

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3154-3155

“what?!”

Hearing Charlie’s questioning, Fitz Banks’s whole body was like an ice cellar!

He finally found out sadly that he originally thought he had hidden his motivation very well, but in fact he had already exposed it!

As early as when I saw Stefanie Sun coming out of Charlie’s BMW car, and then let people check the information of that BMW car, I was completely exposed!

And what he didn’t expect was that behind all this was the benefactor who had great strength and saved himself and his sister, and even saved his mother and sister a few days ago!

At this moment, Fitz Banks realized that he was the one who hit the rocks with pebbles and overpowered...

Thinking of Charlie’s extraordinary strength, and thinking of the disappearance of his second uncle, the disappearance of his father, and the bizarre death of master Felix, an extremely strong fear suddenly surged in his heart!

After that, he quickly slid off the sofa, knelt in front of Charlie with a puff, and said with tears: “My dear ! I was wrong! I really knew it was wrong! It’s all because I was obsessed with my ghost. I saw Stefanie Sun get from your car. When I come down, I want to find out your identity. If I know that the driver is your grace, even if you give me eight courage and eighty courage, I will not dare to check your car... Please forgive me, please forgive me. I this time! Please!”

Charlie sneered and said: “Fitz Banks, you have to know, you still owe me a life, why do you have the face to beg me to forgive you now?”

Hearing this, Fitz Banks was struck by lightning.

He had no doubt that Charlie could easily kill his own life.

Moreover, as Charlie said, he saved his life in the first place.

If he can save himself, he can kill himself. With his strength, the bodyguards in the conference room are not enough to see, so even if he calls for help, it doesn’t make any sense. It’s likely that the bodyguards have not arrived yet. died.

Thinking of this, he immediately kowtowed to Charlie like crazy, and choked in his mouth: “My dear , you spared me this time. Your great kindness, Fitz Banks, I will never forget! Please look at me. I didn’t mean to disobey you and let me go. From now on, I will repay your life-saving grace by acting as a cow!”

Charlie waved his hand: "Save it, you know in your heart that you are not the kind of person who knows gratitude!"

"I..." Fitz Banks was startled, and blurted out: "I am! I really am! Blessed, please believe me!"

Charlie sneered and said: "If you really know the gratitude, you won't be planning Stefanie Sun's concert in Aurous Hill when your mother and your sister are in doubt. Do you think I don't know people like you? You, your father, and your grandfather are all the same. Personal interests are above everything else. In the face of personal interests, family affection is not important, let alone the mere life-saving grace, don't you think so?"

Fitz Banks trembled violently in fright, crying and said, "My dear... you are not sophistry or deny what you said, but please look at the face of my mother and Zara, and forgive me for being confused. From now on, I will change my mind and be a new person, and I will never repeat the same mistakes of my father and my grandfather!"

Charlie sneered and waved his hand: "Sorry, you have no chance!"

Charlie really didn't plan to give Fitz Banks any chance, because this time, Fitz Banks had already touched his inverse scale.

When Fitz Banks heard Charlie say that he had no chance, his whole body collapsed instantly.

Immediately, he cried bitterly with his nose and tears: "My dear...My dog's life...you saved it, and you should take it away...but I still want you to forgive my dog. Fate, even if it is for the face of my mother and my sister, spare my life as a dog, gracious... please, gracious..."

Charlie watched him cry in tears and looked distressed. He smiled calmly and said: "I have already seen your mother and your sister's face, and have bypassed your dad's life. Do you want me to spare you one more? Fate?"

Fitz Banks asked subconsciously: "Benevolence, my dad...Is my dad still alive?!"

Charlie smiled faintly: "Your dad is now in Syria. Although he can't come back for a while, he will definitely not die for a while."

"Syria?!" Fitz Banks was dumbfounded and asked, "My dad... how could he go to Syria?"

Charlie smiled and said: "The reason he went to Syria was because he provoke me. I should have killed him by a hundred, but I think your mother and your sister's face saved him a dog. Let him go to Syria to reflect on it."

Fitz Banks didn't expect that his father was sent to Syria by Charlie, so he couldn't help asking: "My father, my father...how did he offend you? In my impression, he and you should There is no intersection..."

"How did you offend me?" Charlie snorted and said lightly: "I forgot to tell you, I have a feud with your Banks Family, especially your father and your grandfather."

Having said that, Charlie paused for a while, and then said: "Oh, yes, I forgot to introduce myself. My surname is Wade, my name is Charlie, and my father's name is Bruce."

“Ah?! Wade... Bruce...” Fitz Banks was completely shocked when he heard this.

Fitz Banks had never heard of Charlie’s name, but Bruce’s name had long been known to him.

And he is not a fool, he knows very well that his mother has always loved Bruce, who has already passed away.

Even the emotional discord between the parents is because the mother has always been obsessed with that man in her heart.

However, he never dreamed that his benefactor, who saved himself and his sister in Japan, turned out to be a feud of the Banks Family and a member of the Eastcliff Wade Family!

Moreover, he is Bruce’s son!

He was extremely nervous, and asked in a trembling voice: “My dear...you...are you really Bruce’s son?!”

Charlie said lightly: “Yes, I am!”

After getting Charlie’s affirmative answer, Fitz Banks knew that Charlie couldn’t let go of himself so easily.

Because not only does his family have a feud with his family, but, as he said, he still owes him his life.

What’s more damn it is that I unexpectedly came to the door without knowing it. Isn’t this just the right thing to do?

Thinking of this, his heart was completely ashes, his eyes also looked at Charlie with deep fear, and tentatively asked: “Benevolence, what are you going to do with me? Or... or you send me too Syria, let me be a company with my father. We two will reflect on and atone for our sins in Syria...”