

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 977

Mount White was within a mountain range in Sol.It was a natural forest with no residents nearby.

At an open field in Mount White...

One after another, more than a dozen helicopters landed.

James was the first to get off the helicopter.

Blake followed closely behind him.

Daniel and the soldiers accompanying him also alighted.

James scanned the surrounding environment.

Mountains completely surrounded them.

At a glance, there were densely packed trees and steep mountain peaks.

There was no end to the view.

James could not help questioning, "So, Mr.Blake, where exactly did you hide them?"

"You're being too formal, James.You should stick with calling me Blake.You make our relationship sound so distant," Blake replied humbly.

He felt unworthy of being addressed with such high regard since he was more or less like a subordinate.
