

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 465

Commander Ashley focused her attention on Bronson and Tang Shaoyang. She felt that the two were the most dangerous amongst the others. Of course, Dark Wyvern and the Demon Prince were also the most dangerous.

But she only has two hands, it was impossible for her to protect everyone. What she could do was to kill her enemy quickly and help the others.

"Let's start with my Lightning!" Zowe exclaimed while extending her hand toward the knights. Lightning descended toward them from the sky.

"Wind Shield!" Commander Ashley yelled and several knights raised their shields toward the sky. The fierce wind summoned and formed a wide shield above the knights.

Baboom! Baboom! Baboom!

The Wind Shield was rained down by the lightning from the sky. The Wind Shield shook as the lightning burst out. The booming sound kept ringing, intimidating the knights below the Wind Shield.

"Alright, you guys have a sturdy shield, but what about this one!" The lightning formed in the sky. It did not immediately strike the knights as the lightning formed a giant spear. More concentrated and dense lightning, stronger for sure.

There were twelve of them, twenty meters in length and seven meters in width.

Commander Ashley's eyes constricted, "Everyone, use all your shields!" Everyone raised their shield and activated the skill. Several layers of a shield made by various elements formed above the knight. Fire, Water, Wind, and Ice.

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

All twelve spears struck down simultaneously. As soon as the lightning spears hit the elemental shield. The twelve lightning spears exploded along with the elemental shields. A huge area engulfed by the explosion.

The strong shock wave spread out in all directions. The most miserable one was Li Shuang. She was just level 32, this was too much for her. She immediately hugged Tang Shaoyang so she would not be sent flying by the shock wave. Of course, Tang Shaoyang immediately used his [Mana Manipulation] to form a shield and block the incoming shock wave.

"Buahahahaha! This is the real power of a Magus! Do you all see this? This is my power!" Zowen laughed heartily. She stopped caring about her surroundings and went wild.

The explosion slowly dispersed and revealed the knights. There was an Ice Dome, protecting the knights from the explosion. But the Ice Dome did not last long as it crumbled immediately.

Several knights were lying down on the ground as they failed to protect themselves from the explosion. Grunting and squirming in pain while holding their injured part.

"Drink your potion and get up! The battle is not over!" Commander Ashley shouted as she drank a vial with a blue liquid in it. It was a Mana Potion. She almost depleted half of her mana to maintain the Ice Dome. She wanted to make sure that she had full mana if the Undead attacked her.

She predicted right. Bronson the Executioner rushed toward her as soon as the Ice Dome. Commander Ashley glanced back at Captain Knight Morris, "I will leave the formation on you, Captain Knight Morris!"

"Yes, Commander!" Captain Knight Morris replied with a firm voice.

Commander Ashley did not wait for Bronson to come at her. She did not want to fight near her subordinates or else the battle might affect them in a bad way. As she rushed forward, she left a trail of cold aura. Her armor was releasing cold air as she left the ground freezing.

Dang!

Bronson swung the reaver as Commander Ashley put her shield forward. The reaver stopped by the shield, and the reaver started to freeze from the tip of the blade, creeping out toward the handle.

Bronson quickly retracted his weaver and shook it off in the air. The ice crumbled with just a simple shake, "Interesting power, but that is not enough to defeat-"

Bronson looked down and found that ice froze his feet up to his knees. He did not realize this until he was about to move. He looked up and Commander Ashley was right in front of him.

"I think this is enough to obliterate an undead like you!" Commander Ashley swung her sword toward Bronson's neck, "[Frozen Slash]!"

The sword did not reach Bronson's neck as it was a few centimeters short. However, the sword released a slash made of frost aura. The aura struck Bronson's neck and froze Bronson immediately. Ice instantly froze the undead, totally stopping the undead from moving.

Commander Ashley did not waste her time as she rushed toward Bronson. She brought her sword up, ready to slash Bronson who froze in the ice just like an ice sculpture.

Dark energy exploded from Bronson and the ice crumbled, "I told you this is not enough!"

Dark Energy was harmful to the human body. Commander Ashley did not want her body exposed to this harmful energy and immediately jumped backward. She managed to catch the Undead off guard, but the same trick would not work for the second time. Bronson was not a mob to fall for the same trick again.

Commander Ashley missed her golden chance to finish the fight as soon as possible. She was too slow to execute the following attack. If she was as fast as Tang Shaoyang, she might win. That was what crossed her mind when right now, regretting not to invest more attribute points into Agility.

Of course, Bronson was not going to give her a chance to concoct another scheme against him. He chased after Commander Ashley. This time, he swung his two reavers toward her.

Bronson was just too fast, leaving Commander Ashley no choice but to block the incoming attack with her shield. The two reavers struck the shield, pushing her backward. Her boot slid against the ground as she was pushed seven meters backward.

Commander Ashley grunted slightly as the force behind the reavers was powerful. She held the shield tightly, ready to block another attack. However, she could not find Bronson.

"I am here!" Commander Ashley heard a voice from behind. She turned around and found Bronson. She was about to form an ice shield but she quickly noticed Bronson's figure dissolve into a black shadow.

"It's a trap!" She blurted out and turned around once again. Thanks to the quick casting of her skill, she instantly formed Ice Shield at the sight of Bronson who was two meters away from her.

While she managed to form the shield, it was not a sturdy shield. The two reavers slammed toward her Ice Shield, but the hastily-formed Ice Shield failed to negate the force. She was sent flying by the strike.

Commander Ashley rolled over on the ground and was flung twenty meters away. All over her body was sore from the impact but she immediately stood up again. She might lose her life if she was careless.

She was about to rush back to Bronson until he heard a loud voice from the other side of the battlefield, "Surrender and your life will be spared! Surrender! We will not kill you if you surrender. Drop your weapon and kneel!"

Commander Ashley looked to the side and found it was a mess on the other side. The black flame burned some part of the area, lightning strikes charred the ground, leaving an unforgettable mark on it, and only one-fifth of the knights were still alive.

Commander Ashley was about to shout "Don't give up!" But she saw the unexpected. Captain Knight Morris threw his shield and sword away then he knelt, "I surrender!"
