Chapter 794

"Wait...°

James stopped Trara from leaving.

Tiaes turned and asked, "Is anything else the matter?"

James looked Thea in the eye and said, "I hired her to take care of me. She's not a maid of the Callahans. If you need someone to wash your clothes, go get yourself a maid."

"What do you mean by that?° Thea's face darkened, and she roared, "Since she lives here, she's our servant.

What's wrong with asking her to do some chores? Besides. did you really hire her? Don't think I don't know that you two have been exchanging glances and whispering to each other all this while. Do you take me for a fool, James?

"She'll have to listen to me if she wants to stay in this villa. Othenwise, she's free to leave anytime."

James stood up and said, "Tiara, get my wheelchair. We're leaving."

Tearfully, Thea grabbed James' arm and pleaded, "It's my fault, James. Please don't leave."

James sighed and sat down.

Unwilling to see James and Thea quarrel, Tara hurriedly said, "It's fine, James. I have nothing to do anyway. I'll wash the clothes."

"Go take a rest," James ordered.

Tiara was not a servant.

James owed her a great debt. He did not wish to see her being ordered around by the Callahans.

"Forget it... Go take a break." Thea chose to compromise.

"Got it."

Tiara turned to leave.

The disappointment was written on her face. She was happy while she was by James' side, but when she saw Thea, she could not help but feel envious of her.

"Why couldn't I be the one truly by James' side?"

"Honey, how's your body?"

James shook his head. He chose to put the things on his mind aside for now.

"I'm doing alright at the moment. What about you? Are there any signs of the Gu?"

"No." Thea shook her head and said, "I don't understand. It's been such a long while. Why isn't the Gu venom showing itself yet?"

James grabbed Thea's wrist and took her pulse.

Everything was normal. Not only that, the hospital had performed a full body checkup on her before she was discharged. They found nothing wrong with her too.

James frowned.

Was it not Gu venom that Reign fed her? What was it, then?

"What are you thinking about, honey?"

"I-It's nothing." James shook his head.

"Ok... I'm going to take a shower now." Thea glanced at James. Wearing a seductive smile. she said flirtatiously.

"Though we have been together for so long, we have never done it before. Let's do it tonight, shall we?"

James looked at Thea and shook his head. "I'm afraid not with my current condition."

Although he had successfully cultivated True Energy and was able to suppress the Gu venom inside his body, he did not wish to have sexual relations with Thea.

After all, he was unsure of their future together. It would be irresponsible for him to do so.

"I see..." Thea was disappointed.

'She was prepared to give herself to James.

If she had known it would come to this. she would have been more proactive while James was still in good health.

All of this would not have happened if she had made a move earlier.
