The Alpha's throne Chapter 8

Chapter 8 : Father !

She scratch the back of her daughter with his sharp claws and bite her arms. The shinning golden fur which reflect the moon shines bright as he howl at the Sky.

Her daughter howl louder and clench her canine teeth. She look furiously on her father and run faster towards him. She using the same technique when she killed a man earlier but her father manage to avoid it. She jump and slash her claws but her father manage to defend himself by slashing his claws to her. A claw to claw fight.

She was bleeding and the wounds on her arms could not heal immediately. She can't use her healing abilities yet, cause she used it up when healing her big wounds earlier, it was during her fight with the golden trio. With a big wound like that, it needs a lot of heal to close the wound.

She howl in agony when her father bite her side, a small flesh of skin was opened. She look angrily at him as her claws started to change its color into a red nails which is more sharpen and stronger than earlier.

An immense fight between a father and a daughter started. The town's people didn't know what to do. If they will help them or not.

The two huge wolf look at each other with a fierce look as both of them howl louder. The town's people covered their ears as it started to bleed inside. Just a howl with these two, the town's people feared and afraid of getting closer as their body feels a certain shiver down their spine.

Both of them look at each other and the first one who attack is the daughter. Like a flash she was easily transport at his father's back. His father step back and wag his long tail. The daughter used her tails as she makes a circle on it then jump and slam her tails at his father's back.

The town's people look at them with an awe. This is how Alpha wolf fight each other. Just hearing them howl you already know how powerful are they. An Alpha whose stronger with a gifted abilities which is unfair to other class – Beta and Omega.

All of them say " Woah ! " when they saw their chief of town being pushed back by his own daughter. Some of them started to shape shift to provide back up but the chief of town howl at them. All of them understood as the howl means to 'stand back and watch'.

The chief of town shape shift into his human form and step back while holding his arms that bleed fast. He maybe an Alpha but his healing abilities could not heal fast, it needs a lot of time to heal himself unlike his daughter who can heal faster than anyone,

The town's people shout when they saw the daughter forcing herself towards her father. Even the father with his human form. You can still say that he was much more stronger than anyone. Using his bare hands his able to defend the clutch of the sharpen claws towards him.

He was pushed back. As much as he want to transform, he want to use this opportunity to talk her daughter. His looking at her daughter's eyes " Clona please come back to us" but she just howl at him. Just like a dog that need to be tamed. Clona was eagerly wag her tails as she want to oppose his father.

The chief of town was been pushed down until his kneeling at the ground while repeatedly call her daughter's name. The town's people gasp and scream as they saw the chief of town being pushed at the ground.

Clona howl louder and was ready to bite his father. When suddenly the blood moon's fade away and turns into an ordinary full moon. It seems her inner wolf weaken and thus she's able to control herself for a while.

All of them stop when they first heard Clona's voice with her wolf form "Father ! ", her tears pour at her father's arms. She howl for a while and look at the moon then look at the town's people, whose backing away from her. She howls again and turn head at his father.

She howl for a last time and turn her back then run away from the forest. She heard her father's repeatedly shout her name but she didn't turn her back as she continued to run away from them.
