

The Amazing Son in Law Chapter (Charlie Wade)

CHAPTER 2599

Early the next morning. English first class high-speed rail issue from Jervois, slowly docked at the Aurous Hill train station.

In the business cockpit, there are two grandparents, one old and one young. These two people are Feng Shui master Mai from the United States and his great-grandson Mike.

Mike out of the car, reached wheat Mai arm, side asked: "Grandfather, this time we come Aurous Hill, you have no BU on a hexagram in advance, calculate this in the end is the guitar is fierce?"

Mike for myself this too Grandpa knows very well that he has been striving for stability for so many years, so he has long developed a habit: As long as he is traveling far away, he will surely count as good or bad luck before going out.

Mai groaned: "Today is three quarters, I A hexagram was started, but this time the hexagram seemed chaotic and disorderly, and luck and bad luck were equally divided.

Half of each?' Guo, his face was full of surprise.

Mike heard of this guitar since he was a child, and he has also studied Feng Shui fortune. In fact, Feng Shui fortune is most afraid of calculating the result of half good and bad, because this kind of result is almost no result, and it has no reference significance.

Feng shui luck is popular because it can measure the focus of everything in the future.

Because most things in the world are not really divided between good and bad, there will definitely be a gap between good and bad, but some gaps are large and some are small.

For example, if a businessman wants to invest in a real estate next year, a truly capable Feng Shui master will measure the good or bad of the project for him after a field survey.

If it can be calculated that the feng shui is auspicious and the success rate is high, the boss can confidently continue to move forward;

if it can be calculated that the feng shui deviation and the success rate are low, it can also make him act cautiously, and even let him Avoid a big hole.

However, when people ask you about good and bad things, you can't tell him that good and bad are half of them. What's the point of asking you to do it?

Therefore, in general, divination and divination account for half of the good and bad results, most of which are incapable and limited.

Divination equals incomprehension.

However, he knew very well the great grandfather's ability, and this result might not be expected in a few decades, so he hurriedly asked: "Grandpa, if it is really mixed, does it mean that everything in Aurous Hill is still unknown? "

Mick shook his head: "everything has rules, for unknown reasons, but nothing is see through their own, so now I feel increasingly firm, this place never Aurous Hill general, there must be a very smart person living here !

"for us, this time to Aurous Hill, it is possible to see the true colors, without success; it is also possible to get a big opportunity; there may be accidentally rushed down the monstrous disaster

, " the so-called blessings in disguise Since we can't see the future trend, we can only do our own thing with all our heart and do our best, and don't do anything that hurts the heavens. This is The ancestors said, but do good things and don't ask about the future.

As he said, he looked at Mike, and solemnly said: "We are coming to Aurous Hill this time. You must remember to be low-key, low-key and then low-key. When encountering obstacles, you should slowly try to avoid being impatient, and don't start with anyone. Dispute, do you understand?"

Mike solemnly nodded and said: "Grandpa, don't worry, I will follow your instructions. "

" Ah. "Mai nodded slightly.

He still knows his great-grandson very well. Although he was born in the United States, he received an education in Chinese studies since childhood. He was low-key and humble and never caused trouble. During the conversation, the grandson and grandson have already been out. At the train station, Mike asked, "Grandpa, where do we go for the first stop?"

Mai unswervingly said, "Go to Aurous Hill University of Finance and Economics! Where did Donald webbb's son happen , and we started looking for clues from there. .

"Okay!" Mike said hurriedly: "Then wait a moment, I'll rent a car across the street.

"No." Mai waved his hand, took a step forward by himself, stopped a taxi, and asked, "Brother, how much does it cost to run the car for a day? The taxi driver thought about it, "You have to see. I have to pay for gas and tolls where you are going and how many roads you run.
