

Almighty DG 421

Chapter 421

Soon, James was back.

He pushed the door of Common Clinic open and walked in. Whitney immediately stood up and greeted, "Hey, James."

"Mhm."

James lightly nodded and looked at Thea, whose eyes were glued to the screen. He walked over there and sat beside her. "Are you alright, Thea?"

"Yes."

Thea looked at James and pointed at the TV. "W-What's going on? G-Gavin's dead?" James nodded and said, "I know that the Watsons are influential. Since calling the police wouldn't work, I reported them to the military. The higher-ups took my report seriously, and the Blithe King himself led an army to Osmanthus villa and exterminated them all. Since Gavin resisted arrest, he was killed on the spot."

"By the way, Maximus is dead too. With him gone, there'll be no one else targeting the Callahans."

"T-The Blithe King himself?" Thea was shocked.

"Of course. This is Cansington which the Blithe King holds jurisdiction over. He would not stand idly and watch these wicked people act as they wished."

use legal instruments to protect yourself. There's no single person in Sol that's all-powerful.

"I see."

Thea nodded.

she was reminded of

"What about my brother?"

the hospital. Let me bring you home first. We'll visit him much of it. It was all thanks to James' report to the

did not dare imagine the consequences. James grabbed Thea's

"Hmm?"

looked at her and

She knew Henry had gone to arts gurus at Mt. Thunder Pass and was pursued by a Dragon had waiting for an opportunity to saw the anxious expression on her face and instantly understood. He said, "He's fine. I'll give you a number.

gave Whitney Daniel's

he left

After the call went through, she asked impatiently, "Hey, James told me you knew about Henry's whereabouts. May calling. However, since Whitney mentioned James, he immediately understood. "At "What? A-At the military hospital?" Whitney's face turned pale. She hurriedly asked, "What happened to him?"

"Come and see for yourself."

Daniel did not say much. Whitney hung up the phone and immediately headed to the military hospital.

The rest of the Callahans remained in their residence.

Lex and the others did not leave. James' parting remarks scared them. As they were present at the scene, they knew that David and Thea had been abducted. They immediately knew it was the Watsons who were behind this. It was their way of getting back at them. At that moment, the TV was broadcasting the news. Upon seeing the news, everyone was dumbfounded.

"Gavin is dead?"

"Maximus is dead?"

They could not believe their eyes. The Watsons had only just begun their retaliation. How could they be dead in just an afternoon?

Soon, James and Thea returned home.

Chapter 422 Seeing that Thea was safe, Gladys rushed toward her, crying tears of joy. "Thea, you're fine. Thank goodness. I was just watching the news. They said Maximus and the others had an illegal gathering at Osmanthus villa. I thought you..."

"Mom, I'm alright. James reported the incident to the military. It's all thanks to him that we're fine."

"By the way, where's Dave? Where's your brother?"

"Where's my husband? Did anything happen to him?"

Seeing that David was not there with them, Alyssa burst into tears. "David, how could you leave us just like that? Our child isn't even born yet..." "Mom, he's alright. He was injured and sent to the hospital. Let's visit him."

Hearing this, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

Then, they headed straight to the hospital.

As David was sent to the hospital early, his operation was already over.

He lay on the bed in the special ward and looked at the ceiling, daydreaming.

Today's incident had been too shocking. He thought it was the end for him. He was prepared to die. However, James appeared at the last moment and saved his life. He did not expect James to be the Black Dragon. If he was the Black Dragon, who was the James of Majestic Corporation? His head was spinning. However, James finished off hundreds of men with ease while carrying him in his arms. In the end, when the Blithe King showed himself, James was even fraternizing with him.

Who was he if not the Black Dragon?

Chapter 423 Thea's mind was clear after all she had experienced. She loved James. James had a place in her heart.

She remembered how James treated her injuries. She remembered James' meticulous care and attention toward her.

She suggested they showered together. She wanted James to be her first.

James looked at Thea in a daze.

Then, he grinned mischievously and asked, "Is that so? You better think again. I'm not forcing you."

"If you don't want to, then so be it."

Thea blushed and made her way to the bathroom.

James scratched his nose.

He wanted to make a move on her.

now was not the still had business to ceremony with Thea yet. He planned to officially marry her after dealing with everything. It would be in a towel, her hair was me blow dry

"Sure."

change in Thea's feelings and attitude toward him. She had never asked him to help blow dry her hair. It sat in front

hair. The scene was both romantic and heart-warming. "Honey, we're broke." Thea's hundred million from my bank account. The Xenoses demanded and everything worth something have been

“It’s alright.”

you the new Asclepius of our generation and spread your name far and wide. There’s no need to be unconcerned about the war reparation. Although the vast majority of it was given to the Black community, it was enough to get of the likes of the Five Provinces Business Alliance, Oceanic Commerce, and Infinite Commerce.

Thea’s hair

hair. The aroma of shampoo tickled James’ nostrils. She stood up

“Okat.”

James went to shower.

When he came out of the bathroom, Thea was already on the bed.

He followed suit.

The moment he got on the bed, Thea reached out and hugged him.

She was naked. Her skin came into contact with James’. James could feel her warmth and the tenderness of her breasts.

“Honey...”

He opened his mouth to speak, but as he was nervous, he stammered.

“James, I’m sorry. I’m really sorry.” Thea hugged James and apologized non-stop. “It’s all in the past. There’s no need to apologize.” James could no longer suppress his desires. He turned to look at Thea.

Thea blushed and closed her eyes. James could see her fluttering eyelashes. Thea waited for around thirty seconds. Sensing that James was being passive, she opened her eyes. She was met with a familiar face.

She plucked up the courage and pounced on James. She kissed him. Their lips touched Chapter 424 They kissed. Then, they hugged. Knock! Knock! Knock! Suddenly, knocks came from the door.

As if they were doing something wrong, they jumped with alarm and wrung free of each other immediately. James cleared his throat. “Who is it?”

He was displeased.

‘Who was it knocking on the door? How rude. I almost had it. How dare they interrupt me?’ Gladys’ voice came from the door. She shouted, “Open the door! Lex is calling for a family meeting. He’s demanding everyone join.” “In the middle of the night? Come on!” James was displeased. Thea, on the other hand, was already dressed. She was quick. She had gotten dressed before James could even react. Blushing, she smiled at James. "M-Maybe next time..." What else could James say? Next time, then.

He put on his clothes. After getting dressed, they walked out of the room. "What took you two so long?" Gladys was annoyed.

Suddenly, she noticed something. She stared at Thea and saw that her cheeks were red.

She understood with a single glimpse what had happened in the room. She swiftly dragged Thea aside and whispered, "Thea, d-did you do it with that piece of trash?"

"Huh?"

Thea panicked. 1

she had done something

She did not know

"You..."

"What are you dilly-dallying for? Don't we have a family meeting to attend? Let's to the door. "That girl!" Gladys crossed her arms. Benjamin looked at James and said, toward the

the way, Gladys kept reprimanding and was still a virgin. She had also been secretly reminding her not to sleep with someone, she would be her to... She kept earlier scene in her embraced her in his arms, she felt a jolt of electricity passing through her body. She felt like she was floating on air.

she could not help but they reached the important members of the family were and John's families were Thea and her family walked in. Everyone turned to look at them. Immediately, the sarcastic remarks came. "Dilly-dallying all day long... Always the last to arrive, I see."

The one who uttered those remarks was Audrey Catalina, Howard's wife. All this while, Audrey was able to lift her head high with her mother's family as her husband was the chairman. However, because of Thea, the Callahans were now faced with bankruptcy. She utterly despised Thea. "Mom, stop it."

Weston pulled at Audrey. Lex sat on the sofa and smoked his cigar. Seeing that everyone was present, he spoke, "Our family is in a deep crisis. I've called you all here today not to shift the blame on anyone but to think of a way to resolve the crisis."

Lex's voice was clear and crisp.

Everyone's gaze was fixed on Thea. Tommy said coldly, "All thanks to Thea, I suppose. This only happened because she crossed the Watsons and humiliated them. That's why they're exacting their revenge on us." "That's right. Because of Thea, all medical corporations have ceased cooperation with us. All our contracts have been canceled."

"Grandpa, Thea's a jinx. The Callahans will never enjoy peace with her here. Let's kick her out of the family." "Even if we kick her out, she'll still have to pay her dues."

The Callahans spoke.

Thea did not understand the situation the Callahans were in.

She only knew that Pacific Group was doomed. She had no capital left to kickstart new operations.

Chapter 425 She asked, "Grandpa, how's Eternality doing at the moment?" Lex raised his eyebrow and glanced at her. "What? You dare ask? You humiliated the Watsons, and now they're targeting us. Celestial Group and Longevity Pharmaceuticals have already terminated their contracts with us. Not only that, they're now suing us by saying there are quality concerns with our products. Eternality has been sealed off. The banks are demanding we repay our loans. All businesses under the Callahans have stopped. We now owe hundreds of millions of dollars."

Hearing this, Thea's face darkened.

She never expected the situation to be so grim.

"What should we do now?"

Lex looked at the crowd.

They had no choice but to declare bankruptcy.

For decades, Lex had strived to make the Callahans a well-to-do family. Yet, after finally accumulating billions of dollars worth of assets, they had lost everything.

He was eighty years of age. He was tired.

He no longer wanted to care.

He had summoned everyone to figure out a solution. If none could be found, he would declare bankruptcy.

Everyone remained silent.

all on the Group and Longevity Pharmaceuticals were on the Watsons'

Callahans to stand against their combined

he stood up while leaning on his cane. "Since no one has any ideas, we'll declare bankruptcy.

did not rebuke

knew it would amount fate. It was Callahans' fate. "I'm old. I'm getting old...". Supporting himself with his cane, Lex headed upstairs. In that instant, he seemed to have aged even more. Upon and commanding man. Even though he was eighty years of age, there was this vitality within him. He had this pioneering spirit that made him look young and that energy

old man nearing the end of his

"There's still hope."

James spoke.

voice was loud turned to look at his

pulled at James, hinting at him to stop. The Callahans were now in dire straits. Eternality had been sealed off. Their capital chain was broken. They were in a lot of debt. What hope was he talking about? Under everyone's watchful gaze, James continued, "From what I've heard, the Transgenerational Group has an investment company as its subsidiary. We can draw investments from them. As long

"So what if you know about this? Now that Eternality has been sealed off and we shoulder hundreds of millions

Besides, Eternality currently has no prospects. Why would anyone Thea wouldn't have broken off her engagement. The Callahans wouldn't have to suffer such

The moment James spoke, the Callahans went into an enraged frenzy. They blamed everything on him.

"If I say it's possible, it's possible."

James continued nonchalantly, "After all, how do we know it won't work if we don't at least try?"

"Alright."

Lex stared at James and said, "James, if you can draw investment from Transgenerational and revive the business operations of the Callahans, I promise you this. From today onward, no one else will ever demand you to divorce Thea. I, Lex Callahan, will officially acknowledge you as my grandson-in-law." "I'll try." James nodded. Thea's face darkened. 2

James was being overly ambitious again.

There was no way to save the Callahans' businesses. They would need at least hundreds of millions. Before any investment company invested, they would launch a series of investigations and conduct a risk evaluation. They would gain no returns if they invested in the Callahans. Unless, of course, they took over Eternality with hundreds of millions.

Chapter 426 Eternality still had a value worth several hundred million dollars.

However, the Callahans owed hundreds of millions of dollars, and selling off the company would merely be enough to repay the debts. Bankruptcy and becoming an ordinary household were inevitable. "Honey, do you really have a way to attract investments?" Thea glanced at James doubtfully. James nodded lightly. Attracting investments was a cinch for him.

James felt sympathy for Lex and could not bear to see his lifetime effort go down the drain like this.

Lex was stubborn because of his obsession.

It was his dream to lead the Callahans into glory.

In order to achieve his dreams, he was still struggling at such old age when he should be enjoying the rest of his life. Instead, he was still working hard for the family.

Additionally, he had a bottom line for doing things. Otherwise, there would be no such thing as household rules enforcing the family members to use down-to-earth methods and not dirty tricks in business. "Since James is confident in attracting investments, we'll leave this to him. However, I have to warn you, James. You'll have to get out of our family if you fail to do so," said Howard. "Dad, do you really trust that piece of trash, James?"

"Let's just try to solve it as soon as possible through our connections or see if anyone can find someone who is connected to the Watsons. Then, we'll ask them to help plead with the Watsons to spare our family."

charge of the Watsons, so how are we going to use any connections?"

wanted to bet their hopes on James because the Callahans had no to let the Callahans end on the other hand, did not say he was a little hunched and looked to be going through a vicissitude. After Lex left, Gladys' touched her nose, puzzled. "Did the old man's personality change today?"

so much trouble for the Callahans, and according to Lex's usual wanting to expel Thea from the family. Yet, there was not a single word of blame. "Let's go back, Thea." James pulled Thea to leave. After leaving the Callahans' villa. Thea asked out of curiosity, "Honey, do you have any means of attracting investments?" The current state of the Callahans was her fault. She felt guilty and blamed herself for

This is a grand event in Cansington equivalent to a national event. Wouldn't it be easy to attract investments if we could stand out at the medical

it was a piece of cake for him to Callahans were too power-hungry and needed a lesson that all, the Callahans were Thea's family, and he also hoped reply and said nothing went one in the morning by the time they

At home.

James looked at Thea pleadingly.

"Thea, I-let's do it again?"

Thea blushed and said angrily, "D-Do what? It's time for bed."

"Fine," James replied, disappointed. The night passed silently. The next day, James woke up early. After breakfast, the family headed to the hospital to visit David. After a night of rest, David's mental state improved a lot. However, it would take longer for him to recover completely. Additionally, the doctor mentioned that whether he could get out of bed and walk in the future depended on his recovery. He would have to spend his life in a wheelchair if he recovered poorly.

Chapter 427 Inside the ward, Alyssa was bawling her eyes out. David tried to comfort her, "Babe, why are you crying? Let's look on the bright side. It's already a miracle that I survived."

After going through life and death, David reflected on himself and said remorsefully, "It's my fault, and I can only blame myself for it." He glanced at James while speaking with gratitude on his face. "J-James, I'm really grateful to you this time. I would be dead in the morgue right now if it weren't for you." James was delighted to hear David finally address him by his name, and he subconsciously straightened his body.

'After going through that experience, this kid finally reflected on himself,' thought James.

"Move aside. Let me check on him."

James walked toward the hospital bed. Alyssa stood up immediately with a face covered in tears.

James examined David's legs and hands, then his whole body.

and as the doctor said, whether he could recover and get out of bed to walk in the future depended on his own body's recovery ability. After the examination, he said with a smile, "You're good and will definitely recover. I'll prescribe a formula later. Alyssa can go pick up the medicine strength and

James

and medical skills. During Eternality's last crisis, James easily resolved it with his medical skills. "T-Thank you, James." David urged Alyssa, "Babe, you should also better stop making faces when you see James in the future. Treat him respectfully. Understand?" David was dissatisfied and immediately reprimanded her. "Forget it. You're injured, so don't anger was grateful. David's attitude made Thea puzzled. 'What's James in every possible way and insulted him whenever he had the chance. Why

"You must be busy,

felt uncomfortable with

we go to the company first. I don't have much to do, so I'll accompany David a little longer,"

James touched his chin.

back to the company? Which company am I

'My job in the Transgenerational Group is just a nominal position,' thought James. "Then I'll make my leave first." James did not say anything more and left after bidding farewell. He had to visit Henry's physical condition in the military hospital. He walked out of the ward, left the hospital, and drove directly to the military hospital. Military hospital, intensive care unit. Henry was lying in a hospital bed. He had a ventilator on, many wires attached to his body, and many medical instruments by the bedside. A young woman sat beside the hospital bed and absent-mindedly glanced at the unconscious Henry.

James walked over.

Whitney stood up and greeted immediately, "J-James."

James waved his hand.

He looked at the medical device. Henry's vital signs were very stable. However, James did not fully trust these high-tech devices. He had more trust in himself. Thus, he gave Henry a pulse diagnosis. Afterward, he prescribed a formula and instructed someone to pick up the necessary medicine and decoct it according to the method written with the formula.

Chapter 428 Henry's condition had already stabilized.

Now, everything was up to his body to heal itself.

The human body was very complex and had an exceptional function-self-healing. In theory, no matter how severe the injuries sustained, the body would repair itself. However, there was also a limit, and exceeding this limit would cause the body's self-healing ability to be lost.

Knowledge about this aspect was recorded in the medical book that James had obtained. The body's self-repairing ability could be accelerated with medicine to stimulate the body's various organs, cells, and blood. "J-James, is Henry alright? He will wake up, right?" Whitney eagerly looked at James. "He'll be alright. He can't die even if he wanted to with me here, so don't worry." James nodded.

Whitney was relieved to hear James' words.

After James had prescribed the formula, he stayed in the hospital to accompany Henry for a long time.

Near lunchtime, James instructed the doctor to pay close attention to Henry's physical condition and to inform him as soon as something was wrong. Then, he left the military hospital.

At the same time.

Blithe King's office. The Blithe King was in his military uniform, sitting on a sofa. Opposite him was a man in his 30s. The man had a diamond-shaped face with short hair and was dressed in a clean suit. He tapped the table with his fingers, making

The Blithe king glanced at the uninvited guest and replied calmly, "I'm unsure what you're referring to, Leroy?" The man sitting opposite him was Leroy Tucker, a high-ranking official in the Capital. He was not in the meaning of his words. "James has already resigned and is no longer the Black Dragon, nor is he

Yet, you choose to help James. Are dead?"

he resigned, he had made countless military contributions and guarded the Southern Plains for many years. He is the Military God of Sol. Plus, he still holds the Blade of Justice. Despite his resignation, his authority is much more job."

Slam!

and he slammed the table. He said furiously, "Blithe King, I'm warning you not to interfere with James' affairs. Don't bring it upon yourself, or else no one will be a short temper. Thus, he was infuriated as soon as the other party provoked him. He shouted, "This is Cansington, Leroy.

Blithe King and turned to still vivid in his mind. He never expected someone to come knocking on his door so soon. Leroy was a high-ranking official in the Capital's political factions. He was the chief executive and commanded hundreds of officials. It could be said that he had authority over tens already in a mess.’ The Blithe King person came to visit him. “Haha! Blithe King! It

A burst of laughter resounded. Seeing the visitor, the Blithe King’s expression darkened again.

The uninvited visitor was dressed in a black jacket, a black duckbill hat, and sunglasses.

“Emperor, why are you in Cansington?” The Blithe King asked solemnly as he looked at the person who appeared in his office.

The visitor was none other than the Emperor of the Capital, who was also the head of the Five Commanders. He was also Sol’s marshal, giving him authority over all the military troops.

Although the Blithe King was currently the commander-in-chief of the five armies, he would have to dispatch the military armies at the order of the Emperor. However, the Emperor was unable to touch the Black Dragon Army.

The Black Dragon Army was a special existence. They were not a domestic army but an army that guarded the borders.

Chapter 429 The Black Dragon Army obeyed only the Black Dragon.

After the previous Black Dragon died, the Black Dragon Army remained without a commander until James’ achievements allowed him to rise and claim the position as the new commander.

The Emperor approached, sat on the sofa, and crossed his legs. He glanced at the Blithe King with a dim expression but said with a smile, “Why not? Does the Blithe King not welcome me?”

“Not at all...”

The Blithe King’s expression softened, and he asked with a smile, “You’re in charge of countless things and must be busy. I was curious why you would leave the Capital and come to Cansington.”

The Emperor replied with a smile, “Well, Cansington’s medical conference is happening very soon, and since the borders are peaceful now, I’ve given myself a two-week vacation. I wanted to visit Cansington and see Sol’s grand annual event. Also, I wanted to meet a few old friends while I’m here.”

Although the Emperor said so, the Blithe King knew he was not in Cansington for fun.

silent

the Black Dragon didn’t die and appeared in Cansington as the son-in-law of the Callahans. Last night, he called you to privately sent troops to solve personal problems. I received a report that there was a criminal gang gathering.” The Blithe King corrected him. “You’re overstepping your boundaries. You’re the commander-in-chief of the five armies. These are matters of the local police forces. I hope you remain within your jurisdiction and don’t act was because situation has changed now. I hope you're smart enough to recognize the best side to be on right now." The Emperor did not say anything more. He picked up left the military hospital. What's right away." The Blithe King hung up the phone, dressed in casual clothes, and of James. The window rolled down, and the took it and asked, "What's wrong? Did something happen?" The Blithe King said solemnly, "Some people James smiled.

"Get in."

what he

King continued. "These two people are representatives from the military and government. They both warned me not to

From now on, you shouldn't get involved after you relentlessly." The Blithe King could not understand. James glanced at the Blithe King and said, "I really don't know how you became one of the Five Commanders. You can't even grasp such simple truth. You should slowly try to digest it and

King sat in the back seat

He pondered upon James, Leroy, and the Emperor's words.

He was a soldier and was full of fighting spirit. Thus, he was not used to wheels and deals, nor had he thought about political affairs. He had always completed his duties and contributed to the country's development.

However, he was not stupid. He could figure it out if he thought about it thoroughly. He thought about the special nature of the Black Dragon Army. The Black Dragon Army was established thirty years ago. It was an independent army outside the jurisdiction of any military region. It had great authority, and all the Black Dragons would inherit the Blade of Justice.

The Blithe King thought about the death of the previous Black Dragon.

It happened ten years ago.

The first commander of the Black Dragon Army was killed during a battle ten years ago, and all the forces within Sol were quickly reshuffled. Upon remembering this matter, the Blithe King immediately understood. James was right. It was essential to stand on the right side. He also understood which sides James was referring to previously.

Chapter 430

James returned home.

At the same time, in a private room of a newly opened restaurant on the Transgenerational New City food street.

Quincy glanced at Thea and asked, "What happened last night, Thea? Why did Gavin suddenly die? How come Xavier got beaten up to the point of being hospitalized? I inquired about it and heard that all his bones had been broken. Plus, his manhood..."

Quincy paused momentarily and whispered, "He's no longer capable of reproduction." "Huh? Is this real? Who did you hear it from? Is the news accurate?" Thea was stunned and asked.

"It's definitely accurate. Someone from the Watsons spread it." "I-I don't know."

Thea was slightly puzzled.

She knew James beat up Xavier during the day but was unsure what happened to him at night. All she knew was that James made a report, and the Blithe King sent troops. Afterward, Gavin resisted the arrest and was shot to death.

no idea, Quincy. I was indeed kidnapped. However, James made a report, and the Blithe King sent troops. I'm really unaware possibly have the contacts to make a report to the military? Plus, this is such a trivial matter. How could he get the Blithe head.

"Y-Yeah." Thea nodded.

and asked," By the way, it's rumored that the Black Dragon is dead. Is Quincy's face turned pale. The chairman of Majestic Corporation, James, was the Black Dragon and also her ex boyfriend. She our fate. He and I and destined not to be together." "I'm sorry, Quincy. I really have nothing to do with him. Unlike the

"Is that so?"

believe a woman

things anymore. We can't let a man affect our friendship. The dead should rest in peace, and the living should try to live to the fullest. By the way, I'm organizing a high school reunion pass." Thea used my connections to invite Kian to perform at the party. Plus, I invited James' old classmates. After the party, off."

this, Thea was tempted could she miss out on sending the Black Dragon, James,

The Black Dragon, James had helped her a lot in the past.

After thinking about it for a while, Thea nodded, "Alright."

"The venue is at Dragon Fountain Villa. After the party tonight, we will rest at the villa for the night and erect the monument for James tomorrow..." While speaking, Quincy suddenly felt awkward. She quickly corrected herself, "I mean the Black Dragon, James, and not your useless husband, James." Thea smiled since she did not take it to heart. "By the way, can I bring a plus one?" "Huh?"

Quincy frowned. The reunion party did indeed permit family members to come along. However, she did not want Thea to bring James to the party. She had already found Thea a suitable boyfriend among her classmates. Although he was not as good as Xavier, he was a hundred times better than the useless James. After thinking about it, Quincy replied, "You can bring one if you want." "Thanks," Thea said with a smile.

After agreeing to attend the party, Thea went home. When Thea returned home, James was already home.

"Honey, I've something to tell you." "Sure, go ahead." "Quincy organized a high school reunion party, and I'm planning to go," said Thea. "Alright, have fun."

"Also..."