

The Amazing Son In Law (Charlie Wade)

Chapter 3220-3221

After sending Orrin Sun and Angie to Shangri-La and entrusting them to Isaac Cameron as a host, Charlie drove back to his Tomson Yipin Villa.

At this time, it was only after two o'clock in the afternoon. Charlie thought that his wife Claire might not be finished until three or four o'clock, so he wanted to return home first, and then pick her up when she was almost busy.

Unexpectedly, when Charlie arrived home, his wife Claire, his father-in-law Jacob, and his mother-in-law Elaine were already busy in the kitchen.

Seeing that Claire was at home, Charlie asked in surprise: "Wife, when did you go home? Why didn't you tell me so I can pick you up."

Claire smiled and said: "I speeded up the progress. I will be home at two o'clock. I am not going to prepare a birthday dinner for you today, so I will be back early."

Elaine was holding a huge king crab in both hands at this time, putting it in the steamer, and smiling to Charlie and said to Charlie: "Good son-in-law, mom will cook you a big meal tonight. Look at this big crab. , One cost more than three thousand!"

Seeing that she was going to steam the crabs, Claire hurriedly said: "Oh, mom, the crabs can't be steamed now. It's not three o'clock, it's still early to eat! You are steamed now, it's time for dinner. It doesn't taste good when it is!"

Elaine asked in surprise: "Then you come back so early, why are we cooking?"

Claire said helplessly: "First do the preparations. Brush the king crabs and prepare them in the bucket.

The other ingredients are the same. All the ingredients are collected. The ingredients for cooking are also prepared, and then wait.

Do it when it's almost time to make it, so that it can guarantee the taste."

Elaine said angrily: "Hey, I thought I would just start cooking now. Isn't this crab steamed directly in the pot? Wash it?"

"Of course I need to wash it." Claire said, "At least I have to use a brush to brush the dirt on the surface, and then rinse it with clean water several times."

Elaine curled his lips: "I don't dare to brush this stuff, I'm covered with thorns, if I get stuck again... let your dad clean up the seafood."

Having said that, she looked at Jacob and ordered: "Jacob, take this crab out of the steamer and wash it, remember to wash it clean!"

Jacob couldn't help but vomit, "I have other things, you can do it yourself."

Elaine said angrily: "Don't talk nonsense, go and clean up the crabs! Otherwise, you won't even want to eat a bite at night!"

Jacob asked dissatisfiedly: "You let me clean up the crabs, then what are you doing?"

Elaine said casually: "I'll peel some garlic."

After speaking, she grabbed a few garlic heads, sat in the corner with a small bench, and peeled the garlic to the trash can.

Jacob was a little frustrated, but didn't dare to argue with Elaine, so he honestly took the crab out and took it to the sink for cleaning.

Seeing this, Charlie opened his mouth and said, "Dad, let me clean up the crabs."

Claire hurriedly said to Charlie: "Husband, you are a big birthday star. Don't go out of the kitchen today.

Go to the outside living room to watch TV. The cake delivery will come soon. Please listen to the doorbell."

Seeing her clear attitude, Charlie didn't continue to insist, and said: "Then if you have something, remember to call me."

"it is good."

Charlie came out of the kitchen and just sat in the living room for a while when the doorbell rang.

He saw from the monitor that a delivery person was ringing the doorbell, so he walked out of the room.
