

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 708

"That's Wallbreaker. How can they have those things?" Vice Marshal Allan's face turned ugly. Tang Shaoyang and Marshal Alton looked toward Allan. "What, you don't know what Wallbreaker too?" Tang Shaoyang looked at Marshal Alton.

"I have been living in Gigante Forest for years, so I don't know this kind of technology." Marshal Alton shook his head. Even though that thing had fired the shot, the two still looked calm.

"Let's save that for later. The barrier can't hold the shoot for more than three shots. Get ready to fight!" Vice Marshal Allan warned the other two.

Boom!

The Wallbreaker hit the barrier, and the barrier shook as the fire engulfed the barrier. Tang Shaoyang and Alton finally understood why Allan was so concerned about this Wallbreaker. At the same time, The Revolution Army brought out another Wallbreaker. The knights reloaded the first Wallbreaker while preparing the second Wallbreaker. They were about to shoot two Wallbreakers at the same time.

Tang Shaoyang looked at the knights who maintained barriers. They were shaking after receiving the first shot. "Tell them to release the barrier. I don't think they can endure the Wallbreaker."

After saying that, Tang Shaoyang summoned Keeper. The two old men were startled when a skeleton appeared next to them. "Don't worry, he is my summon." He ignored his two subordinates and pointed at the two Wallbreakers among the Revolution Army's knights. "Can you shoot the thing that came out from those Wallbreakers?" The plan was simple, asking Keeper to shoot the projectile before reaching the city.

Keeper's left socket glowed in dark purple as he activated [Aim Gaze]. 'Leave it to me, Master.' The Master Gunslinger Skeleton spoke directly to Tang Shaoyang's mind as his right arm transformed into a sniper rifle, but twice bigger than the standard sniper rifle.

"Turned off the barrier, Allan." Tang Shaoyang ordered. The two old men looked at each other, but Alton nodded toward Allan, indicating Allan to execute the order. While Keeper directed the rifle toward the Wallbreaker, Allan ordered his men to stop the barrier. Even though the knights were confused about why they were asked to relieve the barrier, they followed the order.

As soon as the barrier disappeared, Keeper fired the shot. The first shot was aimed at the knight who was injecting his mana into the Wallbreaker. The mana bullet shot through the air and hit the knight's head. Despite the helmet protecting the head, the head exploded when the mana bullet hit the head.

Keeper successfully killed the knight who controlled the first Wallbreaker, but the second Wallbreaker managed to shoot its projectile. The Master Gunslinger immediately flicked his gun and fired the second shot. The Wallbreaker just fired the projectile, but it exploded midair when the mana bullet hit the projectile. The flakes and the fire fell onto the Revolution Army.

Julius' face turned ugly when the Wallbreaker failed to reach the target. "Protect the shooter!" He yelled at his subordinates. If the two Wallbreakers managed to fire the projectile in time, one of them might reach the city. The knights rapidly reloaded another projectile into the Wallbreaker. This time, the knights protected the person who injected the mana into the Wallbreaker.

"Don't shoot the Wallbreaker. That's our spoil. You can't destroy them." Tang Shaoyang immediately reminded Keeper. He was aware the skeleton was about to destroy the Wallbreaker, which was good thinking, but he was interested in the weapon. He could bring it back to Earth, and it would become a deadly siege weapon.

Boom! Boom!

This time, the Revolution Army managed to fire the two Wallbreakers continuously. However, it did not change the outcome as Keeper sniped down the projectile midair. The Revolution did not give up using the Wallbreaker as they tried to fire it again only to witness the same result.

Keeper did not disappoint Tang Shaoyang and took down all the projectiles. During this time, Alton and Allan just watched everything from the sideline. Allan shot a glance at Alton with an inquiry gaze, clearly asking about the skeleton. The latter shook his head as Alton also knew nothing about the skeleton.

"So you are a Necromancer, huh?" Sir Powan appeared in front of Tang Shaoyang. He was standing at the edge of the wall and glanced at Keeper. The skeleton used [Consecutive Dash] and hid behind Tang Shaoyang.

"Sh*t, we are careless." Alton cursed out as he immediately rushed over and stood in front of Tang Shaoyang. He thought the enemy would not dare to come here, but he did not think the enemy would be so reckless to face them head-on alone.

"Stay back, Alton!" Tang Shaoyang pulled the old man and faced Sir Powan. "I told you, right? The Legend Rank is my prey." He licked his lips while observing Sir Powan. "Since you dare to come over, I assume you are Revolution Army's Legend Rank, right?"

"Buahahahahaha..." Sir Powan let out a burst of crazed laughter as he could not believe the man dared to confront him. "An auraless like you should stay behind your guardian, Moron!"

Keeper immediately aimed the rifle toward Sir Powan, but Tang Shaoyang caught the bone muzzle without looking back. "Don't heed the dead man's words, Keeper. Your job is to take down the projectile and protect my people, understand?"

Tang Shaoyang grinned while stretching his hands. "Finally, I can move my body. I have been waiting for this moment." His hair turned blue as lightning sparked from his hair and body. "I am not a Necromancer. It's just my hobby to spend my spare time, and I am someone you can call an allrounder."

Tang Shaoyang immediately activated [Epic Integration] with Zowen as he would not underestimate his enemy. He then extended his right hand toward Sir Powan and discharged giant lightning in the shape of a fist. Sir Powan's eyes widened as he was not expecting such a powerful attack.

Sir Powan leaped backward and avoided the lightning. He immediately retreated twenty meters away from the city wall and landed on the ground... Shock could be seen from Sir Powan's face. Who would expect such an attack could come from an auraless?
