

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter 501

Skylar felt awful when she saw Kevin's room had been decorated with posters of his choices.

That used to be her room, but no one could tell she used to stay there. She found herself pathetic because she couldn't even hold on to her grandmother's keepsake.

She had moved into different types of accommodation since Meredith passed on. Although she had a desirable lifestyle, she missed staying there the most because of the time she spent there as a child.

Sharon slammed the stack of transaction slip on the coffee table and suggested, "Why don't you check on this and tell us how you're going to compensate us for our loss?"

"Why should I compensate for your loss?" Skylar asked with a frown. Kevin had spent a fortune playing a game with the title of OASIS. Upon a simple glimpse, Skylar was taken aback by the transaction Kevin had made. Wesley and Sharon had been spending in moderation. In fact, Sharon would go to great lengths just to save up a few extra cents.

Unfortunately, Kevin had spent the last three months reloading his account. The transaction that took Skylar by surprise the most was the time he transacted thirty thousand within a single day.

He had spent over a hundred thousand to play the game. OASIS was another game developed by Ford Group. It had topped the chart since the day it was introduced to the public.

Since it was another game developed by Ford Group, it would cost the players a fortune to enjoy themselves.

Skylar returned the stack of transaction slips to Sharon and rebuked, "Did you guys seriously ask me to come all the way here just for this?"

The infuriated Sharon yelled, "Tobias is the ultimate beneficial owner! Who else are we supposed to approach when you're his girlfriend?"

Skylar couldn't get used to taking a seat on top of the furniture made out of rattan. She could feel her bottom aching in spite of the cushion.

Irrked, she rebuked, "If you're conscious it belongs to Tobias, how am I supposed to help you? Why don't you get in touch with a customer service personnel instead?"

Skylar didn't bother to hold back against them. Thus, Wesley yelled, "Are you getting full of yourself just because you have made a name for yourself? A few hundred thousand is nothing for you when you're such famous personnel, isn't it? I bet you didn't even flinch when you purchased that mansion for your mother!"

Smirking, Skylar asked, "Uncle Wesley, were you there when I made the call to purchase the mansion? I'm sorry to inform you I have spent the few hundred thousand in my possession to purchase the mansion. In other words, there's nothing I can do because I'm as poor as a church mouse now. Can I leave yet?"

Sharon couldn't suppress the wrath she felt anymore. She started taking things out on Wesley and reprimanded, "See? How dare you consider her a close family member of yours?

How are we supposed to live from now onwards? If they refuse to refund us, we'll confront those in charge in person for scamming a teenager!"

Heaving a long sigh, Skylar was disappointed by the selfish duo in front of them. They refused to reflect upon their actions and started blaming others when they were the ones at fault.

Skylar brought her bag away with her and added with a smile, "Eva is a member of Ford Group, isn't she? Why don't you guys head over to Ford Group and cause a fuss? Let's see if her career is at stake because of your action!"

Subsequently, Sharon went dead silent as soon as she heard Skylar. That was one of her concerns because when they approached the customer service personnel, the other party had made it clear teenagers above sixteen-year-old would have to bear the consequences of their decision.

As it was getting late, Skylar thought she should stop wasting her time with them. She suggested, "Please approach Eva for help because there's nothing I can do. I don't mind footing the bill on Kevin's behalf, but I don't have that much as of now." Once Skylar made herself clear and dismissed her liabilities, she walked out of the manor and made her way back.

Heaving a long sigh, Wesley asked, "What should we do? Skylar has turned us down, and we can't afford to put Eva's career at stake! Can you think of something to salvage our fortune yet?"

Colors had long drained from Sharon's face. She rebuked, "What else can we do? None of your family members are reliable! I guess we'll have to get in touch with Tobias and get him to compensate us for our loss! However, we can't get Eva involved!" Skylar found the incident to be too much of a coincidence as she had just brought up a similar topic in front of Tobias some time ago. In the end, Kevin ended up causing a mess. When she was on her way back, she recalled her cousin would be sitting for a public examination soon.

Afraid the incident would adversely impact Kevin's study, Skylar decided to do something since she was on good terms with him. Thus, she dropped by Ford Group the next day. However, she was worried Tobias would be surprised by her presence as she hadn't informed him beforehand. Their relationship had yet to reach the extent they could barge into one another's life without informing the other party beforehand. Skylar's presence had grabbed the attention of the company's staff. The onlookers started whispering behind her back. The woman with shades knocked on the door. To her surprise, Sheldon was the one to answer. She removed her shades and stared at the man in front of her with a frown because Tobias was supposed to be the one answering instead. On the other hand, when Sheldon saw Skylar, he beckoned her to join him in the office. Skylar didn't bother to hold back and marched into the office as invited. When she started surveying the surroundings, Sheldon announced, "Tobias isn't around." "Will he be coming back today?" Shrugging his shoulders, Sheldon answered, "Actually, I can't be sure because I'm afraid to poke my nose into his business." "If that's the case, I'll get going as well." Sheldon stopped her and suggested, "Hold on, why don't we talk about something else? Shall we talk about the time you accuse my girlfriend?" Skylar clenched her fists to keep herself calm. She forced a smile and answered, "Oh? Since when have I accused Winnie of anything? The showdown was inevitable since there can't be two of us in the industry."

Smiling, Sheldon showed no signs of avenging Winnie either. He added, "I guess you're the better half of Tobias because of something you have in common with him – you're both cruel. Anyway, I won't be avenging Winnie because she has brought upon her own misfortune. She shouldn't have gotten full of herself. I've told her it's over for us, but she refuses to stay away from me."

I guess he's finally snapped out of confusion and figured out it's not worth his time and effort to take his relationship with Winnie seriously, huh? When that crossed her mind, she asked, "Are you going to hold a grudge against me? I mean, you're not even directly involved in the saga in the first place." Slouching against the chair, Sheldon replied nonchalantly, "Of course not! I can't possibly pick on Tobias' girlfriend, can I? I'm well aware of the things I'm capable of after being tormented by the cunning bunch in the company. Since I can't be much of a threat, I'll just continue being the useless brat I've always been."

A gloomy expression loomed over Sheldon's face. Thus, Skylar was pretty sure being denied must have taken quite a toll on him. He thought he would achieve his goal after being rebellious for once, but things turned out the other way round. His despair was written all over his face. After losing himself in a process of thought for a few minutes, Sheldon added with his lips pursed, "As compared to Winnie, I find you quite an interesting woman. Actually, I'm conscious of Tobias' whereabouts. He's at a nearby restaurant with Idania. I'll have you decide on your next best course of action, but being deceived is not half bad.”
