

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1999 –

Chapter 1999

Though James had severely injured Yandel, he also suffered injuries himself. His body was pierced by a sword, and his back was struck by a fist. He plummeted from the sky and crashed into a mountain below, which instantly disintegrated into a pile of rubble.

“Is he dead?”

“His vital points must have been pierced by the sword. Even if he’s still alive, he shouldn’t be able to continue fighting.”

“I guess it’s over, then.”

“That martial artist from Earth is terrifying. To think that he managed to inflict damage on the other party while being surrounded on all sides.”

From afar, many martial artists from the Overworld spectated the battle from a distance away.

Upon seeing the blood on Yandel’s body, they could not help but take a deep breath.

Just as everyone believed that James was defeated, a black light soared to the sky from under the rubble. Then, James appeared in mid-air.

Though he looked battered, his aura did not diminish at all. Not only did he not show any signs of fatigue, but his strength seemed to have increased.

Leandro’s face darkened. He had pierced James’ body with a sword and struck his back with his fist. Under normal circumstances, even someone at the Supernatural Consummation rank would not be able to hold his ground against such an onslaught. James, however, was completely fine.

“What a freak!”

The crowd took a deep breath, stunned by James’ tenacity.

James paid no heed to their reactions. At that moment, he only had a single individual on his mind- Yandel Harlow.

Seeing that James was fixing his gaze on him, Yandel’s blood ran cold and he unconsciously staggered backward.

James stepped on the black lotus and charged toward Yandel at great speed. In the blink of an eye, he appeared before him, clenching his fists and smashing against him.

“Curse you!”

Yandel roared.

At the same time, he summoned his full strength and met James head-on.

Boom!

Their fists collided.

James was immediately sent flying. His arm went limp, and cracks appeared throughout his body. Under normal circumstances, anyone would have lost the ability to fight after suffering such a blow. However, James' body was imbued with Demonic Energy. As such, his body, bizarre and terrifying, rejuvenated at a speed unbelievable to the naked eye.

Though James' physical prowess was comparatively weaker than Yandel's True Energy, Yandel nonetheless staggered backward. As he was already injured, he could no longer suppress the violent Blood Energy inside his body and vomited a mouthful of blood.

“Get him all at once!”

Leandro yelled and charged toward James, while Xain, Samarth, and Wynter followed close behind.

They summoned their full strength and launched an all-out attack. Surrounded by all sides, James began losing ground.

Inadvertently, he was struck by Samarth's palm. The excruciating pain almost made him pass out.

Then, Leandro came slashing with his sword. Before James could react, his arm was sliced in half.

However, at that moment, a mysterious power was discharged from where his limb was dismembered and forcibly attached his arm back.

This deeply stunned Leandro and the others.

Even James was surprised.

This was simply unbelievable.

“Hahaha!”

James laughed.

“You can never hope to defeat me.”

He cackled.

Then, he stepped on the black lotus and headed in Yandel’s direction.

“Again?!”

Upon seeing James charging toward him, Yandel, who finally got a brief moment of respite, cursed, “Who the hell do you think you are?”

He was enraged.

Ignoring his injuries, he summoned his full strength, and his aura was drastically boosted.

An illusory ferocious tiger formed out of True Energy materialized behind him. Imbued with a mysterious power, it exuded an invincible aura.

At that moment, the tiger roared and leaped toward James. Sensing the looming danger, James tried to dodge but to no avail. The tiger slashed at his chest and tore a chunk of meat away.

James could feel excruciating pain throughout his body. At that moment, however, a black aura was discharged from his body, which immediately rejuvenated his wound.

“That’s all you’ve got?”

James smirked.

As the battle dragged on, he now had a better understanding of his own body.

He was invincible. As long as he was not wiped out in a single move, he could not be defeated. Even when faced against opponents several times greater in strength, he was unafraid.

“What a freak!”

Wynter was shocked. Though she had seen powerful figures before, James was on an entirely different level.

The others were wearing grim expressions.

James' strength was simply too extraordinary, especially his rejuvenating abilities.

The crowd watched the battle as their blood ran cold.

Meanwhile, Yandel was filled with consternation.

Though he had performed his Natal Supernatural, he could not annihilate James. As his energy would be significantly depleted after performing his Natal Supernatural, this was his last resort. However, once performed, the Natal Supernatural should be able to annihilate all standing in his way.

“Die.”

As James' body recovered, he went on the move once more.

Meanwhile, the others simply stood idly by and watched.

Without their interference, James had a much easier time pursuing Yandel. Even though Yandel could injure him, he could not kill him.

As the battle ensued, Yandel began losing ground. At the moment, his injuries were grave, and he would be in mortal danger if he did not get medical attention in time.

What are you standing there for, Leandro? We should work together and kill him!”

Yandel pleaded.

At that moment, James appeared before him.

Threads of black aura oozed out of the black lotus, enveloping the injured Yandel and binding him in mid-air.

Yandel struggled with all his might. At that moment, his expression became contorted with pain.

“Break!”

He roared.

He summoned all his strength and forcibly broke free of the Demonic Energy enveloping him.

The Demonic Energy returned to the black lotus.

Yandel, meanwhile, was gravely injured.

At that moment, his life was hanging by a thread, and he could no longer continue fighting.

“Die.”

James’ expression was ice-cold.

He knew he had to slaughter a couple of them before he could earn the right to negotiate with the Overworld.

“N-No more... I admit defeat.”

Sensing James’ killing intent, Yandel was horrified.

Yandel chose to concede defeat and prayed that James would spare his life.

James, on the other hand, simply glared at him.

Deep in contemplation, he wondered if he should use this opportunity to strike fear in the Overworld Outsiders’ hearts by annihilating Yandel.

However, he was also concerned that this would have the opposite effect and instead incur the Overworld’s wrath. In such a scenario, the earthlings would be their target of reprisal. Although he was unafraid of the Overworld, the same could not be said about the earthlings.

Besides, after the fierce battle, he began to understand more about his body. His body was imbued with powerful Demonic Energy, but the energy would be depleted every time he suffered an injury. At the moment, he no longer had much Demonic Energy inside his body. Indeed, he could feel his recovery speed gradually slowing down.

It made James realize that he was not invincible. There was a limit to his recovery. Once his Demonic Energy was depleted, his body would stop rejuvenating by itself.

“Stop right there, James.” Leandro walked toward James and looked at him, saying, “End the fight now and tell us more about your conditions. As long as it’s within our power, we’ll accept your demands.”

Leandro stepped forward and announced a truce, while the others simply remained silent. James had demonstrated incredible strength. Since he was recognized by the Overworld Outsiders, he now had the right to be on equal footing with them..

James took a deep breath to forcibly suppress his killing intent. His aura subsided, and the Demonic Energy dispersed.

Seeing this, Yandel breathed a sigh of relief. Just a moment ago, he could clearly sense his life hanging by a thread. He would have died if James chose so. After all, no one could stop him.

James glared at Leandro and the others and asked coldly, “So have I earned the right to negotiate with you?”

Leandro laughed and said, “Since antiquity, the strong do what they can and the weak suffer what they must. To earn the right to negotiate with us, you need to demonstrate sufficient strength. My friend, you certainly are an equal among us.”

Xain stepped forward and said with a smile, “That was a nice sparring match.”

He was somewhat disappointed that they failed to kill James. However, he had no choice but to put those plans aside for now. Besides, James was already a dead man to him. Once the seal was undone, James would perish alongside the earthlings.

Leandro said smilingly, “Let’s talk elsewhere.”

Then, he turned to leave, while the others followed suit.

James followed close behind.

Yandel breathed a sigh of relief. Only after the battle truly ended did he collapse to the ground.

Soon, a few cultivators came rushing over.

“Q-Quick, heal my injuries.”

Supported by many disciples, Yandel hurriedly left.

Many gathered outside the main hall of the Sacerdotal Sect on Mount Bane. James’ powerful strength had earned him the right to enter negotiations with his opponents.

Leandro looked at James and asked, "You may list your terms anytime. We'll accept your demands as long as they are reasonable."

As he looked at James who was completely unscathed, he smiled faintly at him. However, his expression was dark.

James stood up and scanned the crowd, saying, "From today onward, all living beings from the Overworld are forbidden from making life difficult for the earthlings. Those who violate the rule will be annihilated without mercy."

Leandro said smilingly, "No problem at all. We came here in search of opportunities, after all. I promise you that the Overworld will not harass any earthlings, starting from today until the seal is released."

The others nodded in agreement, signaling their willingness to live in harmony with the earthlings. James continued, "As the location of the seal, Mount Bane is the most mysterious place on Earth. Thus, many magical objects will appear here. From today onward, the earthlings shall be allowed to enter Mount Bane as they please. You are forbidden from restricting access to them."

The others looked at Leandro.

The Son of Heaven was the greatest among those who came from the Overworld. Meanwhile, as the butler of the Son of Heaven, Leandro's words could be interpreted as the Son of Heaven's wishes.

Leandro contemplated for a brief moment before saying, "I have no qualms about that. However, the earthlings are forbidden from entering the area in the vicinity of the sects that we've established. Should they violate the rule, they shall be exterminated without mercy."

James accepted the terms.

"Last but not least, finders' keepers for those who find the magical objects."

James listed his third demand.

He was making preparations for the magical objects that would emerge on Mount Bane shortly. Now that he knew that magical objects would soon appear on Mount Bane, he might be able to keep a few for himself by constantly monitoring the area. This would prevent a fierce battle from breaking out. Besides, the earthlings lacked the power to contend for the magical objects. These rules would be beneficial to them.

“Fine, I agree with your demands,” Leandro said.

The others had no objections. The negotiations proceeded smoothly and the Overworld Outsiders accepted all of James’ demands.

James breathed a sigh of relief.

Although the fight was perilous, he nonetheless succeeded in seeking opportunities for the earthlings. From today onward, they would no longer have to subject themselves to the barbarity of the Overworld.

“Farewell, then.”

As the negotiations were done, James did not linger for long and immediately turned to leave the Sacerdotal Sect.

After he left, everyone’s expression darkened.

Samarth asked, “Leandro, why did you accept all his demands? Are these the Son of Heaven’s wishes?” Wearing a grim expression, Leandro said, “James is no ordinary man. No matter how gravely injured he is, he can simply rejuvenate in a short amount of time. Since we currently cannot annihilate him, we can only compromise. The Son of Heaven is still in closed-door meditation, so he’s preoccupied at the moment. We’ll have to wait for him to leave his meditation. In the meantime, we should keep a low profile and stop harassing the earthlings.”

Then, Leandro stood up and left.

Meanwhile, after leaving the Sacerdotal Sect, James headed to the foot of Mount Bane. He found a secluded spot and gave a call to Xandra who was far away in Lothian.

“Mother.”

“How did it go, James? Have you arrived at Mount bane?” Xandra’s voice came from the phone.

James smiled and said, “Yes, I have. In fact, I killed Matias Judah of the Sacerdotal Sect and fought against Xain Judah. In the end, I even fought against a group of cultivators at the Supernatural Consummation rank to a standstill, earning the right to negotiate with the Overworld...”

James recounted the events that unfolded.

Xandra was dumbfounded.

“What? Y-You fought against a couple of cultivators at the Supernatural Consummation rank and almost annihilated Yandel Harlow?” Shocked, Xandra exclaimed, “Are you telling the truth?”

“Of course! Now that the matter has been resolved, we are now allowed to enter Mount Bane. The Overworld will no longer harass us. Mother, from today onward, the magical objects that appear on Mount Bane will belong to whoever finds them first.

“Come to Mount Bane at once. I have a premonition that a magical object is about to appear. This time, the object shall be mine.”
