

The Amazing Son in Law Chapter (Charlie Wade)

CHAPTER 2574

Charlie asked curiously: "Which one are you singing?"

Jacob hurriedly said: "Just now, your Aunt said on WeChat that she seems to possess a fever. It happened that Paul went on a business trip again. Auntie herself has nobody to require care of reception, so I would like to shop for some medicine as soon as possible, then buy some food to send to her." Charlie was stunned, and immediately asked: "You are getting to Aunt's house

" Yes. Jacob nodded and blurted out: "You drove me over quickly, then we both visited our own business.

Charlie didn't think much about it. Albeit he nodded and said, "Where is Aunt Matilda's house, I will be able to send you off first. He handed it to Charlie and said, "Here, this is often the situation, Meilun Villa District.

Charlie glanced at it. This location is within the same direction as Jasmine's house and not too distant, so he started the car and took Jacob away. Home.

On the way, Jacob directed Charlie to the pharmacy to shop for some antipyretics, then directed him to drive to the door of an authentic local restaurant. As soon because the car stopped at the door of the restaurant, Jacob hurriedly said: "Charlie, you await me within the car."

Go.

After speaking, he couldn't wait to push the door.

Charlie saw this and hurriedly said, "Dad, let me go. You sit within the car and rest.

When Jacob heard this, he said: "Then you'll exerting to shop for me some good food, and another pickled fresh and a millet porridge. The restaurant.

Charlie nodded, pushed the door and got out of the car and entered the meal

. Charlie felt a touch worried when he went out with the packed meals. The old man was getting to Matilda's house. But Paul is now on a business trip, and Matilda must be reception alone, and she's sick again. At this point, people come to require care of them, whether or not they are real care or fake care.

just in case, if something is taken care of, it'd be difficult to finish.

Thinking of this, he simply took out a rejuvenating pill from his pocket, scraped off a touch powder with the key, and melted it into the millet porridge.

it's estimated that if Matilda drank this bowl of millet porridge, the standard headache and cerebrosplinal meningitis would be fine on the spot. The reason why Charlie did this was to stop something that shouldn't happen between Jacob and her tonight.

He didn't worry about Matilda's character, but he was very worried about the concentration of the old man, and the way determined Matilda was when she was sick.

just in case the old father-in-law is taking care of her while brooding about it, and Matilda is physically ill, and psychologically hooked in to Jacob, if the old father-in-law takes the initiative, maybe Matilda will let him cash in on it to enter.

Although Charlie also hopes that Jacob are going to be married to Matilda's lover at some point, but he has not divorced Elaine in any case. If he's really cheating on his marriage and is understood by Elaine, then the family will certainly need to jump around. Claire and himself had no good life.

Therefore, Charlie can only hope that Matilda will immediately recover after drinking this bowl of millet porridge.

therein way, if you, the old man, should really move your eyes, a minimum of there's no chance to return in.
