

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3150-3151

Fitz Banks never dreamed that a person would suddenly appear in the innermost part of Doris Young's office.

Moreover, he was even more puzzled as to why this person's voice made him feel a little familiar.

When he subconsciously turned his head to follow the prestige, his whole brain exploded with a buzzing sound, his eyes instantly glared, and his thinking suddenly fell into a sluggishness!

He naturally recognized Charlie at a glance!

After all, the impression Charlie left him in Japan was too deep, and he could not forget Charlie's appearance until he died.

At this moment, his whole person was shocked, and immediately afterwards, he couldn't help but mutter: "Ah...it's...it's you?! This...how is this possible!!!"

Charlie came to face him and asked jokingly: "What? We haven't seen each other for some days. When you see me again, you won't even scream for your kindness?!"

Fitz Banks was instantly stunned by Charlie's powerful aura, and immediately came to his mind, the shocking picture of Charlie killing several Japanese ninjas in Kyoto, Japan that day!

So, he trembled all over, and immediately bent over and bowed, and said respectfully: "Well...blessing...you...how are you here?! My sister and I have been looking for you since we had a goodbye in Kyoto. , I want to repay your life-saving grace, but I didn't expect to see you here... I was so shocked when I saw you just now, how improper manners are, please forgive me!"

Charlie sneered and said: "Fitz Banks, tell me about you, you don't want to treat your own Eastcliff well, you have to run to Aurous Hill to come to seize, you must take the initiative, you must take the initiative to run to The Emgrand Group wanted to see me, but I came out as you wished. Now you ask me why I am here. Tell me, is there something wrong with your brain?"

Fitz Banks exclaimed: you...you are the chairman of the Emgrand Group?!"

Charlie smiled and said: "What? I am the chairman of Emgrand Group, which surprised you?"

Like a quail, Fitz Banks said honestly: "This...to tell you, I really didn't expect..."

Charlie nodded, and went straight to the opposite side of him. He sat on the single sofa opposite him carelessly, stretched his hands on the backrest, raised Erlang's legs, and asked him: "Let's talk about it, so much effort to find what I do?"

Fitz Banks had a guilty conscience, but he could only bite the bullet and said: "I...I came to you...I want to...I want to talk to you about a cooperation..."

Charlie nodded slightly, did not open him, but casually said: "I heard it all a while ago, you want to invest tens of hundreds of billions of dollars to engage in the new energy automobile industry with Emgrand Group, right?"

Fitz Banks could only nod his head, and said with some guilty conscience: "Yes...yes..."

Charlie smiled slightly: "This is a good thing! Look at your investment of 100 billion yuan, when will it arrive?"

"Ah?" Fitz Banks asked subconsciously: you...what do you mean?"

Charlie casually said: "I don't mean anything, don't you want to invest with me? Since it is an investment, you naturally have to take out the money first?"

Fitz Banks hurriedly said: "This...for such a large investment, there must be a lot of preparatory work, and this investment is also for us to establish a joint venture company, and then according to the agreed ratio and valuation, each Out of the investment in their respective sectors..."

Charlie waved his hand: "With me, the rule of investment is that you first put the money in my account. Didn't you come with sincerity? Hurry up and arrange your finances first, and put 100 billion in the account of the Emgrand Group. Then we will talk about cooperation later."

Fitz Banks's cold sweat suddenly flowed down like a waterfall. He said nervously, "Well...blessed, your request...I really can't meet it...It's impossible for us to finance without seeing the contract or doing anything. In the case of risk assessment, a huge sum of 100 billion yuan is put on the accounts of other companies..."

Charlie sneered and said, "Is it because your finances are unwilling to fight, or you don't have that much money at all, and you just came here to talk to me for nothing?"

Fitz Banks's nervous back got chills, and he blurted out: "Benevolence, don't get me wrong, why should I be in vain with you... I sincerely want to cooperate with you..."