Chapter 991

Now, James had a somewhat rough idea that the failed plan from a century ago was to dominate the world using Gu venom.

In its lead was the Mavericks, one of the three major families of the Gu sect.

Of course, they were not the only ones involved. Many other forces must have played a part in the plan.

As for how the plan came to an end and the secret it held, even Maxine was unaware.

Now, the plan from a century ago was back in action. Those involved had to be stopped.

“By the way, what do you plan to do with all this wealth?” Maxine asked.

James shrugged and said, “I never expected that Madelyn, the person in charge of Centennial Corporation, would try to stop me.

Now that the Blithe King and the helicopters have left, it'd be rather difficult to bring these golden bricks back.”

James pondered.

“That's great.” Maxine breathed a sigh of relief.

“By the way, who exactly is Mr. Gabriel?” James asked.

Maxine shook her head. “I don't know either. I don't even know his full name. I've only heard from my grandpa that he's extremely powerful. He's at least of the sixth rank. Whether or not he's reached the seventh rank is beyond me.”

James' expression darkened. He never expected Mr. Gabriel to possess such strength. He remained silent, thinking.

After waiting for about two hours, they boarded the plane and returned to the Capital. By the time they arrived, it was already six in the morning.

Walking out of the airport, James asked, “Are we heading back to the Cadens' right away?”

“Yup.” Maxine nodded. “That's the plan.”

Then, she called for a taxi, and the two got on.

Maxine did not dare utter another word.

Kneeling on the ground, she hung her head in shame and awaited Tobias' punishment.

Wearing a furious expression, Tobias raised his palm on which True Energy was gathered. However, he could not bring himself to strike her.

"Sigh..." After a while, Tobias sighed deeply and retracted his palm.

James tried to help Maxine up, but she refused.

She did not dare stand without Tobias' permission.

James looked at Tobias, who still had a furious look on his face, and said, "Maxine has nothing to do with this. It's all Madelyn's fault. You shouldn't have taken it out on her."

Tobias waved his hand and sighed. "Alright, now. You may stand."

Maxine stood up and remained silent.

Then, Tobias ordered, "You're dismissed."

After all, many martial artists in Sol had reached the fifth rank.

Tobias said, "Although it's not much, you still stand a chance. Besides, you might even break into the sixth rank if you work hard. I believe in you, James. The future of the Cadens is in your hands."

"I'll do my best." James did not dare give his assurance.

He could only do his best to cultivate in the next two months and find a way to reach the fifth rank. That way, not only would he possess the means of self-defense, but he could even resolve the current crisis of the Cadens.

However, he could not completely trust Tobias.

Though he might look like a compassionate elderly man from the outside, Maxine was afraid of him. It must be because she knew his true character. Or else, she would not be behaving in such a manner.

"Have you read the martial art manuals I ordered Maxine to bring you?"

"Yes, I have."

James left the Cadens' mansion.

However, he was not in a hurry to return to Cansington.

His plan had been foiled by Madelyn. The capital he currently had from Blake was insufficient to stand against Centennial Corporation. He had to pay the King a visit and demand money. Thus, he headed straight to Peace Mansion.

A few soldiers were standing guard outside Peace Mansion.

The moment James appeared, a soldier walked over to him and saluted, "Greetings, Dragon King."

"Mhm." James nodded. "I'd like to meet the King."

"He's not in the Capital at the moment. He's gone on an overseas business trip."

Hearing this, James frowned and asked, "Is Gloom here?"

Sebastian wore a look of disdain on his face. “He's just a dog of the Blithe family. It's all thanks to the family's support that he's managed to become the commander-in-chief of the Blithe King army. We can remove him from his position anytime we want.”

Hearing this, James fell silent. From the brief conversation, he had a rough idea of where the Blithe King stood in the family.

Looking at the courtyard before him, James walked in.

At a rest area of the courtyard...

Aman and a woman were happily chatting away.

The woman was about eighteen years of age. She had long hair and fringe that was just at the right length. It accentuated her childlike features.

The man was around twenty years of age. He had long hair and was wearing a big, white coat.

James recognized the woman. She was Madelyn.

He momentarily froze. Then, he walked over to them and took a seat. Looking at Madelyn, James said smilingly, “We meet again, Ms. Gabriel.”

Madelyn glanced at him and said, “I didn't expect you to return so quickly. I thought you'd spend a few more days at Mount White with your lover Maxine.”

James smiled.

Before James could react, his acupuncture point was struck.

Immobilized, he sat on the chair and stared coldly at Flynn, who was in a fit of rage. “What do you think you're doing, Flynn?”

“Hmph!” Flynn grunted. “Take him to the Western border. Tell Tobias to bring Maxine there to apologize in person.”

James could feel someone covering his head with a black balaclava. Then, his vision darkened, and he was taken away.

Madelyn glanced at Flynn. Seeing that he was still enraged, she tried to calm him down. “There's no need to get mad over something as trivial as this.”

“What do you know?” asked Flynn. He sat down and said coldly, “ There hasn't been a Great Grandmaster in the ancient martial world of Sol for hundreds of years. The martial art conference, which will be held in a few months, will select a new Great Grandmaster.

“All these years, the Blithe family has kept a low profile. Now, we plan to make our presence known once again. The best way to do so is to enter into a political marriage with the Cadens and dominate Sol. Now, however, with all this fiasco, what are we supposed to do? Even if the Blithe family becomes the number one family in Sol, we'll be the laughingstock of the world! ”

"Get lost." Flynn said as he got off the convoy. Then, he raised his palm, and energy gushed out. The Cadens' guards immediately collapsed to the ground. Walking toward the front gate, he kicked it with great force.

Slam!

The gates opened.

"Get your *ss over here, Tobias," He roared upon entering the courtyard.

This attracted the attention of many. In an instant, many core members of the Cadens rushed out.

Then, Tobias appeared. He looked at Flynn, who was in the courtyard, and the fully-armed men behind him.

Tobias lifted his leg once more and kicked Maxine with great force. She was once again sent flying toward the wall.

The impact caused the wall to collapse, and she was buried under the rubble.

However, as a martial artist, such an injury was not fatal to her. She crawled out of the rubble with great difficulty.

At that moment, her hair was disheveled, and she was covered in blood all over her body.

She knelt on the ground and did not dare utter a single word.

Tobias took a deep breath and tried to calm himself down.

"James has been taken to the Western border by the Blithe family. Make your own amends. Don't get the family involved."

Tobias grunted and left.

After he left, Maxine collapsed to the floor. She tried to wipe off the blood trace on her lips. Then, her eyes brimmed with tears.

Maxine nibbled her lips. She wanted Tobias to save James.

However, she did not dare voice her opinion.

After all, Tobias was adamant about not compromising as it would mean forsaking the prestige of the family.

Having been provoked by the Blithes, Tobias had now decided to make an enemy of them. His entering into a closed-door meditation was a sign of that. He planned to make a move against the Blithes at the martial art conference.

Maxine sat in the courtyard alone.

After some time, she got up and left.

"Hold it right there."

Before she could leave, Bobby and a few youngsters from the Cadens walked over to her and blocked her path.

Maxine lowered her head and said, "Bobby..."

"Shut your damn mouth." Bobby's face darkened.

Then, he grabbed her by the hair and slapped her across the face.
