

Almighty DG 711

Chapter 711

Everyone remained silent.

Though the newly appointed Elite Eight may not be familiar with James' character, the opposite is true for Henry and Levi.

They had followed James for many years. They knew James had never harmed a single innocent man.

Now, he was being set up by someone.

"What's with your expressions?" James looked at them and said calmly, "This is no big deal. It's all my fault. I shouldn't have accepted the bribes or misappropriated the funds. I violated the law knowingly, and this is the consequence of it."

Eyes brimming with tears, Henry asked, "What should we do now, James?"

Everyone was worried, especially the Elite Eight.

So many things happened at once before they were familiar with their roles yet.

James said calmly, "The higher-ups will investigate the matter thoroughly. If I'm lucky, I might simply be demoted or removed from my position. On the contrary, I might face imprisonment or even get executed..."

"James..."

James lightly waved a hand and interrupted Henry.

shoulder the blame. You'll be fine. I'll be leaving the Southern them and gave them instructions.

he would surely be removed from his position.

concerned about the Southern Plains.

was possible he would run amok. That was why watch the new administrator closely. Don't let he would be leaving the place forever.

word with great difficulty.

was enough to make him

was in, Henry was worried.

dying anytime soon. Alright now, you're dismissed. Leave

"Understood."

They nodded.

“Wait...”

them from looked at James.

Although she’s currently fine, the Gu will eventually grow. By then, she will be doomed. If I die, go find instructions, James leaned against the sofa

“Go...”

the

of the spacious was not afraid to die.

became a soldier, he had long left life and death out of

However, there were things he still needed to do.

He did not wish to die just yet.

However, this was fate. He had no other options.

Closing his eyes, he slowly drifted to sleep.

Time passed.

Suddenly, he opened his eyes wide.

“Who’s there?”

His expression darkened.

Though he intended to strike preemptively, his body was limp. The moment he stood up from the sofa, he immediately collapsed.

Leaning against the sofa, he glared at the man before him.

It was a man in black robes.

As it was nighttime, the lights were switched off. As such, he could not see the man’s appearance. He could only ambiguously discern his silhouette.

“What’s wrong with your body?”

A hoarse voice came from the dark. The man was shocked and puzzled.

Chapter 712 James grabbed the controller beside him and pressed a button.

The pitch-black room was immediately illuminated.

Finally, he could see the man's appearance.

It was a man around forty years old. He had a round face and thick eyebrows. Standing before James, the man seemed like a ferocious tiger.

He had a menacing look in his eyes.

James could feel he was no ordinary man. He rarely, if ever, had this feeling. Only when faced with true power would he have such a feeling.

That meant that the man before him possessed true power.

Besides, the man was able to infiltrate the Black Dragon Palace without alerting the Black Dragon army guards. James said feebly, "Something happened."

"Aren't you Asclepius? Can't you save yourself?" The middle-aged man seemed doubtful.

James did not answer his question.

After all, he did not know who the man before him was.

However, he could roughly guess.

subordinates would be here force. However, James was crucial to the revolution. The King would never abandon him.

What is it?"

was extraordinarily

the personal bodyguard of the King of Sol, possessed a power that surpassed

you. You still have a nodded, "I know. I can use the Blade of Justice to have the power to enforce the law. Every person you've killed were those who evidence of their crimes. Meanwhile, all the bribes and misappropriated funds that entered your pockets will be confiscated. Though you've committed a criminal offense, you don't deserve the death penalty. After all, you listened to Gloom intently.

"Yes."

Gloom nodded.

of his way

the allegations against him, he had been waiting for

to know what to know what role he would play in there's another path..."

approached James and whispered in his forces are purged, the King will step back from his position once the situation stabilizes. After the new King takes his place, he will

"Mhm."

James nodded and said, "Got it."

"Be on your guard."

After reminding James, Gloom turned to leave.

Meanwhile, James lit a cigarette.

Smoke swirled around his face.

After smoking the cigarette, he stood up with great difficulty. Supporting himself against the wall, he headed toward the fridge and grabbed a bottle of water.

Then, he returned to the sofa and tried to open the bottle lid.

However, he could not exert any strength.

He could not open the lid no matter how hard he tried.

He laughed at himself.

"Oh, James... Though you claim to be Asclepius, you can't even deal with your own body. I hope I can live to see the revolution and the coronation of the new King. I will have no regrets if peace prevails."

James tossed the bottle of water aside.

As he no longer had any strength to return to his room, he simply slept on the sofa.

Chapter 713

After the matter.

press conference, the Emperor hurriedly headed to Cansington to investigate the

He had been watching James' every action.

He knew of James' misconduct in Cansington.

He immediately went to find The Great Four, the Five Provinces Business Alliance, Infinite Commerce, and the others.

With their testimony, it would be more than enough to convict James of his crimes.

Before the sun had even risen, the Emperor had finished compiling the evidence. He immediately headed toward the Southern Plains with the Red Flame army.

It was morning.

James woke up.

Although he slept for a whole night, he felt even more lethargic than ever before.

He called Henry and gave him a few instructions.

Henry then called for his men to prepare breakfast for James.

breakfast was

The two feasted.

the atmosphere was tense.

Clack! Clack! Clack!

sound of boots could turned his

man walked in with a bunch

the Emperor, the commander-in-chief of the Red Flame and the head of stopped in their tracks. With a mischievous grin on his face, the Emperor was enjoying his meal without a care in the

must be tired handed James a cigarette and said smilingly, "I know you love smoking. Here, have a cigarette. I'm afraid you won't have a chance to do so anymore in the future."

cutlery and accepted the cigarette.

lighter

Smoke swirled around his mind if you target me. I have no complaints.

sounded both like an order and a plea.

King. You're suspected of abusing your position for personal gains while you were in your position. After investigating the matter, we have found men in black suits walked over

Red Flame army of his fists. A vein popped out in his up with great difficulty and extended his Crack!

He was instantly handcuffed.

Then, he was promptly escorted out of the Black Dragon Palace.

Many people gathered outside the palace.

There were civilians as well as reporters.

The Black Dragon Palace was always full of visitors.

Back then, however, the place was crowded with muckraking journalists and admirers of the Black Dragon.

Now, it was full of people who were here to witness and laugh at the Black Dragon's downfall.

Seeing that James was escorted out of the palace in handcuffs, many clapped. "Finally!"

"One less corrupt figure in Sol!"

"He must be one of the most corrupt figures in Sol!"

The crowd was in an uproar.

Meanwhile, the reporters were busy taking pictures.

"Breaking news! James has finally met his downfall!" "The Emperor, the commander-in-chief of the Red Flame army, hurried over to the Southern Plains from the Capital to arrest him."

Chapter 714

"The most corrupt figure in Sol has met his downfall!"

"Breaking news! It's now confirmed that James had been the behind-the-scenes owner of Transgenerational Group in Cansington. The company has now dissolved, and all of James' assets have been confiscated."

"Based on our calculations, he misappropriated funds amounting to 10 trillion dollars."

News of James' arrest spread like wildfire. It stunned the entire nation.

James was brought onto the Red Flame army's private plane.

On the plane, James leaned against his seat, unable to exert a single ounce of strength.

"You win," he croaked.

"What do you mean, James? As one of the five commanders-in-chief and the Dragon King, you should know better than to violate the law knowingly. As the commander-in-chief of the Red Flame army and the head of the Five Commanders, arresting you is merely performing my duty. Please do not blame me for this."

A mischievous grin crept up on the Emperor's face.

"Let Thea go... Give her the antidote... She's innocent."

James pleaded.

closed his

James was enraged.

out of his consideration. The only thing

the Capital and imprisoned in prison specifically for high-profile

James' arrest, the dynamics

Group

Business Alliance bought back Transgenerational New City underground prison of

did not have a single bed. James' room was a wreck, and an awful smell permeated on the ground and leaned was extremely fatigued.

easy feat for him. And so, he chose to Emperor was still a day, everything was complete.

the night James was arrested, the Emperor held another immediately set up a special task force to investigate the matter. In an open and public trial the next morning. All of Clap! Clap! Clap!

a

"That's all for the press conference."

After holding the press conference, the Emperor immediately returned to his mansion. Leaning against his sofa, he was wearing a satisfied look.

Now that James had met his downfall, he could finally be at ease.

At the same time, in the underground prison...

James had woken up from hunger.

As the Gus within his body had been absorbing his nutrients, he was very easily fatigued. Now that he had not eaten in a day, the feeling was unbearable.

His stomach kept growling.

With all his strength, he got up and leaned against the wall.

At that moment, sweat beaded on his forehead.

“S-Someone... Please give me something to eat,” he yelled.

However, his voice was frail.

A man was standing in the prison right next to James’. Through the iron door, he watched James intently.

“Hahaha... I never expected to see you here, Black Dragon.”

Chapter 715 James was so hungry that his head was spinning.

Upon hearing the voice, he unconsciously turned his head. Although the underground prison was pitch-black, the corridor was dimly illuminated. James could see that a man was standing in the prison cell right next to his.

The man’s hair was disheveled, and he was dressed in rags.

Though James could not discern the man’s appearance, he knew that he was acquainted with the man upon hearing his voice.

“Wh-Who are you...?”

His voice was frail.

“Why don’t you take a good look?”

The bearded man approached James and revealed his face.

James watched the man’s face intently.

After a while, he finally knew who he was.

“Blake Davis.”

Davis, the founder of the Dark Castle, whom James had captured alongside many other highly

Blake a few years ago right. It’s me.” Blake burst into a peal of laughter. “Do you know my charged at James. However, he could not move further than James notice that Blake’s limbs were chained.

was

you. Back then, when you captured me, you were still a little-known general. Now, you're one of the five commanders-in-chief and Blake roared.

to be this well-informed in the prison. It has only

King. How did you get

"Haha..."

reverberated throughout the prison.

almighty Dragon King imprisoned in this underground prison. This must be retribution!"

few words. So, he shut his the underground prison deprived James of the ability to tell time. He did not know shook his head in an attempt to remain awake.

Clack! Clack! Clack!

hear the sound of

A middle-aged man in a red military uniform approached his cell.

A ball of flames was carved on the military uniform.

It was the Red Flame robe.

Upon seeing this, James knew that it was the Emperor, the commander-in-chief of the Red Flame army.

"Open it."

The Emperor ordered.

Creak!

The iron door was unlocked.

The Emperor entered James' cell.

Upon entering the cell, he covered his nose on instinct. The stench was unbearable. Looking at James, who was leaning against the wall, he laughed in delight.

"I'm here to pay you a visit, James. How are things going?"

Chapter 716

James glanced at the Emperor and spoke in a frail voice, "Thank you for your concern. I'm doing well, for now."

The Emperor smiled. "You'll be on public trial tomorrow. All of your crimes will be listed. Say ... Do you think you'll be executed?"

James looked at the Emperor and said nothing.

Even though he was furious, he remained composed. After all, he did not wish to waste his strength.

The Emperor continued, "You'll be on trial in another eight hours. Since your position is simply too high, considering that you're the commander-in-chief of the Southern Plains and the Dragon King, your trial will be judged by the remaining four commanders-in-chief, the General – Secretary, and the Chief Executive. Do you wish to die or spend the remainder of your life in this dark and damp cell?"

James took a deep breath and asked, "I have never crossed you or the big shots in the Capital. I'm just minding my own business in the Southern Plains. Why are you so fixated on removing me?"

James was curious to know.

"Is that so?"

The Emperor smiled coldly and ordered, "Bring me a chair."

chair

looked at James and said smilingly, "It's precisely because you're the commander-in-chief of the Black Dragon army. Do you know at corner. If anyone obtains a higher approval rating than the previous King, then he will be the new King. However, if the Black Dragon General chooses to exercise his veto power, the position only

asked calmly, "Are you saying that the previous Black Dragon died in a power struggle?"

could say the Black Dragon army's commander-in-chief. Why are you still after me?" James looked at the knew that the Emperor must have a hidden agenda. If he could make him spill the beans, it would stood up.

there's no use telling a dead man."

The iron door was slammed

James' expression darkened.

power struggle in Sol was terrifying. However, he was because the possessor of the Blade of Justice had the right to do so. Still, what was the Emperor up to? Did he wish to become the King? However, there was an unwritten rule that the military is he up

deep in contemplation. "James..."

A voice came.

James glanced sideways and saw Blake staring at him. He asked in a low voice, "Is there anything?"

"You look ill. Did something happen to your body? Could it be a Gu?"

James looked Blake in the eye. "Very knowledgeable of you. How do you even know of this? That's right. There are Gus inside my body." "I have a way of treating you, but I have one condition. If you promise me, I can help you out with your illness."

James was not hasty. He asked, "What condition? Tell me."

"I know that you must have some sort of backup plan. My condition is simple. If you manage to leave this place alive, I want you to save me too. I'll tell you how to remove the Gus from your body."

Blake told James of his condition.

James' face lit up.

If Blake really had a way of treating him, getting him out of here was not too difficult a task.

However, he did not accept Blake's proposal immediately. He said, "Noted. If I survive this, I'll make a deal with you."

Then, James closed his eyes and rested,

Chapter 717 After shutting his eyes, James fell asleep unknowingly.

However, he was soon awakened by hunger. He would then fall asleep again.

This repeated multiple times. Finally, he could hear the sound of footsteps. Fully-armed men from the Red Flame army dragged James out of his cell. James could finally see the sunlight. Basking in its warmth, James relished the short-lived experience.

Many convoys were at the prison gates.

The Emperor, dressed in his Red Flame robe, got off one of the convoys and approached James.

Seeing the pathetic state James was in, the Emperor gloated, "Did you not have a good night's sleep last night?"

James glanced at the Emperor. He wanted to speak. However, he did not have the strength to do so. He would surely collapse to the ground if not for the men supporting him. "Bring him to the courthouse." "Understood."

The courthouse was a place of trial for high-ranking was currently a crowd outside the courthouse. Soleans from all and Cynthia were all there. Some who were acquainted with James were all cameras were directed

We're here today to witness the trial of James, the Black Dragon, one of the most powerful figures in the nation."

TV stations were in front of the column of fully-armed Red Flame army swiftly cleared a path for the

was dragged out

Click! Click! Click!

snapped

He was in a sorry state. At that moment, he was completely unlike the majestic

"What a shame." "The guardian of Sol committed such crimes all for his personal gain."

"National hero my *ss! He's the disgrace of Sol!"

The people cursed him. Some spat on him and even threw rotten eggs.

James was struck all over his body.

Seeing this, a grin crept up on the Emperor's face. Meanwhile, Thea burst into tears. She wanted to make her way over to James, but she was stopped by the Red Flame army who were maintaining order. The others looked away, unwilling to witness such a scene. Abused and insulted, James was hauled into the courthouse. In the courthouse hall, many high-ranking officials gradually arrived. Hendrix Hudson, the Secretary-General, Leroy Tucker, the Chief Executive, the Emperor, the Blithe king, the Centurion, and the Barbarian King were all present. There were also some mid-ranking officials. Reporters from all over Sol and around the world gathered.

James was dragged to the defendant's table.

He then took his seat. Leaning against the chair, his eyes were on the verge of shutting.

The General Secretary stood up and read out loud, "Today, James, the Black Dragon will be tried in court. All crimes he committed will be listed. He will receive the punishment he deserves. At the same time, this should serve as a reminder for all public servants that your duty is to serve the people, not to abuse your position for your personal gain."

Chapter 718 "The trial will now begin."

With that, the long-awaited trial began.

The vast courthouse was silent.

Everyone's gaze was fixed on James. Some pitied him, although most were apathetic.

"C-Can I have something to eat?" James opened his eyes with great difficulty. The glaring lights blinded him.

Though his voice was frail, it reverberated throughout the silent courthouse

Seeing this, many wept, especially Quincy. She knew that James served the people wholeheartedly. Though he had resigned, he chose to return to the battlefield without the slightest bit of hesitation.

In the end, however, this was how he was treated. She stood up and voiced her dissatisfaction tearfully. "Although James is guilty, you have no right to torture him under Solean law. Is this how you treat a man who performed great meritorious service for the country?" Quincy's voice boomed.

The Emperor stood up and hurriedly explained, "I apologize for the neglect of our prisoner's condition. We were so busy collecting evidence that we forgot to feed him. Don't worry, I will arrange for my men to prepare some food for him. The trial will only begin after he has finished eating,"

After apologizing, the Emperor ordered his men to prepare food.

look at the jury box. He was acquainted with some of the jurors.

to say something but chose to remain silent. Leaning against the chair, he waited for his meal to portions. Under the watchful gaze of the

Although he was

us begin the trial."

had prepared. He began narrating the crimes James had committed it took

Next were the witnesses, of the Great

of the Xavier family in Cansington. I'm standing here today to expose the wicked deeds young. He looked at some parts of his story to

"Kill him!"

be

"Order... Order!"

crowd quieted down.

my

Tearfully, he pointed at James. "It's all because of him that my family was torn apart. All this while, we did not dare to speak up all because he's the Black Dragon, the commander-in-chief of the Black Dragon army in the Southern Plains. I would like to thank everyone here for allowing me to expose James' crimes.

Dobby stood up and bowed.

The next witness was a Frasier...

Many more got on the witness stand to accuse James of his crimes. Lastly, even Xavier Watson was lifted to the stand. Tearfully, he cried out, "James is a b*stard! I saw him kill my father with my own eyes. He even crippled my limbs and my private parts!"

Zavier burst into tears.

At that moment, the crowd was enraged. "How dare he do such a horrible thing?!"

"Execute him!"

"What's the point of this trial? Just kill him!"

After the witnesses had given their testimony, the Emperor asked, "James, do you plead guilty?"

Hearing this, everyone turned to look at James.

Chapter 719 All the cameras were pointed at James.

He was filthy and unwashed all over.

"I do," James said in a feeble voice. Although the witnesses had exaggerated, it was undeniable that he killed them.

"Good." The Emperor stood up and cried out, "Since you plead guilty, what do you think your punishment will be in accordance with criminal law?"

"Execution."

James looked the Emperor in the eye. His eyes were devoid of fear.

Although he was enfeebled, his stare was as menacing as always.

The Emperor was discomposed. Feeling as if he was being targeted by a ferocious beast, he unconsciously took a few steps back. Immediately, however, he put on his facade. The panic which was written on his face disappeared. Scanning his surroundings, he announced, "James should be executed for his crimes in accordance with the law. Members of the jury, please discuss amongst yourselves."

Hearing this, they exchanged their opinions in whispers.

Outside the courthouse...

gates. The door opened, and a general his skin was tanned,

Blade of Justice. It was a sword of the state. It gave the wielder the right to was preserved with the establishment of it had been wielded by the commander-in-chief

"Halt."

Red Flame army. Holding the Blade of Justice high, Henry yelled, "This is the Blade of Blade of this, terror overtook their faces.

"Move!"

Flame army standing in his way, Henry yelled, "Today, the Blade of Justice will be used to rid Sol

Red Flame army looked at one another. Then, they allowed proceeded to enter

The judges were in a heated discussion. In the end, they arrived at a verdict.

The Emperor stood and faced the reporters. "After discussion, the judges have determined that James will be executed for his crimes. His execution will be..."

"Wait...!"

A voice came.

Everyone turned their heads. A one-star general walked in with a sword in his hands.

It was Henry.

Henry stood before the crowd and faced the cameras. "This is the Blade of Justice. It represents the highest authority of law and has always been wielded by the commander-in-chief of the Black Dragon army. With this sword, James had purged Sol of its treacherous subjects."

Hearing this, the crowd was stunned. Though they had heard rumors about the sword, they had never seen the real thing. "Is that true?"

"Is there really a sword in Sol that is above the law?"

Chapter 720 "He's wearing a black robe... He's a general of the Southern Plains! What is he trying to accomplish by appearing with the Blade of Justice at James' trial? Is he trying to exonerate James with the sword?"

The crowd was heatedly in a discussion.

Meanwhile, James sat at the defendant's stand and smiled.

Seeing the Blade of Justice, the Emperor's face darkened.

Under the watchful gaze of the crowd, Henry announced, "Though Sol is a country with a rule of law, many are able to escape justice by finding loopholes. The Blade of Justice serves to execute these wicked criminals and give them what they deserve."

Henry said with great confidence, "The Black Dragon, commander-in-chief of the Black Dragon army, has upheld Solean law by executing all those who escaped justice. The former heads of the Great Four of Cansington were executed due to a massacre ten years ago. "Ten years ago, the Cadens, the most powerful and influential family in Cansington, were burned alive. The masterminds of this fire were from the Great Four. The Black Dragon did not let a single guilty person escape. Likewise, he did not kill a single innocent man, woman, or child.”

Henry revealed some of the secrets.

The crowd was in an uproar. “I– Is that true?”

“Impossible.”

Blade of Justice to kill the innocent! We can’t let him off the hook that “Black Shadow General, we can’t just take your word for it. Do

“The evidence, please.”

intelligence network, Henry managed to collect evidence and present at the Cadens’ cemetery that fateful day. They saw with their own eyes how James executed those who were behind the destruction of the Cadens ten years ago with the Blade of Justice

They were all behind the destruction of the Cadens men recorded the moment

evidence was presented.

killing

a heated discussion. However, someone brought provide an excuse

the allegations were indeed services to the country. Even if he has accepted bribes, I think of 10 trillion dollars. But did you know that he captured the enemy commander-in-chief despite being pursued by the 28 nation martial art gurus and the 100 thousand-strong enemy forces at Mt. Thunder?

“The Black Dragon army

border of Sol. We could be killed anytime. Is it such a wrong thing to do to distribute some

“We have families too. But with the meager salary we receive, we can’t feed them. Though we fight against the enemies on the battlefield, our families are being neglected. Have any of you thought about this?

“Why did James establish the Transgenerational Group? He hopes for peace at the border. He hopes that everyone can lead comfortable lives. “As you may know, James married into the Callahans upon arriving at Cansington. Has he ever splurged on anything? He has the Black Dragon card. The country pays in his stead. Why then, do you think that he lacks money?”

Henry’s voice grew louder and louder.

The crowd was speechless. They could not find anything to retort.

Wielding the Blade of Justice, Henry walked over to James and knelt. He presented the sword to James and cried out, "Dragon King, please accept the Blade of Justice. Exercise its authority and rid Sol of its treacherous subjects."

James stood up.

However, as he was enfeebled, he almost collapsed to the floor.

He lifted the blade of Justice with great difficulty.

Whish!

He pulled the sword out and examined it.