Chapter 2106

James nodded and said, “By the time I arrived, the Celestial Abode had been taken away by someone else. I have no idea where it is right now either.”

“Is that so?” Marcello looked at James doubtfully and said, “My investigation shows that the Celestial Abode changed hands the moment you annihilated the Son of Heaven. Could this really be a coincidence?”

James glanced at him and said, “Why? Do you think I have the Celestial Abode?”

Marcello said, “Why are you so defensive? I’m not your enemy. Even if you own the Celestial Abode, I’ll simply offer you my congratulations.”

“I don’t have it.”

James shook his head. He had to be on guard at all times.

“In any case, let’s not dwell on this matter any longer.” Marcello changed the subject and asked, “I heard that Magnus Quinnton, the Son of Heaven’s senior, has challenged you to a duel. Do you plan to meet him in battle?”

Upon hearing this, James’ expression turned grim. After some time, he nodded slightly and said, “I don’t have a choice. If Magnus turns his sights on Wurmstead, the consequences would be disastrous.”

“But do you know his strength?”

“I know.”

“Then why go?”

“I don’t have a choice.”

James sighed and said, “I know that the power disparity between me and him is huge. However, I was the one who annihilated the Son of Heaven. Since I was the one who created this trouble in the first place, I don’t want to get the innocent involved.”

“There’s nothing to worry about.” Marcello smiled and said, “A few cultivators of the Demon Race have arrived. We’ll help you out.”

Hearing this, James turned to look at him.

Marcello was a member of the Demon Race and an enemy of the three thousand Sealed

Realms. Once Marcello's identity was exposed, he would be in deep trouble if they mistakenly assumed that he was in cahoots with the Demon Race.

"Thank you for the offer."

James turned down his proposal.

At the moment, he should keep a distance from the Demon Race to avoid being entangled with more troubles.

Then, he turned to leave.

As Marcello watched James' retreating figure, he scratched his nose and murmured, "He has a backbone, alright. It's not going to be easy winning him over. Perhaps he would only join us once he experiences great ordeals and is backed into a corner."

"Master."

The moment James left, a man in a black robe appeared before Marcello.

The man had a handsome-looking man around 180 centimeters tall. However, he looked rather terrifying due to some unknown black marks on his face.

Marcello fixed his gaze on James and nodded slightly, "Mhm."

"Master, a few Demonic Realm cultivators have arrived."

Marcello said, "Continue."

"Though not many came, the ones that arrived are some of the most powerful ones."

"Is Myles Nemo here?" Marcello asked.

"Yes."

The man in a black robe continued, "He had been in closed-door meditation over the past few years. I heard that his Yogacara has reached the third stage. With such strength, he should be invincible on Earth."

"The third stage?" Hearing this, Marcello was stunned. He asked, "How does he compare to Jace Sterling?"

The man shook his head slightly and said, "I've never seen Jace so I know little about his strength. However, I remember that Jace's strength far exceeds Myles' strength many years ago."

After he met Cody and Marcello, James now knew that more and more Outsiders had arrived on Earth. Some among them had even reached the Mage Rank. When faced with such an opponent, he would be instantly killed no matter how strong his physical strength was. Putting aside the Mage Rank, he could not even defeat Magnus.

With a heavy heart, he entered the woods surrounding Mount Bane. Then, he found a secluded spot and entered the Celestial Abode.

Upon entering the Celestial Abode, he hurriedly walked to the main building to look for the Spirit Tool.

"Spirit Tool, where's Sophie?" he asked.

The Spirit Tool said, "She's currently training the army you brought here."

"Why can't I sense her presence?"

"That's because you are weak. You may be the master of the Celestial Abode, but there are many places you can't sense inside. Sophie is different. Although she's not the Celestial Abode's master, the late Emperor Jabari gave her many special prerogatives. Thus, she's can enter certain regions which you are forbidden from."

"Quick, inform Sophie that I have business with her," James said hurriedly.

"What business?" The moment James finished his sentence, a young maiden appeared before him and giggled. "Why are you in such a hurry? Did something happen outside?"

"Sophie, you have to help me out this time." James sobbed. "There's a really powerful guy out there that wants to fight to the death with me. I have no choice but to accept his challenge. I might lose my life."

Sophie asked, "What's going on? Calm down for now, alright?"

James took a deep breath and narrated the chain of events that unfolded from his grudge against the Son of Heaven, whose death brought about Magnus Quinton's appearance on Earth, to Magnus' overwhelming strength.

Hearing this, Sophie's expression turned grim.

"An Immortal Ascension at the Third Stair... Now, this is complicated." She looked at James and said, "Your rank is too low at the moment, and the power disparity between you and Magnus is too great. I can't do anything to help. Even if you cultivate inside the Time Chamber for a week, you'll only reach the Herculean rank at most. You won't stand a chance against him."

"Wh-What should I do, then?" James looked at her pleadingly and said, "Sophie, are you going to sit by the sidelines and watch me get killed?"

Sophie sighed. "But I don't know what else to do. Why don't you hide inside the Celestial Abode and cultivate for a few decades or even centuries? Perhaps you might stand a chance then."

"No way." James rejected it immediately.

Decades? He did not have even a month.

Besides, Earth would be in ruins by the time he finished cultivating. Perhaps the seal would have come undone, and the Three Thousand Worlds would have merged with Earth, causing the earthlings' destruction. What point was there if he simply hid inside the Celestial Abode?

"Is there really no other way?"

James looked at Sophie. He believed that she was tremendously powerful. After all, she had lived for a very long time. She might even stand a chance against the Grand Patriarchs of some powerful Orthodox factions within the Sealed Realms.

Since Cody told him that these Grand Patriarchs were around the Sage Rank, Sophie must have reached that rank as well.

Sophie stroked her chin, pensive. However, no matter how hard she pondered, she could not think of a way.

At that moment, the Spirit Tool said, "I have a plan that might work."

"Huh?"

James and Sophie looked at him.

The Spirit Tool continued, "Long ago, the late Emperor Jabari won a bet with the Grand Patriarch of the Divine Ape Race and obtained a powerful cultivation method. After cultivating it, he obtained enormous power.

"Sacriligious Ascension?" Sophie exclaimed and asked, "Spirit Tool, are you referring to Sacriligious Ascension?"

The Spirit Tool said with a smile, "Indeed."

James was dumbfounded. He could not understand what Sacriligious Ascension was.

He looked at Sophie puzzledly and asked, "Sophie, what's Sacriligious Ascension?"

"You won't be able to cultivate Sacriligious Ascension with the limited time you have. Why don't you ask Magnus to postpone the battle for a month? you'll have enough time then.

"For each day that passes in the outside world, three months pass in the Time Chamber. This means that a month in the outside world is about ninety months in the Time Chamber. I believe you'll have enough time to increase your strength."

Hearing this, James said, "I'll give it a try."

Although he was unsure Magnus would postpone the battle, this was the only available option left.

He left the Celestial Abode and appeared in the mountain ranges of Mount Bane. Then, he headed to Bane City.

"Is Magnus here?"

Standing at the gates of Bane City, James used his True Energy and magnified his voice.

Soon, a few cultivators appeared. James knew some of them, which included Cody and Marcello.

Magnus was in the lead. Wearing a composed expression on his face, he looked at James and said coldly, "I gave you seven days to prepare, James, but you seem to have a death wish."

James smiled, "You misunderstand, Magnus. I'm not here to fight you. I'm here to ask. postpone the battle by a month."

“A month?”

Magnus furrowed his eyebrows.

you to

James hurriedly said, “This shouldn’t bother you at all, right? To be honest with you, I know I’ll be defeated by you. That’s why I hope you won’t make things difficult for my people. Besides, I need time to take care of things, and seven days is too short. I hope you can give me a month.”

James humbled himself before Magnus. In his opinion, the more wretched he appeared now, the higher the chances of Magnus agreeing to his request.

He had faith in Sophie. In just a month, he would reach a rank where he could stand against Magnus.

“Alright, I agree to your request,” Magnus said.

Since James had humbled himself before him, not to mention there were so many cultivators from the other Sealed Realms staring at him, he would be ridiculed for not agreeing to James’ request.

“Thank you,” James said. “I’ll definitely be here a month later for the battle.”

Then, he turned to leave.

Standing in the crowd, Marcello furrowed his eyebrows and murmured, “What the hell is he up to? Does he think he can truly defeat Magnus after a month?”

Marcello did not believe that James could cultivate that rapidly in such a short amount of time.

However, he had no idea what James had in mind.

James managed to secure a month of cultivation in the Time Chamber, which was equivalent to seven and a half years in the outside world.

After securing Magnus' promise, James left Bane City and entered Mount Bane. After finding a secluded spot and scanning his surroundings to ensure no one was trailing him, he removed the ring from his finger.

Then, he tossed the ring to the ground, which immediately turned into a house the size of a fist.

In an instant, he disappeared and entered the Celestial Abode.

After entering the Celestial Abode, the house shrunk in size once more and buried itself beneath the soil. Even passers-by would not be able to discover the Celestial Abode.

James immediately headed to the City Lord's Mansion and looked for Sophie.

"How did it go?" Sophie looked at James and asked, "Did Magnus postpone the battle?"

"Mhm." James nodded and said, "Yes, he did."

"Good. Follow me, then."

Sophie and James headed to the Time Chamber.

The Time Chamber's courtyard was full of other cultivators. They were all sitting in a lotus position on the ground and cultivating in earnest.

Sophie had gone to great lengths by plucking the mysterious berries of the Celestial Abode for them to consume in order to increase their strength. As such, they were becoming stronger at a rapid pace.

"Dragon King..."

The moment James appeared, the soldiers inside the Time Chamber immediately stood and greeted him respectfully.

up and

Sophie ordered, "Alright now, you should leave the Time Chamber and cultivate outside. James will be entering a closed-door meditation for some time."

"Understood."

The soldiers hurriedly left.

Soon, only James and Sophie remained.

James sat in a lotus position on the ground, while Sophie sat opposite him.

She said, "I will now briefly describe the things you need to do over the next seven and a half years in the Time Chamber."

"Mhm." James nodded and said, "Please continue."

Sophie continued, "Allow me to explain more about the cultivation method you'll be cultivating."

"Are you referring to Sacrilegious Ascension?" James asked.

"Yes." Sophie nodded.

When he heard this, James was intrigued.

She continued, "Sacrilegious Ascension is a signature martial art skill of the Primordial Divine Ape Race. The late Emperor Jabari only managed to obtain it after going to great lengths. There's a prerequisite for this cultivation method. You need to have a sufficiently strong physical body."

After she spoke, she glanced at James.

"Your physical body is unique, so you can qualify to cultivate Sacrilegious Ascension. However, as of now, your physical capabilities have yet to reach the minimum requirement.

"While you're in the Time Chamber, do your best to increase your rank and physical strength. Your rank needs to be at least Herculean, and your physical strength needs to be at least at the Immortal Ascension rank."

Hearing this, James rolled his eyes and said, "If my physical strength was at the Immortal Ascension rank, Magnus wouldn't be able to defeat me even if I don't cultivate Sacrilegious Ascension."

"What do you know?" Sophie rebuked him. "It's an invincible martial art skill. You will gain enormous benefits from cultivating it and defeat opponents who are an entire rank higher than you in no time."

"Alright, then." James nodded.

To him, Sacrilegious Ascension was not a matter of priority. His rank could reach Magnus' by the time he finished cultivating.

"Three months."

Chapter 2110

Sophie said, "I'll give you three years to cultivate your physical body and increase your rank. As for the remainder of your time here, you'll cultivate Sacrilegious Ascension."

"Sure." James nodded.

Sophie was powerful, so he obeyed her wishes.

"You should begin first. I'll go get you some spiritual berries."

After she spoke, she turned to leave.

Meanwhile, James sat in a lotus position on the ground and began cultivating. Catalyzing his cultivation method, the Emyrean Spiritual Energy of the entire Celestial Abode gathered in one place. Then, they entered James' body, which refined them into the purest form of energy.

Soon, Sophie returned with a handful of berries that contained Emyrean Spiritual Energy. Each of them was much greater in energy than the silver berries James had.

In Sophie's words, these berries were considered fifth-rank berries, just right for James.

James also learned that Emyrean Berries had a ranking system. After the ninth-rank, the spiritual berries would turn into celestial berries, the highest-ranked berries of all.

First-rank berries were of the lowest quality. Meanwhile, the Emyrean Berries that appeared on Earth were almost spiritual berries below the fifth-rank. Even the fifth-rank berries were considered high quality as most of them were usually first-rank or second-rank ones.

Spiritual berries of the first and second-rank were most suitable for those who had yet to cross into the Supernatural rank.

So, James did not hold back but instead began munching on the berries. Soon, after finishing a berry, he began refining it.

The Emyrean Spiritual Energy inside the berries was simply too majestic, and James' pores all over his body began to glimmer a glowing light.

James was already at the peak of the Supernatural's Eighth Inner Gate. Soon, he would reach the Ninth Inner Gate. To stabilize his rank, he needed to suppress his rank and his True Energy. Gradually, his True Energy began to become purer and more concentrated.

After a month of suppression, unable to suppress his True Energy any longer, he crossed into the Ninth Inner Gate easily. Then, he continued absorbing the Empyrean Spiritual Energy from the spiritual berries to increase his True Energy.

As long as he had sufficient spiritual berries, his True Energy would increase by leaps and bounds. In just under a month, he had reached the Supernatural Consummation rank. After reaching the rank, however, he once again suppressed his rank and True Energy.

This time, he persisted for three months.

After three months, he made a breakthrough into the Herculean rank.

James sat in a lotus position on the ground inside the Time Chamber as his body exuded a powerful aura. At that moment, his body was as light as a feather, and he felt as if he had attained immortality.

“Is this the Herculean rank?”

James stood up and clenched his fists. As he catalyzed True Energy, a confident smile crept up on his face as powerful energy reverberated throughout his body.

“Not bad...” Sophie’s voice came.

“Your rank has now stabilized and reached perfection, and you’re now invincible among those who are in a similar rank. Since you’re a Herculean now, there’s no need to increase your rank anymore. For now, try increasing your physical strength in preparation for Sacrilegious Ascension.”

James collected himself and nodded, “Got it.”

Just as he nodded, a terrifying pressure came crashing down from above. Under the overwhelming pressure, his body bent down, and the bones inside his body began to crack. Unable to withstand the pressure, his skin began to tear.

He collapsed to the ground and shouted, “What the hell, Sophie? At least let me prepare myself!”

Sophie, who was standing beside him, giggled. “I know that you have incredible rejuvenating capabilities. This pressure should be a piece of cake for you. Besides, your physical strength can only grow under pressure. Work hard, I’m cheering for you! I’m looking forward to seeing how powerful a human can be after cultivating Sacrilegious Ascension!”
