

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 973

James was relieved to have Quincy back in the company.

With both Quincy and Scarlett around, the company could operate smoothly.

After explaining the overall situation, James went back to his room.

Meanwhile, in a particular villa in Cansington...

Madelyn's residence in Cansington.

She had seen Thea today and was surprised to learn that Thea possessed a significant amount of True Energy that was even higher than hers.

Madelyn could not comprehend how an ordinary person could become a grandmaster of the third rank in such a short period. She leaned back on the sofa and pensively propped her chin on her slender arms.

Suddenly, a young man walked toward her.

The man was in his early twenties with flowy shoulder-length hair. He was dressed in a buttoned shirt and had a distinctive temperament.

"You're here?"

Madelyn returned to her senses and looked at the young man beside her.

The young man sat down, crossed his legs, and looked at her.
