Chapter 1961

James was a soldier

A soldier's duty was to protect the country's people.

He developed this sense of responsibility after serving in the military for more than ten years. The world would be over if everyone shrank away from danger and refused to step up.

"Well said." The custodian nodded gently.

She agreed with James' words.

In ancient times, there was a group of people with the same mentality. They were the reason Earth was saved.

"Ms. Custodian, is there any chance I'll come back to life?"

James' looked at the custodian with his translucent eyes. He was unwilling to accept his fate. There was so much more that he wanted to do, and even more that he had not accomplished yet.

The custodian replied softly, "It's possible. However, the responsibility and burden placed on you will be much heavier "

James replied determinedly, "I'll do whatever it takes."

The custodian waved her hand, and James' illusory body glided upwards.

His vision went foggy. When he opened his eyes again, he appeared in an unfamiliar place.

"Where are we, Ms. Custodian?"

James looked at the figure slowly forming before him and scanned his surroundings with trepidation.

He had never been to this unfamiliar place before.

Surrounding them were black and gold walls. It felt like he had been transported to some sort of ebony palace.

"This is the deepest part of the Chamber of Scriptures."

The custodian parted her lips, scanned her surroundings, and said, "Untold secrets and powerful treasures are stored in this place. There are also countless magical items left behind by Earth's ancestors kept here. There's something here that can resurrect you."

Overjoyed, James asked, "What is it?"

"Follow me."

The custodian's spectral body slowly gained corporeal form as she walked forward.

James followed behind her

She walked ahead, pushed open a black stone door, and continued into the depths of the underground Cavern.

After crossing some winding paths, they arrived at a mysterious place

Colorful streaks of light shone from the ground and crisscrossed in the air. forming an enigmatic patten

James did not understand the pattern From his perspective. he could only see the rays of lights crisscrossing continuously He could vaguely see some mysterious ancient scriptures. They were ancient so he was not able to recognize them.

"What is this, Ms. Custodian?" James was confused.

The custodian waved her hand, causing the crisscrossing light rays and ancient scriptures to disappear. A black lotus flower giving off a black glow appeared before them.

"This is a Demonic Lotus."

The custodian looked at the black lotus before them.

The lotus was three meters wide and had nine petals. The petals let off a faint black glow from within them.

James questioned, "What is this Demonic Lotus?"

The custodian explained, "In ancient times, a powerful human left it behind after his death."

James was puzzled.

He could not understand why the custodian showed him the black lotus.

The custodian turned to look at James.

James finally saw the custodian's appearance. She was gorgeous and had lovely features. Her face was akin to a flawless piece of porcelain with no imperfections. Across her alluring face was a rarely-seen expression of seriousness.

"Tell me, James. Do you know who is the enemy of humankind?"

Chapter 1962

James thought for a while and said, "Is it the Outsiders from the Sealed Realm?"

The custodian gently shook her head. "Forget it. You won't understand even if I told you outright. We'll save this for the future. I brought you here because I plan to use the Demonic Lotus to reconstitute your physical body"

"What?" James' incorporeal mouth hung agape.

He looked at the darkly glowing lotus before him and asked, "You're going to use this lotus to remake my physical body?"

The custodian nodded and said, "That's right. Earth's ancestors managed to obtain this lotus after much hardship. This is part of a greater plan, but I can't tell you much about it at the moment. If I tell you too much at this point, it'll end up further burdening your psyche. What I can tell you is that you're about to receive a great opportunity along with good fortune."

She turned to look at the Demonic Lotus.

"The lotus' original owner was a powerful man whose strength was beyond anything you could imagine. Once we use the lotus to reconstitute your body, your potential will increase exponentially."

James had no idea what to think about the idea of a larger plan, but it did not matter to him as long as he could be resurrected.

"Please save me, Ms. Custodian."

"Be patient. It'll take some time for me to refine the lotus. During this period, you need to stay here and refrain from roaming around. There is a formation here to ensure your soul doesn't disappear."

The custodian warned him.

“Alright.” James nodded.

The custodian waved her hand, and the black lotus hovered into her palms. Then, she left with it.

James stayed in place.

Time crept by day after day.

James waited a long time in the depths of the underground cavern. Initially, he was able to keep track of the time. One month passed, then two months, then three....

Eventually, his perception of time had been lost.

Just when he was reaching the end of his rope, the custodian appeared once more.

“Ms Custodian!”

James hurried over to her and looked at the ethereal woman.

The custodian gave him a small nod and flicked her wrist. A ray of black light shone, and a body appeared on the ground

James was dumbfounded when he saw the body.

The man lying on the ground looked exactly like him. Its eyes were closed, and a black light glowed from its body, giving it a somewhat devious air

“What is this, Ms. Custodian?” James questioned.

The custodian said, “I used the Demonic Lotus to reconstruct your physical body. As long as your soul enters the body, you’ll be resurrected. However, I must remind you that the Demonic Lotus naturally contains Demonic Energy and will affect your soul as a result. It may even attempt to alter your soul causing you to become demonized so that you become a member of the Demon Race

The custodian said solemnly, “I hope you’ll maintain your soul’s purity and remember your responsibilities and mission. If you cannot retain your reasoning under the Demonic Energy’s influence, I’ll have no choice but to kill you.”

James pursed his lips. He thought for a while and said, “Why can’t I purify the Demonic Energy in this body? Since Thea can purify her Demonic Energy, I should be able to do the same, right?”

The custodian replied, "You're both in different predicaments. She has a Supreme Body as well as a Supreme Spiritual Root. Only very few people with such physiques will be born in millions of years. The Demonic Energy only affects their body's purity."

"However, this body's main advantage is that it is made from Demonic Energy. As such, this body's potential is limitless. If you purify the Demonic Energy, then it'll lose its inherent advantages that I've created it for. That aside, this is a Demonic Lotus, and purifying it is beyond my capabilities."

James seemed to follow her reasoning but was still unsure of some things.

However, those uncertainties were beside the point.

He would accept whatever kind of body it was as long as he could be resurrected.

"By the way, how much time has passed since I was last in the outside world?" asked James.

He only knew he had been in this place for a long time but had no idea how long had passed.

The custodian said, "You've been here for three years. The same amount of time has passed outside." James was startled. "What?! It's been three years? How's everything outside?"

The custodian replied, "Things might have taken a turn for the worse but they've yet to experience the full extent of the oncoming chaos."

Chapter 1963

Having been through Earth's darkest hour, everything now was considered relatively peaceful to the custodian.

James felt relieved since the custodian did not bring up anything in particular that happened outside, which meant things were still under control.

"What do I have to do to be resurrected?"

James eagerly looked at the custodian. He longed to be resurrected and walk out of this place alive.

The custodian glanced at James and flicked her wrist. James felt his spectral form hover forward as it unsteadily moved toward the physical body on the ground.

At that moment, a mysterious mark formed on the custodian's hand.

She chanted some words, and mysterious symbols entered James' body one by one.

About five minutes passed.

James slowly opened his eyes after having entered the body on the ground.

As soon as he opened his eyes, he saw a beautiful woman standing before him. Her alluring face was solemn as she quietly stared at James.

James got up from the ground.

"A-Am I alive again?"

He swung around his limbs but found that his movements were slightly awkward.

Despite that, he was able to control the body.

"How do you feel?"

The custodian looked at James.

James replied, "It's not bad. I feel infinite power surging through my body."

He clenched his fists tightly. His physical strength had improved, and he was much stronger than before. At that moment, a dauntless and confident expression flashed on his face.

Compared to his previous body, he was much stronger now.

The custodian warned. "Don't get cocky. Your current physical body is in its formative stage and is very weak. Your physical body has a lot of potential to grow, and in time, you'll definitely become a formidable powerhouse. However, there are significant drawbacks that come with it. I hope you can stay true to your pledge and contribute to humankind."

James clasped his hands into a fist and said, "I'll do my best"

The custodian nodded slightly and said, "Mhm, that's enough. You can leave now"

James could not help asking. "By the way, how is Thea doing?"

It had been three years since his death Thea likely spent this whole time purifying the Demonic Energy in her body James was eager to know her condition

“She’s alright”

The custodian said, “However theres a considerable amount of Demonic Energy in her body, and it can’t be purified in such a short period. It’ll take some more time. You can leave here rest assured that Thea will be safe here.”

Hearing this, James heaved a sigh of relief.

The custodian waved her hand through the air, and powerful energy flowed from her sleeves, enveloping James.

James felt his vision go blurry. When he opened his eyes again, he was already outside.

He was transported to a place on Mount Tai where there were no signs of human life.

James took a deep breath after finally stepping foot into the outside world again.

“It’s been three years since then. I don’t know how much Earth has changed in this time. I wonder if Xain died three years ago.”

Thinking of what happened three years ago, James’ heart began to beat faster Without the custodian’s help, he would have perished and ceased to exist in this world.

“The custodian is truly almighty.”

James was shocked by the custodian’s strength.

What kind of method did she use to gather his scattered soul with just a few motions of her hand?

Even though he was a martial artist, it was hard for him to comprehend her powers.

A man whose body was blown into nothing had been resurrected.

Her powers defied the natural law of the heavens

If not because James had personally experienced such unearthly power for himself, he would never have believed they existed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1964 –

Chapter 1964

“Three years have gone by now So, Winnie should be four years old by now.”

James missed his daughter.

He felt like an incompetent father

A despondent sigh escaped his mouth when the thought crossed his mind.

Then, he left Mount Tai.

He went to the closest city to Mount Tai, bought a mobile phone, and visited the online martial artist forum.

He began browsing the forum for details on events that happened in the past three years.

James started reading the articles from three years ago.

After spending half a day going through the forum, he learned his desperate effort to kill Xain had failed. Xain was too powerful. Even though he used his potent signature martial art skill that destroyed both his body and soul, he still could not kill Xain.

Fortunately, Xain was heavily incapacitated by James' desperate bid.

Afterward, Thomas led people and captured Xain alive.

Thomas did not kill Xain and instead, locked him up.

Xain was an important person. If they indiscriminately killed him, the Outsiders would take revenge on the humans on Earth once the seal opens.

After Xain was imprisoned, things on Earth settled down for the moment.

However, the Overworld's seal had a crack, and Outsiders could pass through it and come to Earth.

In the past three years, many Overworld Outsiders came to Earth. Each time an Outsider appeared, they would attempt to conquer Earth. During this time, the martial artists on earth were more hard-pressed than ever.

Earth's martial artists were under constant pressure.

They were unable to stand up against Overworld Outsiders, so they had to concede to them.

One year after Xain was locked up, another Sacerdotal Sect disciple came to Earth.

This time, it was another Sacerdotal Sect's second senior disciple who was Xain's junior

His name was Matias Judah.

He was a ruthless man.

He showed up in Japura and massacred many innocents. In one night, Japura had reached more than 300,000 casualties. Ultimately, Thomas was forced to kneel and apologize for taking a member of their sect captive.

Xain was released and established Sacerdotal Sect on Earth.

After catching up with the situation, James took a sharp breath.

He never expected so many things to happen in the past three years while he was dead. He had not anticipated Matias' arrival on Earth and for him to massacre the people of Japura, the city founded by his grandfather Thomas.

Thomas was also subjugated, which he found unbelievable.

These were just a few of the many things that happened in the past three years.

In the past three years, the Earth went through drastic changes.

Many Overworld Outsiders appeared at that time.

They occupied many notable mountains as well as swathes of Sol's territory, establishing their own sects on Earth and capturing humans as slaves.

The only fortunate thing was that apart from Matias' massacre of 300,000 people in Japura, the Overworld Outsiders did not go on more killing sprees on Earth.

Despite them not indiscriminately killing humans, these Overworld Outsiders did not regard earthlings as humans. Instead, they treated earthlings like livestock.

During this period, the Omniscient Deity never showed up to intervene and seemed to vanish into thin air.

As for his grandfather, the Prince of Orchid Mountain, he was challenged by Overworld Outsiders since they recognized that he would be one of their biggest threats on Earth.

They planned to defeat him to further demonstrate their might and renown after announcing their arrival on Earth.

Langston was beaten half to death by an Overworld Outsider more than half a year ago.

All that time had passed, but he was still recuperating in bed and had not completely recovered.

James had a vague grasp of what had happened on Earth in the past three years.

He knit his brows together grimly.

“A single Overworld Outsider was enough to cause considerable casualties on Earth. After the seal opens, thousands of worlds like the Overworld will have access to Earth. When that time comes, it’ll basically be doomsday for all of humanity. This all began four years ago, which means the seal will fully open in the next six years.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1965 –

Chapter 1965

The earth only had six years left.

Six years later, an apocalypse would befall the earth.

The current humans on Earth were incapable of preparing for the impending doomsday.

One Overworld Outsider was enough to throw Earth’s inhabitants into despair. Once the seal opens, countless worlds, including the Overworld, would merge with Earth, marking the end of humanity.

Moreover, only weaker Overworld Outsiders were able to enter Earth at the current stage. The stronger ones were still unable to pass through the seal to Earth.

“The most pressing task right now is to eliminate the Outsiders that have appeared on Earth as soon as possible to buy a few more years for humans to advance.”

An idea began to form in his mind.

Achieving his plans would not be an easy feat.

James was troubled by how to deal with Matias and Xain.

From what he knew, there were at least five people on Earth whose cultivation bases were comparable to Xain.

“How strong is my physical body?”

James clenched his fist together and flexed. He could feel that he had great power in his body, but he could not definitively tell how strong he was since he had just only returned to life and had not gone against formidable people yet.

“I should head to Wurmstead first,”

James murmured and left the area.

A day later, James reached Wurmstead’s capital, Dragonville.

Dragonville’s construction began four years ago and when James return construction was largely completed.

A palace was located in the central area, and high-rise buildings surrounded it.

Dragonville became one of the most prosperous cities in the world. The city offered many business opportunities and attracted countless entrepreneurs to set up there.

James looked at the surrounding high-rise buildings and wide bustling streets with a sense of accomplishment.

Wurmstead was rapidly developing, and it had already become a country with many international dealings.

At that moment, a group of fully armed guards were confronting some people in front of the palace

In front of the guards were some of Wurmstead’s current leaders, Delainey, Henry, Quincy, the Blithe King. Blake, and the Elite Eight.

Standing across them were three young men

Three of them looked around 20 years old and wore white robes.

The group’s leader had an impressive long sword engraved on his robe

“Who has the final say in Wurmstead currently?”

The leader looked at the group of people in front of him and said lightly. “The Sword Sect would like to Occupy Wurmstead. Obediently cede your country to us. Otherwise, we’ll turn this place into a sea of blood.”

Standing in front of him, Henry bore a grim expression.

Delainey said softly. “These people are from the Sword Sect that hails from the Overworld. They just appeared on Earth three months ago. According to the information I gathered, Sword Sect’s Yechiel Jenkin is quite strong. Although he’s not as powerful as Xain and his ilk, it doesn’t make him any less dangerous. He made a post on Earth’s martial artists forum, claiming that he unlocked four of his Inner Gates.”

Hearing this, the creases on Henry’s brow grew even deeper.

A Supernatural that had unlocked four Inner Gates was indeed a devastating opponent.

Among the martial artists on Earth, Langston was the only person who had reached the same level of power

As for the Omniscient Deity, he disappeared a few years ago and was never seen again.

“What should we do?”

Henry had a serious look on his face.

“Wurmstead was built on James’ hard work but now that he’s gone, we can’t even protect it for him.”

Faced with the people from Sword Sect, Henry’s heart sank into a deep pit.

Seven years ago, he had absorbed the Dragon Essence and drank some of its blood. However, the Dragon Essence alone was not enough to propel him into the ninth rank.

The strongest person in Wurmstead was Delainey.

A few years ago, she reached the ninth rank. During this period, she had only broken free from the first shackle. Her strength was far inferior to a Supernatural that had unlocked four Inner Gates.

Everyone else in Wurmstead was even weaker than that.

Chapter 1966

At that moment, everyone looked solemn.

“What’s wrong? Why isn’t anyone answering?”

The group’s leader, Yechiel, said lightly, “Since there’s no reply, it looks like the only option is to kill all of you.”

Swoosh!

He drew his sword all of a sudden.

No one was able to follow his moves after that. The fully armed guards around them fell to the ground in pools of blood after his Sword Light manifested.

All of them died instantly.

Wurmstead’s senior authorities were furious when they saw their nation’s guards slaughtered so casually

Henry said coldly. “You have no right to act this brazenly in our territory!”

A man behind Yechiel waved his hand, and a powerful force Henry over to them. The man grabbed Henry by the hair and slapped him ruthlessly.

A red handprint instantly appeared on Henry’s tan face. His face soon swelled up and blood flowed from his lips. Then, he spurted out a mouthful of blood with several teeth.

The man casually threw Henry to the ground and stepped on him. He looked at him scornfully and said.” Earthlings are cattle that will die sooner or later. Why bother building a moat to resist monster attacks after the seal is open? Haha! You guys are optimistic.”

Henry was pinned to the ground and could not move his body.

Delainey and the others wanted to help but in the face of their opponents’ might were discouraged and helpless.

“If you want to kill me, go ahead.”

Henry spat defiantly.

“James built Wurmstead for the sake of humanity. We’ll never agree to hand it over. If you want to occupy Wurmstead, you’ll have to kill us all.”

Henry was not afraid of death.

“That’s enough.” Yechiel slightly waved his hand.

Henry was finally released

He struggled to get up from the ground and grasped at his chest with a pained expression.

Leering at Delainey and Quincy, Yechiel smiled and said, "I never expected Wurmstead to have such stunning women."

After speaking, his body flickered, and he appeared in front of them, quickly tapping his opponents acupoints

In the next moment, he returned to his initial spot

He turned around and said to the two subordinates behind him. "Our purpose here is to occupy Wurmstead, not to kill any of its inhabitants. Lock them up. We'll stay in this palace for now. Also send these two women to my room. I'm going to savor these earthling women first."

"Understood, Sir."

"After you're done with them, leave some for us, Sir."

Both of them laughed obscenely.

"Haha." Yechiel cackled cruelly.

"There are plenty of beautiful women among these earthlings. After we occupy Wurmstead, you won't have to worry about finding new playmates."

"You..."

Delainey's pretty face was furious. She scolded them, "You pigs!"

"Silence, b*tch."

Slap!

One of Sword Sect's disciples walked toward Delainey and swung his hand at her.

Quincy immediately came between them, "If you're angry, take it out on me instead. Please let her. Yechiel looked at Quincy's alluring figure and said with a smile, "Don't worry. I'll definitely come for you." While Wurmstead was in a crisis, James was making his way to the palace.

Back then, he had reviewed the blueprints.

When he reached the palace, he found it was built precisely according to the blueprint. He could not help but sigh. "Time waits for no one. In just a few years, Wyrmsstead has already developed so much. This nation will surely become humanity's sanctuary in a few more years."

Suddenly, James sensed something strange.

His expression darkened, and bloodlust flowed out from his body.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1967 –

Chapter 1967

James detected the commotion in the palace and was furious.

He walked toward the palace angrily.

Dozens of corpses lay on the ground of the courtyard outside the palace house.

These people were stabbed in the heart and killed with a single strike

Meanwhile, Henry, Delainey, Quincy, the Blithe King, and the others looked at Yechiel's group with morose expressions.

At that moment, Yechiel's gaze was fixated on Quincy as he ogled her shamelessly. He looked at her voluptuous figure with satisfaction.

"Attractive and mesmerizing. I think I'll enjoy you first."

Yechiel walked over and lifted Quincy's chin.

Quincy wanted to resist, but her acupoints were sealed so she could not move.

"What do you want, bastard?" she hissed at him.

Slap!

Yechiel swung his hand at her

"Didn't you ask me to take it out on you, b*tch? Do you think I won't hit you just because you're a woman?"

To me, earthlings are nothing but garbage. You're simply a plaything for me to kill time with."

A red palm print appeared on Quincy's face, and blood trickled from her lips.

At that moment, a person dressed in black approached from a distance.

His face was stony as he walked over, and a black aura emanated from his body.

Yeziel's men immediately sensed the aura as he appeared.

The three turned to the approaching figure simultaneously.

"Who's that person? His aura is insane."

"That's an extremely malevolent aura."

"Did this person practice some sort of Demonic Art?"

The three of them were frozen.

Even Henry and the others were dumbfounded when they saw James approaching

"J-James "

"James It's James

"How's this possible"

They remained where they were with their eyes glued on him

Everyone knew that James had died three years ago He used his signature martial art skill and mortally wounded Xam The power of the sword was so strong he perished along with his final blow without a second behind

After Xam was locked up, the Earth's martial artists dug out Floret Palace's wreck but only found the Primordial Dragon Blade and Crucifier. James' remains were nowhere to be found.

When they saw a person that looked exactly like James appear, it was no wonder that they would be taken aback.

James walked over slowly

His face was sinister, and Demonic Energy emanated from his body. The Demonic Lotus that reconstituted his body was also the source of his terrifying Demonic Energy. His presence alone made others feel restless and fearful of him.

After his initial reaction, Yechiel quickly gathered himself. He looked at James and took a few steps forward. Staring at James, he said coldly, "Who are you, brat? Don't be stupid and stay out of Sword Sect's affairs. Get lost."

Yechiel could sense James' terrifying aura and knew he was a formidable foe.

Thus, he deliberately announced the identity of his sect to scare James away.

James walked toward him.

He looked at the dozens of corpses lying on the ground. Then, he looked at Henry and Quincy's red, swollen faces. Immediately, a bizarre red glow appeared in his eyes.

His heart was boiling with rage, but he remained sane.

He knew people from the Overworld were far from pushovers. To add to that, he did not know anything about Yechiel or his cultivation rank.

In the past, James would have attempted to settle it peacefully.

However, these enemies were harassing and killing his people.

Blood shall be repaid with blood.

"Sword Sect?"

James smiled coldly.

"Stop with that act, punk."

One of the Sword Sect's disciples drew his sword instantly. He immediately appeared in front of James and thrust his long sword at James' vital points.

The ones that could pass through the seal to earth were extraordinary.

Even though he was a low-ranked disciple of the Sword Sect, he had already become a Supernatural.

Chapter 1968

Henry and the others had worried expressions as the Supernatural disciple lunged at James.

Despite being rushed at a blinding speed, James simply raised his hand, stretched out two fingers, and caught the Sword Sect's disciple's blade.

The Sword Sect's disciples looked on in stunned silence.

James' opponent was a Supernatural and went all out in his attack. However, he could not land a scratch on the man before him.

Who was this man?

James stared him down as he slightly twisted his fingers.

Snap!

The tip of the sword broke and immediately fell to the ground.

At the same time, the sword's owner was shocked by the powerful foe before him and stumbled backward

"This is...?"

Yechiel's expression shifted as he watched the battle.

He knew his junior was a Supernatural. From his understanding, only one or two people on Earth had reached this particular rank. Following that logic, his disciple was supposed to be practically undefeatable on Earth.

"Who might you be, my friend? I'm the Sword Sect's senior disciple. Which sect from the Overworld are you from?" asked Yechiel.

James did not respond to him.

In the next second, James appeared in front of the Sword Sect's disciple and struck him with a punch.

Ridiculously strong energy erupted from his body, gathered together, and shot out at the Sword Sect's disciple.

Before the Sword Sect's disciple could react, the punch reached him and his body was blasted into oblivion.

"This..."

Yechiel's expression became solemn, and he quickly backed away.

Henry, Delainey, Quincy, and the others were completely dumbfounded.

The Sword Sect's disciple was a Supernatural. Even without his injury, the Prince of Orchid Mountain was barely able to hold back a Supernatural. He himself would find it almost impossible to kill the disciple. Yet, James suddenly showed up and immediately eliminated a Supernatural powerhouse.

What kind of powers did James have?

James was also shocked by the capabilities of his new body and greatly enhanced strength.

From the beginning, he could sense that the body had remarkable physical strength, but was not able to gauge the exact extent

"Die" James glared at him mercilessly

After speaking, he instantly appeared beside the other lower-ranked disciple.

"Sir, save me..!"

The Sword Sect's disciple was panicked. Unfortunately, by the time he shouted, James had already made his way to him. James threw another punch, and terrifying Demonic Energy rushed forth, completely engulfing the disciple. The energy then exploded.

The disciple perished instantly.

Yechiel suddenly found himself alone against James.

He was flustered after seeing two of his sect's disciples killed instantaneously. Beads of sweat rolled down his forehead.

"If I may ask, who are you and where do you hail from? I'm a disciple of the Sword Sect. By killing a member of the Sword Sect, you've essentially made an enemy out of us collectively.

James cast a livid glance at him.

Yechiel trembled in fear.

"Who are you to cause trouble in Wyrmland?"

James' expression darkened and suddenly lunged at Yechiel.

"Pfft." Yechiel sneered

"Do you think I'm afraid of you?"

Yechiel parried James' attack with all of his force.

Their fists collided.

Yechiel's arm was mutilated and soaked in blood. His body was flung away like a ragdoll and eventually slammed into the ground.

Henry, Delainey, Quincy, the Blithe King, Blake, and the others were dumbfounded.

James was taking on Yechiel.

He was a powerhouse from the Overworld, who claimed to be a Supernatural that had unlocked four Inner Gates.

Yet, this supposed powerhouse could not even withstand one move from James.

Henry's eyes widened in disbelief. "1-Is he really James? Isn't he dead? How did he become that insanely strong after suddenly reappearing?"

Everyone looked on with incredulous expressions.

It was hard to believe the person before them that killed two of Sword Sect's disciples and incapacitated Yechiel was James, who supposedly died three years ago.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1969 –

Chapter 1969

Yechiel was no pushover.

He was a Supernatural that had unlocked four Inner Gates. On Earth, someone of his strength would be easily regarded as invincible.

With his power, he thought he wielded a great amount of authority on Earth where martial arts had declined. He quite liked Wurmstead and wanted to become the Emperor of that nation. However, he was thwarted by a young man and defeated in a single move.

The force shattered the bones in his arm.

He fell to the ground, struggled to get up, and looked at James timidly. "W-Who are you? I've never heard of someone like you in the Overworld. Are you from the Overworld? Where did you come from?"

Yechiel had seen almost all the talented powerhouses in the Overworld. He even knew of the ones he had not met before.

However, he had no idea who was the person before him.

James walked over slowly

Yechiel continuously retreated backward as he could sense James' murderous intent.

At that moment, the idea of retreating crossed his mind.

Yechiel knew he was not a match for James. Unless he escaped, he would surely die.

After the idea popped into his mind, he quickly turned and fled. He leaped away to the sky in the distance.

James quickly gave chase.

Yechiel's rank allowed him to move rapidly. However, James was much faster than him and promptly caught up.

James grabbed him and violently threw him down to the ground.

Yechiel crashed into the ground, causing a cavernous pit to form instantly, and his body fall further into the pit.

James lightly flicked his wrist and mobilized his True Energy. A powerful force burst forth and pulled Yechiel up from the deep pit.

James grasped his neck and clamped down firmly.

Crack!

Yechiel's neck snapped and he died instantly.

James casually threw his corpse aside like rubbish.

Henry and the others watched the scene in horror.

Yechiel was a powerful force from the Overworld but was powerless against James.

Was this person really James?

James stretched his body and murmured. "This new body is incredible. I wonder if I can beat Xain as I am right now"

Not far away, Henry called out anxiously, “J-James?”

James came to his senses and withdrew his energy, returning to his normal state. He walked over and unsealed Henry and the other’s acupoints

Henry looked at James doubtfully.

“Is it you, James?”

Quincy was also elated to see him and could not help but take a few steps forward. She ignored her facial injury and looked at James excitedly. “J-James? Is it really you?”

Delainey looked at James in disbelief and asked, “Y-You’re still alive?”

Everyone else stared at him in astonishment.

James looked at the familiar faces and nodded lightly. “Mhm, it’s me. I’m still alive.”

After confirming James was indeed alive, everyone present gasped.

A few seconds later, Quincy rushed toward James and threw herself into his arms with tears.

“Waah!!! You’re still alive! Thank god you’re still alive! I thought... I thought you were dead.”

Seeing James still alive, Quincy could not hold back her true feelings. She did not care that other people were around and embraced James, bursting into tears.

James patted Quincy’s shoulder and said, “Thank you for working hard all these years. Leave the rest to me.”

Quincy forced herself to calm down, let go of James, and stood beside him with joy on her tear-streaked face. She asked, “What happened? Didn’t you die three years ago? How are you still alive? You’re so powerful now that even Yechiel wasn’t a match for you.”

Delainey said, “Yeah! Yechiel is a powerful man from the Overworld. He’s a Supernatural that unlocked the Fourth Inner Gate. He was helpless against you and died so easily in your hands.”

“He already unlocked the Fourth Inner Gate?” James murmured.

He was unsure of Yechiel’s strength.

However, he completely suppressed Yechiel.

Moreover, he had only used a little of his physical strength.

James did not know how strong he would be if he unleashed all his strength. He wondered whether he could defeat Xain.

He was unsure how strong a Supernatural that unlocked all Nine Inner Gates was.

He was only certain that he could easily suppress a Supernatural that had unlocked the Fourth Inner Gate

“Haah!”

James took a deep breath.

He clenched his fists and thought. The custodian was right. I’ve acquired the opportunity of a lifetime and wonderful advantage. Even if I worked hard in my original body, I would never reach this level of physical strength.

James pondered for a while and returned to his senses.

He looked at the corpses on the ground sadly. He instructed in a gentle tone, “Respectfully bury these guards and compensate their families adequately. Also, don’t leak the fact that I return or that I killed the Sword Sect’s disciples for now.”

“Alright.” Henry nodded without a second thought.

Sometime later, many people gathered in Wrymstead’s palace hall.

Those gathered were Wrymstead’s senior authorities.

James sat on the highest platform.

Henry stood up and began reporting Wrymstead’s progress in the past three years.

After they acquired large amounts of funds, Wrymstead developed rapidly, and an underground shelter was built beneath the country. Additionally, they made an underground cold storage, and had been storing food from all over the world.

Wrymstead’s current food reserves were enough for one billion people to survive for three years.

The country was developing rapidly

In the past few years, Wurmstead had also forcibly taken over many countries with its overwhelming force

Wurmstead had already become one of the world's largest countries and was not far behind Sol

James was pleased by the reports. It seemed that after his death three years ago, Henry and the others did not stay idle and had been working very hard.

Meanwhile, Delaney led Mount Thunder Sect's disciples in training the Black Dragon Army. Now, the army's soldiers were all martial artists. Although their overall strength was lacking, with the assistance of modern weapons, they were practically invincible.

Quincy, on the other hand, focused on business aspect of the development.

The New Era of Commerce was the strongest chamber of commerce worldwide, with members from all over the world.

In conclusion, Wurmstead was developing smoothly.

After Henry finished reporting the country's current state in detail, he asked, "What do you plan to do next. James?"

James replied softly, "I plan to go into closed-door meditation for a while."

Although he was physically strong, his cultivation base was still weak, and he was not a Supernatural yet.

The time left before the seal opened was gradually nearing. How would he save the world if his cultivation rank remained as it was?

"By the way, where's Winnie?" asked James.

Henry said, "After Winnie was saved three years ago, we sent her to Lothian."

Hearing this, James was relieved.

According to the information he gathered, Lothian was also developing relatively fast.

Although Langston had become the target of many Overworld Outsiders, they only went against him, and none of them had caused any harm to Lothian.

James instructed, "Pretend as if the incident today had never happened, and continue as you were. I'll have to hide and train for some time. After improving my rank, I'll wipe out Overworld Outsiders and attain some temporary peace for Earth."
