

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 382

"Bombyx Mori Tribe?" Not only the zombies were fighting each other, but there was also another tribe involved.

"Yes, Bombyx Mori Tribe is a tribe of Elemental Beast. King Biron wants to force them to surrender to fight off against the Dacian Kingdom," Heron explained the whole situation, "However, the Bombyx Mori Tribe refused to surrender. We have been fighting them for weeks."

"Elemental Beast? What's an Elemental Beast?" Tang Shaoyang was not expecting to get a lot of information. The scale was bigger than he expected too. It was not just a city, but a whole province.

This was a new creature. He never heard of this before, even in another world. This was the first time he heard about Elemental Beast.

"An Elemental Beast is an Elemental Beast," Heron's reply did not explain anything about it. Not even a specific characteristic of this Bombyx Mori Tribe.

"What about humans? Have you encountered other humans besides us?" Tang Shaoyang gave up on knowing more about the Elemental Beast and asked another important thing.

The survivors, aside from the territory, the survivors were the most important thing. Especially after knowing the zombies could make an organized group such a kingdom. People were the most important resource than anything for now.

"There are a few groups of humans here and there, but they are not a threat to us. King Biron never asked us specifically to hunt them down since they are an insignificant threat to us!" Heron did not butter his words up even though his new master was a human.

"How strong is the group of these humans compared to us?" It was rather not so important information, but he wanted to confirm it. He wanted to measure the power of the survivors in the Zhejiang Territory.

For the first time, Heron made an expression. It was an odd expression, looking at Tang Shaoyang weirdly. Before the zombie could say anything, Yu Shun slapped the back of Heron's head, "Be more respectful. I am your master but he is your true Lord."

Of course, Yu Shun's tone was more playful. He was teaching the new zombie the new hierarchy.

"I am sorry for my rudeness, My Lord," Heron bowed his head, almost bowing up to eighty degrees, "From all my encounters with the humans, you are the strongest one. For thousands of humans I have encountered, they can't be compared to you."

The memory of his head getting popped out repeatedly was still fresh in his head. Based on that, he could tell that this man was on another level.

"Then where is this King Biron?" The best way to root the zombie army was to kill the leader. Once the zombie lord was killed, these zombies would return into mindless zombies.

"He is leading the elite army to Jinhua City, he is about to face the Dacian Kingdom," Heron replied.

"Jinhua City? Where is that in Zhejiang?" Tang Shaoyang was born in SH City and grew up in the same city for over twenty years. He only knew a little about the other cities.

There was a momentary silence, "Jinhua City should be in the center of the Zhejiang Territory. It will take days to reach there unless you fly. Maybe it will take less than a day."

Tang Shaoyang rubbed his chin, he had a plan in his mind to cope with the unexpected situation.

"Let's go back to the village first. We will start to make our next move later," he just finished his words then he heard a notification in his head.

[Five different Factions have gathered in an unclaimed territory! You have triggered the Territory War Game!]

Tang Shaoyang glanced at Wei Xi and Zhang Mengyao. Both had a surprised expression on their faces too, meaning they got the notification as well. Not just him who was the Leader of the faction.

He then grinned ear to ear, "The system even makes the war be official," deep inside, Tang Shaoyang was excited about the incoming war. This would be a show for his empire to show off his strength.

Meanwhile, Pride and Kairu encountered an obstacle to converting the Light Bombyx Mori Tribe to be the empire's vassal.

While they were in a discussion, an intruder was coming unnoticed.

It was the same flying beast, but they were red in color. Red fur, even deeper red eyes, red wings, and yellow ears.

There were five of them, and they were coming from the Fire Bombyx Mori Tribe. Each of them was a meter long with wings spanned up to 1.4 meters.

"Helia of Light Bombyx Tribe, you have been summoned by Chief Vehiel of Bombyx Tribe!" The Fire Bombyx Mori conveyed the words to the leader of the Light Bombyx Tribe.

The chief of Light Bombyx Mori Tribe looked down to Pride and Kairu before looking back at the five Fire Bombyx Mori.

Before the Chief of the Light Bombyx Mori Tribe gave her answer, Kairu interrupted, "Can you see we are currently talking?" The Flaming Lion was annoyed because they almost got the answer. But because of these five red bugs, the Chief of the Light Bombyx Mori Tribe was hesitating.

His words attracted the five red bugs, the five Fire Bombyx Mori glanced down at the two.

"This is a private affair of our tribe, you two are not part of us. I advise you to leave!" The Fire Bombyx Mori did not welcome the interruption. The five became aggressive and their redwings started to burn in fire.

"What if we don't leave? Are you going to fight us?" Kairu showed his sharp teeth as he challenged the five red bugs.
