Chapter 810

James nodded and said, “Ask our comrades to enter from the Southern Plains. I’ll instruct my men to let them pass through.”

“No problem.” Blake nodded.

After a brief discussion, they entered the mountain.

Since they knew the place inside out, they managed to avoid being spotted by the surveillance cameras.

Soon, they arrived at the entrance of the research laboratory. They concealed themselves in a big tree a few hundred meters away from it.

Blake pointed at a cave and said, “That’s the one and only entrance. Maybe there are some other entrances out there... In any case, this is the only one we could find.”

James watched the situation outside with a pair of binoculars.

There were many fully-armed men outside the cave.

They were wearing black suits.

James immediately knew that they were the Red Flame Army.

“I’ll go first.”

May handed James a firearm and a machine gun and asked, “Do you need them?”

James lightly waved his hand. “I don’t need them.”

After all, silver needles were his go-to, which were much more powerful than guns.

Before he cultivated True Energy, he was able to kill using his silver needles. Now, his power had reached the point where he could use a leaf to slice through his enemies. When imbued with True Energy, even a leaf could be turned into a lethal weapon.

James leaped from the tree and landed flawlessly on the ground. Then, he stomped his foot and launched himself into the air, leaping seven to eight meters in distance. In the blink of an eye, he already covered a few hundred meters, traveling at great speeds.

In the surveillance room of the research laboratory...

A few men were staring at the monitor screen. All of a sudden, they could see a figure moving about in the footage. The figure was moving so rapidly that it instantly disappeared from the footage on one screen and appeared on another.

“What the hell?”

Stunned, the men immediately hit the replay button.

When they saw that it was a man, the color drained from their faces, and they exclaimed, “I- Intruder alert!”

Sirens blared, and the Red Flame Army was instantly on alert. They scanned their surroundings for any signs of an intruder.

At that moment, they saw a figure charging toward them at a great speed and immediately opened fire. James grabbed a handful of silver needles and flicked them. A group of Red Flame Army soldiers instantly collapsed to the ground.

He kept switching locations to find cover while striking his enemies with his silver needles.

In just a few short seconds, hundreds of Red Flame Army soldiers were lying motionless on the ground. The silver needles did not strike their acupuncture points. They were only temporarily immobilized and were still alive.

Then, almost immediately, the entrance of the research laboratory opened and many fully- armed mercenaries charged out.

Seeing this, Blake and the Elite Eight hurriedly made their way over there with their heavy weapons.

Rat-tat-tat!

The mercenaries collapsed in a pool of blood.

James was standing on a tree and watching the scene unfold below. Wearing a surly expression, he exuded a powerful aura that affected his surroundings. The twigs trembled and the leaves fell. "Kill them all!" he roared.
