Chapter 883

Governor Vessels, Conception Vessels, and the Eight Extraordinary Meridians were crucial for martial artists.

Those with low cultivation bases would not be able to regulate them.

One would have to step into the fifth rank and have a solid cultivation base to activate them.

Initially, Tobias was unsure about how James intended to heal his wounds.

However, he was a grandmaster and a doctor, so he quickly spotted some clues.

Healing his wounds was a bluff.

His true intentions were to regulate his vessels and meridians.

James had used him to insert acupuncture needles into his meridian and acupuncture points throughout his body to protect his heart meridian.

Thus, no matter how much pain the body suffered, he would not die.

Even so, his body was already in horrible condition and could not sustain more injuries.

The layout of the acupuncture needles enabled the True Energy that was transfused into James' body to gather rather quickly.

Tobias' True Energy accumulated inside James' body and formed a vortex.

Tobias was losing control of his True Energy that was being transfused into James' body.

It was rapidly absorbed, gushing quickly through James' meridians and acupoints.

James' body should not have been able to withstand the impact of True Energy.

However, since James was already injured, it simply aggravated his wounds.

Even though Tobias had seen through James, he did not stop transfusing the energy but instead increased the intensity of the transfusion.

He wanted to know if James' method of dying and rebirthing could regulate the meridians in one's body. If he succeeded, the True Energy in his body would flow smoothly and allow him to keep growing stronger. James could break through the fifth rank quickly and perhaps reach an even higher rank.

The acupuncture needles inserted into James' body could not withstand the increased intensity of the transfusion.

They trembled and seemed to be losing their hold.

James quickly instructed, "Maxine, pay attention. If any acupuncture needle comes off, insert it back quickly.

Otherwise, if the True Energy leaks, I'll die instantly."
"Alright!"

Maxine nodded and kept her eyes fixed on the acupuncture needles on James' body.

She carefully watched those that were about to pop off, staying on high alert to quickly insert them back in.

A powerful surge of energy gathered around the surface of James' body and circulated around him.

James endured the intense pain.

Even though the War God had gone through countless battles and suffered all kinds of injuries, the excruciating pain from the energy rapidly gushing through his meridians was unbearable.

"Ahh!!!"

James roared out in pain.

Tobias knew he could not stop.

If he did, the True Energy being transfused into James' body would immediately dissipate, or it might even explode in James' body.

James would die along with the explosion.

The powerful True Energy forcibly gushed through his Governor Vessel, Conception Vessel, and Eight Extraordinary Meridians that have yet to be regulated.

Whoosh! The acupuncture needles could no longer withstand the force and started shooting out.

Maxine was already holding one needle in her hand when another suddenly popped out.

Noticing it, she quickly inserted it back into his body. However, the terrifying force from the acupuncture points made her arms feel numb.

After consecutively inserting a few needles back into his body, her palms began to bleed from the force of True Energy.

"Come on!"

Tobias roared and exerted all his strength.

His True Energy rushed through James' body.

Boom! It sounded as if something exploded in James' body.

It was as if the flood had demolished the dam.

Tobias was also pushed back by force.

Instantly, the acupuncture needles on James' body popped out.
