

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 923

The accident in the Capital had progressed beyond James' expectations.

In his initial speculation, he estimated that it would take much longer before the Capital reached its breaking point. However, it happened much sooner than he expected.

Maxine said that the situation was dire. She explained that countless martial artists remained hidden in society as civilians. Some were everyday office workers, some were factory workers, and some could even be street sweepers.

A thousand years ago, Sol had countless sects and martial art families. After a thousand years, the number of martial artists gradually decreased, but martial arts had been passed down to only one successor in each generation.

James knew that these martial artists were known as ancient martial artists.

According to Maxine's speculations, there were currently about one million martial artists in Sol, and at least 50 thousand were first-rank grandmasters who cultivated True Energy.

was not an exaggeration to say that these 50 thousand people could conquer the world if time. It's even worse than when the martial artists besieged the Gu Sect a hundred a situation like this. I've only just cultivated my True Energy. On top of that, it's still feeble. What am I supposed to do in me to inform you that you must enter the fifth rank by Christmas. Inside the Cadens' library is a set of unique martial techniques left by one of our ancestors, sword technique is only Grandpa and our Grand Patriarch have reach the fifth rank and learn the technique as soon as possible. Even if you can't turn the tables during the martial art conference, you would at least be able to world was in full swing in ancient times. Countless unique martial techniques the world's pace, giving up arts were, they were vulnerable to battle a hundred years ago was the best