

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3180-3181

He is now the executive vice president of the Calligraphy and Painting Association, the second-in-command of the standard, and has a little fame and influence in small circles.

He happily introduced to his family: "Recently, our Aurous Hill City is actively building the image of a historical and cultural city. The city has allocated a lot of funds to support the cultural field. Because of this, my painting and calligraphy association has recently won With less subsidies from local governments, it will get better and better in the future."

"With government subsidies and help, our calligraphy and painting association is no longer just a hobby-based non-governmental interest group, but has become a semi-public and semi-private non-governmental charity organization!"

"Moreover, in this special subsidy from the government, all the full-time staff of the Painting and Calligraphy Association have been given a good salary. In the future, Wilson Wilson will also have a fixed salary in the Painting and Calligraphy Association."

Elaine asked curiously: "Oh, your calligraphy and painting association has started to pay you wages now?!"

Jacob said with an arrogant expression: "Not only pays, but also a lot!"

After that, Jacob said again: "Look, my executive vice president, starting from this month, my monthly basic salary is 12,000 yuan, which is the second highest in our entire painting and calligraphy association after President . Two high salaries!"

Later, Jacob said again: "This is just the basic salary given to us by Aurous Hill City. In fact, many private enterprises have recently wanted to take up the business of cultural development, so they also donated a lot of funds to the Calligraphy and Painting Association, and they have a lot of matchmaking. Resources, our Calligraphy and Painting Association has successively undertaken many painting and calligraphy activities since recently, so the Calligraphy and Painting Association will be very comfortable in the coming days."

Elaine hurriedly asked: "Then you can make money even if you cooperate with private enterprises?"

"Of course!" Jacob said immediately: "Private enterprises have their own sponsorship, and each event will give us some transportation fees and consulting fees. I heard Chairman calculate it. If two events are held a week, and I have all If you are all present, it is estimated that you can get anywhere from 3,000 yuan to 5,000 yuan for an event."

"Damn!" Elaine said in surprise: "Can one event earn so much?! That would be two games a week, eight games a month, and a cost of 3,000 yuan per game, which would be more than 20,000 yuan! With a basic salary, wouldn't it be possible to earn more than 30,000 yuan a month?"

"Yeah." Jacob nodded and said with a smile: "I used to wonder why so many people like to volunteer to participate in various associations and societies that are not paid, thinking that they are all seeking fame and face, but now I understand. It turns out that there are still a lot of ways in it, and if it is done well, there will be a lot of room for profit."

Elaine suddenly became interested, looked at Jacob, and asked in a flattering tone: "Jacob, when my legs are healed, can you get me into your calligraphy and painting association? I arrange a part-time job and give me a salary. If there are any activities, I can also follow it. I am idle at home anyway."

Speaking of this, Elaine touched her right leg and sighed, "Hey, I have been too miserable for most of the year. I didn't do anything. I stayed at home and raised my legs, but it made me feel bored."

Jacob was taken aback, and hurriedly persuaded him: "Oh, our Calligraphy and Painting Association has long since stopped recruiting new members. Recently, there are dozens of people who want to come in in line and are waiting for interviews and defenses. You don't know much about painting and calligraphy. If you want me to say, don't toss about it. Wouldn't it be okay to stay at home peacefully? When your legs are ready, you can walk around, or travel."

To put it in the past, Jacob is afraid that he has already ridiculed. Just you, Elaine, who is a b#tch, still want to join the Calligraphy and Painting Association? You are afraid that you are mad.

However, he knew very well that when Elaine said such things at this time, he would have to go when he was angry, so he could only persuade him.

But even so, Elaine was still a little dissatisfied, and coldly snorted: "What? You despise me? You Jacob can join the Calligraphy and Painting Association as the executive vice president, don't I even have the qualifications to be a member? Don't think I am. I don't know how you, the executive vice president, came here. Isn't it the face of my good son-in-law? Otherwise, your three sticks can't show a fart character, and people have long been squeezed out, waiting for the door of the Calligraphy and Painting Society. It's not your turn for a dog to become a vice president!"

Jacob's face flushed suddenly, and he thought to himself: "Elaine, this b#tch is really right. I was almost squeezed out at the beginning. Fortunately, Charlie gave me a lot of face in Tianxiang Mansion. Pei will After seeing that Don Albert was very respectful to me, he rushed to flatter me, and then gave me the position of executive vice chairman, but Elaine's words were too awkward, what kind of dog from the Calligraphy and Painting Association, the dog can Will you be the vice president?"

As he was thinking, Elaine saw that he was silent, and immediately said: "Since you are unwilling to help me, I will ask my good son-in-law to help. Maybe then I will be able to join the vice-chairman. Let's When the time comes, it will be a good story for a husband and wife file to spread out!"

Jacob's scared sphincter almost lost control.

He knew Charlie's abilities. If Charlie really spoke, it wouldn't be difficult to get Elaine a vice chairman.

In that case, if Elaine haunts him every day, he will be over, and there will be no chance to develop with Matilda.

Thinking of this, he hurriedly said: "Oh, my wife, you said that I'm in the upswing of my career. You suddenly found a relationship with me. What do people think of me? Then I am Jacob in the eyes of others. Here, isn't it just nepotism? If you really support my cause, you have to take the initiative to avoid suspicion!"

Speaking of this, Jacob saw Elaine's expression become ugly, and immediately waved his hand and gritted his teeth and said: "In this way, you don't have to go to any painting and calligraphy association anymore. I will give you half of my salary. You can spend whatever you want. ,How?"

As soon as Elaine heard about the money, his eyes lit up, and he blurted out: "No! You have to hand over all your salary to me!"

Jacob gritted his teeth and stomped his feet, spit out a word between his teeth: "Okay!"