Chapter 431 “Just tell me if there’s anything. You don’t need to keep hesitating.” “We’re going to stay in Dragon Fountain Villa for one night. Tomorrow...we’re going to erect a monument for the Black Dragon in the suburbs to send him off on his final journey.”

“Pfft!”

James was drinking water.

Upon hearing this, he spat out the water and burst out laughing.

“Erect a monument for the Black Dragon? Who came up with the crazy idea?”

“Q-Quincy.” Thea was slightly awkward because she was afraid James would be angry. “It’s because the Black Dragon was Quincy’s boyfriend ten years ago,” she hurriedly explained.

James touched his chin.

‘They want to erect a monument for me? ‘I’m not dead yet, though,’ thought James. However, he let it slide.

“Alright, go ahead.” “I want to bring you with me.”

“Sure,” James agreed. Thea was eye-catching, and it would not be safe for her to go out alone. He was uneasy, so it would be best for him to accompany her.

"He felt guilty for disregarding the safety of the girl who pulled him out of the fire and abandoning her, jumping into the river alone. For ten years, he had blamed himself and wanted to make up for it."

Thea knew the girl James was talking about was herself.

She did not expect the Black Dragon to have so many stories. James continued. "The Black Dragon fought on the battlefield so that he could return triumphantly. Only then would he be able to take revenge and repay the girl that saved him."

James felt his nose get stuffy as the urge to cry surged while he looked back on his past.

Thea was puzzled. "You're the Black Dragon's subordinate, and he told you everything about himself. Why was he not the one who married me, but you instead?"

After finishing her sentence, Thea immediately regretted it and hurriedly explained, "Honey, I've no other intentions. It's just a random question. D-Don't take it to heart."

"It was a coincidence that I married you. I was demoted and returned to Cansington. I learned that the Callahans were looking for a live-in son-in-law and discovered you were the girl the commander mentioned. The commander treated me well, and he had always wanted to make up for your saving grace. I didn't have the heart to see you getting bullied by others.

"So, you married into the Callahans and worked hard, enduring all the unfair treatment to repay the Black Dragon's kindness?"

Thea realized the reason the Black Dragon did not insist she marry him. It was because her husband was his previous subordinate. Thus, he did not want to forcefully break up their marriage. 1

James smiled and said nothing. He let her think whatever she wanted. After the current troubles were resolved and Sol was peaceful again, he would come clean with everything. When the time came that he truly retired from the scene, he would organize a grand wedding with Thea.

Chapter 432 Dragon Fountain Villa was a famous leisure villa in Cansington.

It was located on Mount Dragon Fountain in Cansington. On this mountain was a natural hot spring, a popular spot for the rich.

Quincy spent millions to book out the entire venue to organize this party. She paid a lot to invite the most sought-after celebrity, Kian, to perform at the party.

After hearing that the party included free food, accommodation, and the luxury of listening to a top celebrity sing, the former students of Class Two enthusiastically showed up. Those less well-off came to leech off food and drinks.

Those doing well wanted to take the opportunity to show off their success and wealth to their former classmates.

The classmates of the first class attended after learning that they were going to erect a monument for the Black Dragon, James, who was in their class. James and Thea departed relatively late. By the time they arrived at Dragon Fountain Villa, it was already four in the afternoon. Many people were gathered outside Dragon Fountain Villa.

Suddenly, a man in his 30s dressed in ordinary clothes stepped out and retorted, “We’re here for the memorial service of the Black Dragon, not for the party. How dare you say people from our class are poor. The Black Dragon is from our class!” “That’s right!” “Do you know who the Black Dragon is?” “He is one of the Five Commanders of Sol. "How dare you use my hero to boast? The Black Dragon is Sol's Guardian, and I won't allow you to defile him!" a pretty woman retorted. ,

Just as the two classes argued, a shabby Volkswagen showed up.

The Volkswagen did not attract too much attention.

However, after seeing the figure that got out of the car, the whole crowd turned to look at it. "I-Is that Thea from our class back then?"

"Wow! It's Thea! The media rated her as the number one beauty of Cansington. She really is gorgeous and has an extraordinary charisma!" The first class students gathered over. They greeted Thea with a smile. Thea also greeted them.

Chapter 433 Although she had not seen them for ten years, Thea recognized a few people with certain traits.

Meanwhile, James was completely ignored.

James did not join the crowd of the second class and instead glanced at the 20 or so people from the first class not far from him. The faces of these people had changed, but he could still identify a few of them.

He searched the crowd, looking for his previous friends. In the past, he had excellent academic performance and plenty of friends. His best friend's name was Zion Lloyd. In the crowd, James spotted Zion dressed in ordinary clothes that looked like a farmer's outfit.

He walked over and wanted to say hello but turned back halfway.

He forgot he was no longer the James from ten years ago but the son-in-law of the Callahans.

"Hey, Thea! Do you still remember me? I'm the chubby boy, Channing, that pursued you back then."

Julianna's body turned from the force and spat out a mouthful of blood with a few teeth.

James did not hold back because she was a woman. He raised his foot and kicked her. Julianna's body fell toward the ground instantly. "How dare you hit my wife? Are you ignoring me like I don't exist?" James glared at her. Julianna was stunned. She was kicked to the ground, and her black stockings were torn. There were even a few scratches on her body, and she could feel the burning pain from them. Her mouth hurt even more. She cried out in pain, "Kill him, Babe!"

Quay roared furiously, "Bodyguards! Kill him!"

He belonged to the Xenoses and was always accompanied by bodyguards when traveling.

Four burly men rushed over instantly.

Seeing this scene, the surrounding crowd backed away in fear.

James stepped back and kept a certain distance from her. "We already agreed on resolving this matter after you stabbed me twice. Now that you've stabbed me twice, this will be the end of it," said James. The onlookers glanced at James in disbelief.

The scene was unbelievable. "No! You cheated!" Julianna did not want to let James and Thea off so easily.

Helpless, James pulled up his shirt. On his chest, there were two red dots.

These were marks caused by Julianna. Although it did not hurt him, it was enough to leave some marks on him.

“Look for yourself. How did I cheat? Isn’t this where you stabbed? It’s red, and there’s even a small dent. It’s just that your dagger isn’t sharp enough.”

Most daggers aren’t able to pierce through it.” James made up an excuse. The onlookers suddenly realized why he was so confident. It was because his clothes’ material was special. “Alright, everyone should head inside.” Quincy greeted and invited everyone into the villa.

“Y-You’re playing some dirty trick! What’s hidden inside your clothes?” Julianna roared.

She could not believe it. She was holding a dagger. Immediately, she rushed over and wanted to pull off James’ clothes. “Hey! What are you doing? These people witnessed it! Why are you taking off my clothes in broad daylight?”

Chapter 435 James did not dodge. Instead, he blocked the fist.

Their hands collided.

Crack!

The sound of bones breaking resounded.

“Argh!!!”

Quay’s bodyguard groaned in pain. He retracted his hand, waving it in the air and jumping around. Everyone was dumbfounded. James quickly attacked and took down the remaining three bodyguards in a few moves. In an instant, the bodyguards were on the ground, screaming in pain. James glanted at Thea proudly.

“Darling, I didn’t embarrass you, right? I used to be from the military. How could ordinary people who had never encountered real martial arts be a match for me?”

James thought that Thea would praise him. However, she wore a dissatisfied expression.

She had reminded him not to fight them.

“Do you think you’re so good? Didn’t I already tell you not to do it? How much trouble do you want to cause for the Callahans?”

"How?"

Julianna was dumbfounded.

Those from the first class and second class who were watching were also shocked.

'Is he even human?

'How can a dagger not penetrate through him?'

James glanced at his pierced shirt and smiled. "One more. Go ahead."

He was proficient in medicine and understood human anatomy very well. He had been practicing for ten years. He formulated medicine for himself that made his cells denser during his practice. Thus, the epidermis of his skin was firmer.

It was impossible for him to be injured with Julianna's strength.

A powerful middle-aged man might be able to pierce through his body if he stabbed him with full force.

Chapter 436 The crowd looked at the scene in shock.

Julianna was in disbelief and raised the dagger, stabbing it at James' body again.

The results were the same. She could not pierce the dagger into James' skin with her strength.

"How?"

"Y-You're playing some dirty trick! What's hidden inside your clothes?" Julianna roared.

She could not believe it. She was holding a dagger. Immediately, she rushed over and wanted to pull off James' clothes. "Hey! What are you doing? These people witnessed it! Why are you taking off my clothes in broad daylight?"

Quincy was also troubled. The three of them used to be best friends, yet now they acted like arch-enemies.

After the two left, many people gathered closer. Thea glanced at James and asked worriedly, "Are you alright?" "Of course. Why would I not be alright?" James said with a big smile. James had tidied up his clothes. Thea stared at him and asked suspiciously, "Are you even human? How could you not be hurt by a dagger?" James suddenly felt awkward. 'Who says such things about their husband?' James laughed awkwardly and explained, "Actually, my clothes are made of special material and are impenetrable by knives. Most daggers aren't able to pierce through it." James made up an excuse. The onlookers suddenly realized why he was so confident. It was because his clothes' material was special. "Alright, everyone should head inside." Quincy greeted and invited everyone into the villa. In an instant, the crowd dispersed and entered the Dragon Fountain Villa. Channing caught up with Thea and said with a smile, "Are you okay, Thea? The Xenoses get on my nerves. They're incapable and can only rely on their family background to show off and suppress others. I'm different from them. I worked hard and achieved success on my own efforts."

He looked at Quincy while speaking. Quincy had already contacted him in advance, saying she wanted to introduce him to Thea. "Thea, Channing is a decent man. He is business savvy and started from scratch. He now has his own company and makes at least hundreds of millions annually," said Quincy. Quincy wanted to be the matchmaker for Thea and Channing.

Thea was her best friend and did not want her to stay with useless trash like James.

Thea immediately understood Quincy's intentions and halted her steps. "Quincy, I already have a husband and I'm not planning to divorce him. You should stop this, or else I'm going to be mad," said Thea.

Chapter 437 Quincy was at her wits' end. The crowd of people entered the Dragon Fountain Villa. The first class and second class gathered in their respective groups. The groups began to chatter. Over time, more people showed up. Almost everyone from both classes had arrived slightly after six in the evening. Suddenly, a group of people approached the villa. The person in the lead was a handsome man dressed in white casual clothing. He had fair skin and a head of platinum hair. There were several bodyguards following closely behind him. "Woah! It's really Kian!" "It's the celebrity, Kian!"

“Our class monitor sure is capable! She even managed to invite the popular star, Kian!”

Seeing Kian approach, the groups of people went crazy and quickly surrounded him, asking for autographs.

Kian greeted everyone with a smile.

He had been depressed during this period.

He was blacklisted by the Transgenerational Group and could not get any commercials, movies, or dramas.

His expenses were huge in the past. He would spend hundreds of thousands of dollars a day.

His source of income had been cut off after he got blacklisted. Thus, he could only rely on some small performances to earn a few bucks.

He would never have come if Quincy had not offered him two million dollars. Coming to sing at this party was a drop in his value.

James sat alone in the corner, took out his phone, and played Plants vs. Zombies. He was happy to be left alone to play his game.

Suddenly, there was a commotion in the distance.

A man dressed in ordinary clothing was beaten up and rushed into the hall with a few people chasing after him, waving their hands and legs at him, This scene caught the attention of the crowd. Those from the first class noticed Zion being beaten up and wanted to step forward to help him.

However, one person muttered, "Don't act recklessly. That guy after him is from the second class. His name is Lorne Dixon. There are rumors that he is involved in the underworld and joined a certain criminal boss' gang. Zion must have offended him."

When the people of the first class heard it was someone involved in an underworld gang, they immediately backed down. "P-Please stop! Lorne, I was at fault. I'm sorry! Please spare me." Zion was knocked to the ground. He covered his head and begged for mercy.

James raised his head and frowned after seeing the scene.

He immediately stood up and walked toward the hall.

"Stop it! What're you doing?" James shouted.

Chapter 438 Zion from the first class had somehow offended Lorne from the second class. Several of Lorne's subordinates kicked him to the ground and beat him.

Everyone simply stood by to watch, and no one cared to interfere.

James shouted and walked over to them.

Finally, Lorne's subordinates stopped. Zion quickly got up from the ground. He was covered in footprints, and his whole face was bruised, looking very pathetic.

He quickly hid behind James. Lorne wrapped his hand around a sexy woman and glanced at James. "What? Are you going to be a busybody?" James glanced at Zion behind him and asked, "What happened?" Zion whispered, "I...I went to the washroom and accidentally bumped into his woman when I came out. I've already apologized, but he..."

Seeing Lorne's vicious gaze, Zion did not dare to say more.

The woman in his arms glanced at Zion disdainfully and spat at him.

"Broke*ss, you dirtied my clothes. Do you have any idea how much my dress costs? It was thirty thousand dollars. You can't even make that much money in a year. It's a light punishment to have you beaten up. You'll have to compensate the money for it."

Lorne growled, "Did you hear her? Pay up, or else I break your legs." Zion trembled in fear. The commotion attracted the attention of Quincy and the others.

Everyone was aware of Lorne's character. He used to be a school bully in the past. After graduating, he began to mingle with people from the underworld and earned himself some influence. "I-It's alright. I'm fine," Zion also gently tugged James and whispered.

"Haha..."

Lorne laughed out loud.

No one dared to speak to him in such a way after getting involved with gangsters, yet some trash from the Callahans was yelling at him right now. "My girlfriend's dress is worth thirty thousand dollars. Plus, he touched her. Thirty thousand won't be enough to compensate."

"I-I didn't..." Zion refuted.

– James waved his hand and motioned Zion not to speak.

He glanced at Lorne who was smiling mockingly and said coldly, "Count it however you please. Be it thirty thousand, three hundred thousand, or three million. You be the judge. However, I will return the punches and kicks you threw at him." Lorne was stunned by James' words.

He would have mistaken James for some influential figure if he had been unaware of his identity

Chapter 439 After being slightly taken aback, Lorne recollected himself. He knew James was simply the son-in-law of the Callahans. He was a piece of trash. Although the Callahans had some money, that was already in the past.

The Callahans were caught up in some trouble and owed a lot of money. They were on the verge of bankruptcy. After thinking about it, Lorne squinted his eyes at James. "You said three million dollars. Then, pay my girlfriend three million dollars, and I'll take a few punches from you."

"Babe..." The sexily-dressed woman immediately pulled Lorne. She had witnessed James' strength at the villa's entrance. Quay's bodyguards were taken down in an instant. She was worried that Lorne would not be able to withstand a few punches from James.

Lorne waved his hand and said, "It's alright. This brat is merely the son-in-law of the Callahans. He's useless. The Callahans are in debt, and they don't have money at all. Even if they had money, they would never hand it to this piece of trash to boast around."

Lorne had already thought it through. James did not know anyone at this party. Thus, no one paid attention to him. James wanted to seek an opportunity to pretend to be bold so that he could attract the crowd's attention.

The subordinate was thrilled to hear he would get 200,000 dollars and shouted, "Thank you, boss!"

James walked over with a sullen expression. His body leaped to a height of more than one meter and kicked the subordinate's chest. Crack!

The subordinate's chest bones were immediately fractured.

His body flew out like a ball for over two meters, slamming into the ground. His face distorted from the pain, and he groaned. "This..."

Everyone's eyes widened in disbelief as they watched it happen.

Chapter 440 Lorne's subordinate was sent flying with a kick. The onlookers could not feel how strong his kick was.

They only saw the subordinate sent flying more than two meters and slamming into the ground, letting out painful groans. James approached with his leather shoes. Clomp! Clomp! Clomp! As he stepped forward, his shoes threaded the floor. Lorne subconsciously took a few steps backward in fear.

It was terrifying. He would have been suffering in pain if that kick had hit him.

"You didn't even last one kick." James approached the subordinate and looked down at him condescendingly. Under the countless gazes, James raised his foot and kicked him again. The man rolled out like a ball, knocking over tables and chairs in the hall. "Argh! Stop it! Stop it..." The subordinate was horrified.

The previous kicks had fractured several bones on his body, and he was in unbearable pain. He would die if he took another blow.

James glared at Lorne and said indifferently, "It's only been two hits. There are still thirty eight more. Who is going to take it?"
