

Almighty DG 401

Chapter 401 The Callahans gathered.

“Thea, have you thought of anything yet? The court’s summon is already here, and the trial will begin tomorrow morning. The Xenoses are getting the money back via legal means.” David wore a worried expression.

Thea had been out for the whole day. He wondered if she had gotten the money.

Thea’s face was pale.

Her exquisite face was devoid of emotions. Like an emotionless robot, she sat there unmoving.

Slam!

At that moment, the Callahans’ front door was kicked open. Maximus along with his men stormed into the house. Appalled, the Callahans stood up. Maximus brought his men in and sat on the sofa.

Meanwhile, the Callahans stood by the side with horrified expressions.

Maximus glanced at them and said with a mischievous grin, “You’ve prepared the money?”

Thud!

the floor immediately and pleaded, “Please, give me a few more days! My sister has been trying to get money by sleeping with

She

“Take him.”

Maximus ordered his men.

men approached David and dad... Save something. Quick!” Gladys panicked. “Think of something? What can I do?” Thea shook her head. She was at her wit’s end. Maximus stood up and said coldly, “I’ll give you one more day, Thea.

he said that,

I don’t wanna die...” David was forcibly dragged out of

He wailed.

go against Maximus. Thea’s eyes were brimming something, Thea. Even if David did do something wrong, he’s Hurry up and think of a beg you. I don’t want surrounded Thea and pleaded. Seeing their tearful expressions, Thea breathed a deep sigh and said, "Don't worry. I'll that, she returned to her room. In her room, she hid under the blanket next day. She did not get herself a lawyer as she knew she had no chance of

As expected, she lost the case.

To get back the money, the court froze all of her assets and even prepared to auction away the villa James had given her. They also ordered her to gather the money owed as soon as possible.

The money was not the main problem. She would be able to get it bit by bit.

The real problem was Maximus.

Maximus was a vicious and cold-blooded man. If she could not pay on time, David would be dead.

Dismayed, Thea walked out of the courtroom. Though the sun was bright, she felt her life was bleak. 'D-Do I really need Zavier's help to get through this?' She was unwilling to succumb to her fate. She pulled out her phone and called James. "Hey, honey. What's wrong?" Hearing his voice, Thea covered her mouth and tried her best not to sob. This would not have happened if her husband was a rich and influential man. What a shame that he was a good-for-nothing man. "I-It's nothing." She hung up the call.

James was lying on the bed in a military base in the Southern Plains.

Scratching his nose, he murmured, "Huh... How weird."

Chapter 402

Thea wanted to bid James goodbye.

However, she could not bring herself to do so.

Now, she had to remain with Zavier and wait till a later time to explain things to James.

She had no other option. Otherwise, her brother's life would be in peril, and her family would face destruction. James, on the other hand, did not know what was happening in Cansington. He did not think much about it either.

He could not leave as he needed to stay by Henry's side to monitor his condition.

Thea called Zavier.

At the Watsons' villa at Goodview Villa District, Thea sat on the sofa.

Before her meeting with Zavier, she had gone home to put on makeup and change into a white, revealing slip dress. The smooth and fair skin of her neck and arms were exposed for all to see.

Meanwhile, Zavier sat by the side and scrutinized her.

Wearing a satisfied look, he scanned her from head to toe. Perfect... She was a flawless woman.

“Think carefully, Thea. I’m not the one forcing you into this.”

I’ll divorce him and marry you. If you’re dissatisfied with me, I can even be your mistress...” Biting her lips, she lifted her head and looked at Zavier. She felt ashamed saying only thing she could

me and save

Thea. He had seen innumerable beauties in the past and had even dated some. Still, he could not help but gulp. He asked, “By the way, there are rumors saying you’ve never slept with your husband. Is that her head and Zavier was thrilled.

expect her to be a virgin.

world know of our marriage, and we’ll have a wedding ceremony. I’ll marry you and make you Mrs. Watson.”

truly in to marry

engagement, you can be a housewife. If you wish to venture out into the corporate world, I’ll give you a sum of money so you may establish your own business. In took a deep

was at the end of her she had not been pushed to a corner. All things aside, Zavier was a good man. Whether it be his family background or his arm

and retracted her

that was rash of me,” Zavier

He was too impatient.

would be his

with him. “I-it’s alright.” Thea smiled lightly and stood up. Zavier brought her to Osmanthus villa in the suburbs

He was bruised all over his body. Meanwhile, Maximus sat on a chair and smoked his cigarette. Seeing the injured David, he smiled. “David, felt excruciating pain whenever he opened his mouth. As such,

“So soon?”

Maximus stood up and said, "Get moving." A man and a woman were seated in the foyer of the villa.

They were Zavier and Thea.

Zavier was composed. Thea, on the other hand, wore an anxious expression.

Soon, Maximus arrived along with his men. He laughed. "I was wondering who came. So, it's Mr. Watson. I'll say this, Thea. There's no use bringing the emperor here. You'll still have to pay up." Zavier asked, "How much?"

Maximus answered, "1.6 billion total. For your sake, I'll just ask for a billion."

"I'll pay. Let him go immediately."

Maximus glanced at the man beside him and ordered, "Bring him here."

Chapter 403

"Understood."

His men went to the basement and brought the badly injured David up. Zavier stood up and said, "You may get the money from the Watson residence. I'll take him from here. I hope that's fine with you."

"Not a problem. I trust you."

"Need an IOU?"

Maximus handed an IOU to Zavier. Zavier then handed it to Thea.

Thea said gratefully, "T-Thank you."

Zavier lightly waved. "Drop the formalities. We're gonna be a family soon. Quick, bring your brother to the hospital. I'll be making the arrangements. Let's get engaged tomorrow."

"Ah? S-So soon?" Thea was stunned. She then said, "I-I haven't divorced James yet."

Zavier smiled. "It's alright. You can divorce him after we get engaged."

Zavier wanted to tell her that James was the Black Dragon and had died on the battlefield at Mt. Thunder Pass. However, after brief contemplation, he chose to remain silent.

be his woman. He did

Thea fell silent.

she nodded. "Alright, had no other choice. Zavier had been of great help. Not to mention that he was a good candidate injured David to the

and prepared

David's injuries were mild, there was no need for him to be admitted to the hospital. After getting some medicine, they returned home. At the Callahans'... Thea told her family about the incident with Zavier.

with a bright smile on her face, “You should’ve done this earlier! You should’ve divorced James and gotten together with Mr. Watson sofa and said, “It’s all thanks to me, Thea. If not for me, there’s no way you would’ve cozied worth hundreds of billions. No matter how you look at it, James is a hundred light-years away from

Remember to repay David once

She ignored them and went straight back to her room. Meanwhile, the Callahans were a reversal was efficient. Soon, the quickly spread throughout

Zavier’s engagement with Thea. The wedding would be

was a shell

Dragon had been supporting the moment news of the Black and had not divorced her husband yet. Even so, a military hospital in the Henry’s condition worsened.

James hurriedly tended to him. Henry’s injuries were too grave. Any ordinary man would have already been dead. However, Henry was a battle-hardened warrior. As such, his physical perseverance was extraordinary. Moreover, James’ superb medical skills were also keeping him alive. Although he was alive and breathing, his condition was still volatile. At one point, his breathing slowed, and his heart almost stopped. James used his silver needles to stimulate the blood flow in Henry’s heart to keep him alive.

Henry’s body was now full of silver needles.

Every needle seemed to be trembling.

After spending a whole night in the hospital, his condition stabilized.

“Whew!”

James took a deep breath upon seeing Henry’s improving condition. “Commander-in-chief, you have many missed calls...” Just as James was done tending to Henry, Levi walked into the room and handed him his phone.

Chair 403

James took the phone.

He realized there were many missed calls from Thea. Scarlett had called. Xara had called. Even Newton had tried to contact him.

In any case, anyone who had connections with him had called him.

However, he had been in the room trying to save Henry's life since yesterday afternoon. "Did something happen?" Seeing the missed calls, he had a bad feeling.

Chapter 404 Something must have happened in Cansington. "Watch Henry closely," James instructed. Saying that, he left the room. In the corridor, he lit a cigarette and called Thea.

It was seven in the morning. Thea had woken up early and gone to the Watsons' villa. She was dressed in a white wedding dress. A make-up artist was applying make-up on her.

Her phone rang. Seeing that it was James, she froze. Should she answer the call? What would she say to him?

After momentarily freezing, she picked up the phone.

"What's wrong, Thea? I was really tired last night. I slept immediately upon returning to the hotel. I didn't know you called."

James' voice came from the phone.

Thea was at a loss. She took a deep breath and said, "I-It's nothing. I wish you the best at work."

Saying that, she hung up the phone.

James was puzzled.

Nothing?

was wrong with her

moment,

It was Xara.

He answered the call.

"What's wrong?"

"Whew!"

in relief. "James, I

"Cut to the chase."

you? Come back quickly!

worriedly, "Did something happen to her?" "Thea's getting married to Xavier Watson today. Where are you? I was calling you the whole

James'

getting married to will begin at noon. Return quickly.

“Got it.”

the phone. He finally knew why everyone called him. It seemed that news of Thea getting into the

the bed, Henry was on condition was still unstable. James could not just However, Thea was his wife.

After brief contemplation, he ordered, “Levi.”

“Yes?”

James said, “Prepare a private helicopter. Escort Henry back to Cansington.” “Understood.” “Another thing...”

“Listening, sir.” “Secretly redeploy a thousand elite troops of the Black Dragon army back to Cansington. Await further instructions from me.”

“Understood.”

James had wanted to wait until Henry recovered to return. However, his wife was getting engaged to someone else. He could not wait any longer. “Zavier, you’re digging your own grave. You’ve doomed your family.” James clenched his fist, and his face darkened. He had a murderous look.

Soon, the helicopter was ready.

The soldiers carried Henry, who was on the ventilator, and some other devices onto the helicopter. James was among them. Soon, the helicopter took off and headed straight to Cansington. Two hours later, the helicopter arrived at Cansington’s military area. The Blithe King was there to welcome them.

Chapth: 405

time.”

“Never mind.”

“This is a personal affair. I’ll deal with it myself. Besides, everyone knows that the Black Dragon takes on another identity. Only a handful know of my true identity.” James had thought about it. The one targeting him seemed to know him inside out. It could be someone from the government. It could also be related to the destruction

the shadows and wait for as they would think he was dead. If he revealed himself, his enemies would continue targeting him, thereby providing him with the opportunity to get more insider information. “If that’s the nine in the families from Cansington were gathered at the white wedding dress. She had on a full face moment, she looked like a gracious wearing a black suit with a flower in Seeing her beauty, he grabbed her hand and looked at her in a daze.

“Thea, you’re so beautiful. It’s my greatest honor to marry you. I promise to treat you well forever.”

Thea smiled.

She had accepted it at this point.

Although she was forced to marry Zavier, she realized that being with him was not too bad.

However, she felt she had betrayed James.

James had treated her injuries. Throughout his time at the Callahans’, he had never uttered a word of complaint.

‘Sorry, Jamie. I’ll make it up to you.’

She closed her eyes and murmured in her heart.

Chapter 406 The Watsons were in a festive mood. Though they were the representative of North Cansington in the Five Provinces Business Alliance, they had always kept a low profile.

The moment they chose to be known, they would shock all of Cansington. Rows after rows of luxury cars appeared outside of the Watsons’ villa. None of them were worth less than five million dollars. Besides, those cars were at the bottom rung. There were innumerable luxury cars worth tens of millions.

All kinds of bigwigs had come to congratulate Zavier and Thea on their marriage.

At the foyer of the villa...

Each floor of the villa was at least two thousand square meters. There was a stage in the middle of the foyer.

Under the stage, many financial and commercial people gathered. Some of them were even from the political realm.

Under their watchful gaze, Zavier walked in with Thea, hand-in-hand.

a white wedding

There

its glamor. The wedding dress alone was worth

“She’s beautiful.” “How lucky of Mr.

Thea to have made him fall for wore envious

were present

David was injured, he did not hide the cheerful expression on his face. He gathered with the youngsters of the Callahans and bragged, "It's all thanks to me the stage with a

It was Quincy.

was wearing a red she exclaimed, "Ladies and gentlemen, this is a pair made in heaven! I'm so envious of them." Thea blushed and whispered, "Q-Quit it." Quincy giggled. "Oh... getting embarrassed, I see." Xavier stood up for Thea. "Quincy, Thea's a married, yet he's already standing up for you.

felt her

However, seeing the gaze of admiration from the crowd, she was delighted. She felt like the happiest woman in all of Cansington. With a mic in hand, Quincy said, "Ladies and gentlemen, welcome to the Watsons' villa. Thank you for coming to witness the engagement ceremony of Thea Callahan and Xavier Watson."

Saying that, she glanced at Xavier. Xavier took a large diamond ring out and knelt on the floor. Looking at Thea lovingly, he said, "I fell in love with you the moment I first met you. Would you be willing to be my fiancé?"

"Say yes!" The crowd was excited.

Thea looked at Xavier.

James' face came to her mind. At the same time, outside the Watsons' villa, a man arrived.

Chapter 407 James had returned from the Southern Plains. After confirming Henry's condition in the military region and finding out the truth behind Thea's and Xavier's engagement, he hurriedly made his way to the Watsons' villa. As it was only eleven in the morning, he still had time. It was a festive mood in the courtyard of the Watsons' villa.

Many people had gathered. James' appearance attracted the attention of the crowd. "Isn't that Thea's husband, James?"

"Why is he here?"

"Didn't he divorce Thea?"

"He's probably here to get some money out of Xavier."

They covertly discussed.

Wearing a surly expression, James walked toward the front door. A few security guards immediately blocked his path. One of them took an electric baton out and pointed it at James. He barked, "Hey, do you know where you are? What makes you think you can come as you please? Get lost!" James looked at the security guard.

His gaze was fierce.

The security guard felt as if he was being stared down by a ferocious beast. Unconsciously, he took a few steps back. "Scram..." James said coldly.

momentarily freezing, the security guard barked, "This is the Watsons' villa!" Saying that, he swung the electric his hand and blocked it.

Crack!

security guard's

he collapsed on the floor and groaned

In the villa...

on the floor with a

The crowd was cheering,

his sincere gaze, Thea forgot all about James. 'I'm sorry, breath, she nodded.

"I don't."

roar came from outside

Then,

Everyone turned to look.

was James, their expressions turned her face darkened. She then stood up and headed toward him. With her arms crossed, she scolded him.

"What are you doing, James? Should you even be here? Get out of my sight."

he Zavier's face turned pale.

'Didn't he die at Mt. Thunder Pass in the Southern Plains? How did he get here?'

He was at a loss.

That afternoon, the nation mourned for the Black Dragon. Though no one else knew that the Black Dragon was James, he knew. Some among the crowd were excited to see the scene unfold.

Even the likes of Alex Yates and Yuna Lawson were there.

They knew James' true identity. However, they did not think he was still alive. However, they remained silent and only sat there and watched things play out. They were curious to see how James would fight against the Watsons now that he had resigned from his post. After momentarily freezing, Xavier snickered. "I was wondering who it was. Turns out it's the son-in-law of the Callahans. You don't agree to this marriage? I'm afraid it has nothing to do with you. After all, you've been dumped by Thea." James looked at Thea and asked, "Is that true?"

"I..."

Chapter 408 Thea opened and shut her mouth.

She did not expect James to return so soon.

She did not foresee this scenario.

Her cheeks were red.

She felt ashamed.

Even though she had not divorced James, she was now getting engaged to another man.

She looked at Xavier pleadingly. "M-Mr. Watson, could we postpone the engagement? I'd like to properly divorce James before marrying you." Xavier's face darkened. He said coldly, "What do you mean by this, Thea Callahan?" "I..." Thea was at a loss for words.

James was below the stage, staring at Thea, who was wearing a white wedding dress. He uttered word by word, "Thea, I won't force you to do anything. However, you and I are still husband and wife. We're not even divorced, and you're already getting engaged to another man. What do you take me for?"

Even though James knew Thea was forced to do this, he was nonetheless aggrieved.

working tirelessly

she was getting engaged to not truly intend to leave me, I won't force you to stay." James had returned to Cansington and married saving him. He would not force Thea to follow her spouting?!" Gladys raised her hand to slap James. She shouted, "Can't you see this is a joyous slap. He glared coldly at Gladys and barked, "Enough! All this while at the Callahans, I've never turned to look at Thea. Thea had knew what she did was

If she did not get engaged to Xavier, she would be burdened with a heavy debt. Her family would be ruined. Seeing James' grim expression,

Saying that, she knelt.

"I'm begging you."

Everyone witnessed the scene.

Xavier felt humiliated.

got on stage and helped Thea up. "What are you doing? You're my

"Say no more. We'll talk about it when we get back." James pulled Thea by the arm and left. Before coming, he had instructed the Blithe King to look into the matter. He knew that the Callahans were backed into a corner. "Hands off, James!"

Quincy stepped forward and rebuked him, "What are you doing here?"

James turned to look at her and said coldly, "Shut up." Saying that, he turned to leave. Xavier roared, "Thea Callahan! If you dare step off this stage, I'll make sure to ruin the Callahans and wipe them off Cansington's map!" James turned and said coldly, "Is that so? In that case, I'll wipe the Watsons out first." "Haha! You?!" Xavier pointed at James and burst into a peal of laughter. "Who do you think you are? Do you seriously think you're the big shot of the past..."

James waved.

A silver needle flew out and struck Xavier.

Xavier felt silent.

Then, under the crowd's gaze, he collapsed.

Chapter 409 Xavier collapsed.

Thud!

A loud sound came from the stage.

Everyone was dumbfounded.

"James..."

A cold voice came.

Gavin, who was in a suit, headed toward James. Enraged, he glared at James.

James returned the glare. "Hmph."

Then, he turned to leave.

"Stop him!" Gavin roared.

In an instant, a dozen security guards surrounded James. There were even members of the police force among them.

They blocked James' path.

"Standing in my way?"

James' face darkened.

you brought enough shame to us already? Get out of my James' hand and whispered, "Y-You should leave first, James. They're

"Leave?"

and

"I..."

things to turn out this way. Gavin walked toward them and said coldly, "James, you're no longer the James of

"Indeed."

past. Even so, no one headed back on bullies my wife.

Zavier cried out in pain. He had a distorted facial expression. So James stomped again. This time, the bones in and twisted

Crack!

Zavier was crippled.

was thrown onto the hurts! Father,

Zavier yelled in pain.

Everyone was dumbfounded.

the Callahans' son-in-law! How dared

The police pointed their guns at James. Thea's face was pale.

Gavin's face darkened.

Quincy, who was on the stage, was stunned. "This is what happens." James' voice reverberated throughout the foyer. "I'll make this clear. From today onward, anyone who hits on my wife will suffer terrible consequences. To anyone who dares target the Callahans, I'll make sure your life becomes a living hell."

James' words were cold, brutal, and commanding.

"Get him!"

Gavin trembled in rage.

'You're just a decommissioned general. You're not one of the five commanders-in-chief anymore. How dare you act so insolent!' The police slowly approached the stage.

James lifted his leg and stomped the stage.

The stage shook.

Rumble!

Then, the whole structure collapsed.

Chapter 410 The police were dumbstruck by the scene. "W-What power!" "The stage collapsed with a single stomp?"

While the police were rooted in their spots, James got off the stage and approached Gavin. He grabbed him by the collar and inserted a few silver needles into his body.

Gavin immediately collapsed to the floor. His body fell limp. He could not even utter a single word.

"Gavin, if you wish to live, beg for forgiveness at the Callahans' villa. Otherwise, you'll be dead in three days."

Saying that, James grabbed Thea and turned to leave.

No one stopped him.

After all, Xavier was lying beside the collapsed stage like a dead dog.

Meanwhile, Gavin was on the floor too. His veins could be seen, and he wore a painful expression. His face was contorted with rage. He wanted to speak but could not even utter a single word.

The grand engagement ceremony had turned into a fiasco because of James' appearance. Everyone was puzzled.

How did the useless, good-for-nothing James pluck up the courage to assault the Watsons at their place? Was he not afraid of their reprisal?

The Watsons were the representative of North Cansington in the Five Provinces Business Alliance. All they needed was a single order to destroy the Callahans. Only a handful was adopting a wait-and-see approach. They knew James' true identity. Even though he had resigned and was no longer the Black Dragon... Even though many powerful people wanted him dead, James was still alive and breathing. The Black Dragon, though no longer one of the five commanders-in-chief, was not someone one could mess with.

longer intimidated by James, they would not offend

Watsons

Outside the Watsons' villa...

as gracious as a swan. Her eyes were brimming with tears. They flowed down her cheeks. She sobbed. "I'm sorry, no longer husband and wife." She was happy and grateful for all that James

She could not leave.

could not leave

Otherwise, the Callahans would Callahans could stand against think

Seeing that her eyes were brimming with tears, he could not help but reach out and wipe them off.

was the Callahans. Gladys, Benjamin, and Lex were among them. There were about twenty of them.

Supporting himself with a cane, Lex rebuked said in exasperation, "James, you trash! Get you go, I'll be chopped to pieces. Our family will be doomed." Thea understood

She was still rational.

knew how influential not leave with stepped out of the Watsons' villa,

SI

She looked at James tearfully. "I'm sorry, James. I can't go with you. Forget about me." Saying that, she rushed back into the foyer, sobbing. In the foyer of the villa, many gathered.

Thea returned.

Zavier was dragged out of the debris caused by the collapse of the stage. His limbs were broken, and he wore a painful expression. Thea crouched down and pleaded, "M-Mr. Watson, please give me a chance. Please give the Callahans a chance. I'll cut off all relations with James."

Wearing a painful expression, Zavier pointed at Thea weakly.

(T-Thea Callahan... I'm telling you... Y-You're doomed! The Callahans are doomed! James is doomed!)"

James followed Thea in.

Seeing this, he frowned.

The Watsons were too influential. Thea and the rest of the Callahans were fearful. It seemed to him that he had no choice but to destroy the Watsons. Otherwise, Thea would never leave with him.