

Carrying the Alpha's Heir Chapter 5 –

Chapter 5: Forest Chase

The Canadian National Weather Service have warned through media that in 2 days the winter freezing cold will start.

The teachers didn't cancel the fieldtrip because the weather now is best for the activities that they have prepared, and some University guards were with us for extra protection especially that we will have a camp.

I am sitting in the corner of the bus and Miho is beside me eating Cheetos. Her loud chips became the background of the deafening silence inside the bus. My classmates on the other hand were busy preparing their notes about the surroundings because it is part of the reflection paper that we must pass later.

Annoyed, I kicked her toes and glared at her. She pouted and didn't even bothered by my warning.

I just shrugged and focus looking outside the window. The color of the surrounding is sad. It's greyish, plus the fact that the pine trees are adding a peculiar feeling in it.

Upon looking at it, I remembered the dreams that I had last night and this morning. The small hairs on my arms and legs stood up the moment I realize that the scene is familiar.

I snapped out of it and just closed my eyes instead. I wanted peace of mind and I want to forget the extreme needs of pleasure that is calling for satisfaction.

I gritted my teeth when that crossed my mind again. I closed my legs tightly, damn it Vigor, this is all your fault.

I am not familiar with what he did to me earlier, all I know is that there is something inside me that wanted to have a release, but it was prevented.

It's embarrassing to say but my feminine area seems like throbbing. I don't understand but I hate Vigor so much for doing that to me.

His fingers were long and big, and entering it like that made me feel like I was being torn apart. How inconsiderate of him.

He drove me back to the mansion and I didn't even talk to him or looked at him. All I can ever remember now is his amused face. I hate it so much.

Because I am thinking deeply, I didn't notice that I am already kicking the chair in front of me. Linda, my classmate is looking at me sharply because the chair that I was kicking is hers.

"Sorry," I muttered and then looked away.

We arrived at the Boulder Hut, the cabins were small but since there are lots of donation coming from our parents, the school rented 10 cabins with 5 people in one.

Miho and I were in the same group, and we are planning to have a bonfire later.

We went inside the cabin and the wooden wall and glass windows made it look so elegant.

There were 5 beds, and I guess they have really prepared this for the camp.

Its already 6 pm and the sun is going down smoothly. The teachers gave us proper instructions and rules. And they said that this night will depend on us, as long as we won't pass the borders.

They also informed us that the activities will start tomorrow and that we are free to explore the woods- especially that the night is bright because of the stars and the full moon.

"You have nothing to fear, the whole woods have fences and borders, there are no harmful animals around." Professor Lauren said.

"The guards were in some corners; you can call them out for any emergency too." Professor Maricruz added.

"Let's go. I have gathered woods and brought a lighter. Can you bring my Cheetos too?" Miho said and pleaded for her last request.

I just nodded and grabbed her bag that is full of them.

We are walking slowly, and we couldn't help but get amazed from the lights that they have put on the pine trees to guide people as they walk.

"Where should we place ourselves?" I asked and looked around, only to see that my other classmates were doing the same thing with us too.

This course are elites. Since my classmates were all business ad students, they are those who will manage their parents' company in the future- like me.

"I don't want other noises, lets go further." Miho said and walked faster.

We are already walking for more than 15 minutes and the lights is not already working in this area. We can still see the surroundings though, because of the full moon but we cant hear our classmates giggle from here.

“Nice! Let’s make it here.” Miho said excitedly.

“Do you think we’re still inside the border, Miho?” I asked my best friend who seemed to be drunk while arranging the dry woods.

“Yes of course, the lights prove it,” She said then shrugged.

I shrugged too and just sit to the bigger rock as my best friend started to light the woods.

When we created a fire, we both giggled.

“So tell me, are you both in good terms?” She asked out of the blue.

I leaned and grabbed her while tote bag to get a chocolate bar before answering her.

I nodded. “Yes.” I just said and closed my legs tightly again.

I don’t even know when will this sensation ends.

Maybe because it was the first time that I ever felt this, and I was pretty hanging.

“Do you have a boyfriend?” I asked her this time.

She stopped eating Cheetos and looked at me. “Nope.” She said.

I shrugged when she looked away. Well, maybe yes but she’s just hiding?

She grabbed her bag from me and find something in it. I busied myself watching the sky when she cursed.

“Damn! I left my phone.” She said angrily.

“Let’s go get it please?” She added.

I rolled my eyes on her. “Get it yourself, I am already feeling cozy here.”

She pouted and glared at me. “Okay! Hmmp!” She said and walked away.

“Bring my scarf!” I yelled.

She gave me a dirty finger as she run away from me.

I focused my attention on the bonfire in front of me and sighed. Sometimes people just really don't know what to do in their lives huh. And I am currently feeling that now.

Howls

I couldn't help to stand in nervousness when I heard a loud scary howl.

"What was that?" I asked to nowhere and gulped.

I looked at the area where Miho run back to the Cabin. Should I go back too?

Howls

When I heard it again, I finally decided.

"Okay, let's get out of here." I said to myself and gathered all the things that we brought.

I was about to turn away when the wind blew hard on my direction, killing the bonfire and making my bonnet fly.

I cursed inside my head when I heard the footsteps closer and the sound of the dead leaves cracking from the heavy steps.

My body froze when I realized that my dream is happening.

I pulled myself up and run.

I don't know which way I was running because it became so dark, and the footsteps were now loud and close.

"HEEEELLLPPP!" I shouted from the top of my lungs.

I am running faster than normal, but my body is shaking and cold. I can also feel that I am very pale now.

I had goosebumps when I felt it from behind me. I closed my eyes tightly while running, I don't want to see and look.. I don't want to check and look.

But I know it is my end when I tripped on a rock and I fell hard on the ground.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-