Chapter 829

Thea looked at the man who claimed to be Thomas Caden in bewilderment.

Despite having been married to James, Thea knew nothing about the Cadens. After all, James had never disclosed any of this, to begin with. Even after discovering James' true identity, he never brought it up with Thea.

What she was sure of was the news that there were no survivors in the fire that claimed the Cadens' residence.

With this fact in mind, she could not figure out how Thomas managed to survive. That aside, she was not entirely sure what a God-King Palace was.

She asked him apprehensively, "A-Are you really Thomas Caden?"

"Who else would I be then?" Thomas met Thea's stare head-on.

Thea followed up with another question. "What's the God-King Palace?"

Thomas answered plainly, "All you need to know is that it's a force to be reckoned with. By becoming the young mistress of the God-King Palace, you'll be the most powerful woman in the world."

Thea was taken aback.

Then, she exclaimed, "So you're the one making things difficult for James all this while...!"

"I reject your offer. Now, get out of my car." Making it clear that he was no longer welcome, Thea pointed at the car door.
