

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 707

Julius' mind went blank for a moment. The appearance of Allan was not something within his calculation. In his mind, Allan should be leading the Warmir Kingdom's force to attack the Lionax Kingdom's border from the south. The Lionax Kingdom had to split its force to defend the border if that happened.

'But why is he here?' Julius recalled what Allan said. He was no longer General Allan but Vice Marshal Allan, and he served a new master. Julius looked at the man with an eye patch. He thought that man was Alton's new disciple, but he was wrong about it. If Allan served that man, that meant his Master also served the same man.

Julius looked at Tang Shaoyang with an unbelievable expression on his face. The Commander and the Vice Commander of the Fotia Legion served a new Master. He could not imagine that something like this would happen.

"Who is he?" Sir Powan was curious who the second old man was. He had looked at Allan, but that Allan should be weaker than Alton, but why did Julius seem to be afraid of the second old man?

"He is Allan, Warmir Kingdom's General that I talked about with you, Sir Powan. I just don't expect to see him here, and he is Primordial Rank." Julius turned pensive with the change of situation. "I think we should retreat now, Sir Powan. I don't think we can win this battle."

"Why? Because he is Primordial Rank!? Don't worry, I will take care of your Master and this Allan as well. You just need to focus on the remaining force." Sir Powan was confident of defeating Alton and Allan altogether.

Julius was shaking his head and thought to himself. 'Does this brute stupid not to understand the situation we are in? General Allan was clearly saying he served that man. That means that man should be stronger than them, or they would not serve that man. But who is that man?'

"That's not what I mean, Sir Powan. Didn't you hear what Allan said? He said he served that man, which means my Master also serves the same man. We have to be wary of that man instead of my Master and Allan." Julius looked at Tang Shaoyang warily. The man looked younger than him, but the man could be older than him. Nothing was impossible with the system.

"Now you say it..." Sir Powan looked toward the man, and he still felt nothing from the man. "Didn't you tell me that your Master is trying to avenge the previous Queen of the Lionax Kingdom? Is it possible for that man to be the late Queen's son?" He could not feel Tang Shaoyang's aura, and he thought Tang Shaoyang should not be lower than Epic Rank. Meaning, the only reason for those two to serve a weakling like that man was because that man related to the late queen.

Sir Powan assumed Tang Shaoyang was not a fighter or a high-level player like them because he lacked the aura. Reasonable judgment, but Sir Powan was not aware that the aura could be controlled.

"I can't feel any aura from that man, and he looks weak to me. I don't think your Master and Allan follow him because he is strong or something like that." Sir Powan added after making sure the man did not have any aura.

When Sir Powan mentioned the aura, Julius looked at Tang Shaoyang thoroughly. Sure enough, he did not feel any aura from that man. Someone above level 1000 or at the Epic Rank would have an aura. Yet this man did not have an aura, empty; he looked so ordinary as he was standing with the Legend Rank and the Primordial Rank.

"You are right, but maybe he is the Queen's illegitimate son," Julius muttered in a low voice.

Tang Shaoyang looked at the two, baffled at what these two were talking about. With his sharp hearing, he could hear what these were talking about him, and now, 'I become your Illegitimate son, Rosalie. Should I summon you to surprise them?' He had a mischievous idea to summon Rosalie in front of Julius.

—That's actually a good idea. I can preach this Revolution Army, and they may take your side after looking at me. Didn't Alton form this Revolution Army for my vengeance?

—Stupid Empress. He wants to summon you to kiss you. He wants to show Julius the "forbidden relationship" since they think of him as your illegitimate son.

Zowen seemed to know more about Tang Shaoyang, and she could instantly figure out his mischievous idea. After hearing no excuse from Tang Shaoyang, Rosalie figured out that Zowen was most likely true. She felt silent right after.

After confirming Tang Shaoyang's aura, Julius and Sir Powan were no longer hesitant to attack. The archers shot their arrows simultaneously, and it was not just normal arrows. The arrows were in a fire as those fire arrows were trying to hit the building behind the city wall. The Revolution Army's plan was obvious; they wanted to create chaos inside the city.

Tang Shaoyang, Alton, and Allan did not make any move. They merely looked up toward the fire arrows. There was a blue barrier made of mana, reflecting all the fire arrows. It was the defensive mechanism from Vice Marshall Allan's knight. They worked together to form the barrier.

"So we just stand here and wait for Ava and Aleesa to bring the main force?" Tang Shaoyang stood there, bored, looking at the rain of the fire arrows. The main force was the combining force of the tribes from Gigante Forest. They were a combining force from the strong tribe, stronger than the Gator Tribe. There were a lot of Mythic Rank Beastmen there, the reason why Alton did not include them in the early fight.

"Ohhh, they bring out something." Tang Shaoyang noticed the Revolution Army brought out something. It was like a cannon, but it was standing upward rather than aiming at them straight forward. It was like mortar, but ten times bigger if not fifteen times bigger than the modern mortar.

The Revolution Army put a big black ball into the mortar, and a knight placed its hand on the mortar. The knight channeled the mana into the mortar and with, "BOOM!"... The explosive sound rang into the atmosphere as the big black ball shot toward the city.
