was simply magical.

After providing the crowd with an explanation, he approached Thea and smiled faintly at her, asking, "So, you must be Thea Callahan."

Thea grunted and paid no attention to him.

Conrad smiled and said, "You truly are impressive. Though you've only crossed into the ninth rank recently, you managed to defeat a Supernatural with just the Beast Blood inside your body."

Thea remained silent.

James furrowed his eyebrows and said, "What Beast Blood? That's the blood of the Four Holy Beasts."

Upon hearing this, Conrad explained, "Did she really consume the blood of the Four Demons?!"

Conrad could not believe his ears. He thought Thea was only demonized because she consumed Beast Blood. He did not expect her to have consumed the blood of the Four Demons.

He took a deep breath.

James was deeply intrigued by the Sealed Realms. Since Conrad approached them, he chose to pose him a question, "What are the Four Demons?"

After collecting himself, Conrad smiled and said, "There's no point in hiding this from you, I guess. The Four Holy Beasts you people refer to are actually called the Four Demons. Imbued with Demonic Energy, anyone who consumes their blood will experience Energy Deviation and eventually become a demon. This should be a catastrophe for mankind. However..."

As he spoke, he glanced at Thea.

"Demonic Blood has little to no effect on ordinary people. However, the opposite is true for those who possess the Supreme Spiritual Root. The higher one's cultivation base, the stronger one would be after being demonized. One day, he or she will become the envoy of the one who will destroy the earthlings," Conrad said.

Hearing this, James furrowed his eyebrows.

Conrad's speculation matched Langston's words.

James looked at Conrad and asked, "What exactly is a Sealed Realm?"

Conrad returned his gaze. He did not expect James to ask him such a question. However, this was to be expected. Earth was once sealed away. As such, some history was forever lost to time.

'This is a long story, and there's no need for you to know about this. You only need to know one thing: Once the seal is broken, the Ultraturals will descend on Earth and annihilate all of humanity once and for all.'

Hearing this, the humans' hearts sank.

The Ultraturals? How powerful would they be?

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1909

Chapter 1909

'The Ultraturals? How powerful could they be to be called that?'

The Earthlings found it hard to imagine. They only knew that a grim future awaited them.

Conrad fell silent.

James, on the other hand, did not ask further questions. He simply sat in a lotus position on the ground and healed his injuries.

Everyone else followed suit as a tense silence descended upon the area.

As they treated their injuries, their gazes were fixed on the tree before them, anticipating the berry to ripen.

The berry was magical, so its growth speed was unparalleled. After a day passed, the flower withered, and a bud appeared.

Everyone was stunned. Under normal circumstances, a bud would only appear after its flowers had bloomed for over a month.

Now, only a day had passed. This was simply unbelievable.

They waited patiently for a week.

A week later, purple berries gradually appeared on the tree. They were the size of a fist, and their appearances were not that much different from apples. Not only that, but they also glimmered a dull purple light and exuded an alluring fragrance.

After healing his injuries for a week, James had almost completely recovered. Although his injuries had yet to fully rejuvenate, they no longer adversely affected him.

“At long last...” James said. Looking at the purple berries on the tree, he stepped forward and said, “The time has come.”

Conrad too stepped forward and looked at the earthlings, saying, “There should be around thirty berries on this tree. Although we decided not to resort to violence, I was the one who discovered the tree. Naturally, we should be the ones who pluck the berries first. I’ll leave the remaining ones to you.”

He only had about a few dozen disciples on Earth. After a few perished on the battlefield, only about twenty remained. If each of them obtained one, there would not be any left.

Juniper also stepped forward and said, “The Void Sect will be the first to pluck the berries.”

The Void Sect was almost completely eradicated. Only three remained- her, Kaj Waseem, and another disciple.

“No way!”

James was displeased. If he allowed them to pluck the berries first, there would not be any of them left.

“What?”

Conrad looked at James and clenched his sword, saying coldly, “Are you questioning my decision?”

“Yes.” Undaunted, James said, “I object to your decision. Here’s what I think. The Void Sect and you will be grouped as one team, while we earthlings will be grouped together. Then, each team will take turns plucking the berries. I believe this is fair to everyone.”

“No!” Conrad yelled in defiance, “I’ll have twenty of them!”

He was uncompromising and could not care less about the earthlings.

“I only need six,” Juniper said. Although only three remained of the Void Sect, she demanded six berries.

“Let’s duke it out, then.” Langston looked at them and said coldly, “Whoever emerges victorious will have the berries.”

“Do you think I’m afraid of you?” Conrad looked at him and exuded a powerful aura.

Juniper, on the other hand, was intimidated. She had only just lost to Thea a week ago. She needed time for her injuries to completely heal, so she wanted to avoid battle as much as possible for now.

Conrad said coldly, ‘The strong do what they can and the weak suffer what they must. The victor shall have everything! Let me say this now. I only ask for twenty berries. Is this too much to ask for? But don’t worry, I’ll leave a few.’

James looked at the tree.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1910

Chapter 1910

He counted the number of berries silently. There were thirty in total. If Conrad took twenty and Juniper six, only seven would remain for the Earthlings. How would that be sufficient?

James thought about it and said, “Let’s fight, then.”

Upon hearing this, everyone turned to look at him.

James continued, “Let’s hold a martial arts tournament. If you win the crowd’s respect and no one wishes to challenge you, you will receive one berry. Each participant is only entitled to a single berry. How does that sound?”

James knew that some of Conrad’s subordinates were comparatively weaker. If they agreed to his terms, they would only receive a few berries. Meanwhile, only Juniper and Kay among the Void Sect would obtain the berries.

“I agree,” Thomas said.

“Me too.”

“No problem at all.”

The earthlings nodded in agreement.

“I don’t!” Conrad yelled, “Why do I have to enter a martial arts tournament? As one of the strong, I should gain more benefits. I won’t stand in your way if you wish to proceed with your plan. However, I’ll have five berries for myself.”

“Does that mean I’ll have five as well?” Langston glanced at him.

“Since each of you is entitled to five berries, doesn’t that mean I get to have five as well?” Juniper asked.

James snickered, “Since you were defeated by my wife, does that mean that she gets to have five too?”

Kaiden stepped forward and said, “Since we’re basing this off strength, do I get to obtain two berries considering that I’ve broken free of two shackles?”

Tyrus smiled and said, “Does that mean I get to have four?”

James said smilingly, “In that case, I get to have four too. But won’t we deprive the rest of the berries?”

Conrad scanned the earthlings and said coldly, “This is none of my concern. However, I’ll say this now. Not only will I be having five berries for myself, but I’ll also be taking five for my subordinates. If you disagree, well simply fight to the death. After I kill all of you, I’ll have all the berries for myself.”

Although Conrad made a compromise, he insisted on having ten for himself. He believed himself to be the strongest.

The weaker martial artists remained silent as they knew their words held no weight.

Even Thomas was wearing a grim expression. Even though he had crossed into the ninth rank, he could not stand a chance against Conrad and Juniper who had reached the Supernatural level.

Langston protested, but Conrad refused to compromise further. The atmosphere became tense, and the situation was on the verge of escalating.

Langston was lost in thought. Conrad was indeed powerful. He knew that he would not stand a chance against him. In all regards, whether it be speed and power, he was no match for him.

“Why don’t we let him have ten?”

Langston chose to compromise, looking at James to ask for his opinion.

Faced with no other option, James reluctantly agreed.

“You aren’t stupid, after all...” Conrad smirked. Then, in the blink of an eye, he appeared on the tree and began plucking the berries.

After collecting ten, Juniper stepped forward and said, “I’ll have five, then.”

Just as she was about to collect the berries, Langston appeared before her and blocked her path, saying coldly, "I'm afraid you're biting off more than you can chew."

Hearing this, Juniper's face darkened, "What is the meaning of this? Conrad has ten berries. Is five too much to ask for?"

"Yes." Langston wagged his finger and said, "You're only allowed to have two."

"You..." Trembling in anger, she looked at Conrad pleadingly.

However, since Conrad only obtained ten berries, which was almost a third of the total amount, he could not care less about her.

He merely smiled faintly and said, "I'll leave the rest to you. I'll be taking my leave for now."

Then, he turned to leave alongside his entourage.

Furious, Juniper wanted to brandish her sword. However, she managed to suppress the urge to do so. He glared at Langston and said coldly, "Mark my words, I'll have my revenge. Two berries, was it? I'll gladly have them."

After she spoke, she flew toward the tree and collected two berries.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-