Gunbir said nervously: "Uncle Arman! You can live by hiding! If the surnamed Liu doesn't plan to let you go, you will die when you go back!"

Arman smiled and said, "Even if he wants my life, he has to wait for a suitable time. He can't just kill me at the customs when I'm just being sent back, right? Besides, I was sent back to Hong Kong Island. The customs officers will definitely take me over to go through the process. I believe that no matter how capable the surnamed Liu is, he will not dare to go to the customs to do anything to me. In this way, I can inform my family in advance and let them come to the customs to see me. , as long as I can meet my family, even if I go out and be killed by him, I will recognize it."

Speaking of this, Arman smiled slightly and said again: "Gunbir, you don't need to persuade me about this matter, I have my own decision, so you can run this roast goose shop well, and the rest, don't worry about me. ."

Gunbir choked with red eyes and said, "Uncle Arman... I don't want to run a roast goose shop, I just want to be honest with you as a running boy..."

Gunbir and Arman have a very deep relationship.

He was originally a Southeast Asian Chinese. His parents went to Southeast Asia to work hard in the early years, but when he encountered some local turmoil, he smuggled him to the United States when he was young, intending to take root in the United States.

However, the ship used by the smugglers to transport them hit the rocks and sank as they approached the US coastline. One ship, dozens of illegal immigrants, drowned more than half.

Gunbir's parents were both buried in the sea in that disaster, while the young man leaned on a small wooden board and floated at sea for several hours, and was finally rescued by the Chinese who ran the boat.

In that accident, all those who survived were young and half-old children like Gunbir. It was their parents who gave life-saving floating objects to their children, so that the children could survive.

And those Chinese who run the boat, like Arman, are black households who smuggled or illegally stayed in the United States. These black households can help each other on weekdays and have a small circle of their own.

After several children were rescued back to New York, the Chinese got together for a meeting.

They felt that the situation of these children was too miserable. If they were not taken in, they would either starve to death on the streets, be sent back to China by the US government, or be sent to orphanages, so after everyone discussed it, if they were able, they adopted an orphan each.

Gunbir was adopted by Arman.

He was only ten years old when he was brought back to this roast goose shop by Arman. Now, he is twenty-two years old.

Since he has no legal status, Arman opened a shop and taught Gunbir to read, and then Gunbir began to help him in the back kitchen to do whatever he could.

Later, when I became an adult, I simply started working as a buddy in a roast goose shop.

Gunbir is very grateful to Arman for his kindness of upbringing. He has always regarded him as a father. He even made up his mind that he will be by Arman's side all his life and help him. When he is old, he will retire for him.

But I never thought that Arman was now determined to return to Hong Kong Island to die.

Arman saw that his eyes were flushed and tears were flowing, so he said with a smile: "Gunbir, I have no children and no daughters, since you came, I have been cooking roast goose in the back kitchen all these years, and I have never hidden my craftsmanship in front of you. I believe that you have also learned eight or nine of my skills. In the future, as long as the police don't find you, you will run the store well, save more money, and if you have the opportunity, go back to Southeast Asia to get back your original identity, and then get married and have children to settle down."

After that, he looked at Gunbir and said with a slight smile: "Of course, if I am lucky enough to return to Hong Kong Island this time, you can come to Hong Kong Island to find me in the future!"

time to afternoon.

In order to be able to stagger the admission time with the grandfather's family, charlie took Claire to the concert venue ahead of schedule.

At this time, there were already many fans waiting anxiously inside and outside the venue, and the venue had not yet arrived at the time to start admission, so these fans surrounded the venue.

Fortunately, the venue originally had a VIP channel, and there were special security personnel outside the channel to maintain order, so there was no fan interference here.

Before arriving at the venue, charlie greeted Stefanie sun's agent Zuri in advance, so his car had just arrived at the entrance of the VIP passage, and after seeing the license plate, the security guard turned on the car stop without asking any questions.

This VIP passage is like a sunken tunnel as a whole. After the car enters, it is basically equivalent to entering the underground position of the stadium, and this passage is completely straight. From the entrance, you can see the light on the opposite side. The exit of the VIP, and the VIP reception is in the center of this passage.

The advantage of this design of the VIP passage is to ensure the safety of the VIPs as much as possible. The whole passage can be seen very clearly at a glance, and there are smooth concrete walls all around. It is impossible for anyone to hide in this passage.

The VIP reception desk in the center of the passage is actually a recessed parking lot. Under normal circumstances, VIP vehicles will park here directly to enter the venue, which is very convenient when walking.

Zuri was standing on the edge of the parking lot waiting at this moment. Seeing charlie driving in, he quickly waved to his car.

charlie responded by flashing the headlights, and then guided by Zuri's gestures, he parked the car in the parking lot.

There were several commercial vehicles parked in the parking lot, and charlie recognized at a glance that it was Stefanie sun's team.

Claire asked in surprise at this time: "Husband, where are we?"

charlie smiled and said, "VIP channel, let's watch the performance in the VIP box tonight."

Claire asked in surprise: "Why are you watching it in the box? It must be a lot of money, right?"

charlie said with a smile: "Ms. sun's concert did not sell boxes this time, so the boxes above are basically empty, so the boxes are free for us, and if we go to the box to watch the performance, it can also be hosted by others. Fang Sheng has two infield tickets, after all she has so many fans, two more tickets can bring in two more people."

Claire nodded lightly, and then followed charlie out of the car.

When Zuri saw charlie, he stepped forward very politely and said, "Master Wade, you are here."

After speaking, he looked at Claire and said with a smile, "Hello Mrs. wade, we meet again."

As early as when charlie had just reunited with Stefanie sun and brought Claire to dinner with Stefanie sun, Zuri had seen Claire at the dinner table.

Claire also had an impression of her, and quickly said: "Hello, Miss Zuri! I've caused you trouble this time."

"Where is it?" Zuri said solemnly: "Master Wade has helped us so much, and it is we who are causing trouble for Master Wade."

Having said that, Zuri deliberately said again: "Mrs. wade, during this period of time, we have been working hard for Master Wade to go to New York because of Feng Shui, which delayed the world of Master Wade and you. You must not mind."

Claire didn't know that she was saying this on purpose, so she hurriedly said, "Miss Zuri is very polite. This is also my husband's part of the job, and it should be done."

Zuri smiled and nodded lightly.

In fact, she still has a lot of puns or meanings to say to Claire, but she also knew in her heart that she could not be too presumptuous in front of Charlie, so she stopped and said with a smile: "Master Wade, Mrs. Wade, let me take you two to the VIP box first."

Charlie saw Zuri and knew that he would accept it when he saw it, so he didn't care too much about her, and said indifferently, "Miss Zuri has worked hard."

"It should be." Zuri took Charlie and Claire from the VIP passage and took the elevator directly to the top floor with a smile.

Because of the large scale of the venue, the location of the VIP box is basically as high as the seven or eight-story building, and the entire high-rise area is the VIP area of the venue.

Here, the entrances and exits, as well as various facilities and passages, are completely isolated from the audience below, which ensures the privacy of the VIPs to a great extent.

Due to the concert tonight, only two VIP boxes were given to Charlie, Claire, and the grandparents' family, and the other boxes were not open to the public, so there were very few staff on this floor, only at the entrance and exit. Security guards guarded it, and after entering, it was completely empty, and no staff could be seen.

This is also what Stefanie Sun did deliberately. After all, Charlie himself likes to keep a low profile, and An Jia is also a very high-profile public figure. There must be enough protection for privacy. The fewer staff, the less exposure it can be.

Zuri took Charlie and Claire to the box in the middle. After the door was opened, it was almost a luxury suite in a hotel.

As soon as you enter the door, there is a luxurious living room with a mini bar. The bar counter of the minibar is already full of fresh fruits, desserts and snacks, and the wine rack at the back is also filled with a dazzling array of high-end drinks.

Passing through the minibar, there are two sets of sofas sitting opposite each other in the center. After passing the living room and moving forward, there are two rows of sofas, one high and one low facing the floor-to-ceiling windows. This is the area for watching performances. .

Zuri introduced to charlie and Claire: "Master Wade, Mrs. wade, the boxes here have special sound insulation measures, and someone next door will not cause any disturbance to you. Fear that the outside will see the inside."

Claire said worriedly: "Miss Zuri, the sound insulation here is so good, and there is such a large piece of glass, will the sound effect of listening to the concert inside be affected?"

Claire is a loyal fan of Stefanie sun. For her, the most important thing to come to Stefanie sun's concert is the audio-visual effect. If the audio-visual effect is greatly reduced, even in the luxurious VIP room, it will definitely be very regrettable. .

Zuri saw Claire's concerns, pointed to the upper left and upper right corners of the floor-to-ceiling windows, as well as the sides and top of the sofa, and said to Claire: "Ms. Claire, don't worry about the audio-visual effects, as you just said, the box has sound insulation measures. , and the front glass is also relatively thick, so watching the performance from here, the sound of the external audio will indeed be weakened a lot. Therefore, the 7.4.4 embedded panoramic sound is installed in the box itself, and the audio of the live performance will be played directly through the audio. , which can effectively filter the noise of the live audience, the effect of the immersive experience is better, and the volume is also adjustable, the overall audio-visual effect will be better than the infield."

Claire breathed a sigh of relief and said, "Then I can rest assured..."

Zuri nodded and said to the two of them: "Master Wade, Mrs. wade, our staff has prepared drinks and desserts in advance, and there is a bathroom in the box, so after the show starts, for your viewing experience, the waiters will not Take the initiative to come to the door. If you two have any needs, you can directly press the call bell, and our staff will come over as soon as possible. In addition, please try not to go out during the performance. There is no staff stationed outside, and the performance starts with a sound system Noisy, in case of any emergency, it may be difficult to respond in time."

charlie knew that Zuri was vaguely reminding Claire not to go out as much as possible. As for charlie himself, he would definitely not go out unless it was necessary, so as to avoid the possibility of meeting his grandmother's family as much as possible.

How could Claire know Zuri's intentions, and said almost without thinking, "Miss Zuri, don't worry, we're not going anywhere."

Zuri smiled slightly, then looked at the time again, and said, "Tonight, there are some VIPs next door who will be sitting in the box next door. They will arrive in ten minutes. I have to go and receive them, so I won't disturb the two of you."

Claire nodded and said, "Miss Zuri, just go to work if you have something to do, don't worry about us."

"Okay." Zuri nodded, and said to charlie, "Mr. wade, then I'll go out first."

After Zuri left, charlie sat on the sofa in the reception area a little lost. When he thought that his grandfather and grandma would arrive in ten minutes, he felt a little nervous again.

Claire saw that charlie was in a wrong state at this time, so he sat next to him and asked with concern, "Husband, what's wrong with you? Are you feeling unwell?"

charlie smiled slightly: "I've been running back and forth between the two places these days, maybe I'm a little tired."

Claire said with some self-reproach: "I knew we wouldn't drive here, you must be very tired driving all the way, and you accompany me around..."

After she finished speaking, she quickly said: "Or we won't go anywhere tomorrow, just rest and rest in the hotel, and I'll drive back tomorrow."

charlie smiled and said, "No, I'll just rest for a while, don't worry."

Claire thought that charlie was trying to be brave, so he took his hand and said softly, "Husband, if you feel tired in the future, tell me in advance, we can change any plan, but we must put ourselves first. bit."

charlie nodded lightly and said with a smile, "Don't worry, wife, I see."

Claire leaned against charlie's shoulder slightly, and said softly, "Let's lower our voice in a while. If you are tired, sleep here for a while."

When charlie saw Claire caring about him so much, he couldn't help but be moved, and when he took her in his arms, he felt a lot more at ease.

About ten minutes later, charlie's keen hearing caught a burst of noisy footsteps.

As the footsteps got closer, he heard Zuri's voice: "Grandpa An, Grandma An, this is the box arranged for you tonight!"

At this time, charlie heard a familiar and unfamiliar voice, and his grandmother said with a very gentle smile, "Thank you, and thank you Stefanie for us, this time I will definitely cause you a lot of trouble!"

Although he hadn't heard his grandmother's voice for many years, charlie recognized it at once.

His body also shook involuntarily because of his grandmother's voice. Claire, who was beside him, raised his head quickly and asked, "What's wrong with you, husband?"

charlie was slightly startled, then calmed down and said quickly, "It's okay, I almost fell asleep just now..."
