

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5019

Crazy Juarez's full name is Rafael Corona Juarez.

Coincidentally, the place where he was born is the northern border city of Mexico, and the name of the city is also called Juarez.

In the city of Juarez, the largest criminal group in Mexico has always been active, and this city has been ranked the city with the most violent crime in the world for many years.

To say that he is the real version of Gotham is an insult to Gotham. After all, Gotham has superheroes in addition to supervillains, and here, there is only one more vicious supervillain.

Juarez grew up in the city of the same name, and his parents, although not members of a criminal group, were also working under the criminal group to support their families.

His father, who has been driving a truck for a criminal group, sometimes pulls arms, sometimes drugs, and sometimes corpses.

His mother, on the other hand, has been working in the drug factory of the criminal group, weighing and packing them, and even won the championship of many skill competitions organized by the criminal group.

Under such immersion, Juarez has been obsessed with violent crime since he was a child.

When he was twelve years old, a small leader of a local crime syndicate gave him a gun, a bicycle and fifty dollars in cash, so he rode his bicycle and, at the request of the other party, shot and killed an innocent man in the street. Beware of rival gang members.

Although the recoil of the pistol made his wrist hurt for several days, in those few days, he was so excited that he couldn't fall asleep every night because of the scene of the other party's brain bursting.

At that moment, Juarez realized that he might have been born to do this.

He has been a gang member since then.

After nearly ten years of accumulation, he has also become a famous little leader of Juarez.

After Juarez's boss was assassinated by a rival gang, Juarez and his men escaped from the city and restarted his new business in Ensenada.

After more than ten years of accumulation, Juarez's strength has become stronger and stronger. Now, he has been able to rank among the Top 10 in many criminal groups in Mexico.

However, in this top10, the principle of 28 is also vividly reflected.

The first and second criminal groups monopolize at least 80% of the profits.

Therefore, the gap between the top 10 cranes like Juarez and the first place is even more different.

The largest criminal group in Mexico, with an annual profit of more than 10 billion US dollars, but Juarez has been in the mix for so many years, and all his net worth is over 100 million.

When he listened to Ma Kui's report that someone found their operating room with a black gold card, his whole body trembled.

This is a big guy with a net worth of more than 10 billion dollars!

No matter what he wanted, Juarez had to be nervous and he had to pay attention.

Just when Juarez was a little lost, the dealer urged: "Mr. Juarez, it's time for you to ask for a card."

Juarez came back to his senses. He ignored the dealer and turned to the phone. Ma Kui on the other end said: "Ma, I will rush over now. You must treat this Mr. Wade well, and don't neglect your distinguished guests, otherwise I will not be able to spare you!"

Ma Kui on the other end of the phone said quickly: "Don't worry, boss, I will definitely entertain Mr. Wade."

After speaking, he did not forget to remind: "Boss, don't forget, bring as many brothers as possible, be prepared."

Juarez hummed: "Of course!"

After that, he hung up the phone, put the card on the table, stood up hastily, and turned to leave.

His girlfriend asked in surprise, "Raphael, where are you going?"

The Amazing Son In Law Chapter 5020

Juarez said: "I have important things to do, you can continue to play here first, and I will leave you the chips."

After that, he greeted his four bodyguards and said, "Carlos is going to drive, Eiji. Hector called everyone to let them down immediately and go to the operating room to gather, remember, everyone must be fully armed!"

The man named Hector asked in surprise: "Boss, what's so serious, Want all the brothers to rush over?"

Juarez said: "It may not be a bad thing, but it may not be a good thing, and we will have to wait until we go to find out, but whether it is good or bad, we must be fully prepared."

From Juarez's point of view, if charlie is indeed a good opportunity for his own success, then he must take good care of it, not only to let charlie see his sincerity, but also to let charlie see his own strength.

And if this charlie is not good, he can bring his brothers with him, and he can avoid danger as much as possible.

...

Crazy Juarez, a total of more than 200 direct members.

Most of these people are native to Mexico.

In Mexico, the prevalence of guns is not inferior to that in the United States, especially criminal groups. Not only everyone has guns, but many also have standard equipment smuggled in at high prices from the United States.

Therefore, the combat effectiveness of the members of Crazy Juarez is not inferior to that of the military police.

When they received the boss's order, they all took their equipment and quickly went to the small village where the operating room was located.

Juarez, who has been fighting on the streets for many years, has always required all members of Crazy Juarez to be able to drive and have a car of their own.

The reason is to enhance the mobility of the entire group.

In Juarez's view, this is as important as the motorization of the modern army.

In addition, he also requires that all members have radio stations installed in their cars. At the same time, in order to ensure smooth radio communication, he has set up multiple radio repeater stations within a 100-kilometer radius of Ensenada to improve the coverage of radio communications. range and communication quality.

At this time, he was sitting in his bulletproof car, holding the hand microphone of the car radio, and instructed: "Everyone pay attention, no matter where you start from, do not enter the village where the operating room is located without authorization! First, second, The third team assembled at the eastern entrance of the village, and the fourth, fifth, and sixth teams assembled at the western entrance of the village. After everyone assembled, listen to my orders and use a pincer attack to complete the encirclement of the operating room! The team leaders received it immediately. Reply!"

Soon, the voices of many people came from the walkie-talkie: "The first team received."

"The second team received."

"The third team received..."

After the six team leaders all confirmed the order, Juarez continued: "After you enter the operating room within a three-mile radius, you must pay close attention to the environment around you. Once you find suspicious people hiding, report to me as soon as possible."

Juarez has experienced various A variety of Rush, combat experience.

In his view, regardless of whether the opponent has secretly deployed troops, the pincer offensive can best ensure the display of combat effectiveness.

If the enemy is in the center, the pincer attack can well encircle the enemy. If the enemy is on the periphery, after the two forces converge in the pincer attack, they can rely on the center point to defend against external enemies.

Juarez's method is very efficient when facing ordinary criminal groups.

But he could not have imagined that what he had to face was precisely the king of the mercenaries, the Wanlong Palace.

According to the tactics planned by Charlie before, the members of Wanlong Hall were all scattered and hidden one or two kilometers away from the village, in order to wait for the other party to complete the assembly, then tighten the encirclement and put all the other party in their pockets.

Moreover, these Wanlong Hall members are all martial arts masters, and their strength is much stronger than that of ordinary mercenaries.

Therefore, when they are hidden, these members of Crazy Juarez, even if they pass by them, will not notice any abnormality!