

ARMIPOTENT Chapter 737

'More resources for the players?' Zhang Mengyao doubtfully asked herself. She felt like the resource was more for the factions than the players, but there was nothing wrong with wordings. The players were the ones who built the factions, so it was the same.

[However, the players have to be careful inside the towers. While the Dimensional Tower is an artificial world with resources, the players have to be careful with the indigenous habitants of the tower. They are mostly beasts and monsters, but there's one more thing you should know about the tower. The Earth is not the only world that has access to enter the Dimensional Tower.]

[Each tower has limited access, so you don't have to worry about the tower getting crowded and not getting the resource. Mortal Level Tower for example, there will be only ten worlds that have access to enter the Mortal Tower. So, if the players on Earth choose the Mortal Level Tower, there will only be ten worlds, including Earth, that have access to the tower.]

[I have to remind you that the lower-level tower, the more scarce the resources are. A lower-level tower has low regeneration resources and fewer treasures than a high-level tower. But don't be careless too as there's a chance you will encounter a world that has gone through the Game longer than Earth.]

[An additional information, The players don't have to worry about the players from the other worlds to sneak into your world as it is impossible. You can't enter another world through the tower, if somehow a certain player manages to find a way to sneak into another world through the Dimensional Tower, the System will punish the player. Death Penalty is the only punishment.]

[Where will the Earth Dimensional Tower appear? The System will choose the place where the tower will appear, and it's a random place. So, if the players want to enter the tower, you have to travel to the tower. There's no shortcut, but there are several factions with benefits, VIP factions. The System will give the VIP faction a teleportation gate to the Earth Dimensional Tower. It's a reward for their effort during the Game.]

[Calm down! I know you feel it's unfair, but the System will only reward the best. If any factions feel it's unfair, then you just need to be a VIP faction in the next World Congress. How to be a VIP faction in the World Congress? The VIP status is determined by the overall strength of the faction, such as the number of members of the factions, the number of territories the faction has, and the high-level players in that faction.]

[The players must be curious about the other factions' overall strength, but the System will not share such crucial information. The Earth has eleven VIP Factions, and these eleven factions will be rewarded with a teleportation gate.]

[Finally, we have reached the final stage of the World Congress, which is to vote which tower the Earth does need? You will be the one to decide. As a reminder, each world has a chance to summon three towers during the game. That means you can summon another level tower in the following stage. Before the vote begins, you will be given two hours to discuss which one you want to vote for.]

After that, the timer appeared again above the platform. It was another two hours for the factions to discuss the tower.

Zhang Mengyao turned around. "What do you guys think about the tower?"

"I think the tower is a simulation from the System, so we, the players, can adapt to the situation once The Earth is connected to other worlds." Wei Xi was the first one to respond.

Obviously, the others agreed with his thought. "So, we can assume that the System will place in the tower with the same level of growth, right? I mean, Earth is less than a year old sneaking baby if we calculate it since the Game started, so the System will place us in a tower with worlds that are around one to four years into the game, right?" Kang Jiayi was quite worried about the vagueness behind the Dimensional Tower. He felt like they should be more careful with the players from the other worlds instead of the indigenous inhabitants of the Dimensional Tower.

"I think it depends on the level tower we choose. If we choose the Ancient Level Tower or even the Hell and Heaven Level Tower, I think we have a higher chance of meeting with the world around ten to fifty years into the game or even older." Zhang Mengyao shook her head. "So, it depends on our choice."

"Then we can start it slowly by voting the Mortal Level Tower?" Kang Jiayi chose the safest level. He felt like that was the right decision to make instead of encountering the strong world. But the old man found that the others made a complex expression. "What's wrong? That's the safest choice for us."

"That's the safest choice, but he will be angry if he knows that we choose the Mortal Level Tower." Wei Xi shook his head. "HE" in his mouth was their leader, Tang Shaoyang. As someone who had been with Tang Shaoyang for a while, he knew that their leader would choose at least Ancient Level Tower.

"The Sky Level Tower is still doable, but more than that is too risky. I don't think it's worth the risk." Kang Jiayi did not understand Tang Shaoyang because he would not say that if he knew Tang Shaoyang.

"I think it's still doable for us to enter the Ancient Level Tower." Zhang Mengyao voiced her thoughts. "We have found locations for the three Survival Games. We have to finish those survival Games before the Earth Dimensional Tower is summoned. Also, don't forget the reward from the fighting competition. I think the reward is to help us to prepare to enter the Earth Dimensional Tower."

Kang Jiayi's jaw dropped after hearing how optimistic Zhang Mengyao was to win the fighting competition.
