

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 4999 (The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 4999) -

When it comes to work, Trent 's expression is obviously somewhat unnatural.

To be precise, he, who was originally proud of his status as a public student, suddenly felt a little inferior when he mentioned going to work in Mexico.

charlie was keenly aware of his changes. Combined with the fact that he had been changing jobs for many years in a row and his income was getting lower and lower, and then he was simply unemployed for more than a year, he could guess that he was definitely forced to go to Mexico this time. The helpless choice of life.

So he sighed lightly and said, "Looking at your appearance, brother, it must be a helpless move to go to work in Mexico. I am actually the same as you. I don't want to go to Mexico unless I have to."

Trent asked him curiously, "What are you going to do in Mexico?"

charlie said casually: "I don't know what I can do yet, but my visa in the United States is about to expire. I originally wanted to black out first, but recently the immigration bureau has been investigating illegal immigrants. One of my uncles is in the front. Time has just been deported, so I thought about leaving the United States before the visa expires."

Trent asked inexplicably: "If you can't get along in the United States, you can go back to China. Although the domestic environment is not as good as that of the United States, it is much better than that of Mexico."

charlie said a little embarrassedly: "To be honest, I came out because I couldn't stay in the country any longer. I owed a lot of money in the country before. If I go back now, I might have to be arrested."

When Trent heard this, he smiled and said, "Are you borrowing money to run away?"

"Hey..." charlie sneered, and said embarrassingly, "I borrowed a little too much, coupled with poor management, the deficit is a little big, and I can't pay it back, so I can only come out first to avoid the limelight."

As he said that, charlie asked curiously: "Brother, since you were a public student back then, you must be a high-end talent, why do you still go to places like Mexico? Compared with the United States, it is one day at a time. ."

Trent said with a desolate expression: "No, I'm getting old. In a place like the United States, if you haven't achieved financial freedom before the age of 35 to 40, you will most likely be eliminated by capitalists, even if you have work experience. What can you do if you are rich? Young people's salary is a quarter or even one-fifth of your salary, and they dare to work hard. One person is not as good as you, and two people together are better than you, right? Three cobblers still Can you hold a Zhuge Liang?"

After speaking, Trent sighed again: "If you do it like us, there will always be new technologies coming out. Our older employees are not as good at learning new technologies as young people. eliminated."

charlie nodded, and asked pretending to be curious: "Since my brother is in IT, I'm afraid that there is no development in a place like Mexico? Is it a change of industry?"

Trent sighed, waved his hand and said, "Hey, forget it, it's nothing more than a meal to eat, not to mention it."

Seeing that he was unwilling to speak, charlie didn't ask much for a while. At this time, the flight had started to board, and the two of them passed through the gate one after the other and walked towards the cabin.

Trent chose a seat by the window for himself. The seat number was 39a. He walked in front of charlie. After arriving at the seat, he stopped and first stuffed the suitcase and shoulder bag into the luggage compartment before crowding. into his seat.

And charlie took the boarding pass and pretended to check the seat number, and couldn't help but mutter: "39b, where is this 39b..."

As he spoke, he suddenly raised his head and glanced at Trent, pretending to be surprised, "Oh, brother, fate! My seat is next to you!"

"Really?" Trent was also obviously a little surprised.

I was a compatriot. When I was lining up to board the plane just now, I was one after the other. I didn't expect that after getting on the plane, the seats of the two were actually next to each other.

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5000 (The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 5000) -

That's kind of a fate.

Therefore, Trent rarely showed a sincere smile, and said quickly: "Oh, this is really fate! Come, come, sit down!"

charlie nodded, and after putting the suitcase away, he sat next to Trent , and said with a smile, "It seems that someone chatted on this trip."

Trent also let go of his original defenses against charlie, and asked him curiously: "By the way, brother, you are going to Mexico this time, do you have any acquaintances there?"

charlie smiled casually: "There is a Mao acquaintance, I just go around and see if there is anything suitable for a living to do, I will do it if I have it, and I can go back without me."

Trent asked curiously, "Aren't you afraid that the creditor will find you when you go back?"

charlie waved his hand: "Huaxia is too old, where is the loess not buried, then find a place to settle down first, maybe there is still a chance to make a comeback, when the debt is paid, maybe I can return home in fine clothes."

With that said, charlie looked at Trent and asked again, "By the way, brother, what kind of work are you doing in Mexico? Is there any way to introduce it to brother?"

"Me?" Trent sighed and laughed at himself: "I don't have any way, as long as I have a way, brother, I won't leave my wife and children and go to that ghost place in Mexico."

With that said, Trent lowered his voice and said to charlie, "Let me tell you something from the bottom of my heart, this place in Mexico, in Chinese terms, is an extrajudicial place, why did the president spend so much money on it before? Building a wall on the border? Isn't it just trying to control illegal immigration and drug smuggling over there? Who the hell is a good American here?"

charlie nodded and asked curiously, "Brother, you talked about it for a long time, and didn't say what you were doing."

Trent no longer concealed himself, and said earnestly, "To tell the truth, brother, I went to Mexico this time to become a seaman."

"Seaman?" charlie asked curiously, "Are you running a boat?"

"Yes." Trent nodded and said, "It was introduced by a friend of my mother, who said that the salary is quite good. You can earn tens of thousands or even hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, but it's just a little hard work."

charlie frowned slightly, wondering what was Soleil's purpose behind using the guise of a sailor to deceive Trent .

But at least one thing is certain, a ruthless person like Soleil can never just trick Trent into becoming a seaman.

Charlie kept his face and said, "Brother, you are a top student anyway. Going to sea to be a crew member is a bit inferior. Instead, to be honest, you might as well return to China to develop. The speed of domestic development is so fast, you will definitely be able to find a good one. way out."

Trent was startled, and then sighed: "It's not that I didn't think about it, but sometimes I can't help myself. My relatives, friends, and former classmates all know that I immigrated to the United States early, and I also brought my old mother to the United States. The United States enjoys happiness. For so many years, they mentioned that our family is not only envious but also envious. If I return to China at this time to develop, they may not know what to say behind my back..."

When Charlie heard this, he smiled slightly, and said indifferently: "Brother, don't think that I'm younger than you, but it's a big deal, I see it better than you, the face thing is the wife, children, parents, and the whole family. You don't care until you dress warmly. You have to support your family now, so why should you care? Can you save your face by going to Mexico as a crew member?"

Trent said with an embarrassed expression: "To tell you the truth, brother, I have always felt guilty about my motherland for so many years. Don't look at me being an American citizen and holding an American passport, but I always remember in my heart that the motherland cultivated it back then. Me, it was the motherland who paid me to send me out for further study, and it was also that I couldn't stand the temptation from outside, and I betrayed the trust of the motherland. You said that if I were like them, I would become a big man, like a Fortune 500 entrepreneur or executive. , I am also willing to return home with money and clothes, donate some money to my old alma mater, and set up a scholarship fund to help those children who can't read, which can be regarded as atonement..."

Speaking of this, Trent's eyes turned red, and he said sadly, "The key is that I'm not up to my expectations! I can't betray the motherland first, and now I can't get along outside, so I'll go back and ask the motherland to stay in the back?"

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5001 (The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 5001) -

Seeing Trent's face full of shame, Charlie's impression of him changed a little.

Originally thought he was just an egoist who was greedy for glory and wealth, but looking at it now, he still had some conscience in his heart.

And Trent himself has not said these heartfelt words to anyone over the years.

He also doesn't really think that he has a great fate with Charlie, and he can let him speak the deepest hidden words in his heart.

He just kept these words in his heart for too long, and he never spit it out, but he didn't find a suitable person to talk to.

So, Charlie comforted him and said: "The motherland has always been tolerant to its children. After so many people like you have gone back for so many years, the motherland has always embraced it openly. For the motherland, it is not a matter of continuously sending talents out for further study. Pursue that everyone can go back to serve the motherland after completing their studies, but as long as some of the people sent out are willing to go back, then it is worth doing. As for the part that is lost in the middle, it is normal. It's just a loss."

After a pause, Charlie said again: "It's like transporting a piece of ice in a foam box, no matter how tightly you wrap the ice, it will definitely melt away part of it during transportation, but it doesn't matter, to the ice transporter. Said that as long as there is ice left when reaching the destination, then these efforts are of practical significance."

Trent was slightly startled, then nodded lightly, and muttered: "Actually, we were attracted by the colorful world of the West back then, and we always felt that the stage was bigger and we could better play ourselves. In fact, we are not I didn't really forget the motherland, but everyone was full of energy in their hearts. If they got along well, they would go back to serve the motherland a hundred times, a thousand times, and ten thousand times. It's just that there are always some people like me. Gradually, the crowd faded away..."

Speaking of which, Trent said with tears in his eyes: "I really want to serve the motherland! But now I can't even feed my own mother. She is in her 70s and still has to work in a Chinese restaurant to make money. To subsidize the family, I have read books for so many years, learned so much technology, and wrote so much code, but in the end I have to work as a seafarer to support my family, how can I have the face to return to China?"

Charlie asked him, "Do you understand the work of seafarers?"

Trent shook his head and said, "I only know the general work flow, but I don't know the specific work methods. I'm probably just doing errands on the boat. After all, I'm new here and I'm still learning. The most important thing in this work is hard work. Some, can't get home for a year and a half."

Charlie asked again, "Then do you think you are suitable to be a seaman?"

Trent shook his head again: "To be honest, I work in communication technology. If you want to ask me how to locate the freighter, how to avoid obstacles, and how to contact the land through satellite, I can tell you one, two or three, but you Let me be a seaman, I am really confused, I don't even know the basic structure of the ship, I don't even know if I will get seasick when I get on the ship."

Speaking, Trent said with emotion: "But there is no way, for the sake of life."

charlie chatted with Trent for a long time, and learned more about Trent 's past.

Trent used to be a gifted boy.

When others just got high school textbooks, he had already been admitted to a key university.

While others were preparing for the college entrance examination, he had already gone abroad as a public student.

Those young people at that time, before coming to the United States, had an unwilling heart.

At that time, it coincided with the golden age of the rapid development of Silicon Valley and the Internet changing the world. Trent saw that like him, Zhang Chaoyang, who also studied in the United States, returned to China and founded Sohu. He also saw Li Yanhong, who also studied in the United States, and returned to Congress to found Baidu. .

He also saw many seniors and seniors who stayed in the United States for development. In the process of the explosive development of the Internet, one by one became rich. Some became presidents of listed companies, worth over 100 million US dollars, while others became business partners. Ring the bell on the Nasdaq and be worth tens of millions of dollars overnight.

He also saw many seniors and seniors who studied finance. After graduation, they entered Wall Street investment banks. After graduation, they received hundreds of thousands or even millions of high salaries. What's even more awesome is that they all hold tens of millions or even over A venture capital fund worth 100 million USD can sometimes decide an investment project worth millions of dollars with just one meal.

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5002 (The Charismatic Charlie Wade Chapter 5002) -

After that, he also saw many outstanding seniors and seniors who, with the capital of American venture capital, returned to China to invest in a large number of star companies that will become famous in China in the future, not only helping those companies to become the world's top, but also helping their own Investment banks have made huge profits, and they have also gained fame and fortune one by one, and some are even regarded as the best investors, who have published books and established biographies and become famous.

What I saw and heard deeply stimulated Trent .

He didn't want to go back to work as a state-owned enterprise employee or a civil servant after finishing his studies in the United States step by step. He also wanted to be the same as those people. companies, or invest in a group of great companies.

However, in any industry, the channel for top talents is very narrow.

Over the years, millions of foreign students who are at the elite level have not even a few hundred who can truly become the best.

Because in any era, a top talent must have the right time and place, and it is definitely not a person who works hard and will be able to climb to the top.

Trent is like this.

He stayed in the United States with a dream, but reality kept waving the big stick to him.

In the first few years of studying in the United States, he still had ideals in his heart, but it didn't take long for him to start running around for a living and gradually became ordinary.

As Trent and Charlie talked more and more, as he confided more and more, his whole person, I don't know when it started, became full of tears.

Seeing that the plane was about to land, Charlie handed him a tissue and said, "Brother, Mexico is not for you. When the plane lands, buy a ticket and go back."

Trent shook his head and said, "What are you going to do when I go back? My wife and children are still waiting for me to support me. The car at home has already been sold. If we go on like this, we will have to sell the house."

As he said that, he said firmly: "I can earn tens of thousands of dollars a year as a seaman, and I can solve my family's financial problems, so I must grit my teeth and persevere."

Seeing his resolute expression, Charlie suddenly felt that his previous plan seemed to need some adjustments.

He originally planned to let the people of Wanlong Temple rob Trent ahead of time, find a place to lock it up, and then let Trent go free after he has investigated the whole thing and uprooted Soleil and the people behind her. .

At that time, where he wants to go and what he wants to do, it has nothing to do with him.

After all, he may have saved his life, which can be regarded as his creation.

But now Charlie suddenly found that facing this middle-aged man who was almost desperate for life and trying to struggle in a desperate situation, doing so only broke the little hope he had for life right now.

When he returned to the United States after a false alarm, his old mother would continue to work in the restaurant, while his wife and children still had no life. Even their sheltered house might be taken back by the bank.

Therefore, instead of this, it is better to take Trent with him.

Whatever awaits him ahead, let him experience it for himself.

Perhaps, after all the dust settles, this experience will enable this confused and pitiful middle-aged man to find his way back.