

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 606

Zaneos had finished his opponent, and the remaining force of the Dark Tribe was taken care of by the other spirits. He had nothing to do but watch the Angel of Death fighting the Green Sky Serpent. He was not sure, though, if it was a fight or a one-sided slaughter.

The Green Sky Serpent had his head pierced by the sword for the third time. He did not understand why the Green Sky Serpent did not try to dodge or even block the sword. There should be enough time from the time when the sword formed until it pierced its head. However, the Green Sky Serpent remained still after it got resurrected for the fourth time.

Zaneos stood there as he rubbed his chin. "Or maybe because the Green Sky Serpent could not move?" The Demon muttered in a low voice as he observed the gigantic snake returned from the dead for the fifth time. He overheard what Kirin said, a unique skill where the snake had seven lives.

The same scene repeated. As soon as the Green Sky Serpent came back alive, the black sword formed above it... Once again, the Legend Rank Beast did not try to dodge or block the incoming attack, and Suvan stayed still on the spot as the black sword pierced through its head.

Zaneos concluded it was not the Legend Rank who did not want to dodge the attack, and it was because simply the Green Sky Serpent could not avoid the attack. It must be related to The Angel of Death's skill.

"So, it's not only me who has gotten stronger..." The Infernal Sword muttered. He thought his Infernal Sword Technique could rival an individual at a level above him, but he was too naive to have that kind of thought. "But what about me against the Legend Rank Beast? Maybe I have a chance to win against the Legend Rank beast?"

He was unsure about that, but the Primordial Rank Beastmen was not a match for him. He killed Igor in one attack, and he might win even against the Legend Rank Beast. That was not just empty confidence, as Igor was the proof that he had gotten a lot stronger.

The Demon then witnessed the Green Sky Serpent's sixth resurrection. This time, the demon noticed the sword formed late. The gigantic creature almost escaped from the skill, but the skill was just too strong. The Green Sky Serpent failed to escape as the sword pierced its head again.

"We win, but Zara is at her limit..." The Demon Swordsman noticed that the Angel of Death was at her limit, and he could tell that as she was late to cast her skill. "Of course, there has to be a limit for that powerful skill, or else she is still alive instead of becoming a spirit." Zaneos then glanced at the black dragon. "What about My Lord? How strong is he in his True Dragon Form?"

Zara wanted to force herself to use the skill six times in a row, but he knew his Lord well. His Lord would not let that happen. As he predicted, the black dragon flew next to the Angel of Death.

"Leave his last life for me. Thank you, and you can get some rest." Tang Shaoyang sent a gentle whisper to the Angel of Death.

"No, I want to kill him with my own hand!" Zara stubbornly stared at the darkened corpse. Fury was apparent in her tone, and Tang Shaoyang knew she was angry at the snake because it tried to attack him.

"Silly girl, why would you lower yourself to his level?" Tang Shaoyang shook his head. "Also, am I fine? This snake can't hurt me. Get some rest. You have done your job well. Leave the rest to me."

Zara looked at the darkened corpse and looked at the majestic dragon next to her. She agreed and returned to the spiritual space to recover, leaving Tang Shaoyang alone and the Green Sky Serpent. The arrogant Guardian Beast was now cowering in fear and terror, and he could sense it clearly.

The Green Sky Serpent did not dare to use his last life, delaying the final resurrection. However, he knew that this was not the permanent solution. He had to think of a way to escape before the angel could use the fearful skill again.

It was natural for him to be scared of the Angel of Death. Just like Zaneos predicted, he froze in time when the angel cast the skill. He could not avoid or block the attack even if he wanted to. There was nothing he could do but let himself get pierced by the sword. But then he noticed the angel disappeared.

'This is my chance.' This was his chance to escape. Yes, he did not care about The Kirin anymore, and his top priority was to save himself. As for the black dragon, he might not win against the black dragon, but he was confident he could escape from the black dragon.

The Green Sky Serpent used his final resurrection. As soon as he came out from the green energy sphere, the Green Sky Serpent turned around. There was no pause between his movements as he tried to escape for his life.

"There's no way I will let you escape from my grasp." Tang Shaoyang's shadow hovered above the Green Sky Serpent, overlapping with the serpent's enormous body. He gathered his Slayer Energy and caught Suvan.

The massive Green Sky Serpent crashed into the forest. Tang Shaoyang pinned down the gigantic serpent from moving and cast his skill, [Slayer Absorption].

"ARRGHHHHH!" Suvan's scream echoed through the forest. His scream caused the ground to shake. He tried to break free from the grasp as he slammed his tail, but it was a futile effort. The tail strike was blocked by [Mana Shroud], the first layer of Tang Shaoyang's defense.

The physical attack failed to break the [Mana Shroud], and the tail kept bouncing back after failing to break [Mana Shroud]. As time passed on, The Green Sky Serpent's fierce struggle weakened. In the next two minutes, the Green Sky Serpent stopped moving.
