

Almighty DG 261

Chapter 261 Thea took a deep breath. Her tone softened.

“James, I know it was you who treated my injuries. Since we’re married, I’m your wife. I’ll never betray you. But, what about you? You didn’t trust me and even followed me here. Did you take me for a vain woman who’d divorce you and marry Mr. Caden just because he’s rich?” “Thea, I didn’t follow you here. I’m speaking the truth. Sigh... How am I supposed to explain this to you?” James was helpless. Thea lightly waved and interrupted him, “Fine, I can understand why you followed me. After all, Mr. Caden was the one who sent the betrothal gifts. Your worries are valid. Go home for now. I’ll have a look at Pacific Group.”

“Thea...”

At that moment, the glamorous-looking Quincy, who wore a red dress, approached them.

From afar, she saw Thea speaking to an ordinary-looking man.

at Thea and asked, “How was it? Did you manage to meet the chairman of that, she took a was old, she could

“I met him, but he was wearing a silver mask I couldn’t see his

“Sigh...”

know why, but the chairman refused to see me. They told me the

“What? You passed?”

know who I am? I was the vice-president of a large corporation overseas, and my annual salary was thirty million dollars. The moment I return to Cansington, many businesses were eager for me to join them. Even she frowned. “Thea, he’s not worthy of you.” Quincy was the vice-president of a large corporation overseas and had met countless people. With just a glimpse, she could see through the character of a person. she saw only plainness and idleness in him. Along with the rumors on the street, she knew immediately what kind of man James was there be such a different, her features remained the same. James’ brazen stare disgusted Quincy. Meanwhile, your looks, you can definitely find a better man. Do you know Zavier Watson? We were in the same university overseas.

—

1

She had only just met Xavier yesterday. Meanwhile, Quincy continued blabbering, "The Watsons are worth at least hundreds of billions. Besides, Xavier's a smart guy and is business savvy. He raked in a few billion dollars while he was overseas. If it weren't for me fixating on my first love, James, I wouldn't have introduced such a brilliant man to you." 1 Upon bringing up James, she glanced at Thea's husband and said coldly, "I heard your name is James too. You've really sullied his good name." James awkwardly smiled. He remained silent in the face of his ex-girlfriend's relentless remarks. Meanwhile, Thea smiled. "Quincy, you shouldn't let such a brilliant man go to waste. I'm married, after all. So, I won't be getting involved in this." James felt cheerful upon seeing Thea defend him against an outsider. Even if she had the one she had saved, the one who saved her, and the mysterious Mr. Caden in her heart, there was still a place for him.

He found the whole thing amusing.

He wondered who Thea would love more in the end. Would it be him or the other him?

Chapter 262

Quincy looked at James.

She was not trying to look down on him. However, he was simply too ordinary. Someone of his caliber was not worthy of Thea.

As her former best friend, she would never allow Thea to be restrained by such a worthless

Plan.

She also had her reasons for introducing Thea to Xavier.

Xavier had been chasing her for a few years now. However, she had not accepted his courtship.

Though he was an excellent man, she only had James on her mind. All this while, she believed James was still alive.

not know that the man before her was her first bumt, James' appearance changed. Though his looks were restored, he now it. How are you worthy of Thea? Let's do this. I'll give you two million dollars as compensation for the divorce. As long as you manage your finances well, you won't have to worry about money for

Why was an outsider like her incomparable to Thea. Even if you gave me two hundred billion, I wouldn't leave her." James brusquely rejected her offer. Meanwhile, Quincy chose to ignore him. She pulled at Thea. "Thea, waved to James.

not

1

Xylas are pretty rich, huh?" Ten years ago, he was in a relationship with Quincy for half a year. Although he knew she was rich and would be driven around in a luxury car, he was not

did not think much

Thea left, he called for get into the taxi, a jeep approached

The windows rolled down.

waved at James. "Where are you going?"

thought about his offer. He could save a few dollars if someone

He got into the Blithe king's car.

Daniel was the one driving.

Meanwhile, the Blithe King got off from the passenger seat and went to the back to sit with James. He passed James a cigarette. James accepted it. The Blithe King pulled out a lighter and lit James' cigarette.

The Blithe king was acting abnormally.

James was puzzled. Normally, he would avoid him at all costs. What was going on today? "Blithe King, you must be up to something. What's with you today?" The Blithe King snickered. "As expected of the Black Dragon. You see through everything. Indeed, I need your help with something." Smoking his cigarette, James said coldly, "Get straight to the point."

The Blithe King pulled out a classified document and handed it to James,

James took it and looked at it. Immediately, he tossed it aside and said, "What does this have to do with me?" The Blithe king replied, "The higher-ups ordered me to build a special forces team. Candidates from all military regions and police forces will go through a screening process, and ten thousand among them will be chosen to undergo special training. Only those who pass the special training may join the special forces." "Mhm." James nodded. "I've looked through the document, but what does this have to do with me? The document states that you're the person in charge."

Chapter 263 The Blithe King smiled. "Black Dragon, I've been cleaning up the mess you created all this while. Shouldn't you at least help me out here?"

James glanced at the Blithe King and asked coldly, "What do you want me to do?"

The Blithe King immediately said, "You're a legendary figure in the army worshipped by many. I plan to make you the Chief Instructor of the special training..."

James immediately lifted his hand and interrupted the Blithe King.

"Forget it. I'm living as free as a bird. I'm not creating trouble for myself."

The Blithe King explained, "You'll just be a figurehead. It'll certainly motivate those who are participating in the special training. If we announce that those who pass the special training will get to meet the Black Dragon, those guys will do their very best. There's no need for you to personally direct the training. You just have to make an appearance and give a motivational speech every once in a while."

"I see...»

James was deep in thought. After arriving in Cansington, the Blithe King had been helping him out on many occasions. It was a two-way street.

“Fine. I’m in.”

this, the

the Black Dragon participating, the mission would be a resounding commanding presence molded from the carnage of war. From a common soldier, he climbed his ranks by stepping on the Blithe King had seen the Black Dragon’s hand. He knew one could not stand more

handed it to James. “These are orders post at the Southern Plains. What does forming a special forces team within the country have smiled. “Since he’s free, I might as don’t you go

an embarrassed look. “Everyone knows your you’d overrule the instructions if you

I’ll allow him to train these recruits if he’s fine with it. If he isn’t, there’s nothing I can do.” Saying that, James put away the document and said, “Bring me to Common Clinic.”

that.” Daniel started the engines and drove Soon, they arrived.

experienced a luxurious and pleasure-seeking life and was

He stayed the night at the nightclub and only returned this morning.

Along the way, he bumped into a girl, and they had a misunderstanding Now, the girl had followed him all the way to the Common Clinic.

At the clinic, Henry looked at the red-haired, twenty-year-old lady in a revealing dress before him helplessly. “Miss, I told you it was all a misunderstanding. I bumped into you because I was zoned out. I wasn’t trying to take advantage of you. Why are you being so persistent?” The lady sat on a chair with her legs crossed. Sucking on a lollipop, she spoke absent-mindedly, “I don’t care about the reasons. Anyhow, since you bumped into me, you’ll have to take responsibility. Coincidentally, I have no place to go at the moment, so I’ll be staying at your place for the time being. I’ll forgive you if you provide me with accommodation and free food for three months. Or else, I’m reporting you to the authorities for trying to molest me.”

Saying that, she stood up. Removing her dress, she pulled Henry's arm and pressed it against her breast. "Hehe, I have your fingerprints on me now. If you reject my offer, I'll call the cops." The lady spoke with a triumphant look on her face. "Hey, Henry, you brought one back?"

A burst of obnoxious laughter came from the door.

It was James who had just arrived.

He chuckled upon witnessing the scene as he entered.

Chapter 264 Upon seeing James, Henry stood up immediately and hurriedly explained, "James, it's not what you think it is. I don't even know her. I bumped into her on the road, and now she's harassing me. She's even forcing me to provide her accommodation and food for three months."

"Oh?"

James looked at the lady sitting on the chair.

She was around twenty years of age. She had red hair and wore thick makeup and a revealing dress.

He did not want to get involved. Smiling, he pulled out the document and tossed it at Henry.

"What's this, James?"

"Have a look"

Henry glimpsed through it.

The lady sitting on the chair noticed a seal on the document. She recognized it, and she knew it was a classified document.

Her curiosity was piqued.

did not expect to see a classified document in a small clinic.

polite just a moment ago. Why was he a completely different person now? Intimidated, she handed the document back to Henry and muttered, "Tsk, it's not like I care. Take it, then, if you so desperately need it." Henry's face brightened up a little upon receiving the document. After reading its

to go, you can marriage to consider?" James patted Henry's back and said, "Take this opportunity and find a wife. She'll give birth to a healthy baby in no time. By the way, who's this lady over here? Did you bring her back last night? I'm warning you. Don't get serious with a woman like her. You should find a more principled woman

Whitney was indignant.

"Who are you calling an unprincipled woman? I'm not unprincipled.

"James, ignore this his breath

you've agreed, come with me to see the Blithe king. Once you've handpicked

Jarnes turned to leave.

fixed her

A classified document.

The Blithe King

Ten thousand men?

did they manage to get their hands on a classified document? And they're acquainted with the Blithe King. Are they some big shots?" Her face brightened up removed her hands from him and made his

A jeep was parked outside Common Clinic. The Blithe king was in the car. He was waiting for James' response and had not yet left. Soon, James walked out and tossed him the document. "He's in. He'll be the head instructor. However, he won't be answering to you." Hearing this, the Blithe king was delighted. "That's great! I'll immediately give the order. From today onward, candidates will be chosen from all military regions for the formation of a special forces team." He knew what James and Henry were capable of.

They were battle-hardened warriors. Men who went through their training would be excellent fighters. Henry walked out. Glancing at the Blithe King, he said with a smile, "I'll go. However, I'm not transferring to another post. I'm just there to help you out. Let's get this straight. If I wish to leave anytime, I will do so. Don't think of making the higher-ups pressure me into submission."

"Of course. You may leave anytime you wish. I won't stop you." The Blithe King flashed a bright smile.

It was already a great honor to have their support.

He was not hoping for them to stay indefinitely,

Whitney walked out and stood by the door. Upon seeing the middle-aged man in the car, she froze.

Was that not the Blithe King?

Chapter 265

Henry really was acquainted with the Blithe King. He was even talking to him with a smile on his face.

The Blithe King did not stay for long. He instructed Daniel, "Return at once." "Hey, wait..."

James opened the car door. "Give me a ride home."

Saying that, he called out to Henry, "Henry, don't fool around too much when I'm not around."

Henry blushed. He had been fooling around last night. He was drunk and did not know how many women he had slept with. In any case, he had slept with many. Recalling the scene, adrenaline pumped through his veins.

Only after the Blithe King's car disappeared from view did he recollect himself. He took a deep breath and muttered silently, "I shouldn't be fooling around anymore."

He turned.

"Ah!"

turned, he got a behind him, he rebuked her, "Are you trying stared at Henry and asked, "Henry, who dashed into the clinic and slammed the door shut. Whitney chased after him and kicked the door.

"Henry, open the door! I'm warning you... Don't even think of shaking me off!" Thea was hanging out with Quincy in the mall. Quincy was brainwashing Thea to divorce her husband the entire unkempt, and unambitious. On the other hand, she kept praising Zavier as a corporate absent-minded

the image of the handsome man in a spotless

he spoke particular, his decisive, assertive, and unquestionable but compare her husband to the mysterious Mr. Caden. The more she compared them,

She wavered.

divorcing James. However, she immediately love. Just give him some money and treat it as a medical expense. I can see you don't have feelings for him." "Huh?" Thea looked at Quincy. Quincy continued, "When you two met just now, I saw you weren't holding his hand. Those aren't feelings of love you're feeling, but gratitude. Listen

Was it not love? Was it really just gratitude?

Thinking about the time she spent with James did not cause her heart to thump or her adrenaline to pump. However, those things did happen when she saw the mysterious Mr. Caden. Her heart raced, and adrenaline pumped through her veins. She felt nervous and was at a loss.

Were these not feelings of affection, as written in the books?

At that moment, Thea, too, felt she was not in love with James. She felt no love for him, only gratitude.

She was thankful to him for treating her injuries.

"Sigh!" She sighed deeply and shook off the thoughts from her mind. "Quincy, thank you. I'll think about what you said."

Chapter 266 James returned to the Callahans.

However, no one was home. Everyone had gone to Goodview Villa District.

As James had left hurriedly earlier this morning, he had forgotten his keys. He wanted to call Thea, but he dismissed the idea immediately. He sat by the stairs outside the door and smoked his cigarettes. He pulled his phone out and played Plant vs. Zombies to pass time.

Soon, it was noon.

Before the rest of the Callahans came back, Thea returned.

She saw James sitting by the stairs the moment she got off the elevator. She frowned and questioned, "Why are you sitting here?"

Hearing her voice, James hurriedly stood.

"I forgot my keys,

and said nothing. She turned toward the door.

James followed her in.

you eaten, honey?

out again. I'm going to take a nap and will be that, she turned to hectic morning, she was completely exhausted. James looked at Thea entering her room. He could feel her apathy gifts. He did not expect things come to this, he would let fate established on a deep

Thea had fallen for another man, be it the other him, it would not be such went to the ditchen

Callahans and approach Thea as the mysterious Mr. Caden. The more he thought about it, the more

:

"Mom, the villa is unbelievably luxurious. It's far better than the Callahans' villa. Mom, when are we moving in?"

James could hear David's excited voice coming from the living room. Alyssa exclaimed, "All my life, I've never seen such a luxurious villa! Let's move in ASAP. I want the room by the door on the second floor. The balcony's simply too big." Carrying the dishes in his hands, James walked out of the kitchen and said, "Time to eat!" Upon seeing James, Gladys' good mood was instantly ruined. She stood up and reproached him. "How shameless of you, James. Why have you not left yet? Do you need me to escort you out with a broom?" "Mom..." James had a helpless look on his face. "Don't call me that. I don't have such an incapable son-in-law like you. I'm telling you. You have to divorce Thea today. I'm moving into the villa to enjoy my life." David walked over to him and pleaded, "James, I'm begging you. Divorce Thea. I don't want to have such a useless brother-in-law like you. You can't give me luxurious cars, villas, and the life I want."

James scratched his nose in frustration. Did they not just want money? He had plenty. They just did not believe him. The commotion in the living room prevented Thea from taking a good nap.

Wearing a surly expression, she walked out of the room and said coldly, "Mr. Caden has told me those are tokens of gratitude for saving his life and not betrothal gifts. Feel free to move into the villa. Just don't bring up the issue of divorce anymore."

James looked at Thea appreciatively.

Thea returned the gaze.

Chapter 267 Although she said nothing, disappointment was apparent on her face.

All women loved wealthy and successful men, not unambitious men who stayed at home and tended to household chores. "I'm going to Pacific Group." She turned to leave. Her expression did not escape James' notice. He saw the disappointment on her face. It seemed that after meeting the mysterious Mr. Caden, Thea's opinion of him had unconsciously changed.

Meanwhile, the Callahans were worked up upon hearing that they were allowed to move into the villa. They gathered to discuss an auspicious day to move in. James, on the other hand, was forgotten. Not that he cared.

Sitting on the balcony, he smoked his cigarettes and contemplated life.

Not long after Thea left, Lex came knocking on the door.

The Callahans utilized all resources at their disposal to get Howard and Tommy out of prison but to no avail.

needed for them to be released. No one else could do the trick.

give him a detached from the main family and would be moving into a villa. There was simply no need to play nice with him anymore. "Father, why sofa in the expression. She was dismissive of Lex even though he and ordered, "James, withdraw the case immediately. Release casually said, "Grandpa, they'll have to face justice for what they've done. They'll repeat the same mistake if we let them off the hook so easily." "You b*stard. It's not in your place to decide." Lex was enraged. Gladys looked at James and said, as he did not have Wyatt's number, he

Daniel a call case concerning step, father." Gladys ostentatiously called out. "This feels good." David laughed carefreely. "Although James is poor, he did something right this time. Tommy best think twice before taunting me again." "I agree." Gladys nodded. James was could only call the would not even have to call the police. They would settle things on their own. "James, the divorce is still on the table. You're not getting out of this just because you helped her.

Deep in thought, she muttered silently, "Things don't seem too good with the mysterious Mr. Caden anymore. It seems I'll have to target Mr. Watson now. I should call him and invite him out for a meal."

She did just that. "Hi, Mr. Watson. I'm Thea Callahans' mother. Yes, that's me. Are you free tonight? Thea would like to treat you to a meal. Alright then, I got it. We'll meet there." Hanging up the call, Gladys had a brilliant smile on her face. It was almost as if Xavier was already her son-in-law.

"Zavier?"

James squinted his eyes. It seemed he had to teach him a lesson. Xavier would have a death wish for thinking about his wife.

Chapter 268 Gladys could not contain her excitement after asking Xavier out.

James, on the other hand, went out of the house.

His departure was not noticed by anyone.

That was because the Callahans were not concerned about him.

"The Watsons..."

Leaving the house, James muttered to himself.

He knew of the Watsons.

Though it was a family that kept a low profile, its true power and influence could not be further from the truth.

The Watsons were one of the representatives of the Five Provinces Business Alliance, which constructed the Transgenerational New City.

The Five Provinces Business Alliance intended to build the Transgenerational New City as a world-class financial center. That way, their reputation and prestige would further rise.

some backdoor means, he bought the place at the

the President of the had his number, he had never seen him in his wits. He hurriedly said, "G-General, can I help you with anything?" "Where's

“Huh?”

Yacob froze.

Watson residence? Although be visiting Instruct him to

of course. I’ll see was not here to make trouble but to it would mean that the Watsons were currying favor with him. It would beneficial to the development of the residence was located in Goodview Villa District. James called a taxi and luxurious villa in Goodview Villa District, Gavin, upon receiving news from Yacob, sprang up from What made you so happy?” Xavier descended from the second floor. Gavin exclaimed, “Y-Yacob just called me. He said that the Black Dragon General of mean the Black Dragon who forcefully bought the Transgenerational New City constructed by

“Yes, that Black Dragon.”

a witness the “Hurry, let’s go and welcome him at the gates.” Gavin pulled Xavier by the arm and dragged him along.”

James arrived at Goodview Villa District.

Arriving at the gates, he saw many people there. Gavin stood at the very front with Xavier close behind him. Zack, who had beaten up Lex and the others, was present too. The trio stood at the entrance and waited for the Black Dragon’s arrival. At that moment, a taxi appeared at the entrance of the villa. James pulled out a hundred-dollar bill and handed it to the driver. “Keep the change.” Saying that, he got off the car.

Upon seeing James in casual wear getting off the car, everyone at the entrance was momentarily stunned. “H-He’s the Black Dragon?” “There should be an army escorting him here. Why would he come by taxi?” “He can’t be. He’s probably just a passer-by.” Gavin and Zack conversed in whispers.

Upon seeing James, Xavier frowned. Was this not the son-in-law of the Callahans?

Under countless gazes, James lit a cigarette and took his time walking toward them. He stopped before Gavin and nodded at him. “You have a good attitude. We’ll speak at my place in the House of Royals.”

Saying that, he turned to leave.

Gavin froze

Was he really the Black Dragon?

Chapter 269 Back then, he had gone to Lex's birthday banquet. However, James was not there. As such, he did not know James was the Callahans' son-in-law.

However, upon hearing about the House of Royals, he was now sure that James was the Black Dragon.

"Yes."

Gavin nodded and followed close behind.

Zavier pulled at him and whispered, "What are you doing, dad? He's not the Black Dragon. He's the Callahans' son-in-law."

"Huh? Son-in-law? The Callahans?"

Gavin frowned. Immediately, he remembered something. His face darkened, and he exclaimed, "Hurry and get moving! He's the Black Dragon."

Gavin was puzzled during the incident at Lex's birthday banquet.

Lex was permitted to organize his birthday banquet at the House of Royals. So, how and why did such a disaster occur? Why did Scarlett Brooks show up? Why did the Blithe King send his men?

They were acting on the Black Dragon's orders.

He hurriedly caught up with James.

Zavier was puzzled.

he really the

look, he followed behind

they arrived at palm against the palmprint recognition lock. The

this, Zavier turned sat on a sofa and crossed his legs. He looked at Gavin mischievously. "Gavin, do you know why I came to visit was beaded with sweat, he shook his head

James glanced at Zavier.

"Do you, then?"

his gaze, Zavier powerful aura. Though Zavier was a successful businessman who had met countless people, he was fearful of James. The

Callahans, his heart skipped genius, was sweating

Smack!

fist

fear and immediately knelt on the coldly at Xavier and said, "You seem to be interested in my wife. Do you wish for the Watsons to be wiped off the floor and ordered, "Kneel and apologize!" Xavier regained his sense and knelt. "G-General, I d-didn't know. I won't do that ever up." Upon hearing banquet at the House of Royals. After all, the owner

"You b*stard!"

Fortunately, Gavin had brought him to the Callahans to admit his mistake. Otherwise, if the Black Dragon had intended to pursue matters further, his family would be doomed. "Zavier, I heard my mother's treating you to a meal tonight on behalf of Thea." "Ah."

Zavier nodded. Then, immediately after, he shook his head. "N-No."

James smiled. "Don't be nervous. Taking an interest in my wife can only mean she's a fine woman. It's fortunate you only sent gifts to the Callahans instead of resorting to other means. Your act has saved the Watsons."

Zavier took a deep breath.

Looking back on it, he could not help but shudder.

Fortunately, he did not act rashly. Otherwise, the Watsons would have been doomed.

It was a simple matter for a general to crush a family. All he needed was to utter a single order. "Alright now, you're dismissed." James lightly waved. They swiftly left.

Gavin wiped the sweat beads off his forehead. He glanced at Xavier. "You almost doomed us all."

"I didn't know, dad. How would I know that the Callahans' son-in-law was the Black Dragon?" Gavin took a deep breath and said, "Back then, when James was driving in and out of the military region freely, there were rumors that he had borrowed the vehicle through his connections. I never expected it to be his car. I don't understand one thing, though. Although he's a big shot, he married into the Callahans and feigned a good-for-nothing man."

Chapter 270 After resolving his business with Xavier, James left the House of Royals and headed to the Callahans.

He stayed at home the whole afternoon. Meanwhile, Gladys and the others had gone to the bank to deposit the money. Thea had gone to Pacific Group.

As she had just taken over Pacific Group, she had a lot of matters to attend to. As such, she had to stay there past six in the evening.

As Gladys had made an appointment with Xavier, she got worried upon seeing Thea being occupied with work she gave her a call and demanded she returned home immediately.

Thea thought something had happened and hurriedly made her way home.

“Thea, change into something glamorous. Put on some make-up and wear some jewelry.”

Thea was puzzled. “Mom, what are you up to this time?”

Gladys smiled. “You’ve got a dinner date with Xavier. Stop dilly-dallying. Xavier’s a busy man. Now that he’s made time to have a meal with us, we should make haste.”

face immediately darkened. “I’m not going. You go

Do you know how much I was ridiculed and made fun of because of you? Because of you, I couldn’t is my come, I’ll leap off the eighth she opened the window and prepared to how could you disobey your mother for someone like James?” David chimed in, “That’s right, Thea. Is James really worth it?” The entire family was trying to convince Thea. Thea’s eyes were aggrieved look broke James’

have a meal with Mr.

Thea scolded him. “What are you thinking? Why would you allow your wife to dine with other men? And you’re even thinking of coming along? Are you not aware of your status? If you go, you’ll be ridiculed not expect her to have all, he had dealt

Not only that, Xavier would make it clear that her room and got dressed. James, on the other hand, sat on the sofa in silence. Soon, Thea changed into a tailor-made dress. Then, they went to the Gourmand. Xavier had booked the Diamond Room at the Gourmand. It was the most luxurious had been waiting since for two

Thea and her family arrived at seven. Following the lead of the waiter, Thea and the others entered the Diamond Room.

For the past two hours, Xavier was restless.

He only regained his senses when someone entered the room. Wiping the sweat off his forehead, he swiftly stood up and greeted, "Ms. Thea, you're here. Hello to you too, Gladys and Benjamin."

Upon seeing James who came in last, he felt shivers down his spine.

As they say, the basis of social relationships was reciprocity. Seeing how friendly Xavier was, Thea stopped wearing the surly expression on her face. She smiled at him and greeted, "Sorry to keep you waiting, Mr. Xavier." "Ah, it's fine. I only just arrived myself. Ms. Thea, please have a sit."

Xavier invited them to take their seats.