Kate bolted over to Skylar the moment she saw her reappear on set. "What on earth happened to you? We are going to start filming soon, and you haven't even changed!

How

could you have vanished just like that? Where did you and Largo go?" Kate demanded.

Skylar frowned. "How did you know that I was with Largo?"

Kate drew in a deep breath sharply, then exhaled, trying to contain her annoyance."

Avery

was telling everyone that she couldn't find Largo and came to harass us, believing that you were with him. She told everyone that Largo was her boyfriend too, so everyone thinks that Largo has been cheating on Avery with you."

Skylar snorted derisively. "Let her tell all the lies that she wants. She has everything to lose.

Anyway, there'll be someone to pick up the pieces for her. Largo cares too much about his image to allow Avery to run wild with her delusions. He definitely won't let this fly.

We can sit back and wait for them to break up now."

Kate was all too familiar with Largo's ways of preserving his reputation. When he had burst out onto the acting scene, his fans had eagerly matchmade him with various female co-stars and celebrities. These pieces of gossip, however, were always rigorously denied and suppressed by Largo's publicity team.

Skylar quickly donned the outfit set aside by the film crew for her next scene. The gown cost an extravagant sum of money and its intricate designs were entirely embroidered by hand.

Lightly shimmering with every move that Skylar made, the gown looked fit for royalty.

Its measurements, on the other hand, were slightly on the small side. Even with Skylar sucking in her stomach, the gown would still be a little tight.

As Skylar was having the finishing touches done to her gown, the door flew open and Avery stormed in like a hurricane, blustering in her rage.

Kate jumped in fright at the abruptness of Avery's entrance. In a similar fashion, Hannah, who was squatting next to Skylar arranging the hem of her gown, staggered and almost fell.

Avery was clutching her phone so hard that her knuckles had turned white. Her eyes blazing,

Avery bellowed, "Why didn't Largo answer any of my calls? You're just as unscrupulous as your mother! You must have inherited her cheating nature."

Avery's deliberate insult to Miranda infuriated Skylar immensely. It was an unjust accusation, given that all Miranda had done was to get her man back rightfully after he had been snatched away from her.

Skylar was seething but quickly regained her composure. She put on her violet earrings without deigning to even glance at Avery's angry face.

"Tell me, who's going after your man? You came here looking for him, didn't you? Where is he, then?" Skylar demanded.

Avery was so vexed by Skylar's reply that she began quivering with rage. "You still haven't gotten over Jeremy, have you? You're still blaming me for him breaking up with you! Aren't you trying to seduce Largo to get back at me?"

Skylar slowly turned to face Avery. Her memory of Jeremy seemed so vague like he was someone she had met in a previous life. There was no way Skylar would remember such a person if Avery did not bring his name up.

Ironically, the mention of Jeremy only served to as a reminder to Skylar on how she had completely gotten over him. Instead of hanging on to him, Skylar realized that she had thought of Jeremy for a very long time.

Skylar strode over to Avery, then said mockingly, "Thanks for the reminder. I'd forgotten all about that piece of trash. I'm sorry, I didn't know that you and Largo were even in a serious relationship. I was so caught up with his confession to me that I'd forgotten to ask." Avery stood rooted to the spot. Didn't Largo say just the night before that he'd treat me well?

She'd even persistently probed him as to when she could meet his family and announce their relationship.

It was unfathomable to Avery how Largo could make a headlong dash over to Skylar and profess his feelings for her the very next day. There was nothing in Avery's life that Skylar

would not rob her of—first the lead role, then her boyfriend Skylar added provocatively, "I told him that there was no way he could get me to take my sister's happiness away from her! Even though we aren't usually on good terms, I wouldn't go to such an extent to hurt you, at least for now."

"If Largo confessed his feelings to you, what will you do about Tobias? Did the two of you break up?" Kate broke in, springing forward in her anxiety.

Skylar's bluff had evidently confused the room. Even Kate seemed to have fallen for it hook,
line, and sinker.

Skylar lowered her gaze, fiddling with her dress. "We didn't break up. He's currently sleeping in my room. I don't know what his plans are for today."

"Tobias is here? Why didn't you ask him to make an appearance on set? His presence would make everyone, even the producers, a lot warier," Kate earnestly continued, believing.

Skylar hastily retreated. "Forget it. Tobias doesn't like to draw attention to himself.
I'm not too sure why he came over to visit me today, either."

At that moment, Jane ran into the dressing room to inform Avery that Largo had returned.

Thunderously, Avery stomped out of the room to seek him out and confront him.
Largo was in his motorhome replying to messages when Avery entered. Placing his phone down on the table with its screen face down, Largo replied, irritated, "What are you doing?"

Didn't we agree to keep our distance on set? Why did you have to follow me around so closely today? You're being childish. What's so urgent that you have to come over right
now?"

Avery was beside herself. She was used to men fawning over her and hanging onto her every word, not this disrespect that she was now receiving from Largo.

Avery slammed her fist onto the table and almost spat at Largo, saying, "Largo! You said

very clearly that you were serious about being in a relationship with me. We even talked about going public to let everyone know that we're together!"

Largo remained calm in the face of Avery's vehemence. Smiling placidly, he replied, "Don't get so excited. You're acting as if I have bullied you! Of course, I'm serious about being with you. There's no reason for you to doubt it. We'll find an appropriate time to announce our relationship, but not now."

Largo's words, however, were unable to appease Avery. Who does he think he's talking to? I'm the heir to Quest Group! Avery thought indignantly.

She thus challenged Largo hotly, "What were you thinking of when you confessed your feelings to Skylar? How could you do that, knowing full well that she is a red hot piece of ass any man can get? She's gotten you totally wrapped around her little finger with that vixen-like face of hers!"

Largo clenched his jaw. "What are you blabbering on about, Avery? When did I confess my feelings for Skylar? Why are you making a scene here now? You might as well consider this relationship over. There's no need to discuss anything else. We're evidently not a good match for each other."

Dumbfounded, Avery gazed at Largo. Ever since they started dating, she relished the day she would be publicly acknowledged as Largo's girlfriend. Avery had already dreamt of that scene many times over, both of them holding hands and standing in the spotlight. The media would proclaim Avery and Largo as the hottest couple in the entertainment industry. Most importantly, Largo was the first man with whom Avery had fallen head over heels in love. The moment Avery set her eyes on Largo, she knew instinctively that their fates would be intertwined.

Now, Largo had crashed Avery's fairytale romance before anything happened.

"How can you break up with me? I have given you everything including my virginity!"

Avery's eyes brimmed with tears. Avery had pinned every single one of her hopes onto Largo and could not accept the fact that her fairytale world was going to end just like that. Largo knitted his brow in annoyance. The sight of Avery's forlorn face only served to aggravate his displeasure, and he said impatiently, "So what? I've treated you well all this while. Now that you've created such a fuss over nothing, I'm not in the mood to continue this relationship anymore."

Through her tears, Avery doggedly said, "Aren't you afraid that I'll expose our relationship then? I'll say that you took my virginity and that you're irresponsible! I'll thoroughly tear you and your reputation to shreds. Are you willing to forsake everything for Skylar? Don't you know who her real sugar daddy is?"
