

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter 491

Skylar didn't see Tobias off, as she was not in the mood to move at all. She was no courtesan, so there was no need for her to act like one by feigning coyness after having served a client and murmuring coquettishly, "Do hit me up again next time, handsome."

Noticing that Tobias was leaving just after a few hours, Madelyn felt sorry for Skylar as a woman who had experienced much herself. Good heavens! He's making it clear as day that he just came over to seek his gratification!

No woman will be able to remain unfazed when the man simply leaves after using her body for pleasure. It would've been better if he'd just stayed the night. I wonder if he's already married and has a wife and kids, so he can't stay out overnight, she mused.

Meanwhile, Skylar was scrolling through her Instagram page. A former classmate of hers during junior high school uploaded a picture of a newborn baby. Oh well, another person has gotten married and has a baby, accomplishing all that's important in life. She could feel her friend's happiness radiating off the screen. Others' relationships have all come to fruition, but mine hasn't even budded. I wonder how Penelope, who did things the other way round, is doing. She was currently burying her head in the sand, afraid to contact Penelope since she kept hounding her like a dog with a bone about joining the entertainment industry.

She had gone to Kate, but the latter threw Penelope's photo to the side after a single glance. Then, she went on to say that Penelope wasn't beautiful enough besides having had a baby.

The entertainment industry was no charity institution, so the requirements were much higher than that.

The group chat with her former classmates started pinging with messages again, but Skylar rarely chimed in since she had nothing much to say.

Nonetheless, some would still ask whether she was there, for they all thought that she was now rolling in money after joining the entertainment industry and was eager to ask her for a loan.

Even those who never had a conversation with her asked for a loan to repay their credit card debts, housing loans, and so on.

In short, there were various reasons for that. In the beginning, she lent them some money within her ability, but not a single person paid her back. At that, she realized their true colors and no longer did so most of the time.

And that was precisely why there were rumors on the Internet that she became arrogant after becoming famous and blacklisted most of her former classmates. As Empyrean Sword was set to be broadcasted soon, Skylar was going to another city to promote the movie early next morning. She got up at five o'clock in the morning and arrived at the airport at almost seven o'clock.

She deliberately applied no makeup in hopes that pictures of her barefaced at the airport would leak out. After all, Kate once said that her countenance was exquisite without any makeup.

The lack of makeup gave her an innocent look compared to her usual enchantress appearance. While there were few fans at the airport, there were quite a number of people who were there to take photographs for sale.

Those people often kept watch at the airport and boldly aim their cell phones at celebrities' faces, snapping away before selling the pictures to fans. Skylar's photos weren't quite valuable, priced at only two hundred per piece on the Internet. She wore a mask and a baseball cap, but the brim of the cap wasn't so low as to conceal her beautiful eyes. When she went to the VIP lounge, she coincidentally bumped into Tobias, who was also waiting for his flight.

As there were a few crew members with her and a dozen imposing men in suits and standing beside Tobias, they merely exchanged a glance wordlessly. While doing so, Skylar whipped out her cell phone and brandished it before Tobias. She then found a seat and sat down. The gazes of the men beside Tobias instinctually fixated on Skylar since a beauty always attracted attention everywhere she went. Subsequently, Skylar texted Tobias: I didn't expect us to be on the same flight. To which Tobias replied: Is this destiny or coincidence? Well, I think it's merely a coincidence since our destinies aren't so intertwined, Skylar inwardly reckoned. "Why don't you go and ask her for her Instagram account? There's no need to be shy since celebrities are human, too. She's beautiful and gentle, so she'll make a good match with you. You might even be her type. I heard that Skylar Jones doesn't have a boyfriend, so why are you afraid when you're so handsome and capable?" At his colleagues' encouragement, Hector was emboldened. But a heartbeat later, Tobias lifted his cold eyes and stared at Hector. "Are you here to go on a business trip or to pick up girls? And you dare do it right before me?"

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter

492

Startled, Hector immediately put the phone back into his pocket and dared not to move.

Meanwhile, a young and cheerful man in jeans and a Supreme jacket suddenly showed up and stood beside Skylar.

“Lady, can I have your phone number?”

Skylar didn’t look at him as she answered, “I’m sorry. I can’t give it to you.”

Tobias never thought that Marcus would be here.

The moment their eyes met, Marcus flashed a wry smile at Tobias.

Then, he continued to pester Skylar. “I saw your photos on your Instagram. I mean, you look even better than in your photos. No wonder my brother loves you so much.”

Skylar looked at the young face in a daze. Although Marcus was smiling, she couldn’t help but feel disturbed.

Meanwhile, a staff near them stood up and said, “Sir, please don’t disturb our passengers. If you persist, we have no other option but to call the security of the airport.”

At this moment, Marcus could feel that the atmosphere turned chilly. He turned around and realized that Tobias was staring at him coldly.

After standing up, Tobias came up to Marcus and instructed, “Stay away from her.”

Instantly, everyone, including the top management of Ford Group, was stunned.

Why is Tobias so kind to come to Skylar’s rescue? Could it be that he is fond of Skylar as well?

Marcus chuckled frivolously and said, “I heard from my sister that you broke her leg before for a woman. Well, well, I finally got the chance to see her in person. Do you know from where I saw her photos? They were on my dad's phone, stating that she's priced at thirty thousand per night. I wonder how much Mr. Ford spent for her." Since Largo mentioned it before, Skylar instantly realized that the young man was Tobias' brother, Marcus.

Marcus was Tobias and Sheldon's paternal half-brother. Judging from the way they talked, Skylar could tell that they didn't get along well. Since Tobias didn't prefer socializing with people, Skylar didn't think he would be very nice to his half-brother.

However, she wasn't in the mood to ponder over their bond of brotherhood. She stood up and glared at Marcus. "Don't you dare slander me. Besides, I don't even know you."

Marcus raised his brows as he said, "You'll know me eventually. Ms. Jones, we can meet up when you're free. I can tell you a lot of interesting stories about your boyfriend."

Everyone around was bewildered upon hearing it, particularly Hector, who wanted to get Skylar's Instagram account earlier on. At that moment, he was flabbergasted.

What's going on? Isn't Skylar single? He almost made the biggest mistake in his life by flirting with his boss' girlfriend.

Suddenly, Tobias threw a punch at Marcus. As Marcus was caught off-guard, he was hit and took a few steps back. Also, the corner of his mouth began to bleed. Although Marcus' face was in pain, he said coldly, "Well, well, you're still the Tobias I know, for you never go easy on your brother. Anyway, the punch is less powerful than the one I had years ago."

After grabbing Marcus' collar, Tobias glared at him and said ferociously, "Stay away from Skylar. You and your sister shouldn't even be alive... a bunch of useless trash."

When the staff began to make an announcement with the PA system, Skylar persuaded, "It's fine. He only wanted my number. You don't have to beat him up." "Shut up and do your work." Tobias berated. Upon that, Skylar's expression turned grim.

Then, she asked the crew members to leave the place. She was irritated deep down, for she persuaded Tobias out of kindness but was reprimanded by him instead. A moment later, Marcus wiped away the bloodstain on his mouth with his hand and said, "Your girlfriend has left. She's a good-looking one, and I like her personality. Anyway, I suggest that you ask her to stop involving herself in those types of activities. Why is she working so hard to get more customers even though she's already with a rich man? Besides, just looking at her small frame, I don't think she's able to stand numerous rigorous activities. Also, I think she doesn't filter her customers, for she didn't mind taking the old pervert's order."

If Tobias had a gun, he would have shot and killed Marcus right then and there.

Nevertheless, Tobias understood that Marcus wouldn't become who he was today if the incident didn't happen back then.

As the thought flashed through his mind, Tobias calmed himself down and instructed, "Get out of my sight, and go back to Anglandur."