

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2061 –

Chapter 2061

Sophie glanced at James. Suddenly, her body flickered and disappeared.

James had become the Celestial Abode's owner yet could not sense Sophie.

He was surprised.

What an extraordinary woman.

James looked at the Spirit Tool and said, "Sir, I'll be leaving for now."

"Master, you don't have to be so formal with me. You can just call me Nova."

As the Celestial Abode's owner, it meant he was also Nova's new master.

He refused to let James address him so formally.

James kept his mouth shut after that.

With a single thought, he appeared outside the Celestial Abode instantly.

At that moment, countless martial artists were gathered outside the Celestial Abode. All of these people were Outsiders.

James appeared in a deserted area outside the Celestial Abode and looked at the people gathered in the distance. His lips formed into a faint smile.

"Shrink."

After he gave his telepathic order, the Celestial Abode began to shrink from its massive size, eventually turning into a small light. Then, it flew into James' palm and transformed into a ring.

James took the Celestial Abode that turned into a ring and left contentedly.

"What happened?"

"Has someone already claimed the Celestial Abode?"

"Who exactly is the new owner?"

"The Celestial Abode flew in that direction."

Many people hurriedly followed the path the Celestial Abode took before it disappeared. However, by the time they reached the area, James had already left.

James' next goal was to make a show of his power by killing someone.

His target was the Son of Heaven.

The Son of Heaven demanded he plead guilty at the City Lord's Mansion in Hazted City within the next three days. Moreover, he threatened to wipe out a city for every day he was late. The threat had crossed the line. To prevent this from escalating in the future, James concluded the Son of Heaven had to die.

At that moment, a video of James rescuing the three women in Hazted City had gone viral.

It spread around the earth

Many threads discussing the incident were made on the Martial Arts Forum.

"Is that James? Is he really the same James that disappeared two years ago?"

"What the hell has James been up to in the past few years? He suddenly reappears three years later after everyone presumed him dead. Then, he only shows up for a while and suddenly leaves without a word. You're saying he's back again?!"

"What the hell is James doing? Doesn't he know how powerful these Outsiders are? How dare he still save those women in Hazted City? We're doomed! Now the Son of Heaven is going to wipe out our cities!"

"Where are you, James? Please confess your guilt as soon as possible! Don't just let so many innocents lose their lives over your actions!"

Many people posted on the forum, demanding that James return to Hazted City and plead guilty. Everyone hoped James would not implicate Earth's humans with his actions.

Meanwhile, James did not return to Hazted City immediately.

Before doing so, he wanted to consult with the Omniscient Deity.

Everything he was doing was for the sake of humanity. Besides himself, the Omniscient Deity was the other strongest martial artist on Earth. Moreover, the Omniscient Deity was the reason that Earth was able to carry on despite the past few years.

Without him, the Outsiders would have completely conquered the earth a long time ago.

Half a day later, James appeared in Mount Jade.

The Jade Sect was located on Mount Jade, which was also where the Omniscient Deity resided.

Since the Omniscient Deity's return, martial artists worldwide have turned to him to lead them. Under his leadership, Earth' martial artists were united under a single banner and formed a powerful force.

"Who's there?"

As soon as James appeared within Mount Jade's range, he was blocked by some martial artists. Their expression immediately changed upon realizing who James was.

"J-James? Is that you?"

"Do you know what a mess you've caused? What did you come to Mount Jade for? Why haven't you gone to Hazted City to admit to your guilt? Do you want countless humans to die simply because of your impulsive actions?"

These martial artists recognized James.

Instead of respecting James for his contributions to the earth, they began to chide him.

They gave James an earful for acting recklessly in Hazted City.

James looked at the martial artists blocking his path and said calmly, "I came to see the Omniscient Deity. I will resolve the Hazted City's matter soon. First, I must see the Omniscient Deity."

"Fine, wait here. I'll report your visit."

One of the martial artists turned and left.

The others looked at James warily.

James did not pay the martial artists' hostility any mind.

To them, the Outsiders were powerful beings, and offending was a surefire way to die.

If he were in their shoes, he would not want to see countless people die because one person offended and angered these Outsiders.

Soon, the martial artist who left to report the visit returned.

“The Sect Leader will see you. You may proceed. The Sect Leader is in the back mountain.”

James ascended Mount Jade.

The Omniscient Deity sat on a rock in the back mountain of Mount Jade with a piece of straw dangling from his mouth. His face was sorrowful as he was deep in thought, worrying about the future of the earth's humans.

“Lord Omniscient.”

James walked over and greeted him.

“Congratulations on arriving.” The Omniscient Deity nodded lightly.

James approached and sat down on a rock beside the Omniscient Deity.

The Omniscient Deity looked at him and sighed, saying, “You acted too recklessly this time, James. I know you merely wanted to save those women, but you should've at least done your research on the type of place Hazed City was or who Tristen's true identity was. Your actions will result in countless sacrifices. When that happens, you'll no longer be humanity's hero but a sinner. Do you understand?”

The Omniscient Deity also reprimanded James' reckless actions.

Although Hazed City did not prohibit entry of the earth's martial artists, most would not dare to step foot into the place.

Even the Omniscient Deity did not dare to cause trouble in Hazed City.

James, on the other hand, killed a person in the city. His actions could be seen as an invitation to blatantly challenge Tristen.

Tristen was a very powerful man.

He had already reached the Herculean Sixth Layer and was currently the strongest man on Earth.

Tristen was a very powerful man.

He had already reached the Herculean Sixth Layer and was currently the strongest man on Earth.

Moreover, Hazted City's Deputy City Lord and other senior authorities were also formidable people themselves. Any one of them could wreak devastating damage to the earth.

James fell silent.

"Haah."

The Omniscient Deity sighed gently and said, "Now that things have come to this, I'll have to go to Hazted City personally and ask for forgiveness to see if we can resolve this matter peacefully."

James finally spoke, "That won't be necessary, Lord Omniscient. I'll resolve the trouble I caused on my own."

"Resolve?"

The Omniscient Deity stood up and looked at James, scolding him, "How are you going to fix the situation? You're simply gambling with the lives of humanity."

James said, "The earth's humans will never bow down to these Outsiders. I'll challenge the Son of Heaven and kill him in front of everyone! I'll show these Outsiders that they can't treat our kind as they please."

"Ha!" The Omniscient Deity laughed.

"You're going to challenge the Son of Heaven? Do you know what rank he is? He already reached the Herculean Second Layer."

James replied calmly, "So what?"

So what if the Son of Heaven was a Herculean Second Layer?

Two years ago, he managed to hurt the Son of Heaven.

He was much stronger than he used to be, and it would not be difficult for him to kill the Son of Heaven.

“You?”

The Omniscient Deity was shocked by James’ nonchalant reply and expression. He carefully observed James and asked incredulously, “H-Have you grown stronger in the past two years?”

James smiled faintly and said, “Although I’m not absolutely unstoppable, it shouldn’t be a problem for me to kill the Son of Heaven.”

The Omniscient Deity was relieved by James’ words.

“If that’s the case, I’ll come with you.”

Since James had the confidence to kill the Son of Heaven, the Omniscient Deity did not stop him.

“I won’t stop you from killing the Son of Heaven. However, do know that he isn’t the strongest Outsider at the moment. The most powerful Outsider is Tristen, who is already a Herculean at the Sixth Layer. The Herculean rank only has six layers. After breaking through the sixth layer, he will reach the Immortal Ascension rank.

“So please don’t act recklessly in Hazted City. You must be respectful and get Tristen’s permission to fight the Son of Heaven and make a promise that this matter will be over after you kill him.

“Do you understand?”

James parted his lips and replied, “Mhm, I understand. I’ve already come up with a plan.”

After explaining his intention to challenge the Son of Heaven and discussing the matter with the Omniscient Deity, James left Mount Jade.

Half a day later, James returned to Mount Bane and arrived outside Hazted City's gate.

James was dressed in white and carried a long sword on his back. He walked toward Hazted City slowly.

Many Outsiders were gathered outside the city.

They stopped in their tracks upon seeing James draw closer and cleared the way for him. Standing on either side of James' path, they began to talk about him.

"That's James! He's the martial artist from Earth!"

"Some time ago, he violently killed someone in the city and angered the Deputy City Lord, the Son of Heaven. He was instructed to plead guilty to his crime at the City Lord's Mansion within three days if he wanted them to spare his life. If he didn't they were going to kill him."

"The Son of Heaven also threatened to eradicate a city for every day James did not comply with their demands."

James strode toward the city gate as the group of Outsiders gossiped about him.

He ignored them and remained calm.

Soon, he arrived at the city gate.

The guards on duty were delighted to see James.

"Are you here to plead guilty to your crime, James?"

"Since you're here to plead guilty, you may enter the city and head to the City Lord's Mansion on your knees."

"No, you should climb from under my crotch."

One of the guards spread his legs.

James glanced at these guards calmly. However, the quiet energy he exuded was intimidating.

Sensing his terrifying energy, the guards sensibly shut their mouths and let James into the city without further harassing him.

After James entered the city, he instantly became the center of attention.

Many people followed him all the way to the City Lord's Mansion.

James arrived at the City Lord's Mansion in less than ten minutes after entering the city. The luxurious mansion was enormous and extravagant. In front of the mansion's gate were two majestic, giant dragon statues.

Many guards stood at the door.

When James approached, he was immediately blocked off.

James did not act recklessly when obstructed by the City Lord's Mansion guards. He said calmly, "My name is James Caden. I'm here to see the City Lord."

"Wait here."

One of the guards glanced at James coldly and went in to report his visit.

James waited patiently at the mansion's gate.

After waiting a few minutes, a group of people walked out of the mansion.

The person in the lead was a handsome young man dressed in a golden robe with a crown on his head.

"Tristen!"

"It's Tristen! It's Tristen!!!!"

"He's so handsome! I love him! I'm so in love!"

Women's screams could be heard coming from the distance.

The extravagant man walking in the forefront smiled and waved to the screaming women in the distance.

"Oh my god! Did you see that? Did you see Tristen smiling at me?"

"Nonsense! He was obviously smiling at me."

"Please, he was clearly smiling in my direction." Some of the women bickered among themselves.

Meanwhile, James furrowed his brows.

The person in the lead was Tristen. James never expected Tristen to be such a popular man.

James recognized a few of the people standing behind Tristen. He noticed the Son of Heaven, Xain, Samarth, and Yandel.

There were a number of people that James had never seen before.

“City Lord.”

Seeing Tristen coming outside, the guards regarded him respectfully.

Tristen gently waved his hand.

The guards purposefully stepped aside to make a path for him.

Tristen walked toward James and stood a few meters away from him. He looked at James, and a smile formed on his handsome face. “You must be James, right?”

James replied, “Yeah.”

Tristen said softly, “Did you know that fighting is prohibited in Hazted City? I established the rule to create a peaceful city, but you killed someone and broke the rules after stepping into my city. If I don’t teach you a lesson today, everyone will follow suit in the future, and Hazted City will descend into chaos.”

Although he had a smile, Tristen’s tone was incredibly tyrannical.

“Ha!”

James snickered and said, “Do you think Hazted City is the only place governed by rules? Do you think there aren’t any laws on Earth? So you’re saying Outsiders can kill and sell earthlings like slaves as they please? That man trafficked humans from Earth and that goes against the things I stand for. He deserved to die.”

Faced with Tristen, James showed no fear.

Clap! Clap! Clap!

Tristen clapped his hands and the crowd began to applaud.

The people standing behind Tristen watched the scene as if it was a movie. To them, James’ fate was as good as sealed.

After he was done clapping, Tristen looked at James and said with a smile, "One needs to have strength if they want to keep their dignity. If you refuse to be beaten or trafficked, you'll have to have the strength to protect yourselves. Unfortunately..."

Tristen looked at James and said slowly, "Earthlings don't seem to have the strength, do they?"

"Haha..."

"The City Lord's right!"

"If you want to be respected, you must have the strength to earn it!"

Tristen's words received a lot of cheers from the crowd.

Hearing this, James laughed.

He was wondering how to bring up his intent to challenge the Son of Heaven.

Since Tristen made such a bold statement, it made things easier for him. He smiled faintly and said, "I must prove my strength, right?"

Tristen nodded and said, "That's right. You have to prove your strength, but do you have what it takes?"

James maintained his composure and replied, "If that's the case, am I allowed to challenge an Outsider?"

"Challenge?"

Tristen was surprised by the request and burst out laughing. "Of course. Who do you want to challenge?"

James pointed at the Son of Heaven standing behind Tristen and said, "I'd like to challenge him."

The Son of Heaven was surprised to see James pointing at him. He walked over with a smile. and looked at James contemptuously, "What did you say? Did you just say you want to challenge me?"

"That's right. Do you have the guts to accept it?"

James looked at the Son of Heaven and said, "It'll be a fight to the finish. The winner shall live, and the loser will die. Are you brave enough to accept the challenge?"

"Why not?"

The Son of Heaven was incensed.

As the disciple of the Overworld's strongest martial artist, he was always treated respectfully regardless of where he went. Yet, James challenged him as if he was a nobody.

"Good."

Tristen interjected. "If you defeat the Son of Heaven, your crime will be pardoned. However..." His tone became hostile as he said, "If you're defeated, you will die, and I'll send my men to wipe off one city from the face of this planet."

"Alright." James agreed to the condition without any hesitation.

James agreed to Tristen's request.

His homicide charge in Hazted City would be pardoned if he won.

However, an entire city would be eradicated if he was defeated.

He was risking the lives of Earth's humans, but he had the confidence to win.

James looked at Tristen and said calmly, "You can set the time and venue of the battle."

Tristen replied, "Since I get to decide, how about one week later on Mount Bane?"

"Alright." James nodded.

Then, he turned and left under everyone's watchful gaze.

After James was gone, the smile on Tristen's face disappeared and was replaced with a grim look. He turned around and returned to the City Lord's Mansion. Right behind him was a cabal of powerful fighters.

Tristen sat on the highest platform in the City Lord's Mansion's main hall. He looked at the Son of Heaven and asked calmly, "Do you have the confidence to kill James?"

The Son of Heaven said arrogantly, "James is nothing but an ant to me."

Xain promptly advised, "Son of Heaven, you shouldn't be careless. James is quite an unusual martial artist and practices Demonic Arts. Moreover, his body's recovery ability is incredible. Although he was relatively weak two years ago, he was still able to hold his own rather well."

He reminded the Son of Heaven.

The Son of Heaven snorted and said, "Hmph. I won't lose."

He was sure of his strength.

Another person chimed in. "Don't forget, Son of Heaven. Two years ago, you were seriously injured by him."

Hearing this, the Son of Heaven's expression darkened, and he clenched his fists tightly.

The disgrace he felt from the battle haunted him.

James had outwitted him. With his strength, he was fully capable of dodging James' attacks no matter how lethal.

Tristen said calmly, "James must die at all costs. I plan to get rid of Earth's martial artists as soon as possible, starting with James. After killing him, we can take advantage of the incident and cause a ruckus. Then, we'll destroy the Omniscient Deity."

Tristen already had a plan. He had wanted to deal with the Omniscient Deity for a while now. However, that man was highly regarded, so Tristen needed an opportunity to take action against him.

Now, the perfect opportunity had presented itself.

"James must be defeated. Only after he's defeated can we cause a commotion and take action against the Omniscient Deity and the Jade Sect. After we eradicate them, our next targets will be Lothian, Wrymstead, Japura, Tacriyrus, and other countries."

Tristen stood up and clenched his fists.

"After the earth's seal is open, the human regions on earth will be protected, and stronger Outsider warriors will not be able to access these strongholds. Thus, we must conquer the earth as soon as possible."

James had already left by then.

There was still one week for him to make preparations before the decisive battle.

Although he was confident he could kill the Son of Heaven, he wanted to be well-prepared just to be safe.

After leaving Hazted City, he entered a forest deep within Mount Bane. James looked at the plain ring on his finger. When James willed it, the ring slipped off his finger, landed on the ground, and a golden light formed.

The golden light gradually grew brighter and turned into a fist-sized house.

With another thought, James was transported into the Celestial Abode.

After entering the Celestial Abode, it stopped glowing and shrank to the size of a grain of sand, concealing itself in the ground. Even if someone passed through the area, it would be impossible to find the Celestial Abode.

This was the Celestial Abode's unique attribute-it could expand and shrink at will.

Since James was the Celestial Abode's owner, he could freely change its shape and size.

After entering the Celestial Abode, James appeared in the city center.

"Mr. Spirit Tool! Help! Help!!!"

James began shouting as soon as he was inside the Celestial Abode.

He came to ask the Spirit Tool to teach him some special martial art skills.

Although the Celestial Abode's former owner, Emperor Jabari, left countless strong and special martial art skills behind. At James' current strength, he was unqualified to practice them.

James would have to wait until he reached a higher rank before he was eligible to enter the library chamber.

The only person he could depend on now was the Spirit Tool, Nova.

Nova was at Emperor Jabari's side for thousands of years, so it was safe to assume he must have mastered many signature martial art skills.

Swoosh!

A hazy silhouette flickered in front of him and gradually took the physical form of an old man. The old man wore a gray robe. He had white hair and a beard but had a lively expression. He looked at James with a smile and asked, "How may I help you, Master?"

James finally saw the Spirit Tool's actual appearance for the first time. However, this was inconsequential at the moment. He came to the Celestial Abode to learn some signature martial art skills. Although he was confident in his current strength, he wanted to learn some powerful skills as an assurance for the battle ahead.

"You have to help me, Spirit Tool."

"Calm down, Master. Speak a little slower."

James explained, "This is what happened. I agreed to participate in a fight to the death. If I lose, I'll die, and one city on earth along with its inhabitants will be eradicated..."

He briefly explained the bet he made with the Outsiders.

"Oh, it's the Son of Heaven?"

Nova smiled faintly and said, "Although his rank is higher than yours, he doesn't have a stable foundation. With your current strength, defeating him should be a simple task."

James replied, "Still, I'm worried. I agreed to their terms. Not only will I die, one of the earth's cities will be buried with me if I lose. Tens of thousands of lives rest on my shoulders right now. I need to ensure that there's a one hundred percent chance of victory."

Nova said, "You aren't capable of learning my Supernatural Powers yet. How about I get Sophie to tutor you for the next few days?"

Speaking of Sophie, James' curiosity was piqued.

After he became the Celestial Abode's owner, he established a connection and obtained information about the space. This included details about Sophie.

He discovered that she was not an artificial being but was, in fact, a living human.

"Nova, what kind of person is Sophie? What's the reason she has to stay in the Celestial Abode?" James asked out of curiosity.

"Sophie..."

The Spirit Tool thought for a while and said, "That's not for you to know for now. I'm sure, with time, you'll eventually know more about her."

After speaking, a mysterious symbol appeared in his hand and disappeared into thin air. Immediately afterward, a silhouette dressed in white appeared.

She looked at James, then to the Spirit Tool, and asked, "What's the matter, Spirit Tool? Why did you summon me?"

The Spirit Tool explained the matter to her.

Sophie glanced at James. "You want me to guide him?"

"If you would be so kind!"

James looked at Sophie eagerly and said, "Ms. Sophie, you have to help me. I know you're powerful and have mastered many extraordinary martial art skills. If you could just guide me at little, I'm sure I'll be able to overwhelm and defeat the Son of Heaven!"

Sophie smirked and said, "Sure, I can guide you. However, there is something I need from you."

"Go ahead, tell me. I'll give it to you as long as I have it!"

"I want a Fortune Fruit."

"Cough!"

The Spirit Tool coughed inadvertently.

James was unsure of why the Spirit Tool coughed. He looked at Sophie puzzledly and asked, "I don't have one."

"You only need to agree to it."

Hearing this, James sensed that something was amiss.

Could these things be within the Celestial Abode?

After thinking about it, he asked tentatively, "What is this Fortune Fruit? Are there any Fortune Fruits in the Celestial Abode?"

yet. It's a

The Spirit Tool coughed softly and said, “Master, you don’t need the Fortune Fruit miraculous and precious fruit. There are indeed three Fortune Fruits within the Celestial Abode. Our previous master spared no effort to obtain them.”

Hearing this, James hesitated.

Emperor Jabari worked hard to obtain it?

He had no idea how strong Emperor Jabari was, but as the person who created the Celestial Abode, he must have been immensely powerful. Since he went through a lot of effort to obtain it, it must be a remarkable treasure.

Sophie rolled her eyes at the Spirit Tool.

“Zip it, would you?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 2067 –

Chapter 2067

Sophie looked at James and said with a grin, “The Fortune Fruit is indeed extraordinary. However, you wouldn’t be needing it any time soon. Moreover, a person can only consume it once. There are three Fortune Fruits in the Celestial Abode. Even if you gave me one, there would still be two left. It’ll be more than enough for you in the future. What do you think? Get me one, and I’ll guide you.”

James touched his chin. ‘What exactly are these Fortune Fruits?’

He felt like Sophie was manipulating him. However, he urgently needed to learn some powerful martial art skills.

After pondering for a while, he gritted his teeth and agreed.

“Alright. I’ll do it.”

“Hehe!”

Sophie giggled and said, “Great!”

She suddenly disappeared. Ten seconds later, she reappeared where she last stood.

In her hands was a white fruit slightly larger than an apple, with a magical aura flowing from it. The fruit looked very mysterious.

Sophie happily put away the fruit she was holding.

The Spirit Tool's lips twitched. However, he did not say anything and disappeared from James' sight.

Sophie looked at James and said with a smile, "What do you want to learn?"

James asked, "Do you have anything capable of improving my skills within a few days?"

"What kind of martial arts technique do you want to learn?"

"Anything is fine."

James did not have much contact with martial arts techniques. Everything he learned was considered rudimentary in the ancient martial world. His current techniques were relatively weak compared to the cultivators' elusive Supernatural Arts.

Sophie rubbed her chin pensively. After a while, she said, "How about I teach you a sword technique?"

"Sure!" James was delighted.

Swordsmanship was his most proficient skill and he already knew countless sword techniques. Although he considered them intricate and difficult techniques, they were relatively low-level techniques to cultivators.

"Let's go to the training ground."

Sophie's body hovered away and left the area.

James followed her and soon arrived at the city's training ground. The venue was enormous and was 10 kilometers wide. Mysterious protective formations also surrounded it.

Sophie landed on the training ground. In her white dress, she looked like a goddess descending from the heavens. She turned to James and asked, "What kind of sword techniques have you learned? Show me all of them."

"Okay." James nodded.

Then, he drew the Primordial Dragon Blade and displayed all the sword techniques he had mastered starting from the Thirteen Heavenly Swords, Polaris Sword Art, First Lunar and Terra Sword Art, and First Sword Art.

After performing his sword techniques, he looked at Sophie proudly. With a smile, he asked, "How about it? My swordsmanship isn't too bad, right?"

Sophie frowned and said, "What were you doing? It was such a mess."

Hearing this, James was rendered speechless.

“Was it that shoddy?”

Sophie said, “I was watching every single sword technique you performed. They’re all extremely basic sword techniques. While watching you, I combined the sword techniques together to form a brand new one. If you master it, you’ll be able to curb stomp the Son of Heaven.”

James was shocked.

‘How did she fuse the sword techniques just by watching me perform them only once?’
“Watch carefully.”

A long sword appeared in Sophie’s hand.

She gripped the long sword and suddenly whirled it around it viciously.

She appeared in front of James in one move and pressed the sharp sword’s tip against James’ chest.

Her sword movements were too swift. James only saw the flash of a Sword Light, and it was already pressed against his chest.

Sophie asked, “How about it? Did you catch it?”

James shook his head dumbfoundedly and said, “No.”

“You’re so stupid. I’ll slow down a little this time, so you better pay attention.”

Sophie drew her long sword and displayed the technique again.

This time, James could see her movements clearly.

As Sophie raised her long sword, James caught a glimpse of all the sword techniques he had mastered. He could see a bit of the Thirteen Heavenly Swords, Polaris Sword Art, and the First Sword Art.

In conclusion, all the sword techniques he mastered in the past were combined into this new sword technique.

In the blink of an eye, the sword was pressed against his chest again.

“Did you catch it this time?”

Sophie’s voice resounded again.

James nodded bewilderedly and said, “A-A little bit. I could see many similarities to the sword techniques I’m familiar with.”

“Mhm, not too bad.”

Sophie nodded lightly and said, “Pay more attention this time.”

After speaking, she withdrew her sword and performed the technique once more

James was able to get an even more detailed look this time.

As Sophie drew her sword, she displayed all his sword techniques in that short moment. All of them were instantly combined together, and thousands of moves merged into one move.

“Did you get it?”

“Yeah.”

“Mhm, that’s all. You can practice it with ease. You’ll be able to master it if you combine all of your techniques into one move. If you can’t master this move within seven days, you’re truly unworthy of being the Celestial Abode’s master.”

After leaving a few words, Sophie left.

“Wait, Ms. Sophie!”

James called out for her.

Sophie turned around and asked, “What? Do you need something else?”

James scratched his head and said, “Are you going to leave? Shouldn’t you to stay to guide me? “Huh? Do you still need me to guide you? I already created the sword technique for you and even performed it a few times for you. Just practice it as I showed you. Do you really need me to hold your hand? Are you really that dumb?”

“... But this technique is complicated, and I won't be able to comprehend it by myself in such a short period. I need you personally guide me through it ”

Sophie rolled her eyes.

She had seen many stupid people before but had never encountered one as clueless as him before. She began to question why James had become the Celestial Abode's master.

However, she could not just leave since he did help her after all.

She stood to the side, looked at James, and said, “Go on. Practice. As the saying goes, practice makes perfect, right? Ugh, forget it. I'll take you to the Time Chamber. You can practice there.”

“Time Chamber?”

Surprised, James asked, “What kind of place is that?”

He was the Celestial Abode's owner but was relatively weak. Thus, he was still unfamiliar with many of its functions and attributes.

Sophie explained, “The Time Chamber is a magical chamber. The passage of time is different from the outside world. Emperor Jabari constructed it himself. In the entire universe, only a handful of people are able to set up this time formation.”

“The passage of time is different?” James was astonished.

Sophie nodded and said, “Mhm, that's right. However, the passage of time also depends on your cultivation base. With your current cultivation base, one day of the outside world should be about three months in the Time Chamber.”

“I-Is it really that amazing?”

James was in shock.

Sophie rolled her eyes and said, “Please. You're now the Celestial Abode's master. Stop making such a stupid expression. This only one of many wonders that exist in our universe.”

“T-Then bring me there! Quickly!”

James' heart was racing.

One day outside was three months inside the Time Chamber.

It was a remarkable ability.

He still had seven days before the battle.

In other words, he could practice in the Time Chamber for 21 months, which amounts to almost two years. It would be more than enough time to master one sword technique.

Sophie led James into the massive city. Although James was the Celestial Abode's owner, there were many areas he could not enter because he was too weak. He would have to improve his rank to have complete control over the Celestial Abode.

The Time Chamber was one of such places he could not access.

With Sophie guiding the way, he was able to easily enter these areas.

There was an isolated yard in the city, surrounded by ten-meter-high walls. Mysterious ancient scriptures were engraved on the walls and glowed with an ethereal aura. Similar ancient scriptures also hovered and circled above the yard.

Sophie led James to the yard and pointed inside, saying, "That's the Time Chamber. You cannot open the door to the Time Chamber alone with your current strength."

After speaking, she casually waved her hand.

A magical symbol formed in her palm and faded into the Time Chamber. Then, the gate leading to the yard opened.

Sophie said, "Go ahead. Practice in there with peace of mind. I'll come to get you when it's time."

"Alright." James nodded.

He was intrigued by the Time Chamber as he went into it.

There was a vast open space and a simple house ahead of him.

Sophie walked in after him and said, "As long as you remain in this yard's vicinity the passage of time will be slower than outside."

"Alright." James nodded.

"If you can't master this technique after practicing for two years, then you're truly unexceptional."

"I'll definitely master it."

James wore a determined expression.

Sophie refused to linger and turned to leave.

James pulled out the Primordial Dragon Blade and began to practice in the yard.

While James was practicing his newly obtained technique in the Celestial Abode, news about his upcoming battle with the Son of Heaven had gone viral.

Tristen was the one who had deliberately leaked the news to the media.

He wanted to use this opportunity to destroy earth's martial artists.

"Breaking news! James visited Hazted City to challenge the Son of Heaven, putting the lives of earth's humans on the line. If James is defeated, the Son of Heaven will send his men to massacre an entire city!"

A post appeared on the Martial Arts Forum.

The post was trending and quickly caught many martial artists' attention.

"What is James doing?"

"That's insane! How could he put human lives at stake!"

"He must be trying to make us go extinct."

Everyone criticized James' actions on the forum.

At that moment, Thea was sitting on a magical formation in the Chamber Of Scripture's tower located on Mount Tai. A black mist materialized from her body and disappeared into thin air.

The custodian had been watching over her.

She murmured, "I wasn't expecting her to purify the Demonic Energy in her body so quickly. I thought it would take several years. It seems Thea's body is beginning to repel Demonic Energy after its purification, and this accelerated the expelling of Demonic Energy.

Thea's body began to revolve in place.

As she rotated, Demonic Energy continued to ooze out of her body.

This phenomenon lasted for about a day.

A day later, Thea suddenly opened her eyes. A white glow gleamed across her dark eyes. She slowly stood up from the ground and stretched her body. She was thrilled after sensing the powerful energy coming from her body.

"Congratulations, Thea."

The custodian walked toward Thea.

"After many years of effort, you finally purified all the Demonic Energy in your body. You're completely cleansed of it. Now your body only contains the pure blood of the Four Holy Beasts. This means you can utilize their powers in the future."

The custodian was also overjoyed.

A person who possessed a Supreme Spiritual Root was immeasurably strong. It was a miracle for one to be born every few millennia. However, several were born in this generation.

Desperate times always brought forth heroes.

Thea was destined to be this era's hero.

Thea looked at the guardian and said, "Ms. Custodian, thank you for helping all these years. If it weren't for you, I wouldn't have been able to completely purify the Demonic Energy from my body and improve my strength tremendously."

Although Thea had primarily been purifying her Demonic Energy in the past few years, she did not forget to practice and improve her strength.

Now, she had already become a powerful Herculean.

“Thea, I’m going to teach you the Four-Quadrant Art.”

“Four-Quadrant Art?”

Thea looked at the custodian in surprise and asked, “What’s that?”

The custodian said, “Four powerful martial artists raised the Four Holy Beasts in ancient times. The Four Holy Beasts represent the power of each legendary warrior. Back then, these four people were the greatest martial artists for many years and decided to join forces to create a formidable signature martial art skill, the Four-Quadrant Art.

“The requirement to practice this skill is astronomical, and it requires one to drink the blood of all the Four Holy Beasts. At present, you’re the only person on the earth who has met that requirement. Moreover, you have a Supreme Spiritual Root and are fully qualified to practice it.”

Hearing this, Thea was shocked.

“A signature martial art skill created by four legendary warriors in ancient times?”

“Mhm.”

The custodian explained, “It’s a very powerful signature martial art skill. Once you activate the Four Holy Beasts’ power, your strength won’t just slightly improve. It’ll skyrocket.”

“In the future, the earth will depend on you to protect it.

“So, you must practice seriously.”

The custodian wore a serious look.

“Mhm.” Thea nodded.

“Back then, the four legends requested me to hold onto the Four Quadrant Art and to pass it on to the destined ones.”

“The Four-Quadrant Art represents the Four Holy Beasts, the Spirit Turtle, phoenix, dragon, and qilin. Each one of them possesses the power to destroy the world. When the four are merged together, not only yin and yang will be reversed, but it will also overturn both heaven and earth.”

The custodian began to explain diligently.

Thea listened attentively to her.

After explaining for a while, the custodian casually tapped Thea's forehead. At that moment, a wealth of information arose in Thea's mind.

The information was extensive, and Thea had a hard time processing it all, making her dizzy. After the custodian passed on the Four-Quadrant Art to Thea, she observed her from the side. Thea sat in a lotus position on the ground and earnestly processed the information that appeared in her mind.

She could also hear the custodian's voice ringing in her ears.

"You're already a Herculean. Once you successfully comprehend and master the Four-Quadrant Art, the Four Holy Beasts' powers will merge together and you'll experience an explosive growth in strength."

"It'll be easy for you to kill an enemy of a higher rank than you, be it a Herculean or someone at the Immortal Ascension rank."

"However, don't grow cocky. You still have a long way to go and will have to keep practicing." The custodian's words resounded clearly in Thea's ears emphasizing the importance of the information.

She explained that the dawn of a new era would emerge after the seal opens and the earth's Empyrean Spiritual Energy is restored. In this era, countless extraordinary people will be born, and strange events will occur.
