

Almighty DG 868

Chapter 868

“Before I forget...”

Just as she was leaving. Tobias called out to Maxine, “Wait.”

“Is something the matter, grandpa?”

Tobias turned to her. “You are also someone who is highly proficient in martial arts. Feel free to head to the basement if you have nothing better to do. It’ll be a great learning opportunity for you as well.”

Maxine kneeled on the ground reverently and said, “I’m not worthy.”

Tobias beckoned her to stand. “I’m giving you express permission to do as you see fit.” “But grandpa... I’m not a real Caden. I don’t have Caden blood coursing through my veins. The ancestral teachings were specific about...” Maxine fiddled with the name of her dress.

Tobias raised his hand to interrupt her. “What’s the point of following rigid and obsolete ancestral teachings? Even if you aren’t a Caden by heritage, you were practically raised as a Caden since childhood. I consider you my own granddaughter. All these years, you’ve stayed by my side devising plans and strategies for me. Besides, I’m merely allowing you to try your hand at the enigma. Whether or not you learn anything will depend on your own ability.”

“Understood.”

Maxine slowly stood up

dismissed her. “You’re free

quickly left for the

she had left, Tobias stared into the distance and pondered

was not entirely

Thomas was truly still alive, everything would hope that it

Tobias muttered darkly

stood

In the underground basement...

James was once more, but could not glean anything of use from it. Finally, his gaze was a mountain, a flower, an ordinary-looking wooden house, and a full seemed to be no end to the lush, rolling hills that painting was still a breathtaking work of art. Millenia had passed, but the details were realized that there was located on top of the wooden house to have blossomed in the it was clearly daytime in the painting, a these little oddities defied James scrutinized each detail on